Your correspondent learns that the letters alleged to have been written by Dr. Montague were not sent to His Excellency in the first instance, but to the Premier, and that he handed them over to Sir Adolphe, who then determined to probe the mater to the bottom. The Postmaster-General has been in consultation with many of his friends to-day. Donald MacMaster, Q.C., came up from Montreal and was with him for several hours, presumably discussing the Montague matter.

The doctor was seen to-night and made the following further statement: "I have nothing to add to my emphatic denial already made of the contemptible charge. It is the result of a miserable conspiracy, and that will be perfectly evident to every one when the facts come out. You may depend upon it not one trace of the dishonor will attach itself to me as a result of this dastardly attempt to work me injury. My full and complete vindication will come in due time. The men who took part in it are already dreading the result, and they may well do so. In the meantime I have not yet had the courtesy of being shown the letters, nor do I know their dates, or what they contain, except what was given to the press. I notice, however, in the statement given to the press, and I shall later discuss by whom and under what circumstances that I [illegible] in Montreal when the first letter was sent, which I am told was just when Sir Mackenzie Bowell was forming his Government. How much truth there is in that statement you can understand when I say to you that I was very ill in Ottawa and unable for days to leave my bed, and had not been in Montreal for months. The whole business is a dirty attempt upon the part of a few individuals to injure me and to injure the Conservative party."

BOY SHOT HIS COMPANION.

Two St Catharines Families Plunged Into Deep Grief

St. Catharines, Jan. 1.—On Tuesday evening John Haslem, aged 12, and a companion aged 10, named William Patterson, got into an altercation and young Haslem, who had a rifle, fired a bullet into the other boy's head, causing death in a short time. Haslem was arrested. An inquest was held by Coroner Goodman, and it was shown that the Patterson boy had annoyed Haslem by throwing mud at him. A verdict of manslaughter was returned. Both families are plunged into the deepest grief.

Baseball and Cricket.

The Chicago correspondent of The Sporting Life writes the following interview anent baseball and cricket:

"I met an Englishman to-day and was discussing the relative merits of baseball and cricket with him. He showed me a cricket glove for outfielders in the English game, and I am sorry to say that it would make a better baseball glove than many of those said our tender handed professionals. It has jointed cork fingers, gives a good firm clutch on the ball, and as for resistance to shock, why, the felt padding of our gloves can't touch it in a hundred years. It is a beauty. Well, this English gentleman and my self were discussing the game, as I have said. He was certain that the Englishmen were better batters than our people, but freely conceded that the Americans were wonders as fielders. 'An Englishman,' said he, 'would get all mixed up on grounders which your fielders rush in on and capture. But what I most admire is the throwing of your players. I don't think they are such wonderful distance throwers—a cricket ball is harder to throw than a baseball, and yet the cricket record is 128 yards to your 135, I believe, with the handier baseball. But the accuracy of the American throwing simply overwhelms me. With the least possible margin to get a ball across the diamond they snap it like a bullet and right into the first baseman's hands. It is, to me at least, simply marvelous and almost incomprehensible.'"

Montreal News Notes.

Montreal, Jan. 5.—It is learned that the Montreal Bridge Company have made arrangements with a big New York syndicate, to construct a bridge over the St. Lawrence from Montreal to Longueuil, the cost of which, including the terminus, is to be about $6,000,000.

The sixth annual meeting of the General Mining Association of the Province of Quebec will be opened here on the eighth and continue for three days. Several papers to be read are said to be of the utmost importance.

MONDAY, JANUARY 6, 1896.

THE GOVERNMENT "RATTLED."

"Rattled" is hardly a classical word, but it expresses the condition of the Dominion Government at present to a nicety. The Mail and Empire, which has been preaching courage and comfort, on Saturday announced in glaring headlines a Government crisis and the setting in of a "panicky feeling." This "panicky feeling" has, however, existed for some time. For months the Government has felts its weakness and desperate attempts have been made at some sort of reconstruction. Efforts were made to seduce Chief Justice Meredith from the bench and Lieut.-Governor Chapleau from the snug retreat of Spencer Wood, with the view of taking them into the Cabinet. Sir Charles Tupper, High Commissioner in London, was "felt," but he, like the other two, has refused the bait, which is not a very tempting one. To desert a sure thing, and in Sir Charles Tupper's case a very good thing, for the sake of linking their fortunes to a tumbling Cabinet did not commend itself to the gentlemen approached. But so desperate is the condition of the Government become that the refusal of these gentlemen will not be accepted as final and the new scheme is a reconstruction of the Government, with Sir Charles Tupper as Premier, Chief Justice Meredith as first Lieut. in Ontario, and Lt. Govenor Chapleau, first lieutenant for Quebec. Included in the new programme is the abandonment of remedial legislation, though Parliament has been specially called to pass such legislation, upon which the Premier and Finance Minister have declared they have taken their position "to stand or fall" by it. This is only a sample of the shuffling which this moribund government is indulging in, and for it they cannot be very greatly blamed. They are in a corner and don't know which way to turn. If they turn to themselves they find internal dissension, squabbling and self-seeking. The cabinet is a coterie of Ishmaelites—every man's hand against another's. If they turn to the country the outlook is depressing; the clouds that loom up and lower darkly, serve as a "wall" for the "handwriting." The bye-elections have been a very solemn and startling warning. There have, the Montreal Herald points out, been five bye-elections since Parliament prorogued. The first one was held in Westmoreland, N.B., to fill the place vacated by Mr. Wood, who was made a Senator. The Government succeeded in retaining this seat by a largely reduced majority. North Ontario was thrown open by the death of Mr. Madill, Conservative, and Mr. McGillivray, the unpledged candidate of the Government, was returned by a very much smaller vote than Mr. Madill received, notwithstanding the increased names on the list. There was a large majority of votes cast against the Government, but the three-cornered fight allowed their man to slip in. In Cardwell, which was thrown open by the resignation of R. S. White, the Opposition to the Government profited by the mistakes of North Ontario, and Mr. Stubbs, the McCarthyite, was elected by a handsome majority in a riding which never in its history refused to accept a Conservative as its representative. This was a straight loss to the Government. Following it came the great Liberal victory in Jacques Cartier, so that out of five strongly Conservative ridings the Government have been able to hold on to two with great difficulty, while three have declared against the policy of the Administration in the most emphatic way. Of the elections already contested, the result is that the Government has lost six from its majority on a division. Charlevoix and West Huron have yet to be heard from, and this will make it a loss of 10 votes, on a division. Victoria, British Columbia, where Lieut.-Col. Prior is fighting for his life, and is bolstered up by all kinds of campaign telegrams from the Ministers, who are making free use of His Excellency's name to assist them, is not safe, and the outlook of that Tory citadel being captured by the Liberals is excellent. Mr. Templeman, the Liberal standard bearer, is putting up an excellent fight, and stands to win. In that case the loss to the Government will be 12 on a division.

At the last moment the Government have filled three of the ten vacancies in the Senate. This leaves seven vacant seats, two of these are in Ontario, two in Quebec, two in New Brunswick, and one in Nova Scotia, so that Parliament met on Wednesday with the Government in a badly crippled state. Besides losing the confidence of the people, as manifested by the recent elections, it was compelled to meet without a successor to Mr. Angers in the Cabinet, or a Solicitor-General to take the place of Mr. Curran, and seven vacancies in the Upper Chamber. In addition to all this the administration have lost the support of Clarke Wallace, who resigned his position in the Government; and that of Lt.-Col. Tyrwhitt, who has joined Wallace's forces. The general opinion is that the Government will not last many weeks and the party is already scheming as to how they can throw Sir Mackenzie Bowell overboard and get some one not committed to remedial legislation to take his place. This is said to be why Mr. Haggart took no part in the bye-elections.

If our American neighbours are really spoiling for a fight—and a thrashing—the Alaska boundry matter between that country and Canada furnishes material. An appropriation for a convention with Great Britain of $75,000, was proposed in the United States Senate on Friday.

The key to the friendly attitude of France to Great Britain, in the matter of President Cleveland's absurd Monroe doctrine claims re Venezuella, and explainable on no other grounds, is the fact that France has a boundary dispute of her own with Brazil as to the true line between that country and French Guiana The United States will have to account with more forces than she bargained for when she so heartily endorsed President Cleveland's election campaign card.

THE MIOWERA.

A Lifeboat and Buoy Belonging to the Canadian-Australian Liner Found Near Cape Flattery.

Port Townsend, Jan. 4.—A life boat and buoy belonging to the Canadian-Australian S S. Miowera has been picked up on the beach near Ozette, 15 miles south of Cape Flattery. It is feared the steamer has been wrecked.

Port Townsend, Jan. 5.—The steamship Miowera, Captain Stott, sailed from Vancouver, Dec. 16, for Honolulu and Sydney, N.S.W., On Dec. 18 she took the disabled steamer Strathnevis in tow and headed for Cape Flattery. At 1 o'clock on the following Monday morning the hawsers parted during a heavy squall. After the squall, at about 4 a.m., the Miowera was nowhere to be seen. Captain Stott, of the Miowera had told the captain of the Strathnevis that he could only tow the vessel three days on account of the supply of coal running short.

A NOTHER MASSACRE.

The Butchery of Armenians Continues in the East.

London, Jan. 4.—The correspondent of the United Press at Constantinople telegraphs, under date of Jan. 3, that a terrible massacre has taken place at Biridjik, near Aintab, in Asia Minor. The official report of the occurrence states that 900 persons were killed.

A Terrible Affair.

Constantinople, Jan. 4.—It is believed here that the massacre at Biridjik was committed by the Kurds of the Hamadieh Cavalry.

The recent massacre at Orfah was a terrible affair. The Porte admits that 900 persons were killed there, but other accounts say that 2000 were slaughtered.

Presentation to Mr. R. S. White.

Montreal, Jan. 5.—Mr. Robert S. White will enter upon his duties tomorrow as Collector of Customs for the port of Montreal. Yesterday the members of the different departments of The Gazette presented a valuable testimonial to the retiring editor-in-chief of the metropolitan daily, the entire staff being present. The presentation was made by Mr. S. Kydd, who succeeds Mr. White in the editorial chair.

The ex-member for Cardwell, who has been connected with The Gazette for over 20 years, replied in feeling terms to the address, and three cheers were given for the new collector and Mrs. White.

"Bat" Shea May Live

Albany, Jan. 5.—John A. McGough, a pal of "Bat" Shea, who was to have been electrocuted at Dannemora prison on Tuesday next for the murder of Robert Ross of Troy, has confessed that it was not Shea who shot Ross, but that he did it himself.

The Governor after examining the confession decided to issue to-morrow a respite for Shea until February 4, to give Shea's counsel an opportunity to apply for a new trial.

Menelek Threatening Baratieri.

Rome, Jan. 5.—A despatch from Massowah, says that King Menelek of Abyssinia, with thirty thousand followers, has arrived at Lake Ascinghi. It is believed that he intends to make a flank movement with the object of attempting to cut off Gen. Baratieri's communication with Massowah.

The Dominion in Bad Shape.

London, Jan. 5.—The afterhold of the steamer Dominion, Captain Cross, from Portland, Dec. 24, for Bristol, which lowing the water to flow into her to nearly full of water. She will probably have to be discharged. The main injection pipe was carried away, allowint the water to flow into her to such an extent that she was beached to prevent her sinking.

COUNTERFEITS.

A few years ago a great discovery was made.

Unprincipled persons are trying to prey upon and dupe people who are led to ask for kidney treatment.

Some of the methods adopted by imitators are as follows:—

First;—To imitate the size, color and shape of Dodd's Kidney Pills and sell them by count.

Second:—To put them up to appear very nearly the same and to be offered at the same price.

Third;—To hook on the word "kidney" in naming catharatic pills so as to increase sales of mere physic.

Fourth;—To give a name so near to Dodd's that unwary people may be deceived and think they are getting Dodd's.

Look out for such dodgee. When you want kidney medicine you want the best. And ought not to be the subject of any trick.

So beware.

Catarrh can be successfully treated only by purifying the blood, and the one true blood purifier is Hood's Sarsaparilla.

CUBAN REBELS STILL ADVANCING.

The Whole Province of Havana Said to be Up in Arms Against the Government—City Threatened.

New York, Jan. 4.—A despatch to The Herald from Keywest, Fla., says: Startling advices have been received here from the city of Havana, to the effect that the whole of the Province of Havana is in arms against the Government. The situation in the western section of the Island of Cuba is reported to be so alarming that the two extreme western provinces, Havana and Pinar Del Rio, the last containing the richest tobacco fields in Cuba, have been declared under martial law by the Captain-General. In this district also the insurgents are reported to be gaining strength every hour.

While no details are given of actual engagements, the reports say the Government troops are falling back everywhere in the disaffected western regions before the triumphant rebel army.

To allay as much as possible the panic excited by this condition of affairs, the chief officials in the capital are sending out false despatches about the situation. That these attempts at stifling the facts are far from successful is shown by the wide currency which has been given to the rumor that the actual crisis in the revolution has arrived, and that far from holding the insurrectionists in check, the Spanish military authorites have been outgeneraled, have allowed their foes to turn the flank of their main position, and have thus found themselves in a military dilemma of the most humiliating as well as serious character.

Another report received here is to the effect that a conspiracy to destroy the Government buildings in Havana by dynamite has been disclosed and the plot of the conspirators frustrated.

New York, Jan. 5.—The Herald has a special from Havana via Key West, dated at the Cuban capital Saturday. The Herald's correspondent says:

The latest news from the front is that the Cubans captured Guines last night, cutting communication between main forces of Campos' army and Havana.

The heights around this city are being hurriedly fortified, and new garrisons have been established at Jesus Del Monte, Mariana and other strategic suburban outposts, to prevent the Cubans from cutting off the water supply. A strong guard has also been placed to protect the gas works from the emissaries of the Cubans, who are suspected of a purpose to cripple the plant and leave the city in darkness.

JAMESON'S FATE.

An Appeal to President Kruger for Mercy.

FULLER DETAILS OF THE FIGHT

Complete Defeat of the the Invading Party—Warlike Feeling in England—Lord Wolseley Proposes to Strengthen the Army—The Treaty Will be Kept.

London, Jan. 4.—The Carlton Club, the great Conservative organization which is usually deserted during the holiday period, was thronged with members on the receipt of the news from the Transvaal. The scions of many families have gone to British South Africa to seek their fortunes. These took naturally to the only occupation they considered fit for them and joined the mounted police forces of the British South African Company. In addition to the distinguished members of aristocratic families above mentioned, Captain Forbes, Captain Graham, Captain Doyne, and three lieutenants, Grenefell, Keith and Falconer, all of whom are well known in London society, took part in the expedition that Captain Jameson took into the Transvaal.

The message sent yesterday by Emperor William to President Kruger of the South African Republic has aroused popular wrath in England to an unmeasurably greater extent than did President Cleveland's message on the Venezuelan dispute. If the Government responds to the passion that is now rising to fever heat throughout Great Britain, it will take early notice of the Emperor's missive in terms amounting to an outspoken challenge and the country which it would be difficult to persuade into accepting the United States as a foe wouldn't hesitate to tackle Germany. The Venezuela dispute has hardly stirred the national pulse throughout, it has chiefly been a matter of the newspapers. Germany's intervention in the Transvaal has set England aflame.

The Globe (Conservative) says the entire empire will become a war party if Emperor William's words are followed by deeds. The mildest Liberal organs write in the same tone. The papers teem with abuse of German impolence and arrogance and the Emperor's deliberate insult and appeal to the Government to strengthen its fighting forces and then prepare for war. This time the press accurately reflect popular feeling. The question is to what length will Lord Salisbury's Ministry obey the country's behest. It is an amazing fact that during the recent troubles Lord Salisbury has not once summoned a meeting of the full Cabinet. With the crisis in the east, President Cleveland's message and war clouds all round, the Prime Minister acts like an irresponsible dictator. He communicates constantly with the Queen and her advisers and consults the Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, the Colonial Secretary, and the Right Hon. A. J. Balfour, First Lord of the Treasury, his inner Cabinet, but ignores the rest of his colleagues.

TWO BATTLES WERE FOUGHT.

The Boers Were Less Strong—Jameson's Force Was Half-Starved.

London, Jan. 4.—In response to an enquiry from the Colonial Office, Sir Walter Hutchinson, Governor of Natal, has sent a despatch confirming the main facts of Dr. Jameson's defeat. He adds that the Boers who opposed Dr. Jameson's force numbered about 1500. They occupied a strong position. Two battles were fought. The Governor also sends extracts from newspaper telegrams which are confused and contradictory. The main points deducted from these dispatches are that Dr. Jameson arrived near Krugersdorp on Dec. 31, and attacked the Boers on the day following. He was repulsed and then tried to move from Randfontane to Rodport, but was stopped at Doorkop. Heavy fighting took place on the afternoon of Jan. 2, at which the Transvaal State Artillery arrived. Dr. Jameson's force were hopelessly outnumbered and were almost exhausted, having been without food for three days. The horses, too, were helplessly jaded. Dr. Jameson yielded after sustaining a loss which, if the original force was 500 men, amounted to 240 killed and wounded.

MERCHANTS ARE ANXIOUS.

They Call on Mr. Chamberlain and are Somewhat Reassured.

London, Jan. 4.—A deputation of merchants interested in the South African trade to-day called on Colonial Secretary Chamberlain in connection with the troubles in the Transvaal. Replying to the representations made to him by the deputation, Mr. Chamberlain said that the probability of further disturbance was remote. The Government, he added, sympathised with the undoubted grievances of the Uitlanders, though what had recently occurred made the situation difficult. Still he hoped that friendly representations to the Transvaal Government would be successful. Referring to the invasion of the Transvaal by Dr. Jameson, he said, the Government had done its duty and nothing more. The Government would adhere to its obligations under the convention of 1884, and would uphold that convention in all its provisions. From this position nothing had occurred to induce the Government to recede.

NOT TO BE SHOT.

President Kruger Assures Mr. Chamberlain to that Effect.

London, Jan. 5.—The Government has made public the following cable despatches:

On January 3, Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain cabled to President Kruger of the South African Republic as follows: "It is rumored here that you have ordered the prisoners to be shot. I do not believe the rumors. I rely on you generosity in your hour of victory."

To-day Hon. Cecil Rhodes, Prime Minister of Cape Colony, and the head in Africa of the British South Africa Co., sent a despatch reading: "The rumor that a force is collecting at Buluwayo is absolutely false."

President Kruger, replying to Mr. Chamberlain's despatch, cabled: "I have not ordered the freebooters who are prisoners to be shot. Their case will be decided strictly in accordance with the traditions of the republic and in sharp contrast to the unheard-of acts of these freebooters. So many lies and false reports are published in even the influential newspapers in England, that I deem it advisable to add that the freebooter prisoners have been treated with the greatest consideration by our Burghers, despite the fact that the latter have been more than once compelled to take up arms in defence of the dearly bought independence of our republic. I hope you will kindly pardon the liberty I am taking, when I say that our confidence in Rhodes has received such a rude shock that his repudiation of the proceedings at Buluwayo ought to be received with the greatest caution. Even now we have news that an armed force is collecting on our borders. If this is true I trust that not the word of Rhodes but the influence of the Government will suffice to prevent further incursions. Will you, with a view to checking further lying reports, publish this?"

Mr. Chamberlain replied: "I thank you for your message, which I will publish as you desire. The press has not given credence to the rumors about cruelty to prisoners. I have always been confident of your magnanimity. I have sent an imperial officer to Buluwayo to see that my orders are obeyed and to prevent a further raid. You may rest confident that I will strictly uphold all the obligations of the London convention in 1894."

LORD WOLSELEY'S FEELING.

The Commander in Chief Suggests Reinforcements at Home.

London, Jan. 5.—The People, which is the weekly edition of the Globe, which is in touch with the Government, says there is reason to believe that Prime Minister Salisbury, and his colleagues, owing to the hostile attitude of Germany, will consider the expediency of immediately strengthening the British forces in these parts of the empire that are exposed to attacks. Field Marshal Lord Wolseley, commanred-in-chief of the forces, has given it as his firm opinion that if the forces are sent abroad it will be necessary to reinforce the troops at home. It is therefore likely that the militia and army reserve will be called out to such an extent as to place at least one army corps at the disposal of the War Office for foreign service.

The General News says that the Government is determined not to permit Germany to give military assistance to the Transvaal.

A Few Particulars.

London, Jan. 4.—It is understood that the scarcity of news from the Transvaal is due to the fact that the British Government is exercising a rigorous censorship over all and probably press and private messages. Occasionally a private message filters through. One received to-day says President Kruger of the South African republic has declared his willingness to make a satisfactory concession to the demands of the Uitlanders. Another despatch gives credit to The Cape Times, published in Capetown, for the assertion that, in the battle between the Boers and the force headed by Dr. Jamson, the former were a great deal more numerous than the latter. Jameson and 550 of his followers, the paper says, were taken prisoners and conducted to Johannesburg. Dr. Jameson was not wounded. The latest reports say that 86 of Jameson's followers were killed. The excitement in Johannesburg is subsiding, and the citizens are disarming.

The Berlin correspondent of the Central News claims to have authority for the statement that negotiations are in progress between several nations relative to the taking of joint steps, especially in the event of the Transvaal repudiating the Anglo-Boer convention. The report adds that the Germans interested will claim damages from the telegraph company for blocking the German despatches.

Darkest Hour in England's History.

New York, Jan. 5.—Dallard Smith cables from London to The World: As the night's darkness comes down upon London this evening it seems indeed the blackest hour for England in all her eventful history. The hand of the whole civilized world is against her at this moment. To-morrow, the day after, next week, or even before this cable despatch is published it may be that the armed hand of Germany or of Russia may strike. These are not the mere words of a newspaper correspondent. What I have is the quotation in brief of the expression of every morning and afternoon newspaper in London, of the earnest and urgent conversation on the streets, at the clubs, in every ygathering. It is impossible for an American descendant from this people not to sympathize with them in this day of their great tribulation, not to fail to admire their dogged acceptance of isolation and danger. The Telegraph, the organ of the masses, thus bluntly phrases their determination, referring to this morning's chorus of vicious threats from Berlin, Paris, Vienna and St. Petersburg:

"It may prove in the long run dangerous sport to bait John Bull too hard and too unanimously." That is the [illegible] of all England to-day—forced to the wall, driven in his tracks, but furiously fighting to the last.

This evening's St. James' Gazette, the staunchest of Lord Salisbury's newspaper supporters, says of it: "The Emperor's message is nothing but a bitter insult to this country after a naval council of war. Let us understand that, and understand also that the despatch in which the Kaiser exults over the defeat and death of Englishmen was absolutely uncalled for and gratuitous, and we shall conclude that there is matter here which may well give every Englishman something to ponder over in the Sabbath lull of the next forty-eight hours."

Rhodes Tenders His Resignation

London, Jan. 5.—A despatch from Cape Town, dated December 31, says that Mr. Rhodes had tendered his resignation of the office of Prime Minister of Cape Colony to Sir Hercules Robinson, the Governor of the colony, but that the latter had not accepted it.

Ten of Their Children Dead.

Merritton, Ont., Jan. 4.—Mr. Harry E. Smyth, son of John P. Smyth, ex-superintendent of the Welland Canal, died here to-day of pneumonia, after a brief illness of five days. As organist and choirmaster of St. George's English Church, St. Catharines, he had a provincial reputation, being a talented and accomplished musician and widely known as a successful concert organizer. Much sympathy is felt for the stricken parents, this being the tenth child they have lost.

Pearl Eytinge a Drunken Wreck.

New York, Jan. 5.—Pearl Eytinge, the only daughter of Rose Eytinge, the well-known actress, was taken to the Flower Hospital to-night a physical wreck. She was suffering from alcoholism in one of its worse stages and from the effects of overdoses of morphine. Pearl Eytinge was once a famous actress, like her mother. She quit the stage some six years ago and since that time she has been living in East 48th-street. She is not married.

Fast Company Ruined Him.

Chester, Vt., Jan. 4.—V. H. Smith, for the past 20 years station agent for the Central Vermont Railroad at Ludlow, left this morning with a large sum of money belonging to his employers. Smith is a young man heretofore of good reputation. Fast company caused his downfall.

Maltine With Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites—a Food, Medicine and Digestive.

Thousands of invalids are starving—starving in the midst of plenty and despite the tender care of loved ones. Health is restored, not by what is eaten, but by what is digested. Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites is a food, for it is rich in the nourishing properties of wheat, oats, and barley; a medicine, for it is combined with the best Norwegian oil, which it renders palatable, non-irritating, and readily assimilated; and a powerful digestive, for it acts rapidly upon starchy foods, making them soluble and capable of supplying in abundance the elements of nutrition. One bottle is of greater remedial value than ten bottles of any emulsion. Try it.

MR. JOHN McKEE,
Druggist, Peterboro:

Dear Sir—I have been troubled with Neuralgia more or less for 25 years. For the past 20 years my sufferings have been intense, until last winter, when you advised me to try a box of "Templeton's Pink Powders." After taking three or four powders all pain left. I continued them, however, until three boxes were taken, and have had no recurrence of the pain for about nine or ten months, and would strongly advise anyone suffering from that most painful of troubles to try "Templeton's Pink Powders." Yours truly,

The Pipes Burst.

On Sunday a pipe connected with the boiler for heating water on the stove, in Haskill's barber shop, burst and flooded the premises with water. The shop was filled with steam by the water falling upon the stove, and at first the extent of the damage could not be ascertained on this account. By the time the atmosphere was cleared somewhat it was found that beyond the wetting of the floor no injury whatever had been done to the premises.

Leap Year.

The 29th of next February, it is not generally known, will be the only 29th of February till 1904, since the year 1900, which most people are looking forward to as leap year, will really be an ordinary year. For the solar or actual year consists of 365 days, 5 hours, 48 minutes, 50 seconds, or 11 minutes 10 seconds less than 365¼ days with the calendar, by intercalating a 29th of February every four years, credits it, and so in the course of a century the calendar goes wrong 18 hours, 38 minutes and 50 seconds. Accordingly at the end of the century, in order to get tolerably right again, the calendar, three times in four centuries drops a 29th of February, and makes a leap year an ordinary year. It thus, instead of going wrong almost a day every century, goes wrong only about a day every 5000 years.

—The brickwork of the old flannel mill, which is still standing at this side of the Hunter street bridge, is being taken down brick by brick and the debris cleared away. A new mill will be erected on the site in the spring.

Grafton's big Clearing Sale going on now.

The Voting To-day.

Although the town has been most thoroughly canvassed by the committees of the mayoralty candidates it is not expected that the vote polled will be very large on account of the extreme coldness of the weather. The ladies vote will not be as large as anticipated for this reason.

A Runaway.

A spirited horse, harnessed to a buggy, driven by Mr. O. Cragg, postmaster at Hiawatha, ran away Thursday last while returning from Peterborough, upsetting the buggy with top up. The remains of the buggy were left behind, as was also the driver, but the animal continued its mad career, with shafts trailing behind it, heading south. There were some wonderful escapes on meeting passengers on the road. The beast was finally brought to a standstill at Meriman's Creek, one mile distant from Hiawatha with its dangling shafts and broken harness. Mr. Cragg was in no way injured, though of course, a little shaken up.

THE COLD WAVE HERE.

Sharp Drop in the Thermometer Yesterday—Intense Cold Experienced East and West of Here.

A cold wave came down from the Northwest yesterday and started the sidewalks snapping merrily. The extreme cold may do some injury to the wheat crop, for, with the exception of Essex and a portion of Kent County, there is no covering of snow in Ontario. The cold wave first manifested itself in the Territories last Tuesday, and gradually worked its way eastward. It was first felt here early last Friday and by Sunday morning the water pipes were beginning to freeze in many of the private residences. The cold was felt pretty far to the south, as frost was reported from northern Florida, and ice formed in New Orleans yesterday morning.

At 8 o'clock last evening the following temperatures were registered at these several places : Edmonton, 6 degrees below zero ; Battleford, 10 degrees below ; Prince Albert, 12 degrees below ; Qu'Appelle, 6 degrees below ; Winnipeg, 8 degrees below ; Parry Sound, 22 degrees below ; Sault Ste. Marie, 12 degrees below; Port Arthur, 32 degrees below ; Port Stanley, 2 degrees below ; Kingston, 14 degrees below ; Quebec, 18 degrees below ; Montreal, 26 degrees below ; Chatham, N. B., 10 degrees below. The cold wave had not yet reached the Atlantic last night, as the temperature was six degrees above zero at Halifax.

Saturday morning the lowest temperatures recorded in the Northwest were as follows : Prince Albert, 50 degrees below zero; Qu'Appelle, 40 degrees below : Minnedosa, 42 degrees below, and Winnipeg, 44 degrees below zero.

REOPENING OF THE SCHOOLS.

The Scholars of the South Ward School Make a Mistake.

All the schools reopened to-day with a good attendance, but a misapprehension seems to exist in regard to the South Ward School. On account of mention being made that the "at home" and forma reopening would not take place until Friday next, some of the pupils took it for granted that the school would not be open to receive them until Friday. This is not the case, as the school re-opened this morning at 9 o'clock, and the teachers expect to see every scholar in his or her place to-morrow morning. The Board of Education will pronounce a decision regarding the date of the "At Home" to-morrow evening at its regular monthly meeting, but in all probability it will be held on Friday next.

THE ARABS' FLITTING

Or Hiawatha Up-to-date.

The Lindsay Post publishes the following excellent adaptation on the flitting of the Arabs from the Scugog town :

Should you ask me, whence this story?
Whence this tale as true as gospel,
With the deeds of brave policemen,
With the wind and frost of January,
With the curling smoke of wigwams,
With the rushing of sightseers,
With their frequent repetitions,
And their wild reverberations,
As of thunder in the mountains!
I should answer as I usually do,
On the first day of the New Year,
Up the river, in the woodlands,
On the banks of the great Scugog;
Up the river near Frank Curtin's.

Listen, reader, to these legends,
To this tale as true as gospel,
To this song of Lindsay's "Finest!"
Ever thicker, thicker, thicker,
Grew the wicked tribe of Arabs,
Ever bolder, bolder bolder,
Grew they in their wicked actions,
And when all the men of Brickville
Climbed upon the fence and shouted :
"Oh, you bad men from the desert,
We are going to call you down, see—
You had better make your sneak to Mariposa, 'cross the river!"
All the tribe of Arabs tittered,
Laughed aloud in wild derision
Grabbed each other's sleeve and therein
Laughed a coarse and brutal laugh, till
All the stumps in Scugog river
Echoed back this brutal laughter;
Gave the ha! ha! unto Brickville.

But Detective Mud-Way-Aushka
(Man-who-is-like-just-like-a-Blue-Streak)
Softly pulled his silken moustache,
And then called the cops around him—
Called them all, addressed them, saying :
"Oh, my people, my dear people,
When we try to down these Arabs
We've not struck a snap that's easy,
But we must get out and hustle,
Hustle till the cows come homeward.
Ah, my people, my dear people,
We must fight alone, unaided
By Tom Bell, the awful Big Chief,
(Man-Much-Feared-by-all-the-Black-legs)."
Speaking thus did noble John Short—
He, the Copper Mud-Way-Aushka—
Jolly all the good policemen
Into thinking him the greatest Hoop trapper in the business;
Jollied all the good policemen.

Then Detective Mud-Way-Aushka
Took the police cab up to Curtin's,
Near the shining, rippling river,
Up to far-famed Gitchee Gumee—
Gitchee Gumee - Curtin's—where
All the gypies of all nations,
All the gypies meet in summer.
Straightway then did John Short,
With his force of brave policemen,
Go to work and grab the Arabs,
And a crowd of Lindsay Christians
Thought the scene to be enchanting,
Laughed and jeered at women weeping,
Laughed and jeered at children crying.
Then before the good old Colonel
Did John Short his captives hustle,
But the good old Colonel, knowing
The nature of this restless people,
Sent them back with food and clothing
And good advice to change their dwelling.

But the Arabs found no comfort,
Sighed and said that they were hoodoo-ed,
Felt cold shivers running through them,
Felt that something worse would happen;
Uttered cries of lamentation,
Each unto the other saying :
"In the neck, ah! In the neck, ah!"
Which, in Arab parlance, means that
They felt leery of the future.
When these things had come to pass, up
Rose Detective Mud-Way-Aushka,
Called the coppers to him, saying :
"Oh, my people, my dear people!
We have got these wicked Arabs,
Got them on the run, I tell you ;
Arab braves are frightened, frightened,
Me and Crawford, me and Dougall,
Did the business—we are Lulus.
We have scared the sunburn off them,
Have raised such a mighty rumpus,
That no more on Curtin's pastures
Feed the steeds of wandering Arabs."

Purified Blood

Saved an operation in the following case. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures when all others fail. It makes pure blood.

"A year ago my father, William Thompson, was taken suddenly ill with inflammation of the bladder. He suffered a great deal and was very low for some time. At last the doctor said he would not get well unless an operation was performed. At this time we read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and decided to try it. Before he used half a bottle his appetite had come back to him, whereas before he could eat but little. When he had taken three bottles of the medicine he was as well as ever." FRANCIS J. Cot and Cradle Stories.

We are accustomed to speak of a "ripe old age," but it would seem that Mrs. Catharine Parr Traill enjoys an evergreen old age. At the age of 94 she has written a new book—"Cot and Cradle Stories"—for a copy of which THE EXAMINER has to thank the publisher, Mr. Wm. Briggs. This book is a well-printed and handsomely illustrated volume of 240 pages, and is composed of a series of stories, largely personal reminiscences of the author's long and busy life. Every page is full of that vivid interest which the aged authoress always takes in the beautiful works of nature and her overflowing sympathy with the joys and delights of the young. No one can rise from the reading of "Cot and Cradle Stories" without a heart warmed and expanded, a more loving sympathy with the Creator's works and a more loving admiration of the venerable authoress, whose graceful writings have brightened the hours of millions of readers of her numerous works. At an age when to most men that transgress the Psalmist's limit of life, come "trouble and sorrow,' Mrs. Traill is busy with her tireless pen brightening the lives of others.

CHEESE SHIPMENTS.

Importance of the Cheese Industry.

The number of cheese shipped this season from Montreal to the Old Country ports was in excess of the amounts shipped in past years. The export of this commodity has yearly increased, as the figures of the past three seasons will show: In 1893 the amount was 1,482,946; in 1894, 1,720,058, and in 1895, 1,716,007. Of these three years the prices of 1894 were the best, averaging 10 1-16c a pound. The total value of the cheese exported for the three years is $33,011,700. The value of each of these years' sales was: 1893, $11,027,900; 1894, $12,063,900, and 1895, $11,019,900. The highest price paid this season was 9½c for October and November make, and the lowest rate reached was 6c for the May supply. In 1894 the highest price reached was 10¼c for September cheese, and the lowest offered was 9⅜c for the June supply. In 1893 as high as 11½ was paid for October cheese, and the lowest point reached was 9c. These were all spot prices. In 1875 the number of cheese exported was 507,062, as against 1,716,007 in 1895. On the other hand the export of butter has decreased. In 1875, 115,417 lbs. were exported, as against 69,664 lbs. in 1895. The greatest amount of this commodity exported from Canada in any one year was in 1880, when 196,867 lbs. were sent to the Old Country. —Trade Review.

GOVERNMENT STATISTICS.

The Department of Agriculture has issued Bulletin LV., styled Statistics of Ontario, giving the following statistics of cheese factories. There were 1011 cheese factories in operation in Ontario in 1894, being an increase of 114 over 1893. The average output per factory was 90,226 lbs. of cheese in 1894, compared with 56,061 pounds in the year previous, 109,637 in 1892, and an average of 93,637 pounds for 12 years. The total output of cheese in 1894 was 11,117,828 pounds in excess of 1893, while the gross amount of money received was $1,102,538 greater than in 1893. The total amount paid to patrons in 1894 was $7,931,022, which is equivalent to 77.2 cents per one 100 pounds of milk, or $8.15 per hundred pounds of cheese. The cheese sales averaged $9.70 per 100 pounds, so that the average expense of making, hauling, etc., averaged $1.55 per 100 pounds of cheese.

THE CHEESE INDUSTRY.

Central Smith Dairy Company.

The annual meeting of the stock holders of Central Smith Dairy Co. was held in Temple Hall on Wednesday, Dec. 18th, 1895, the president, A. Young in the chair. The auditors' and financial reports were read and accepted, after which the directors for the coming year were elected, viz., T. D. Young, C. D. Moore, J. Tindall, R. Rimison, and A. Young.

The proceeds for the past season have been divided upon the butter fat basis, figuring according to the readings of the test. The result has been satisfactory, and when a vote was taken as to how the proceeds should be divided for the coming season, it was unanimously in favour of the butter fat system.

Mr. Revill, the cheese maker, says that since the butter fat system of paying has been adopted, that there has been a decided change for the better in the condition of the milk when it reaches the factory. He believes this to be the fairest way of dividing the proceeds, and to be the most effective way of inducing patrons to take better care of their cows and milk.

Following is a statement of the factory's business for 1895:

REPORT OF CENTRAL SMITH FACTORY.

ANDREW YOUNG, Secretary.

Pine Grove Factory.

The patrons of Pine Grove Cheese Factory held their annual meeting on Thursday, Dec. 12th, to wind up the business of 1895:—

Total amount of milk, 718,757.
Total amount of cheese, 68,432.
Total amount of money, $3,448.91.
Paid cheesemaker, $855.40.
Paid patrons, $4,593.50.
Lbs. milk to make lb. cheese, 10 91.
Average price per lb. cheese, 7.96.

This factory has paid by the butter fat system for the past three years and it is giving entire satisfaction; no going back to the old-fashioned pooling system.

CHURCH CHIMES.

The members of the Session are requested to meet in St. Paul's at the conclusion of the regular weekly service.

Miss Hendren sang a very beautiful solo during the offertory yesterday morning in the Charlotte street church.

Rev. H. Symonds, of St. Luke's church, and Rev. E. V. Stephenson, of St. John's, exchanged pulpits last evening.

The Sunday school lesson in the George Street Methodist church yesterday was the same as that of the same Sunday in the year 1881.

Misses Huebeck and Gladman took the duet in Smith's anthem "Break Forth into Joy," with good effect in St. Andrew's church last night.

In the anthem, "Unto Us a Child is Born," Miss Annie Fowler sang the solo parts in excellent voice in St. Andrew's church last night.

Mr. G. W. Mulligan took the solo in the anthem, "While Shepherds Watch their Flocks," most effectively last night in St. Andrew's church.

The monthly meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Foreign Missionary Society will be held in St. Paul's church on Friday afternoon next.

The rite of the Holy Sacrament will be administered in St. Paul's church next Sunday. The collection will be for the benefit of the Presbyterian College.

In the evening in the Charlotte street church the anthem "There is a Holy City" was sung in particularly noticeable harmony. Miss Hendren took the solo and Misses Hendren and Stevens the duet.

The sermon delivered in the George street church, last evening, by Rev. W. R. Young, was a most masterly effort and is being spoken of as being the finest ever heard within the precincts of the church.

The anthems in St. Paul's church yesterday were Bauman's "Dear Refuge of my Weary Soul," and Pfleuger's "Consider and Hear Me." In the latter there were solo, duet and quartette parts taken by Miss Montgomery, Mrs. Mein, and Messrs. Dawson and Jones.

THE GOVERNMENT GONE TO SMASH.

The expected has happened. The Dominion Government is in the throes of dissolution—in articulo mortis. One half of it is paralyzed and the other half is doomed. As the Globe expresses it, "the Bowell Government is lying around Ottawa in sections totally smashed." As will be seen by our despatches seven members of the cabinet have handed in their resignations, and they have been accepted by the Premier—Hon. Messrs. Foster, Finance Minister; Tupper, Minister of Justice; Dickey, Minister of Militia; Montague, Minister of Agriculture; Haggart, Minister of Railways and Canals; Ives, Minister of Trade Commerce; Wood, Controller of Customs. For months the cabinet has been shaken by dissensions between the members—men who could not govern their own unruly passions of greed, jealousy and self-seeking clung to the delusion that they could govern this great country. But the result of the bye-elections has helped to precipitate the crisis. Sir Mackenzie Bowell has been the victim of intrigues by his subordinates, and intrigue failing to make him step down and out, two ministers who, as representatives of Ontario in the Cabinet, would be expected to stand by the Premier, went to him on Friday and demanded his resignation, and for answer the Premier shakes in the face of the rebels the two letters said to have been written by Dr. Montague to His Excellency the Governor General, accusing another Cabinet minister, Sir A. P. Caron, of corruption—a safe enough charge to make on general principles. The fact of this letter leaked out, and Montague, deeply incensed by the Premier's assumed betrayal of confidence doubtless organized the seven-fold resignation. For the present Mackenzie Bowell is master of the situation, but the situation is one he has little cause to be proud of. While every body will admit that the country is well rid of the deserting ministers, it will also be as readily admitted that the remaining members are altogether unworthy of confidence and that, as a nucleus of a reconstructed government, they are absolutely impossible. The Mail and Empire hints that the administration as at present composed is not thoroughly representative of the Conservative party. This will not be denied; nor will it be denied that it is unworthy of the confidence of the country. For long the Government has shown that it was unfit to govern, and the present smash is by no means a surprise, though the manner of the smash is sufficiently startling. Who will be Sir Mackenzie's successor, is a natural question; for no one believes that he will be able to get a Cabinet together, even if the Governor-General permitted him to try. Sir Charles Tupper is spoken of, but his past record puts him out of the running at once. The people have endured a regime of corruption for sixteen years, and are sick of it, therefore Tupper stock is below par—Tupper is too costly. Costly as he is to the country as High Commissioner, he would be simply ruinous as Prime Minister of Canada. For the country's good the only way out of the present crisis is to put Mr. Laurier's strong hand at the helm. Talk of patching up the present Cabinet chaos as they will, it must come to this that a party that has not enough cohesion to prevent fighting amongst the chiefs, must give way to the leaders of the Liberal party.

THERE is a row in the Dominion Cabinet and every probability that the furniture will be wrecked or somebody hurt.

SIR MACKENZIE BOWELL is dead on the wicket, and there is a certainty that some of the players of the Cabinet team will be clean Bowelled.

HON. DR. MONTAGUE, the newly-appointed Minister of Agriculture, one of whose first official acts was the writing of a very seductive prescription for making farmers rich, is now more likely "in the soup" than in the Cabinet. It is reported that he has resigned, in the face of a charge that he wrote anonymous letters to Sir Mackenzie Bowell, accusing Sir Adolf Caron of boodling. The charge per se might easily be sustained, but the sin of Dr. Montague consists in his conspiring against a colleague in a Cabinet whose members pretty generally live in glass houses.

Sometimes the most careful women are the most careless. Many a woman bundles herself up, to keep out sickness—when she is neglecting the very worst sickness that can come to a woman. She allows a slight disorder to become worse, to slowly sap her vitality. The little pain and the other slight indications of trouble seem to her unimportant. She goes on with increasing suffering, until life itself becomes a drag. Nervousness, "sinking spells," digestive disturbances, and fifty other complications may arise from the derangement of the organs distinctly feminine. Over thirty years ago, the need for a reliable remedy for so-called "female complaints" was recognised by Dr. R. V. Pierce, then, as now, chief consulting physician to the to the World's Dispensary and Invalid's Hotel, at Buffalo, N. Y. He prepared Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, the most wonderfully effective remedy that has ever been used for such maladies.

Send 31 cents in one-cent stamps and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser," illustrated.

Some persons have periodical attacks of Canadian cholera, dysentery or Diarrhoea, and have to use great precautions to avoid the disease. Change of water, cooking, and green fruit, is sure to bring on the attacks. To such persons we would recommend Dr. J. D. Kellog's Dysentery Cordial as being the best medicine in the market for all summer complaints. If a few drops are taken in water when the symptoms are noticed no further trouble will be experienced.

No Trouble to Answer Letters

Most people when meditatng the purchase of a Piano feel more or less troubled in making a decision. The structure of a Piano is a thing they know so little of.

If you feel this way just write us a line and ask for information. It is no trouble at all to us. It is our business. We are experts of a quarter of a century's standing in the trade. Our stock is large. Our variety of styles is infinite, especially when you consider that we handle many other Canadian and American Pianos than those of our own make. Our prices are moderate, quality considered. Our terms are easy. Our Pianos are exceptional.

Again we say it is no trouble to answer letters, therefore write us and get full particulars.

A brilliant lamp, the blazing hearth and the long winter evenings afford delightful moments in every well regulated home. Remember to look at my attractive stock of Ornamental Lamps when out shopping. They make a lovely present.

THE pain that sometimes strikes a man at the most inopportune moment is due to indigestion. It may come in the midst of a dinner and make the feast a mockery. It is a reminder that he may not eat what he chooses, nor when he chooses. He is a slave to the weakness of his stomach. Frequently he doesn't even know whether the thing he eats is going to agree with him or not. The things that please his palate most are often the worst for him to eat. Even the simplest food is likely to cause him misery and sleepless nens. His first trouble was very slight—very simple—very easy to cure. He ate something indigestible and it stuck some place in his digestive system. He ate more things and they stuck. Part of his digestion stopped altogether—that is constipation.

Constipation is so common that more than half the people in America are troubled with it. It is so serious that nine tenths of the sickness of the world is traceable directly to this common cause. A man's health and strength depend upon what he gets out of his food. This depends on his digestion. Constipation stops digestion. Anybody can see that. The commonest kind of common sense will tell you that. When digestion stops, nutrition stops, and the whole body is thrown out of order.

The way to start digestion is to remove the obstruction. The way to do that is to take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are a positive cure for constipation and its attendant ills—headaches, sour stomach, flatulence, dizziness, biliousness and "heartburn." They are very gentle in their action. They simply assist nature. They give no violent wrench to the system. They cause no pain, nor griping, nor discomfort of any kind.

You can get a free sample of from 4 to 7 doses, by addressing World's Dispensary Medical Association, No. 663 Main Street. Buffalo, N. Y.

If a druggist tries to sell you something "just as good," transfer your trade to another store. He is sacrificing your interests to his own pecuniary advantage.

TURNING NEW LEAVES.

"Now, what is that noise?" said the glad New Year.
"Now, what is that singular sound I hear?
As if all the paper in all the world
Were rattled and shaken and twisted and twirled."

"Oh, that," said the jolly old Earth, "is the noise
Of all my children, both girls and boys,
A-turning over their leaves so new,
And all to do honor, New Year, to you."

GOOD RESOLUTIONS.

BY VIOLA ROSEBORO'.

[Copyright, 1895, by American Press Association.]

"Papa, I want to talk to you a little." It was the last day of the old year when Mrs. Marmont, with these words, stepped into Mr. Leland's "don." Mrs. Marmont's low voice was sad, and her slender, dark clad, listless figure was sad, and her small, aquiline beautiful face was sad, and if there was anything Mr. Leland disliked it was sadness. He was finding things gloomy enough before Linda entered in this creepy way with this request for a little talk.

"God bless my soul, Linda," said her parent, "I don't want any solemn little talk now, with the old year dying under our noses."

The poor man threw himself back in his big leather chair and scrutinized his daughter resentfully and reflectively.

Mrs. Marmont got up from the rug, where she knelt, ministering to the fire, and stood staring at the light leaping flames. "I don't know why people think that only the old have any right to be serious," said she. "It seems to me it is when you are young and have all your life to make or mar before you that you have the best right to be serious."

"GOING TO GET MARRIED AGAIN?"

"Why, why, Linda, my girl! It isn't—you haven't come to tell me you are going to get married again?"

"Married again!" exclaimed the young woman. "No one ought to get married again; it doesn't sound pretty."

"I didn't mean to say that. I am an unfortunate, blundering old ancestor. Don't be too hard on me. You know, daughter, I'd love to see you happy, even if you did leave me to the mercy of the housemaids."

"Would you, father, would you?" Linda came and sat on the arm of his chair and stroked his grizzled hair.

"Out with it! Who is it? I'm braced," said the father grimly.

"Oh, I'm not going to marry. I'm not," cried Mrs. Marmont, with even unnecessary fervor. "You ought to know that. You know, I wasn't very happy, and—and I want to be a deaconness!"

"A what?"

"You know, the order of deaconnesses they have in the church, papa. They give their lives to good works."

"Lord, Lord! It sounds as if they were bloomers. They don't, do they?"

"The costume is very becoming," said the widow, with frosty severity.

"Well, that's something to be thankful for."

"Papa, you must treat me like a grown person for these minutes. I want to tell you that I have made up my mind. I'm going to enter the novitiate. I'm going to be a deaconness."

She stood in the middle of the room, her hands clasped before her and looking terribly formidable for such a slender young beauty in good clothes. "It's my one resolution for the new year," she went on very quietly, but her breath coming in irregular pants. "I thought I ought to tell you as soon as I had made up my mind, and I made it up to-day, on this last day of the old year, and it's the last, too, of my old life. I'm tired of the frivolity and [illegible] night, but don't let my movements disturb yours."

"I trust you have not at this hour concluded to throw over your Aunt Sarah's dinner, too," he said, with sarcastic intonations.

"No," was the answer. "I don't know how Aunt Sarah's dinners could ever be looked upon as festivities. I'm only trying to sober my mind, and I expect that to be a very sobering function."

Aunt Sarah's dinner was to be eaten that very evening, and the guests were to dance and play whist and watch the old year out. It was to be a family party with a sprinkling of such other people as could be brought to join a family party—certainly not likely was it that they would be very gay members of society.

"I don't care what you do with it," said Mrs. Marmont, when her maid was doing her hair. "It's not important how I look."

"Why, madame, it ees not a ladees' luncheon you dress for! There will be the gentlemen. Is it not so?"

The mistress laughed and answered that it didn't matter.

Mrs. Marmont went to the despised dinner looking uncommonly imposing and handsome. When she entered her aunt's drawing room, a little admiring hush and then a little admiring murmur greeted the softly draped white figure, such as was hardly to be expected from a company so familiar with the sight of her. But all were not equally familiar with it; an athletic, bronzed young man who was talking to Mrs. Lounders (his hostess, Aunt Sarah) contributed to the hush, so to speak, by stopping short in the middle of his sentence as his eyes rested on Mrs. Marmont, and then ejaculating, "Is it—it is"—

"Linda," interrupted Mrs. Lounders, "of course. Didn't you expect to see her?"

"I had heard she was abroad—she hasn't changed so much as I first thought."

"Oh, no, a woman doesn't change much between 24 and 26, Mr. Lester. The fashions change, but you mustn't talk to her as if you were surprised—she isn't decrepit—nor to me either; it's not flattering to a woman of my age."

"She's handsomer than ever, as, of course, she ought to be," he added, smiling with a little bow to the elderly lady.

"You must take her in to dinner, Mr. Lester. She'll think it a godsend to have a new partner in my house."

Mrs. Marmont seemed a little surprised, too, at seeing Mr. Lester. She looked for just an instant as if he were a ghost, and then she took his arm, saying gayly: "Why, I thought you were in South America. Are you sure you are not and that this is not your astral body here among your dull old friends?"

"I know too well that it is my very self," he answered quietly.

"I came back with a New Year's resolution to stay at home," he continued. "I suppose I ought to do that. My mother and my mother's affairs need me, and we always resolve to do what we ought at the beginning of the new year, don't we? But I don't know; already I'm thinking of flight, of going to Egypt on something that can be called business."

"Why, it's terrible to think how New York must bore you." Mrs. Marmont spoke half drawlingly—rather as if she were bored herself.

"Bore me? You don't remember me as a bored person, do you?"

Mr. Lester did not dance. He devoted himself to whist with ancient and nervous partners. Mrs. Marmont never played whist, and she danced eagerly for awhile with young cousins and old uncles, but she lost her interest in that exercise early. Perhaps it was too frivolous to suit a budding deaconness. She sat down at a piano in an alcove away from all the company and softly played bits of old melodies. Lester turned his head and listened to the faint sound of a "song without words" till an indignant partner sternly recalled him to business. Mrs. Marmont and her father were among the first to leave. She came up to Lester just after the new year began, looking very stately and yet very kind and put out a straightforward little hand.

"I hope you won't go away," she said, "and"—there was a little break in the continuity of her speech, then she went on—"and I hope you'll come and see me."

"Thank you," said Lester and nothing more.

"Let's not talk now," she said wearily when her father began to speak of her "wild scheme" on the way home. She dismissed her maid and quietly and swiftly prepared for bed, but after the lights were out, as she lay in the dark, she began to sob like a little lonely, famished child, and the gray winter dawn was creeping into the room before the sobs sank into long quivering sighs, that did not break the light slumber that at last blessed her.

The next day Lester was standing listlessly at a club window. He had tried to talk to his mother that morning about the probability of his again leaving her, and that lady had, first impatiently and then plaintively, refused to listen to any such suggestion. As he stood there Mrs. Marmont passed.

Lester's face flushed and paled. He turned from the window. He called a cab. "Drive where you like for ten minutes," he said to the cabby, and at the end of eight he told him where to go, and presently the cab drew up in front of one of the old fashioned, luxurious houses of North Washington square.

"Mrs. Lindsay," said Lester when he was shown into the presence of the white haired, bright eyed old lady he had come to see, a friend he had known from his childhood, "I'm not going to beat about the bush. I've come to ask you something. I"—

"Sit down. Once I'd have thought it must be an offer of marriage; now I suppose you've come to decide some wager according to my memory of ancient history."

"No, but I have come because you know everything, and because you are so discreet. This is it: Where—no! Who did Linda Marmont marry?"

"Which Linda Marmont?"

"What! There are two? Great Jove!" Lester only breathed this apostrophe. It was as if he had not strength left for vocal effort.

"Of course there are two. Though it is rather odd, with a name like that. You didn't meet—no, you weren't here that season that Tom Marmont's young niece came here from back in the country somewhere, and Linda, our Linda, brought her out and married her off to Mark Weber. They are traveling in Spain now."

"How in the world did she come to do such a cheeky thing as be named Linda Marmont?" Lester asked the question with deep resentment. The old lady's dark eyes twinkled as she looked at him shrewdly.

"Why, she was named for Linda Leland—the families were very intimate, you know. That was the way that marriage of Linda's came about; the families made it up. My son, your silence tells that you've said all you have to say, and I beg that no sense of the duty of politeness will keep you here. Perhaps your wager is a very important one."

"You are the best woman in the world"—

GOOD RESOLUTIONS.

But his happy mood was not to remain unbroken through that winter afternoon. When he sent up his card to Mrs. Mar-mont he received not even the politely fictitious message that she was "out." It came in the more brutal form—she was engaged and could see no one. Lester took out another card and was about to pencil a line on it, but he stopped. How should he dare to send the lady an imperious prayer for an audience. What right had he?

SHE SOFTLY PLAYED BITS OF OLD MELODIES.

"What time will Mr. Leland be in?" The servant answered that he was to be expected in about half an hour. Three-quarters of an hour later Lester was again ringing that doorbell. He sent up his card to Mr. Leland and in his abstraction stepped, not into the drawing room, but into a little sitting room on the other side of the hall, and there, in a soft black gown and gazing motionlessly out of the window, sat Linda Marmont.

"Linda," exclaimed the man in a queer, choking voice, "don't start! Oh, you must let me speak to you! Nothing can take away our happiness. You are not married, not married!" And he caught both her hands in his as she stood startled and silent before him. "You don't know what I've lived through since I heard that Linda Marmont was married."

"You thought that I was married to Mark Weber?" Linda found indignant voice at last, and she was trying to draw away her hands, but there was a new color and light in her face and a hint of a smile on her lips.

"I thought so, I thought so last night. No one at that place called you anything but Linda. It is the strangest thing how stupid I was. But, Linda, you looked sweet and kind last night—I thought you were willing to be sorry for me. Oh, be sorry for me now, but be something more—let me think you were willing to remember the past last night and to make it up to me a little."

"LINDA!"

At the last words his voice sank to a passionate whisper.

"You were very rude to me last night," said Linda plaintively, like a grieved child. "I was what I had to be. I was knocked down when you came in. I wouldn't have risked meeting you for a fortune. I thought you were in Spain."

"With Mark Weber!" Linda made a little face.

Then of course there had to come soon, as soon as they could talk at all, explanations and confessions about the past, and the woman told the man how she had seemed to scorn him only because she felt an unacknowledged attraction toward him, and the man told her how he had watched for some sign of favor and had at last gone away to the ends of the earth because he could find none.

There was another interruption, and after some moments of silence Linda said, "I drove papa nearly wild."

"Great Jove!"

"What is it?"

"I sent my card up to your father hours ago. I suppose the servant couldn't find me. Well, my business with him has accumulated since then. I had better go and have it out with him, or will he be upset and cross about my forgetting him? That was awful!"

"He'll forgive you when he hears. He's ready to welcome any kind of a son-in-law now in preference to a descendant!"

MANITOBA ELECTIONS.

New Life in the Opposition Campaign—Mr Hugh John Macdonald Takes the Stump.

Winnipeg, Jan. 3.—As anticipated, the nominations of candidates in the city last evening has given quite an impetus to the Opposition cause in the provincial election campaign. Conventions to-day and to-morrow will comulete the best list of candidates ever seeking the suffrages of the Manitoba electors.

The Conservative leaders seem to have been particulary careful in the selection of candidates. Popular and independent men have been brought out in all constituencies and no doubt they will prove winners, solely on personal grounds, in several close contests.

It is a noticeable fact that not one of the Opposition candidates endorses the Remedial Legislation policy of the Federal Government. Being asked the reason of this, a prominent Conservative stated to-day that the school question was practically settled and the people would thoroughly understand it inside of a week; then the whole attention of the electors will be directed to the general policy of the Greenway Government, which was vulnerable in many points.

Hugh John Macdonald, the popular son of the late chieftain, has taken the stump in opposition interests and is proving a powerful

It is said if the Conservatives are successful at the polls, Mr. Macdonald will be asked, and no doubt accept, the task of forming a Government.

The Free Press must have an inkling of something about to happen, as it intimates that the Manitoba Legislature, when it meets on January 23 will make such amendments to the present School Act as will be quite acceptable to the Roman Catholic minority. It therefore advises the electors to pronounce judgment on the general policy of the Greenway Government, at the same time having regard to the personal qualifications of candidates.

A GLOOMY REPORT

Presented to Shareholders and Depositors of the Banque du Peuple

Montreal, Jan. 3.—The adjourned meeting of the Banque du Peuple depositors and shareholders was held today, and the report was a very gloomy one. The committee reported that in its opinion the primary causes of the bank's present state are as follows:

On the part of the directors a lack of the most elementary supervision over the bank's affairs, whereby the general manager was enabled to administer the same with unjustifiable, if not criminal, recklessness, and although your committee, during its enquiry, has not found anything which would go to prove that the directors wilfully deceived the shareholders and depositors of the bank, nevertheless your committee is of the opinion that the lack of supervision is the direct cause of the enormous losses incurred by the bank.

The deficit is, in addition to the loss of the capital, $1,200,000, and rest $600,000, about $388,138. The directors' indebtedness to the bank is as follows:

George Brush, $68,590; Alphonse Leclaire, $61,480; and A. Prevost, $56,866, for which there is no security. The bank will be put into liquidation, but in the meantime the meeting adjourned till Friday next.

A few days ago Paul Jasmin of Dunham had the Hon. G. B. Baker arrested on a charge of forgery. The preliminary examination took place before a bench of magistrates at Bedford, and resulted in Mr. Baker's honorable acquittal. Mr. Baker, who is a bad man when aroused, turned around and had Jasmin arrested for perjury. A preliminary examination was held before Magistrates C. H. Boright and E. Miller at Sweetsburg, and Jasmin was committed to jail to stand his trial at the next term of the Criminal Assizes. Jasmin is unable to procure bail, and will probably have to stay in jail till his trial comes off.

The estate of the late Hon. Edward Murphy is valued at $350,000, and will be divided into seven equal shares, the widow getting two and the five children one each. About $20,000 has been left to charities.

Triplets in Stayner.

Stayner, Jan. 3.—Mrs. Christopher Long of the sixth concession of Nottawasaga presented her husband with a novel New Year's gift. On the night of dec. 31 she gave birth to three healthy, well-developed boys, weighing 7, 6 and 6 pounds respectively. The doctor reports the mother and little family doing as well as could be expected.

Skeleton of a Lay Sermon For Christmas.

First.—Young women who are thinking of giving Christmas remembrances to their pastors should remember that the straight and narrow path is not an easy road to travel at all times, and therefore stout walking shoes may be more appropriate than embroidered slippers.

Second.—Measure the value of the gifts you receive by the motives of the givers and not by their intrinsic value. Oftentimes when the proper standard is used the humblest gift, costing but a few cents, is found to be of more real worth than the richest, most expensive present.

Third.—If you have made up your mind to give So-and-so a Christmas gift just because you think you are going to receive one from that quarter, you would better abandon the idea altogether. Christmas gifts prompted by anything but a desire to confer a real pleasure upon the recipient had best go ungiven.

Fourth.—It's a good thing to eat the old time Christmas dainties at Christmas time—the rich black plum pudding, the boar's head and the juicy baked goose—just the same as our forbears did. But if you have indigestion the next morning do not grumble. Go out into the sunshine and walk five miles, or, better yet, hunt up an ax and a log of wood and make the chips fly for an hour or two. It is a law of nature that whose will not physically labor shall not overeat with impunity.

Fifth.—It's a good thing to remember that the recording angel is likely to make a bigger entry to your credit on his books because of the gift of a half worn overcoat to a shivering fellow man or a dinner to a half starved and possibly grimy urchin than because of a costly jewel given to a favorite of fortune.

Sixth.—Christmas is the day of all the year on which the unlovely traits of your character should be smothered, and it would be a great thing for you if you were to manage in some way this year to get rid of those traits altogether.

In England the day after Christmas, "boxing day" as it is called, is a day of greater festivity among the working classes than Christmas itself. "Boxing day" is so called from the Christmas boxes, each containing money given by the rich to the poor in olden times.

Racked with Rheumatism

Unable to Walk, owing to excruciating pain.

After ten years' terrible torture, Cured by Scott's Sarsaparilla.

A. H. Christiansen, writing from the Clifton House, Niagara Falls, says: "I owe you more than I can ever pay. For ten years I suffered the tortures of the damned with rheumatism. Father had it before me, and I believe it is an hereditary disease. My knee joints would get inflamed and if I was out in any "weather" I was sure to be laid up, which to a travelling man is a calamity. In a score of Canadian towns local doctors treated me, some giving relief, others none. I read that Sarsaparilla was a rheumatic cure, and I asked a druggist for "a bottle of the best Sarsaparilla on the market." He gave me Scott's, remarking that it was an improvement on all others, and that he could honestly recommend it. I have taken four bottles, and am as free from pain as a man can hope to be. I was out in a rainstorm two days ago and never felt a twinge. As I said before, to Scott's Sarsaparilla I owe more than I can ever repay."

The best remedy for rheumatism, sciatica, and neuralgic pains—all arising from the presence of poison in the blood—is Scott's Sarsaparilla, a modern concentrated medicine, prompt in its curative effects. Doses from one half to one teaspoonful. At $1 per bottle of your druggist.

CHANDOS.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The nomination for reeve and councillors for the township of Chandos took place at Post's school house, school section No. 6, and were as follows:—Reeve, Wm. Hales; councillors, A. Trotter, J. Monogue, M. Couche, John Bullied.

The ratepayers have given evidence of the valuable and much appreciated services of our reeve and councillors, in returning them for the third time to the offices which they have filled with so much credit to themselves and satisfaction to those who placed them there. After the close of the hour for nomination Mr. Hales briefly addressed the electors present, wishing them the compliments of the season; also giving a very encouraging report of the business of the past year, showing several reforms in the management of the township affairs, which has much reduced the working expenses. Mr. Hales closed by thanking the people for his re-election by acclamation, and assuring them that all the business entrusted to himself and the council will be conducted with the strictest economy.

Mr. Monogue next addressed those present, and presented a statement carefully prepared by himself, and certified to by our much esteemed treasurer, Mr. P. Mahoney, giving an account of all moneys expended during the past year, also showing that all school levies, commissions, salaries, etc., of 1895 will be paid on demand, without the necessity of borrowing money, a circumstance which has not taken place in the township for many years. After a short speech from Mr. Couche, Mr. Bullied and Mr. Mahoney, those assembled returned to their homes, each one feeling thoroughly satisfied that their reeve and councillors elected for 1896 are the right men in the right place.

The first council meeting of 1896 will be held in Foster's school house, school section No. 4, on Monday, Jan. 20th.

HIAWATHA CHRISTMAS TREE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The Christmas tree under the auspices of the Methodist church at Hiawatha Friday evening was a grand success. The decorations were most elaborate, the edifice being decorated with two huge Christmas trees, well supplied with presents for the little aborigines, evergeens, bunting, mottoes, etc. The chair was taken by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Windsor. The following is the programme, rendered by local stars:

Recitation—"What the Clock Says"...Twelve [Boys and Girls
Solo—"Voice of the Bells"..Miss Hattie Crowe
Recitation—"Ring the Bells Softly"....Miss [Comuskay
Recitation—"Me Little Indian Boy"....Master [George Paudash
Recitation—"Miss Jones and the Burglar"....[Miss Nellie Thompson
Recitation—"I'll Take What Father Takes"....[Master Willie Anderson
Song (encored)—"My Dad is the Engineer"....[Miss Eliza Loucks
Song—"Lost on the Lady Elgin"....Mr. Joe [Loucks

The evening terminated by singing "God Save the Queen." The net proceeds amounted to $22.75.

Mr. Shipman, of Owen Sound—Seven Years' Acute Suffering—Diabetes Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

OWEN SOUND Jan. 6 (Special)—Mr. Shipman tells his story in the hope that he may benefit others, and says:—As the result of a tumble when a boy which injured my back, I have been troubled with weak kidneys all my life. For the past year I have been a great sufferer, growing worse until a friendly druggist advised me to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Tests of the urine showed Diabetes and I realized my danger. I found it impossible when tired stand upright and at such times was drawn down sideways. In all I have used about one dozen boxes and am now hearty and healthy as ever in my life.

Worth $5.00 a Bottle.

SIRS,—For five years I have been troubled with neuralgia and tried everything I could see or hear of. At last I was advised to try a bottle of Yellow Oil and I refused because I thought it was like all the rest—a failure. A half bottle was given me, however, and I found it helped me, and bought a bottle which cured me. If it cost five dollars a bottle I would not be without it.

IN THE WEST.

Politics at the Boiling Point in Manitoba.

INTEREST IN THE OTTAWA CRISIS

A Poor Show for the Opposition if Remedial Legislation is Pressed—Nominations on Saturday—The Fields About Filled—The Contest in Victoria.

Winnipeg, Jan. 5.—With the Cabinet complication reported from Ottawa and the provincial general election only 10 days hence, it may be said the political pot has reached the boiling over point here. The situation at the Federal Capital is of the deepest interest to Manitobans because the turn of the tide here depends to a great extent on how matters go in the east. Should Sir Mackenzie Bowell remain at the helm, persisting in his announced policy of passing Remedial Legislation, the Conservative party in Manitoba will have an exceedingly difficult task in turning Mr. Greenway out or maintaining a solid phalanx of Conservative representatives in the Com-Commons. No wonder, then that Manitobans are intensely interested in the political situation at Ottawa.

As a result of Saturday's conventions there are now candidates representing one or the other or all three of the political parties in 40 constituencies of the province and the next 10 days will witness, perhaps, the most exciting, and certainly the most important, election campaign ever fought in Manitoba. Both sides have the utmost confidence in the result. From Government sources, it is learned that they expect to gain four or six seats now held by the Opposition, and admit the probability of losing as many or, perhaps, two or three more seats now held by Government supporters. They thus calculate on retaining power by a majority of at least 10.

Saturday's nominations were: North Brandon, W. J. Scargeant, Conservative, to oppose Attorney-General Sifton; Mountain, R. S. Paston, Patron, to oppose Premier Greenway; South Brandon, James Hector, Conservative, Killarney, N. Clark, Patron, to oppose Young, Liberal; Woodlands, A. Delaronde, Independent.

VICTORIA ELECTION.

All the Fighting is Over Except the Battle of the Ballot.

Victoria, B.C., Jan. 4.—The fight here is practically over now, and on Monday morning will begin the actual test of what Victoria people think of the proposed school legislation. Till the last moment the Conservatives diligently fought shy of it, holding it to be a mere side issue, but in face of the appointment of Col. Prior as Controller, with, as was claimed, a seat and a vote in the Cabinet, he was pressed for his views on the school question, and admitted, without conditions that he would support whatever measure the Bowell Government brought down on the school question. The Liberals, while denying the Cabinet Ministership, entered their main energy on the school question, and fought the contest out on school lines. Hon. Joseph Martin of Winnipeg came out to the coast to help the Liberals, and has done yeoman service. The Tories imported Mr. Luxton, also of Winnipeg, but he was wound up in quick time by Mr. Martin when he essayed to debate the question to-day at an immense public meting. Col. Prior hurt himself immensely the other night by openly calling Mr. Clarke Wallace a fool for resigning. Mr. Templeman, the Liberal candidate, takes the stand squarely that he will vote against coercion. He is also very popular, personally, stands well in the community, and will poll a large personal vote on account of his manly record. The election is the most keenly contested in the history of the Pacific Province. Both parties are well organized. The Conservatives are sparing no money, and engaged all the buildings they could, so as to shut off discussion, but the Liberals captured many meetings, and the general impression is that unless something unforeseen occurs a sweeping victory will be won by the Liberals. The news of the slump in the Cabinet has created intense excitement.

One Honest Man.

Dear Editor:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially I will mail in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell, and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. Perfect secrecy assured. Address with stamp:—Mr. Edward Lambert. P. O Box 55, Jarvis, Ont.

Carving the Christmas Goose.

One must learn, first of all, to carve neatly, without scattering crumbs or splashing gravy over the cloth or platter; also to cut straight, uniform slices. Be careful to divide the material in such a manner that each person may be served equally well. Lay each portion on the plate with the browned or best side up. An essential to easy carving is that the platter be large enough to hold not merely the fowl or joint while whole, but also the several portions as they are detached. The platter should be placed near the carver so he may easily reach any part of it. All skewers and strings should be removed before the dish is brought to the table.

Measure For Measure.

THE KENNEDY CASE.

Well Known Marble Dealer Cured of Rheumatism.

Too Far Gone to be Safe—Four Years Suffering—Ended by Using Three Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

St. Catharines, Jan. 6.—(Special)—Great interest has been excited and frequent inquiries as to the case of Mr. Albert F. Kennedy, marble dealer, of this city, who had been reported as recently cured of rheumatism. When seen regarding the matter he said:

"Words of praise cannot be too strong when I am speaking of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"In an acute form I had gone as far as it was safe to go, for sometimes that form of rheumatism is suddenly fatal.

"I had suffered intensely, at times, for the past four years; had lost the use of my hands, wrists and arms, being almost paralyzed.

"Had tried almost everything advertised or recommended before finding what I needed in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"The result of using three boxes is a perfect cure, and I have had no relapse or hint of pain for several months since being cured."

Sold by all druggists and dealers. Price 50 cents. If not obtainable, address, enclosing price, to the Dodd's Medicine Company, Toronto, Ont.

GRATIFICATION SALE

PREPARATORY TO STOCK-TAKING!

Our gratification for the successful business which our two big stores have been favoured with during the year just closed, is oozing out of every pore.

Our bounding enthusiasm urges us—perhaps rashly—to making our January business something phenomenal—something better and greater than anything in the past! Besides—

It's Price-Pruning Time, Previous to Taking Stock.

That usually means selling at about cost, but we mean to crowd business by crowding down prices away below anything you've ever known before.

The whole of our immense stock of Men's, Youth's and Boy's Clothing, Furnishings, Hats, Boots and Shoes, &c., have been marked down for immediate sale to prices that will make the whole Town and Country ring with the startling news!

Our Prices are Dwarfs! Our Values are Giants!

You lucky fellows who have been waiting for the cold weather, have struck it rich! Don't let go of that mighty dollar until you have seen what we are doing in the way of cut prices on Suits, Overcoats, Underwear, Hats and Boots.

The season is almost over with us, but it is only beginning with you. Gough Bros. don't propose to permit an accummulation of stock from season to season—even if it should take to clear the decks. We reign to-day, sure! We are very much alive to the sacrifices we are making, and we haven't lost our heads either.

Every table abounds with Bargains—every Price has been clipped a third or more—and you can't find such Prices at other stores, because you can't gather figs off thistles.

DISSOLUTION

The Probable Outcome of the Cabinet Crisis.

THE POSITION OF THE PREMIER

Vacant Places Cannot be Filled—The Plans of the Wreckers—Mr. Foster the Real Leader of the Malcontents—They Want to be Called Back.

Ottawa, Jan. 6.—The blackened ruins of the Cabinet edifice are still smoking from the effects of the political explosion. Premier Bowell, the struggling proprietor, has been all day going round with tools in hand trying to repair it. In other words, he determined to make an effort to reconstruct without assistance from the wreckers. His opinion of Messrs. Foster, Haggart, Montague, Tupper, Ives Dickey and Wood was expressed to-day when the Premier said: "You may say that it is the blackest piece of political treachery on record." He therefore determined to try and do without the Tuppers and their co-conspirators. He offered seats in the Cabinet to the following: Mr. Kenny of Halifax, Mr. White of Shelburne, N.S., Dr. Weldon of Albert, N.B., Hon. Peter White, Speaker of the House of Commons, and Mr. Stairs of Halifax. There were others, but the list is necessarily imperfect. Not one of those mentioned would accept. The New Brunswick men say they will stand by "our Ministers" as they call them. Who the Ontario men will stand by is a question. Speaker White is quite opposed to Sir Mackenzie Bowell's school policy of coercing Manitoba. Dr. Weldon has publicly expressed his abhorrence of such a policy and his opinion that it was not called for by the judgment of the Imperial Privy Council. It was even rumored that Mr. George Taylor had been offered a portfolio. At all events, Mr. Taylor was very much in evidence. He rushed up and down stairs between the Privy Council and the Finance Department interviewing Sir Mackenzie Bowell at one end and the ex-Minister of Finance at the other. Sir John Carling seemed to be deciding between the two factions, first seeing the Premier and then Mr. Foster. It is quite probable he was offered a seat in the Bowell-Smith-Caron Ministry, and that Mr. Foster was persuading him not to take it. The most astonishing thing is that Premier Bowell is negotiating with Mr. Clarke Wallace. What the significance of this may be is a matter for speculation, but there is no question as to the fact. It may be that an offer is being made to him that if he accepts a Cabinet portfolio the remedial bill will be whittled down to such a fine point that he could by a slight effort gulp it down.

Mr. Wallace says he has no desire to enter any Government, and will not enter any which fails to accord with his attitude on the school issue. The general opinion is that Sir Mackenzie Bowell will fail to form a Ministry, notwithstanding the return of one of his controllers in Victoria to-day by a narrow majority. Liberalism in British Columbia has grown enormously since Mr. Laurier's visit.

The Premier summoned a meeting of Council for 3 o'clock this afternoon, and it lasted till 7. The following members attended: Sir Adolphe Caron, Mr. Ouimet, Mr. Costigan, Sir Frank Smith, Mr. Daly and Senator Ferguson, seven, with the Premier. The strikers number seven, so that the split is perfect. The trouble arises from the fact that the seven on the outside weigh more than the seven on the inside. It should be noted that, as the resignations of the seven members have been accepted, if any of them come back they must go for re-election. As they will not return under Bowell, a new Premier would mean immediate dissolution. It is obvious that if Bowell resigns it would be too much to expect that a dozen new Cabinet Ministers would go for re-election, with a general election within a stone's throw. It would be too much to expect that Parliament is to dance attendance on these men for a month simply because they are unable to agree among themselves. Many of the new Ministers would, too, be doomed to defeat in the constituencies if they went for re-election as new office-holders.

Even if Sir Mackenzie did succeed in reconstructing his Cabinet he would not have a majority in the House of Commons, and so would have to apply for a dissolution. Suppose Sir Mackenzie meets Parliament a week hence with a full complement of colleagues and with the intention of going ahead. He will be met in the House by the opposition of the seven exiles from office and their following, who would prevent him from going ahead by defeating him on a motion to adjourn. This would mean resignation and the sending for Mr. Laurier, who would obtain a dissolution.

These exiles want Sir Charles Tupper called in to call them back. They went about the country saying they were united under a good leader in a policy upon which they were in perfect accord. They now show themselves to have acted the part of hypocrites before the electors of Canada.

Mr. Foster is the real leader of the malcontents, and he is not engaged in the business of wrecking in order that the rich cargo should fall to Sir Charles Tupper. Mr. Foster has been the real leader of the rebels against the coercion policy in the Cabinet ever since it was introduced. His room has been the meetng place for the kickers. It was there they met when Mr. Clarke Wallace resigned. It was there they met to resign on Saturday. Mr. Foster is not doing all this to advance the ambition of anyone else. He aims at the Premiership himself. He perhaps relies on the habit of the House of Commons to regard him as leader for a vote of caucus in his favor. Personally he is unpopular, but his ability and adroitness are indispensable to them.

The Commons resumes to-morrow, Sir Adolphe Caron, as senior Privy Councillor, will lead the House, and after making a short statement will move an adjournment for a week.

It is expected that Mr. Laurier, who by the way, arrived to-day, together with L. P. Davies and other eastern men will ask for explanations. Thereupon Hon. Mr. Foster will rise and communicate the reasons which impelled him and his six colleagues to surrender their portfolios. To-day the seven ex-Ministers forwarded a communication to His Excellency the Governor-General giving their reasons for resigning and asked, and have, it is understood, secured, his permission to make this statement public. Possibly a short debate may follow and then adjournment be carried. This is the program which is to be followed.

As previously stated, Sir Mackenzie will endeavor to reconstruct his Cabinet. Whether he will succeed or not remains to be seen. Among the strong names mentioned in this connection are Thomas Kenny, Peter White, G B. Baker, Dr. Weldon, George A. Kirkpatrick, Sir John Carling, Chief Justice Meredith and Clarke Wallace.

For the past two or three days the name of the High Commissioner has been mentioned as a possible successor to Sir Mackenzie Bowell in the Premiership, but the point was raised to-day that constitutional practice was against an outsider assuming the duties of that office. In reply to this objection a contrary opinion was expressed to-night by a gentleman claiming to be an authority. He pointed out that 24 years ago Hon. Oliver Mowat came directly from the bench, where he occupied the position of Vice-Chancellor of Ontario, to the Premiership of the province. After accepting the Premiership he had to secure a constituency, and was elected and took his seat. If Sir Charles Tupper or Chief Justice Meredith were asked to form a Government they would, of course, have to follow the practice which was pursued when Sir Oliver Mowat descended from the bench.

With reference to the Ministers who have resigned, they could accept office again and not have to appeal to their constituents, provided not more than 30 days elapsed between the date of their resignations and resumption of office. It would also be obligatory on their part to take some other portfolios than those which they have vacated. For instance, Mr. Foster could not come back directly as Minister of Finance, or Sir C. H. Tupper as Minister of Justice. Those portfolios would have to be secured by a roundabout method. The former might be appointed to Justice and the latter to Finance, and then there could be immediately be a double shuffle to get them back to the offices they had previously held.

Members on both sides of the House are anxious that Parliament should last for 30 days so that they will be able to draw their sessional indemnity of $1000 each. If Parliament does not last that time, they will only get $7 a day for every day they are in attendance. Members want the money to assist them in carrying on the coming elections. The Liberals, as well as the Conservatives, are anxious to see this portion of the program carried out.

The greatest surprise in connection with the sudden bolt of seven Ministers is that Sir Charles H. Tupper is found among them. He was along with Sir Mackenzie Bowell at the Railway Committee of the Privy Council all day Saturday, and both of them appeared to be on the best of terms. It was the Minister of Justice who framed the remedial order and who has been one of the strongest advocates of remedial legislation from the very beginning. Indeed, he had largely to do with inducing Sir Mackenzie to accept the remedial legislation policy, and everybody supposed that he would have been the last man to desert his post.

Hon. N. Clarke Wallace floated into the city this morning from Toronto. His position is that of an outside spectator of the interesting game in which he has nothing to lose and much to gain.

The Free Press, discussing the situation to-night, says: "Since the real cause of the present disturbance in the political atmosphere arose from a source which is shrouded to a large extent in mystery, investigation into this matter led to the consolidation of two opinions. In the first place the crowd who have kicked are just the ones who might be expected to entertain objections against the school policy of Sir Mackenzie Bowell; and on the other hand the Ministers who have stuck by the First Minister, with the single exception of Hon. T. Mayne Daly, are those whose influence was so powerful as to bring about the declaration of policy last session. The other opinion is a Tory one, but may be looked upon as equally probable. It is to the effect that the disturbing element see ahead of them nothing but defeat in the approaching session, and are bound that they will go into opposition before submitting to the indignity of defeat on an issue of which their personal inclinations are all against the party stand."

VICTORIA ELECTION.

Col. Prior Returned by a Decreased Majority From 600 to 100.

Victoria, B.C., Jan. 6.—The election to-day in this constituency consequent upon the appointment of Col Prior as Controller of Inland Revenue, with a seat in the Cabinet, resulted in the return of that gentleman by a small majority. The city proper gives Col Prior 1554; Mr. Templeman 1486. Col. Prior majority will be augmented by the country vote.

There is surprise in the Tory camp to-night here, where the majority was over 600 for the Conservative at the last general election has been reduced to 100. Mr. Templeman, the Liberal candidate, has been beaten, but the fight has been more of a victory for the Liberals than a defeat in this nearly 20 years' old Tory stronghold. The figures are: Prior 1565, Templeman 1459. Up till a day or two ago the Conservatives worked like beavers and to-day spent money like water. The unfortunate dispute about the Cabinet Ministership side-tracked the school issue, because the Conservatives persistently refused to discuss it, and a large portion of their vote was gained solely on that point. Eastern people can have no conception how the old-time vote is taken with that question. Taken altogether, the Liberals, although the election was sprung on them and found them with little or no organization and only 10 days' actual time to work, did remarkably well and have no reason to feel downhearted.

THAT HUNDRED MILLIONS.

Political and Financial Circles in Washington Relieved Now That Something Has Been Done.

Washington, Jan. 6.—A feeling of relief is experienced in political and financial circles over the fact that the Administration has at last announced its position on the question of selling bonds. The tension of the past ten days has been extreme. The bond proposed differs from all three others that have gone before it in that it is alternative in character. It opens the way for the acceptance of bonds on terms prescribed by Congress, should Congress see fit to act before Feb. 5. Under the clause reserving the power to reject any or all bids the Administration can sift out the proposals, should Congress act before Feb. 5, whatever bids that may be considered as favorable to the Government and should Congress act, then under the Administration's popular loan proposition, those proposals most favorable can also be accepted and those not considered favorable rejected.

Thus while inviting proposals for $100,000,000 four per cent. 30-year bonds, less than that amount may be accepted should the terms proposed be considered unfavorable.

The bonds sold to the Morgan-Belmont syndicate are now bringing in the open market 115 and over, and the public is now given an opportunity to determine the disputed proposition whether a popular loan at present market prices can be floated by the United States within the United States.

German Bankers Won't Stand Any.

Berlin, Jan. 6.—The Deutschebank group, which proposed to take part of the new American loan, upon learning that the bond issue called for by Secretary Carlisle would be a coin loan, for which 108 would be offered in the United States, have announced that they consider it impossible for the German banks to take any part of it. They assert that there is no market in Germany for a four per cent. coin loan at 108.

HE WAS JOHN BOND IN TORONTO.

The Little Man Named Le Vain Who Suicided the Other Day in Buffalo

Buffalo, Jan. 6.—The little man known to his wife and companions here as John Russel Le Vain, who took his own life in the lodging house at No. 116 South Division-street four days ago, is the same little man who lived up to two or three years ago in Toronto under the name of John Bond, and who was known to people of that city as a thief, counterfeiter and confidence man. He is said to be a bigamist. What else he has been in his varied career has not yet been discovered.

The story of the suicide having lived in Toronto was first told by an old man who roomed in the old brick lodging house at 3½ Oak-street. He was known there as Dr. Randall Ferguson. Almost everyone is a "Doctor" who has been connected with this peculiar case. But Ferguson had no business relations with the gang of "doctors" with whom Le Vain associated. He was in business by himself. He was known as a corn doctor and is now in Toronto.

Le Vain's wife, who in the later days (the couple were married last June) had become suspicious of her husband's antecedents, was Mary Rowell. She had been married to a saloonkeeper named Smith, but it is alleged got a divorce from him. She is well-to-do in this world's goods and has a sister married to a prominent man in Port Colborne. Of Le Vain's career in Toronto little can be learned. "Dr." Ferguson would not give the wife any positive information except to advise her to go to the market and enquire for "Johnnie Bond," and she could learn all particulars.

Another person, H. R. Lamerton, knew Bond in Toronto, and said that Bond was then, some two years ago, employed in the Queen's Hotel.

Le Vain was a man who would be easily remembered. He was under the medium height. His head was too big for his body, and his hands and feet were very small. He could wear a lady's No. 3 shoe. On his right arm was a mark that looked as if it had been made by a bullet. Then there were the blue tattoolngs on the other arm, and the scars on the neck. If this description be in any police headquarters he could be easily identified by one of his seemingly numerous names. His hands were white and smooth, and they had apparently never done any very hard work.

How much business can a man do whose system is in a state of disorder? Headache is only a symptom. It is not a disease. The pain in the head is the sign of rebellion. There have been mistakes in diet and other abuses.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a gentle, effective renovator and invigorator of stomach, liver and bowels. They assist nature without threatening to tear the body piece-meal. There are no griping pains, no nausea. One is a laxative.

"BOWELL OR LAURIER."

If Sir Mackenzie Bowell Resigns Lord Aberdeen Must Send for the Opposition Leader.

MONTREAL, Jan. 5—(Special).—The Star, in a double-leaded editorial, says:—"Something very like a panic seems to have struck the Government and its friends as the result of the recent bye-elections. The significance of those contests has been variously represented and misrepresented, and evidently not a little exaggerated. Out of the panic has arisen a widespread demand for Cabinet reconstruction—an elastic phrase, covering everything from the throwing overboard of a Premier to the quiet dropping of the most insignificant member of his Cabinet. It may even be that the panic has been purposely exaggerated by 'disinterested' reconstructionists. The only scheme that has taken definite shape is to dispose Sir Mackenzie Bowell and make Sir Charles Tupper, Bart., Premier. The proposition has a panicky look about it, and a day or two's consideration should regulate it beyond the domain of practical politics. In the first place, the change, if made, would probably ensure defeat to the Conservative party by further dividing the already sufficiently-separated brethren. In the next place, it is doubtful whether either Sir Mackenzie Bowell or Sir Charles Tupper would consent to a deal so manifestly unfair to both of them. Finally, it is impossible to conceive of his Excellency, under any circumstances, sending for Sir Charles during the lifetime of the present Parliament. If Sir Mackenzie Bowell is unable to command the confidence of Parliament his obvious course is to advise Lord Aberdeen to send for Mr. Laurier, and if Sir Mackenzie should resign we imagine Lord Aberdeen will send for Mr. Laurier, no matter what advice is tendered him. The question for the Conservative caucus narrows itself to this—Bowell or Laurier."

The French Conservative papers are strongly opposed to the project of a new Ministry under Sir Charles Tupper, free from the promise to introduce remedial legislation. L'Evenement of Quebec, of which Mr. L. Z. Joncas, M.P., is the editor, expresses their views when it says: "Does the Toronto World believe that a First Minister, who would break the promises made by the present Administration would rally under his banner all the sections of the Conservative party? And where would this man go to seek his colleagues? He would not find them among the members of the present Administration, since the colleagues of Sir Mackenzie Bowell are bound, as he is, by engagements which they cannot violate without printing on their faces the stigma of dishonour. Not only could Messrs. Tupper, Foster, Ouimet, Caron, Haggart, Montague and others not form part of the new Administration, but they would be bound to fight a Government whose programme on the school question would be in direct contradiction to that which they traced in their declaration of July 11th last, and which they promised to make triumphant whatever happened. The theory of the World is therefore absurd."

Le Monde, speaking of the proposal to replace Sir Mackenzie Bowell by Sir Charles Tupper, and have the general elections and so avoid the introduction of remedial legislation this session, says:—"Will the Governor-General lend himself to this combination? That is the secret. Whatever happens it is certain to day that if the present Government decides to ask a vote in Parliament it will be defeated, and if, after its defeat in the House of Commons, it has the audacity to appeal to the people, it will be crushed, whether it has Sir Charles Tupper or anyone else at its head."

ACETYLENE.

Something About the New Illuminant.

It is only comparatively recently that the general public have begun to awaken to the importance of the commercial production of acetylene gas. The combustion of this gas has been described as producing something akin to real sunlight. Even the brilliancy of the arc light, not to mention, of course, the milder incandescent electric light, pales its fires before the burning rays of light given by this new illuminant. Such, at least, is declared by those who are in a position to know. It has also been announced that illuminating gas companies throughout the country have, in many instances, acquired the right to use acetylene gas, the idea being that its primary importance consists in its use as an enricher.

Now, however, if one may judge from public opinions and statements by those who are regarded as experts, says Bradstreet's, the value of acetylene gas, as an illuminant, is to prove trivial compared with its real commercial significance. It may be recalled, the gas was discovered somewhat accidentally; that it is evolved by heating a mixture of coal and lime, or charcoal and shalk, in an electric furnace, and throwing the resulting compound into water. Here was a cheap and easily procurable substance, which, as described, was primarily to raise the illuminating power of ordinary illuminating gas, and which in time, as has been projected, would be carted about and delivered from door to door, to business places and shops, in tanks ready for use, much the same as tanks are delivered to proprietors of soda water fountains. It has even been outlined how specially manufactured lamps containing acetylene within them in sufficient quantities to run for a day, or for days, would practically supersede many of the older forms of illumination, and, in fact, one had almost begun to wonder what would become of the enormously expensive illuminating distributing plants with which the streets of cities and towns are lined.

Now, however, it appears that the illuminating qualities of acetylene gas, as stated, are among the least important of its commercial qualities. Acetylene is turning out, it is declared, to be even a more extraordinary substance than the wildest flights of the imagination of its discoverers suspected. If all that is claimed for it be true, it means the cheaper manufacture of a great many substances used in the arts, which heretofore have had to be produced laboriously and expensively in commercial and chemical laboratories.

"Thus," says an exchange, "acetylene, on being passed through an iron tube heated to dull redness, turns rapidly and completely into benzine. This is a product of prime importance, and is the base of thousands of organic substances. In illustration of the transmutations which can be effected, it may be pointed out that if the resultant benzine vapor be passed into strong nitric acid it is transformed into nitro-benzine, and this, on treatment with hydrochloric acid and iron fillings goes into aniline. With the formation of aniline the road is open for the production of the immense series of dye substancer of which aniline is the starting point. Instead of transforming acetylene into carbolic acid; thence it is but a step to picric acid, the foundation of the modern high explosives. Or it may be made into aniline, and then boiled with acetic acid, when it is transformed into anti-febrin, the well-known fever specific. Again, by passing it through a tube heated to bright redness, naphthalene is produced, which is also the starting point of a legion of valuable chemicals. It would seem as though almost all the needs of man were able to be satisfied by this protean substance. In similar ways we can get such deadly poisons as oxalic acid and prussic acid, while acetylene is a cheap source of the aldehyde so much used in the production of artificial essences and the manufacture of mirrors. When, therefore, it is considered that from acetylene can be derived whole systems of dyes, medicines, essences, perfumes, poisons, explosives—not to mention cheap whisky—it will be seen that the latest product of the electric furnace has a utility out of all proportion greater than that which can be derived from its peculiar light-giving powers."

Ladies, Be Guarded!

A Little Attention on Your Part will Save You Annoyance and Trouble.

The ladies should remember that Diamond Dyes are always twice the strength of all inferior and imitation dyes. Diamond Dyes will always give you your money's worth of pure and never fading dyestuff that is simple to use, and that will do just as represented. Do not be deceived by big packages that imitators put up. Their dyes are mixed with salt, alum and other worthless adulterations. In a word, beware of the dealer who tries to sell you something that he represents to be just as good as Diamond Dyes. Experts say, Diamond Dyes are the best in the world.

FEEDING THE HUNGRY.

Half a Loaf of Bread Per Day to the Starving Armenians

London, Jan. 6.—Telegraphing under date of Jan. 5, the correspondent of the United Press at Constantinople says United States Minister Terrell recently addressed a letter to the Porte praising its action in connection with Biridjik massacre.

A detachment of troops has arrived at Aintab since the massacre at Biridjik.

The official journals at Constantinople announce that United States Minister Terrell has praised the conduct of the troops at Biridjik. The Government, the correspondent says, distributed daily at Paulu, 55 miles north of Diarbekir, half a loaf of bread to each of the starving inhabitants.

COUNTERFEITS.

A few years ago a great discovery was made.

Unprincipled persons are trying to prey upon and dupe people who are led to ask for kidney treatment.

Some of the methods adopted by imitators are as follows:—

First;—To imitate the size, color and shape of Dodd's Kidney Pills and sell them by count.

Second:—To put them up to appear very nearly the same and to be offered at the same price.

Third;—To hook on the word "kidney" in naming catharatic pills so as to increase sales of mere physic.

Fourth;—To give a name so near to Dodd's that unwary people may be deceived and think they are getting Dodd's.

Look out for such dodges. When you want kidney medicine you want the best. And ought not to be the subject of any trick.

So beware.

THAT HACKING COUGH can be quickly cured by Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam. Price 25 cents.

Worth $5.00 a Bottle.

Sirs,—For five years I have been troubled with neuralgia and tried everything I could see or hear of. At last I was advised to try a bottle of Yellow Oil and I refused because I thought it was like all the rest—a failure. A half bottle was given me, however, and I found it helped me, and bought a bottle which cured me. If it cost five dollars a bottle I would not be without it.

RHEUMATIC PEOPLE.

Easily Cured if the Proper Remedy is Used.

The Most Common—The Most Acute Misery—Dodd's Kidney Pills Will Cure it Without Fail.

This has been the experience over and over again by users of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Valentine Fisher, of Collingwood, was twisted out of all semblance of physical manhood.

Yet he commenced to mend before the first box of Dodd's Kidney Pills were all taken—and he got as well and strong as ever he was. How wonderful, how simple the cure is—Let us learn something from this.

No matter what may be the secret action of Dodd's Kidney Pills, the moment the kidneys are helped, ever so gently, cure commences that instant.

And if the kidneys resume kidney work the poison may all be arrested and turned out of the system in twenty four hours.

Therefore the only cure for rheumatism is by kidney treatment.

All this explains the rapid cures of rheumatism, neuralgia and sciatica made by using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Think of all the methods that have been tried to alleviate the miseries of this disease.

"Zeal, but not according to knowledge,"—all of it.

Uric acid remaining in the blood crystallizes in the muscles and joints, and the pain produced is called rheumatism.

There is but one way—a single means—by which uric acid can be removed, and the blood made pure.

The kidneys do this work or it never can be done at all.

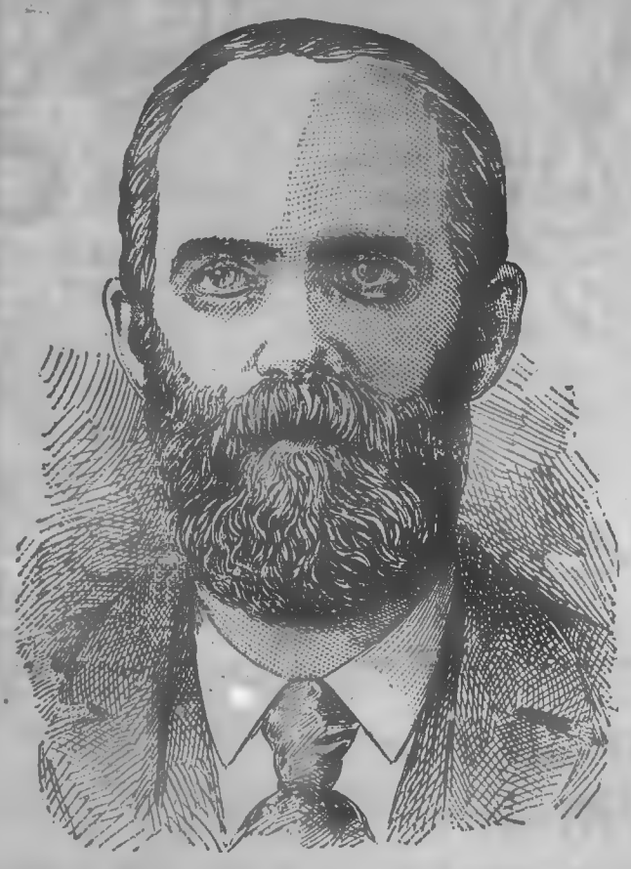
THE LATEST HAMILTON WONDER.

GEORGE MARCH WAS IN GREAT PERIL.

Paine's Celery Compougd Saved His Life.

H. SPENCER CASE, DRUGGIST, ENDORSES EVERY WORD WRITTEN BY THE CURED MAN.



The latest astonishing news which has rivetted the attention of thousands in the city of Hamilton is the cure of Mr. George March, of 471 Victoria street north. His condition was desperate; the case was considered hopeless, as the shadow of death was clearly in view. At this critical time the great life giving medicine, Paine's Celery Compound, was recommended. A supply was procured from H. Spencer Case, the popular druggist, who sells immense quantities of the Compound every week, and whose confidence in the marvellous healer is strong and firm. Druggist Case, noted for his great urbanity and courteous bearing towards his thousands of customers, is particularly careful that everyone asking for Paine's Celery Compound must go away with the right article. Mr. Case believes in assisting his patrons to regain health.

The first bottle convinced Mr. March and his friends that Paine's Celery Compound had life virtues that no other medicine possessed. Mr. March was quickly made a new man and his trouble banished forever.

Mr. March, who sends the following letter, can be interviewed at any time:

"Having experienced all the pains and agonies of that awful disease, rheumatism for the past ten years, and having met with so many disappointments after using medicines of all kinds, I consider it a duty to let suffering men and women know what Paine's Celery Compound did for me when my very life was in great peril.

"I was strongly recommended to give Paine's Celery Compound a fair trial for my troubles. I bought a bottle from Mr. H. Spencer Case, of this city, and used it according to directions. The results were simply marvelous.

"I was encouraged and overjoyed that I had at last found a medicine that could cure even such a long-standing case as mine. I continued the use of the Compound, and now find myself a new man in every respect.

"Paine's Celery Compound also banished pains and troubles that I experienced in the region of the kidneys.

"I consider Paine's Celery Compound my great health-giver and life-preserver, and will always recommend it with pleasure. Paine's Celery Compound deserves all the high praise and kindly notices continually bestowed upon it, as it is reliable, and always prompt in giving health and strength.

Maltine With Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites—a Food, Medicine and Digestive.

Thousands of invalids are starving—starving in the midst of plenty and despite the tender care of loved ones. Health is restored, not by what is eaten, but by what is digested. Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites is a food, for it is rich in the nourishing properties of wheat, oats, and barley; a medicine, for it is combined with the best Norwegian oil, which it renders palatable, non-irritating, and readily assimilated; and a powerful digestive, for it acts rapidly upon starchy foods, making them soluble and capable of supplying in abundance the elements of nutrition. One bottle is of greater remedial value than ten bottles of any emulsion. Try it.

HYAMS TWINS AGAIN.

The Charge of Conspiracy to Murder Brought On.

WANTED TO INSURE MRS. H. HYAMS

Negotiations With an Agent From Montreal, But the Deal Did Not Go Through—Application for $10,000 in the Standard Life Doctors and Their Commendations.

Toronto, Jan. 7.

The preliminary trial of the Hyams twins on a charge of conspiracy to murder Martha Wells Hyams was resumed in the Police Court yesterday morning. O. Leger, manager of the French department of the Sun Life Insurance Company in the Montreal district, was the first witness called. He told how on Monday, Jan. 21, 1895, he met H. P. Hyams in Montreal. Hyams had wanted him to go to Toronto to insure the life of a woman whom witness believed to be a Mrs. McDougall. He afterwards learned from a broker named Bte. Marie, who accompanied him to the city, that the woman was Mrs. Hyams. Harry Hyams met them at the Union Station, where witness told them that the Sun Life would take $30,000 insurance, and the balance would be divided among other companies, the total sum being $100,000. The following morning witness met Harry Hyams again, and Dallas was also present. The twins gave him a note, which was produced in court, amounting to 30 per cent. of all premiums of insurance which were to be procured on the life of Martha Wells Hyams. When this was done the Hyams brothers advised witness to go home, but he said he would remain a few days for the purpose of seeing the city. He was getting rather suspicious because one of the promoters told him that Mrs. Hyams was weak and nervous and the other had told him an entirely different story. That evening, while witness and Mr. Bte. Marie were at dinner at the Walker House, Harry Hyams came in and sat by them at the table to have dinner. Mr. Leger stated that he had asked once or twice of Harry Hyams where his wife lived, but Harry had put him off. On this night Harry had told him that his address was 157 Close-avenue. Mr. Leger left for Montreal that night, and the Sun Life deal did not go through. After cross-examination by Mr. Johnston, Mr. Leger was allowed to stand down.

The next witness was Dr. Byron Field, 642 Spadina-avenue. He deposed that Dallas had telephoned him asking him if he was examiner for any of the life insurance companies. Witness said that he was for several, which he named. The substance of Dallas' remarks was that his brother Harry, who lived in Montreal, wished to place some insurance on his wife, and for that purpose the lady was coming to Toronto. She preferred having Dr. Field examine her because he had attended her on previous occasions. As a result of different talks, it was arranged that an application should be made for $10,000 in the Standard Life Company of Edinburg. There was an understanding that Dallas was to get part of the commission and witness was also to get some of it.

"What were you to get a commission for?" asked the Magistrate.

"I was to get something for arranging the examination," was the doctor's answer.

"Is it customary for doctors to get paid a commission in such cases?" asked the court.

"I think so," was the reply.

"And do you get paid when your risk is not accepted?"

"Oh, no!"

"Then it is always in the interest of the examiner to report favorably?"

The doctor stated that he had had a colleague, Dr. Leslie, with him at the time of the examination. Dr. Leslie, Harry Hyams, J. W. Kerr, agent for the Standard, and Mrs. Hyams were all who were present. Kerr spoke of making the application for a larger amount, but Harry demurred until he could be assured of the success of something then in progress in Montreal. Mrs. Hyams remarked to Harry that if he wanted to put on more insurance to put it on his own life, but witness considered her joking at the time.

Witness, in pursuance of a conversation with Dallas, arranged that Mrs. Hyams would be examined at witness' house by other doctors for other companies.

Court adjourned until this morning. It is likely that all the balance of the case will be put to-day.

A New Remedy for Burns.

According to the authority of Dr. Thierry, if a burn is treated by the external application of a saturated solution of picric acid, the pain ceases at once, no blisters will form, and it will heal in four or five days ; the yellow color which this acid gives to the skin may be removed with boracic acid. He suggests that a small quantity of picric should always be kept on hand wherever workman are subject to the possibility of being burned.

Local Talent Recognised.

The Northumberland Enterprise, of Colborne, speaks as follows concerning a concert in which Miss Hendren, of the Charlotte street choir, participated on New Year's night: "The entertainment given in the opera hall on New Year's night by the R. L. of C. E., was patronized by a large and appreciative audience. The "play" given by our local talent reflected much credit on those who took part, and upon the society under whose auspices the concert was given. Mr. Cornwell as usual pleased the audience with his humorous selections. Miss Hendren possesses a rich contralto voice of great compass. This was her first appearance before a Colborne audience, and judging from the reception the artiste received, we feel confident that should she again appear she would be greeted with a packed house. Miss Harris, who played the accompaniments for Miss Hendren, is a skilled musician.

LAST NIGHT'S SERVICE.

The Addresses Delivered by Rev. W. R. Young, B.A., of the George Street Church.

The inaugral service of the Week of Prayer was held last evening in St. Andrew's church, when Rev. W. R. Young, B.A., of the George street Methodist church, delivered a most interesting address on "The Church and Missions."

The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. MacWilliams, and the attendance was large considering the bitter coldness prevailing, and the fact that great interest was being taken in the elections.

Upon the platform were seated Rev. Dr. Torrance, Rev. J. J. Rae, Rev. J. C. Trotter, Rev. Mr. Cragg and Rev. Mr. Beer, and great interest was manifested in the prayer service.

MONDAY'S MUNICIPAL CONTEST.

Keenly Contested Mayoralty Election.

MR. YELLAND ELECTED MAYOR

HIS MAJORITY FOUR HUNDRED AND SEVENTEEN.

The Details of the Voting—Mr. Yelland's Ratification Meeting—Short Addresses—Councillors Elected in the Several Wards—The Council for 1896.

The municipal contest in Peterborough yesterday was one of the most exciting and vigourous ever held in the town. This applies especially to the mayoralty fight, in which the largest vote ever polled for mayor was cast. While the contests for councillors were intense enough, the chief interest centered in the Mayoralty fight. The people seemed to be thoroughly aroused, and seemed determined to show that they insisted in having a voice in the selection of the chief magistrate of the town. Both parties worked with the greatest energy, and though no stone was left unturned by the friends of either candidate, the struggle was marked by the utmost good feeling. The rivalry at no time assumed a personal character, and in this respect there is, so far as can be learned, nothing for either side to regret. The merits of the respective candidates had been decided upon, so far as discussion was concerned, and the sole effort was devoted to getting out the vote, and, as stated, the largest vote ever recorded for mayor was polled. As to it is remarkable for the interest taken by the lady electorate, the largest number of lady voters in the history of the town having marked their ballots for the candidate of their choice. Another feature was its non-political character. Mr. Cahill received the support of prominent Liberals and Conservatives, while the result shows that the rank and file of both parties went largely with Mr. Yelland. The electors practically recognized that the struggle yesterday was a municipal contest and cast their votes generally irrespective of party considerations.

On account of the heavy vote polled, the counting of the ballots occupied considerable time, and it was rather late when the result was announced. The first return received was from No. 2, where Mr. Cahill received a majority of 35. The next ward heard from was No. 3, where the electors rolled up a majority of 249, for Mr. Yelland, and when the returns from No. 1 and No. 4, respectively, revealed majorities of 43 and 100 for Mr. Yelland, the result was to indicate his election by the large majority of 417.

When the result was definitely known Mr. Yelland's friends and supporters took him in hand. Preceded by the Sons of England Band, Mr. Yelland was escorted to his committee rooms, Hunter street, and, wrapped in the folds of the Union Jack he was carried upstairs to the committee rooms ; but these being unable to hold a third of the crowd that wished to gain admission, an adjournment was made to the market building. Here a delay was occasioned by the necessity of procuring the key. Once inside a platform was hastily improvised of the market women's tables and by the light of a single coal oil lamp that twinkled like a glow worm, was in the immense hall, the speaking took place.

MR. YELLAND'S ADDRESS.

Mr. J. H. Cobb was appointed chairman and called upon Mr. Yelland, who was received with vociferous cheers, the band playing "Rule Britannia," and "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow." Mr. Yelland on coming forward requested leave to keep on his cap, as he had been pretty warm all day (laughter) and the reaction might be injurious. He thanked his supporters for their good behaviour during the day and was especially thankful for the way in which they had carried the election. He felt confident of the result from the beginning. Though Mr. Cahill had numerous influential friends they each had only one vote. He again thanked his friends for the hearty support they had given him. Mr. Cahill he thought would now feel that sympathy was not as effective as votes in deciding an election. He (Mr. Yelland) had told Mr. Moore after the nomination that his advice not to be a candidate was poor advice. If there had been another man in the field in No. 3 Mr. Moore himself would not have been elected.

MR. WM. YELLAND, MAYOR FOR 1896.

After referring to Mr. Dawson's defeat, Mr. Yelland expressed the hope that Mr. Moore and Mr. Dennistoun, if they had any sympathy to spare, would give it to their friend—if any body wished to employ sympathetic lawyers Messrs. Moore and Dennistoun were the men. (Cheers and laughter.) The result had shown that votes count for more than sympathy. Mr. Yelland said that he had earned all that he possessed—nobody had left him any property. He had said, in answer to a question, that Mr. Cahill deserved the mayoralty if he got enough votes. He said that Mr. Cahill had worked for the mayoralty for a long time, as he (Mr. Yelland) had in canvassing met persons who had promised Mr. Cahill mayoralty votes two or three years ago. Mr. Yelland said he

WOULD DO HIS BEST

in the position in which the people had placed him. He had acted squarely in the contest and did not unduly press for a vote any man, or woman either (laughter and three cheers and a tiger for the women of Peterborough). Mr. Yelland was particularly proud of the noble way in which No. 1 ward had supported him. He then amidst much applause, read from an EXAMINER Extra the returns of the vote, which were of course punctuated with cheers.

In conclusion, Mr. Yelland returned his thanks for his handsome election, said he would do his duty as mayor honestly and fairly, never do anything he was ashamed of, wished his hearers a Happy New Year, and resumed his seat amidst loud applause.

Mr. John Stewart spoke briefly, congratulating the people upon electing Mr. Yelland, and urged them not to "crow over" Mr. Cahill. He said that Mr. Dawson had boasted that he would lick him—the speaker—but he could boast of 100 majority over Mr. Dawson.

Mr. Robt. Weir was perfectly satisfied with the result. It was a rebuke to certain parties who had thought they could elect a mayor by acclamation without consulting the people. No clique of any or both political parties could ignore the workingmen who made the wealth of the town and elect any man they chose. While he (Mr. Weir) admitted that Mr. Cahill had been a good councillor, he thought that Mr. Yelland had as good a right to be elected as Mr. Cahill—and the people thought so, too. He went into the council untrammeled and would do his best.

Purified Blood

Saved an operation in the following case. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures when all others fail. It makes pure blood.

"A year ago my father, William Thompson, was taken suddenly ill with inflammation of the bladder. He suffered a great deal and was very low for some time. At last the doctor said he would not get well unless an operation was performed. At this time we read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and decided to try it. Before he used half a bottle his appetite had come back to him, whereas before he could eat but little. When he had taken three bottles of the medicine he was as well as ever." FRANCIS J. DAILY MOTTO.

Tuesday, Jan. 7th.

An element of weakness in much of our resolving is, that we try to grasp too much of life at one time. We think of it as a whole instead of taking the days one by one. Life is a mosaic and each tiny piece must be cut and set with skill.

Do You Love Your Family?

"Of course" you say. Then use at the table upon every occasion, the celebrated Windsor Table Salt. Without compeer. Pure as the snow; uniform crystals; never cakes. Try it.

Frost Bitten.

Frozen noses and ears were a plentiful crop yesterday, and many cases occurred without the knowledge or consent of the persons most afflicted. Even the fair sex came in for their share of Jack Frost's compliments. One estimable young lady, who is enjoying her first winter in Peterborough, was in danger of losing her nose altogether. Coming down town yesterday morning her nose was observed to be frost bitten, and on entering the store where she is engaged during the day, a young man whose name—it is Best not to mention—gallantly rushed out for a handful of snow, and thawed the unfortunate organ out between his two hands, while the young lady submissively endured the torture.

Sometimes the most careful women are the most careless. Many a woman bundles herself up, to keep out sickness—when she is neglecting the very worst sickness that can come to a woman. She allows a slight disorder to become worse, to slowly sap her vitality. The little pain and the other slight indications of trouble seem to her unimportant. She goes on with increasing suffering, until life itself becomes a drag. Nervousness, "sinking spells," digestive disturbances, and fifty other complications may arise from the derangement of the organs distinctly feminine. Over thirty years ago, the need for a reliable remedy for so-called "female complaints" was recognised by Dr. R. V. Pierce, then, as now, chief consulting physician to the to the World's Dispensary and Invalid's Hotel, at Buffalo, N. Y. He prepared Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, the most wonderfully effective remedy that has ever been used for such maladies.

At a meeting of the Granites, last evening, Messrs. Geo. Edmison, T. P. Attrill and R. M. Dennistoun were chosen to skip the rinks which will play against Lindsay here this week.

The Thistles have chosen Skips R. H. Kells, R. S. Davidson and James Connal to take their rinks to Lindsay to play in the Lindsay - Peterborough Cup competition.

The return matches in the Lindsay-Peterborough Cup series will be played next week.

Mr "Jimmy" Connal is going to take a rink of "colts" to Toronto to play in the tankard series. The old greybeards in Toronto may laugh when they see the boys whom they have to run up against, but it's shillings to doughnuts that these same colts will be in the finals. The rink will consist of E. B. Clegg, E. Rutherford, D. Davidson and J. Connal.

Mr. J. S. Knapman, secretary of the Thistles, ran across a circular yesterday of the Peterborough bonspiel of 1880. The committee in charge of the arrangements was composed of Adam Hall, president; A. H. Macdougall, vice-president: A. McNeil, secretary, and W. G. Ferguson, Geo. Dunsford, Alex. Bertram and James F. Dennistoun.

PERSONAL.

Mr. F. M. Thomas, of Toronto, is visiting Mr. John Bell, Smith.

Miss Edith McKee is visiting Miss Matie Owens in Campbellford.

Mr. Mart. Sobeck has been in town for the last couple of days on business.

Messrs. Jno. Burnham, Q.C., M.P., and James Stevenson, M.P., left last night for Ottawa.

Miss Carrie Hoyt has returned to town, after spending three weeks with her parents in Whitby.

Mr. Lionel King left last evening for Toronto, where he will attend Upper Canada College.

Misses Lizzie Quinn and Lizzie Roach have returned to town after a pleasant visit with Mrs. James Daly, of Campbellford.

Messrs. George Edmison and George Stinson returned to Toronto this morning to resume their studies at the Ontario College of Pharmacy.

Mr. Jas. A. Ketchpole, of Montreal, who has been visiting her father, Mr. John Lacheur, Reid street, for the past few days, returned home to-day.

Miss M. McKenna received word last evening of the sudden death of her sister in New York, and left for her home in Orangeville, yesterday, to which place the remains will be conveyed.

The condition of Miss Jessie Fairweather, who lies seriously ill at Georgetown, still continues serious. Miss Fairweather went by the early express to join her mother at the patient's bedside. Mr. James Fairweather returned from Georgetown at noon and reports slight indications of improvement.

The Ven. Archdeacon Time, of Calgary. Mr. P. Time and family, arrived in town by the midnight train from Toronto last night. Archdeacon Time will be engaged in promoting the cause of missions in the Northwest, throughout Ontario. During the next three months Mr. and Mrs. Time will reside in Ashburnham. Arrangements are being made to hold a union missionary meeting of St. John's and St. Luke's congregations to be addressed by Archdeacon Time.

One Honest Man.

Dear Editor:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially I will mail in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell, and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. Perfect secrecy assured. Address with stamp:—Mr. Edward Lambert. P. O Box 55, Jarvis, Ont.

MR. YELLAND ELECTED MAYOR.

For a candidate who came late in the field, Mr. Wm. Yelland made a most excellent run, having won by the handsome majority of 416 over one of the strongest candidates that could be brought into the field, and one who a few weeks ago was generally considered certain to be returned by acclamation. The contest was carried on by both sides with vigour, and though the fight was keen, it is a pleasure to note that the best of feeling prevailed; and the addresses at the meeting held in the Market hall in the evening by the friends of Mr. Yelland, with all the enthusiasm naturally exhibited, were very moderate in tone and in this respect represented generous feeling towards the unsuccessful candidate and his friends. The result shows that Mr. Yelland's record as a citizen during his residence of forty-four years in Peterborough has gained him a very generous share of popular confidence, for it is admitted that he received the popular vote, the bone and sinew of the town, the workingmen, very largely supporting him. It also shows that his record of thirteen years in the council won for him the feeling that he was well qualified to deal with the civic interests that would be intrusted to him in his capacity of mayor. The sterling honesty and integrity that distinguish him, which he will no doubt carry to the discharge of his official duties, have also been recognized, and Mr. Yelland is to be heartily congratulated upon the flattering mark of confidence he has received in being elected mayor of the most important town in the Dominion by so large a majority. There can be no doubt that the people of the town were in sympathy with Mr. Yelland's candidature and that he will continue to receive their loyal support and confidence in the discharge of his official duties for the coming year.

That Mr. Cahill made a good run in the face of the strong elements of the electorate that were arranyed against him is shown by the large vote he polled. Mr. Cahill's lengthened experience and intimate knowledge of the affairs of the town will be missed at the council board the coming year. The result is doubtless disappointing to Mr. Cahill and his friends as he and they expected that on the eve of his retirement from municipal politics, his long service to the town should be recognized by his being honoured with a term as mayor, but the great voice of the people have decided otherwise, and Mr. Cahill has undoubtedly sufficient philosophy to bow to this decision gracefully. Notwithstanding the good intentions of those who were instrumental in promoting Mr. Cahill's candidature on the ground of his long and efficient services, it seems that the occasion selected for pressing his claims was inopportune—at a time when the public mind was largely agitated over events which had no local significance, but led to opposition to his candidature; for there is no doubt that the strong undercurrent of feeling on certain public questions, yesterday found expression at the polls to Mr. Cahill's decided disadvantage.

NORTH MONAGHAN AND STATUTE LABOUR.

A plebescite was taken in North Monaghan, Monday, upon the question of the abolition of Statute Labour upon the highways. By a majority of 62—122 to 60—the electors decided in favour of abolishing the Statute Labour system and of substituting there for the system of collecting by way of taxes, the equivalent in money to be expended upon making and improving of roads by contract. This is a move in the right direction, and when the new system is carried into practice will result in vastly improved public roads. Those who oppose the new system should bear in mind that the slight additional tax they pay, instead of the old time "road work," will be returned ten-fold in the lessened wear and tear of vehicles and horse flesh due to bad roads, and in the time saved in making trips to and from market. Other municipalities will watch the result of the new system in North Monaghan with much interest.

DISSOLUTION.

THE probabilities are that Parliament will be dissolved in a short time and then the general elections. Sir Mackenzie Bowell has met with failure so far in inducing any public men to take the place of the seven bolted ministers, and, of course if he cannot patch up his remnant of a Cabinet, he will have to resign. He can't send a dozen new Ministers to the country for re-election with the general elections at elbow. As the Premier does not seem to be able to get out of the woods, in the event of his continued failure, a dissolution is inevitable.

Some Kingston Whig Gossip

Kingston, Ont., Jan. 6.—The Whig says that Lieut.-Governor Kirkpatrick has been feeling for nomination in either Kingston or Frontenac, for on the reconstructed Cabinet he may be offered a seat, the late Premier, Sir M. Bowell, succeeding him in Toronto in the gubernatorial chair. But the ght, the paper says, would be against the ex-member, that in Kingston he would find a united Liberal party solidly standing for Britton. In Frontenac, also, the Patrons have a good grip, and it might be amusing, if not exciting, to see the Hon. George opposed by his election agent in his last Frontenac campaign, D. D. Rogers.

SOUTH MONAGHAN.

Nuptials of Miss Percy Rutherford and Miss Mabel Dawson.

From Our Own Correspondent.

On New Year's day the event of the season took place at the palatial residence of the Widow Dawson, in South Monaghan, being the marriage of Mabel, her youngest daughter, to Mr. Percy E. Rutherford, a highly respected and intelligent yeoman of the same neighbourhood. The large number of invited guests (one hundred and eighty) began to assemble at an early hour in the evening, and the happy couple awaited in joyful expectation the wedding hour. Precisely at 6 o'clock the groom, attended by Mr. Clarence Dawson, brother of the bride, and the bride, leaning gracefully upon the arm of Mr. Harry Dawson, another brother, and attended by Miss Hattie Soden, of Bailliebore, took their places. The Rev. T. S. McKee officiated, and the composure of all, just as though they were used to it, made the ceremony unusually impressive. The bride and her maid were each beautifully attired in cream, and looked charming in the subdued light of the room. After the heartiest congratulations the large company sat down to a supper, when it seemed that the taste of each guest had been anticipated and provided for. A most enjoyable evening was spent, and at a seasonable hour the company broke up, after starting the newly married couple to their new home amid showers of rice and old boots. The presents were very costly and beautiful, and so numerous that it would take too much space to do them ample justice.

No Trouble to Answer Letters

Most people when meditating the purchase of a Piano feel more or less troubled in making a decision. The structure of a Piano is a thing they know so little of.

If you feel this way just write us a line and ask for information. It is no trouble at all to us. It is our business. We are experts of a quarter of a century's standing in the trade. Our stock is large. Our variety of styles is infinite, especially when you consider that we handle many other Canadian and American Pianos than those of our own make. Our prices are moderate, quality considered. Our terms are easy. Our Pianos are exceptional.

Again we say it is no trouble to answer letters, therefore write us and get full particulars.

MICKS & COX,
Hunter St., Nearly Opposite Post Office.

Cupid breaks his bow at the sight of a face full of pimples and blotches. Hollow cheeks, sunken eyes, and a sallow complexion will defy his best intentions. Beauty is more than skin deep. The skin is merely the surface on which is written in plain characters the condition of the body. The skin is not a thing by itself, and skin diseases are frequently not skin diseases at all. All the lotions and bleaches and creams and powders in the world won't make a good complexion if the digestion is wrong. If the stomach is sour, and the liver torpid, and the bowels constipated, the skin will show it. No use trying to treat the skin for such a condition. The only way to relieve it is to cleanse the system and purify the blood. As long as the heart is pumping impurities to every part of the body, just so long these impurities will show through the skin.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is good for the complexion because it makes the whole body healthy—because it clears and purifies the blood, makes the digestion strong and clears out impurities of all kinds. By increasing the ability to assimilate nutritious food, and by the infusion of its own ingredients, it enriches the blood and so makes solid, healthy flesh. It fills out the hollows, rubs out wrinkles and substitutes for sallowness a rosy, healthy glow. There is no mystery about it. It isn't a miracle. It is merely the result of a combination of rational, natural common sense with expert medical knowledge. It cures diseases of the lungs, liver, stomach, bowels, skin and scalp, simply because all these diseases spring from the same cause—a disordered digestion and consequent impure blood. Don't let prejudice and scepticism cheat you out of your health. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will positively cure you, if suffering from diseases named above.

If you want to know hundreds of great medical truths, send 21 one-cent stamps to cover customs and mailing only, and we will send you FREE a copy of Dr. Pierce's 1008 page book, "Common Sense Medical Adviser." Address, WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Buffalo, N. Y.

NEW YEAR PORTENTS

ANCIENT SUPERSTITIONS REGARDING THE WEATHER.

The Twelve Days Succeeding Christmas Supposed to Be Indices For the Ensuing Year—Curious Customs and Beliefs of Many Lands.

The 12 days from Dec. 26 to Jan. 6 have long been recognized as indices of the weather during the following year. The ancient texts referred to distinctly assert this, a Sanscrit proverb running thus, "The 12 nights are an image of the year." Another text from the same sources evidently refers to the same period, "The Rhibhus (storm demons) sleep for 12 nights and days in the house of the sun goSavitar."

In northern Germany it is said that as the weather is during each of the 12 days, so it will be during the corresponding months of the year to come. A like belief exists to this day in Lancashire and Northamptonshire, England, and a very old writer (1590) records the current notion in his day that the 12 days served as an index of the coming year's weather. It was said in one English port that if the wind blew hard on the fifth night (Dec. 30), ships at sea would be in great peril the coming year.

The inhabitants of the Vosges mountains restrict this prophesying period to that of our holidays, from Christmas to New Year's, and are willing only to say that these six days indicate the character of the weather for the succeeding six months.

In one part of our own country it is said that "the first three days of January rule the coming three months," while in another place the 12 days are said to be the "keys of the year."

Of New Year's day itself we have the authority of a very old weather prophet—the author of the "Shepherd's Kalendar"—for the generally ominous portents to be drawn from the weather on that day, "If New Year's day in the morning open with dusky red clouds, it denotes strife and debates among the great ones and many robberies that year." More recently it is said of this day, "If the morning of New Year's day is red, it portends foul weather and great need." While of the second day of the year it is said, "As the weather is this day, so it will be in September."

In the "Book of Presidents" (precedents), 1614, Jan. 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 are set down as unlucky days. Another chronicle says: "January.—Of this first month, the opening day, and seventh, like a sword will slay."

The first day of the year is often regarded as the proper time to make certain divinations with reference to many events affecting the future. In Northamptonshire the master of the family then tempts fate by opening the Bible with his eyes shut and obtaining from the passage first touched with his finger some indication of the events of the coming year.

Among the Wends young maidens hasten the advent of the chosen husband by going to the henhouse on New Year's eve, striking the perch right among the hens, while repeating to themselves the following doggerel:

If cackles the hen,
'Tis will have a man;
If cackles the hen,
Who knows when?

Certain observances are supposed to obtain luck for the year following. In one part of modern Greece all in the house go out early New Year's morning, then return to the dwelling bearing each a branch on which the leaves are well dried. These are cast on the open fire, each wishing at the same time good luck to the family. The drier the leaves, the greater the flame and the better the augury.

In the north of England new clothes are put on for luck the first day of the year.

An odd ceremony is recorded of one locality in England. Bands of straw were put under the feet on New Year's day while at table. When the meal was finished, one person got under the table and another one sat on his back and drew out the bands of straw. These were taken to the orchard and bound round trees, which were thereby insured to bear a full crop of fruit the next year.

In parts of France it is regarded as unlucky to lend anything on New Year's day.

The fire must be watched with great care on the first day of the year. In Lancashire, England, it is said that if it do not burn through the night of New Year's eve, bad luck will visit the household that year; nor must any one be given a live coal, or even a lighted candle at this time, for the bad luck will then visit the recipient of the gift.

At Auspach the shadow thrown on the wall by the candles on the Christmas tree, on New Year's evening will, if any one is to die soon, represent his shadow headless.

In Roumania the New Year begins with a ceremony of blessing the waters, the priest performing a mass and sprinkling the streams with holy water while blessing them.—St. Louis Republic.

Queer Welsh Beliefs.

In many parts of Wales to see one's shadow in the moonlight upon New Year's eve is believed to be an infallible sign that the person seeing it will die before the expiration of the coming New Year, and there is also a popular superstition that if an unmarried woman should see her face reflected in water on New Year's eve it is an infallible sign that she is destined to live and die in a state of single blessedness.—New York World.

So Many Gifts.

Three hundred and sixty-five spick, span, new,
Beautiful presents for me and for you!
Fill them with kindness and sunshine, my honey,
And you'll find these gifts better than playthings or money.
—Youth's Companion.

THE PASSING OF THE NEW YEAR.

These Mile Posts on the Journey of Life Fly by Faster One by One.

It has no doubt often occurred to you, fellow traveler on Time's coach, that the milestones of the New Years fly past much faster now than they did in the early stages of your journey.

What an interminably long wait it seemed to be between the first New Year's day of your memory and the second. Perhaps you were 6 or 8 years old then and in school for the first term. If so, New Year's had its sorrow as well as its joy, for it was the last day of the midwinter holidays and next day you had to begin your wrestling with the intellectual arithmetic and the geography and maybe with the elements of the English grammar. Look back now and pity yourself. Do not make the mistake of most of our acquaintances and declare that particular New Year's to have been the happiest of your existence. Pshaw! It was perhaps the most miserable. The fact that you have forgotten your childhood's miseries does not make it true that you had none.

It was several years after that before the New Year began to move appreciably faster. Perhaps it was not till your sister and your pretty dark eyed cousin began to chaff you about the silky down upon your upper lip, and your portly, comfortable father, in speaking of some doings of yours of which he did not approve, referred to you as a "foolish young man." Then you noticed the flight of time, I'll be bound. No one had called you a "young man" before. You were ready to forgive the governor's chidings for that. You rejoiced that although you were very young indeed you had yet been called a man.

At that time you had great respect for your own opinions on most matters. You began to shave forthwith, and you fell into the habit of calling your chum, who was of about your own age, "old man." If any one called you "my boy," you felt resentful. It seemed so utterly out of place. But you had not yet learned that manhood brings with it certain definite and sometimes heavy responsibilities. It is possible you discovered this significant truth very soon afterward, though perhaps it was not till two or three more New Years had passed. At all events the knowledge came to you with something of a shock—possibly pleasant, possibly otherwise. At all events, it was not long after that that you found out that your knowledge was not universal and your wisdom was not infallible.

And ever since the New Years have flown by faster and faster. After awhile your girth grew greater. Then there were lines in parts of your face that had once been smooth. The top of your cranium, that was once thick thatched, grew bare and smooth and shining. Glasses came next, and your hands wrinkled up. Then there were occasional twinges in your joints, and what hair was left grew gray, then white. Only yesterday you began to carry a cane—once you carried it for ornament—because it helped you when walking. Yesterday? you ask. Oh, yes, I remember. It was a good ten years ago, but you see the New Years fly so fast now.

What! Are you going to leave the coach? Is your life journey done? You amaze me. I thought you were good for several more New Years. Well, goodby, my boy; goodby.

So he is gone. But, bless me, he was only 75. He was a young man yet. Now, those of you who are yet on the coach with me—let us give the new year 1896 a rousing welcome! And may the road between here and 1897 be a smoother one for all of us than was that of 1895! E. Y. K.

TWO CHRISTMAS EVES

(Copyright, 1895, by American Press Association.)

CHAPTER I.

HOW THE FIRST ONE CAME.

"Not another word, sir," said old Eben Withers in his usual decisive manner. "I know nothing about the girl, and I don't desire to, but I do not intend you to marry for some years, and then you are not to choose a penniless bride. You are to build up the family fortune, sir, not scatter it. No; I will not listen." And he turned to his morning paper again.

Young Eben said more than his prayers sometimes, and it would not do to set down all he said to himself as he left the room. He was as plucky a lad as there was in seven counties around, but he had always been obedient, partly from a sense of duty and partly because of the genuine love that existed between father and son.

But even young Eben, after he met Miss Mildred, saw things a little differently and would perhaps have used another word than love in speaking of his father. Certainly it did not seem as if his filial love was very strong when he came to tell her what his father had said. In those days he told her everything. Afterward he grew older and learned a good many things.

Miss Mildred did not take it well. Young Eben was dissatisfied with the promptness with which she said that she would never forgive herself if she should be the cause of a quarrel between him and his father.

Young Eben looked at her attentively before speaking again, and that was a thing calculated to bewilder a man. You couldn't fully appreciate the beauty of her brown hair with its odd gleams of red and of gold before you would be admiring her broad low forehead, full in the temples, rounded and symmetrical as it was. Then a flash from her deep, large, hazel eyes would fasten your gaze for a moment, till the perfect complexion and chiseled, classic features would coax it away, and the sweet glory of her face would perplex you so with its multiplicity of charms that you would fall to wondering which of them was most to be desired.

All this beauty, which his father had undertaken to deny to him, without even seeing it, made young Eben desperate. "Then you want me to marry some other woman," he said.

"No, no! Never!" she exclaimed almost wildly as she threw her perfect arms around his neck and began to sob at the thought. Her quick emotions were not the least of her charms.

And that is why she did not take it well. She would, and she wouldn't listen to either side of the question. Young Eben must obey his father, and he must never cease to love her, nor ever marry any one else. And nothing was ever to induce her to waver in any respect. It was delightful—and somewhat perplexing.

"If you won't settle the matter," he said finally, "I will." This, by the way, was what he had intended from the first.

"Settle it, how?" she asked in some alarm.

"By marrying you," he said firmly, "but not just now. I will do nothing rashly."

It must be said that the next few months were pretty hard ones for the boy. He had set himself to wait till he should be of age, the next December, not with the thought of defying his father even then, but because he would render his service loyally to the last day. So time went on. His duty was done at his desk in the counting room so well that his father could not complain, rigid taskmaster though he was. His sweetheart was not neglected, and yet he found time, or made it, to keep up his studies faithfully.

Of course, the birthday came in due time. Birthdays do. In the morning old Eben met him with something like emotion.

"I have looked forward to this day," he said, "as anxiously as you. You have been a good son and I believe you always will be. I am proud of you, and I believe you will live to be proud of yourself. Now that you are a man I want to start you with this. It is yours to do with as you like."

"This" was a check for a small fortune. He took it from his pocket as he spoke and handed it to the young man, who flushed with surprise and perfectly natural pleasure as he looked at it.

"It would be [illegible] sir, to try to thank you in words for [illegible] or for all [illegible] kindness [illegible] any case, I [illegible] I [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

ALL NIGHT FIGHT.

Jameson's Forces Were Badly Knocked About.

GERMAN EMPEROR AND DR. LEYD

Premier Rhodes' Resignation Accepted and Sir George Sprigg Takes the Place—The Demands of the Uitlanders — Jameson Said to Have Been Liberated.

London, Jan. 6.—Despatches received from Cape Town this morning say that the resignation of Cecil Rhodes as Prime Minister of the Cape Colony has been accepted by Governor Sir Hercules Robinson, and Sir George Sprigg, Treasurer of the Cape Government, has been appointed in his place.

A despatch from Cape Town says that a railroad train which had been delayed and was running at a high rate of speed between Johannesburg and Durban on Dec. 31, was thrown from the track and 28 passengers were killed and 23 injured.

A despatch received from Pretoria says Dr. Jameson, who has been a prisoner there, has been set at liberty. No details are given.

The Colonial Office is informed that Hon. Charles Coventry, captain of the Bechuanaland police and son of the Earl of Coventry, has died from wounds received in the battle between the Boers and the followers of Dr. Jameson.

Startling Rumors Via New York.

New York, Jan. 6.—A London special to The Evening Sun says: The news from the Transvaal republic, which the British Foreign Office has been suppressing, turns out to be of the most sensational description.

The London consul of the Transvaal republic is authority for the statement that he has received a private despatch from Johannesburg announcing that Dr. Jameson had been rescued by the Uitlanders. The presumption is that a rising has occurred, and that the Boers, who had the custody of Jameson and his men, have been overwhelmed.

The same despatch also states that the British Government is rushing troops to Cape Town. Twelve hundred soldiers left Bombay yesterday and more are to follow.

Dr. Leyds and the Kaiser.

Berlin, Jan. 6.—The Emperor received Dr. Leyds of the Transvaal at 1 o'clock. His Majesty assured the doctor that the Transvaal republic could reckon upon the protection of Germany.

It is said that the Emperor promised Dr. Leyds that Germany would recognize the independence of the Transvaal republic by appointing a German resident at Pretoria instead of a consul as heretofore, and also assured the Transvaal Secretary of State that the Triple Alliance would also recognize the independence of the South African republic. Baron Marschall Von Bieberstein, Minister of Foreign Affairs, was not present at the interview, although it is customary for the Foreign Minister to be present upon occasions of an imperial audience with the head of the foreign department of a regularly constituted government.

London, Jan 6.—A despatch from Cape Town, under date of January 6, received by a news agency here, says that the force which Dr. Jameson, the administrator of the British South African Company, led into the Transvaal to assist the Uitlanders numbered only 460 men. This force on Wednesday fought a battle with 2000 Boers who occupied a strong position near Krugersdorp. Failing in their attempts to dislodge the Boers, Jameson's column moved southward, fighting all night, along the road towards Johannesburg. Jameson, it is stated, expected that two thousand men from Johannesburg would join him. His command fought for thirty-six hours without any relief.

The Dutch press advocate the incorporation of Rhodesia, that part of South Africa lying to the north of the South African Republic, and to the south of the southern boundaries of the Free State and of German Eastern Africa, with the Transvaal Republic.

Additional despatches from Cape Town occupy the column under command of Dr. Jameson reached Vlakfontein, six miles from Johannesburg, Thursday morning, when desultory fighting began between Jameson's men and the Boers, who outnumbered the former six to one. Jameson's men were repulsed and fell back still fighting. Finally their cartridges were exhausted, and they were obliged to surrender. Dr. Jameson, however, did not order the hoisting of the white flag.

IMPORTANT CONFERENCES.

The War and Admiralty Officials Consult With Mr. Chamberlain.

London, Jan. 6.—Frequent and prolonged conferences have taken place throughout the day among Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies; G. J. Goschen, First Lord of the Admiralty, and the heads of the War and Admiralty Departments. Gen. Lord Wolseley, Commander-in-Chief of the British forces, and the entire headquarter's staff busied themselves at the Horse Guards until a late hour to-night.

The Colonial Office has heard nothing of the alleged rising of the Uitlanders against President Kruger of the Transvaal republic, nor have the authorities of that office received any information that Dr. Jameson has been rescued by the Uitlanders. Both reports are discredited by the Colonial authorities.

In regard to the report that the British Government is rushing troops into Cape Colony, and the story that 1200 soldiers left Bombay yesterday and more are to follow, it is learned at the War Office that no troops have been specially ordered to the Cape. The only transport ship conveying troops from Bombay is the steamer Victoria, which is bringing 1200 soldiers home from that place. The Victoria was ordered to call at Cape Town on her way home to learn if the men she has on board would be needed in Ashantee. The report that troops were being sent from Bombay to the Cape undoubtedly originated in a misconception of the destination of the men on board the Victoria.

What the Uitlanders Want.

New York, Jan. 6.—While South Africa fills the public eye it may not be amiss to give briefly the demands of the Uitlanders as formulated in a manifesto issued Dec. 26, and addressed to the people of the republic by the National Union, an organization of Britons under the presidency of Charles Leonard. The manifesto is as follows:

1. The establishment of a republic as a true republic under a constitution approved by the whole people.
2. An equitable franchise and fair representation.
3. The equality of the Dutch and English languages.
4. The responsibility to the legislature of the heads of the great departments.
5. The removal of religious disabilities.
6. The establishment of independent courts of justice, with adequate pay for judges, which shall be properly secured.
7. Liberal education.
8. An efficient civil service, with an adequate pay and pension system.
9. Free trade in African products.

The manifesto concludes as follows: "We shall expect an answer in plain terms, according to your deliberate judgment, at the meeting to be held on January 6."

German Influence at Work.

London, Jan. 6.—The Times will to-morrow print a despatch from Cape Town, dated to-day, saying that Dr. Leyd, Secretary of State of the Transvaal, with a secret fund that was placed at his disposal, has floated a German colonization company [illegible] thousand German military settlers into the Transvaal.

The despatch adds that President Kruger has stopped food supplies from entering Johannesburg. The whole National Reform Committee has been arrested. Nobody is allowed to enter the Transvaal without a passport bearing the vise of President Kruger.

On Jan. 1, despite their own grievances, the Germans in Pretoria sent a cable despatch to Emperor William through the German Consul imploring His Majesty to bring pressure to bear on England not to interfere in the Transvaal.

CALM BUT FORCIBLE.

To Defend the British Empire is No Light Task, But What She Has to Guard is Worth Fighting For.

London, Jan. 6.—The Times will to-morrow say: Not allowing that anything has occurred since President Cleveland sent his Venezuelan message to Congress to substantially alter the position we would welcome any reasonable method of settling the dispute without a resort to force. There is no particular sanctity in the Schomburgk line, but it was regarded by Great Britain as marking off virtually settled districts from those still unoccupied. It ought not to be difficult to determine what districts have been actually occupied, by each nation, and excluding these, to arbitrate on the unsettled districts as a whole. It would not then be necessary to deal with the Schomburgk line at all, while the objects of Lord Salisbury's restriction would be attained. But the people of the United States must not suppose because we share the desire of the best among themselves for a peaceful ending of the dispute that we are willing to surrender, whether we have troubles in Europe and Africa or not, the principles for which we contended.

The paper urges a strengthening of the nation's defences, and concludes: "Our position is purely a defensive one. We have attacked nobody; insulted nobody. But to defend the British Empire is no light task. It will make large demands upon our resources, but what we have to guard is worth fighting for. Fighting probably will not be needed, if we show that we are strongly prepared and thoroughly unit d."

Some persons have periodical attacks of Canadian cholera, dysentery or Diarrhoea, and have to use great precautions to avoid the disease. Change of water, cooking, and green fruit, is sure to bring on the attacks. To such persons we would recommend Dr. J. D. Kellog's Dysentery Cordial as being the best medicine in the market for all summer complaints. If a few drops are taken in water when the symptoms are noticed no further trouble will be experienced.

If?

If you want to preserve apples, don't cause a break in the skin. The germs of decay thrive rapidly there. So the germs of consumption find good soil for work when the lining of the throat and lungs is bruised, made raw, or injured by colds and coughs. Scott's Emulsion, with hypophosphites, will heal inflamed mucus membranes. The time to take it is before serious damage has been done. A 50-cent bottle is enough for an ordinary cold.

Fragrant as the Flowers.

Is the new and delightful tooth preparation "Ivorine." Foaming Ivorine is charmingly pleasant to use—a perfect delight to the senses and possesses in a marvellous way the rendering of the teeth white and brilliant. Ivorine hardens the gums, prevents decay, and imparts to the breath a delightful fragrance.

400 Acre Farm FOR SALE.

IN SNOWDEN.

I WILL SELL AT A BARGAIN A 400 acre Farm in the Township of Snowden—very convenient—about half a lot from the Village of Gelert and Gelert Station. The property consists of lots 16, 17, 18, 19, in the 11th Con less a strip of Lots 17, 18 and 19, through which runs the Victoria branch, of the Grand Trunk Railway. There are cleared on lot 16, 99 acres; on lot 17, 60 acres; on lot 18, 90 acres, and on lot 19, 25 acres, balance good hardwood bush and well timbered. Log House. Log Barn. The property is well watered by a branch of the Burnt River and would make an excellent farm for stock and grain and the Timber being convenient to the station can be sold at a good price or shipped as purchaser desires, and in the most profitable manner. It is close to school and church.

At a recent examination it is estimated that there are upon the four lots the following quantities of wood, etc.:—200 cords maple wood; 800 cords birch wood; 800 cords hemlock, balsam and soft wood; 2000 cedar ties; 2000 cedar posts; about 300 acres good farming land; 100 acres good pasture land. It is one of the best farms in the country for stock raising, pasture being always good.

Will sell to a good man on reasonable terms Apply to

THEIR REASONS.

Mr. Foster Explains Why the Ministers Resigned.

DID NOT AGREE WITH THE PREMIER

Sir Adolphe Caron Asked for an Adjournment, Which Was Refused by Mr. Laurier—Liberal Leaders Ironically Criticized the Action of the Bolters.

Ottawa, Jan. 7.—The promised explanations of the ex-Ministers were made to the House of Commons this afternoon. When the popular chamber assembled shortly after 3 o'clock there was a very large attendance of members, about the only representatives not present being those from British Columbia; of the Ministers and ex-Ministers all were in their seats save Mr. Dickey, who is unwell. There was by no means an air of depression over the Ministerial benches. The feeling is strong that in a few days the present tangle will be unravelled and a firm Government will be the outcome.

So far as the Opposition are concerned there was certainly an appearance of jubilation as to the outlook.

Not for many years has so much interest been manifested in the sitting of the House as has been noticeable to-day. Long before 3 o'clock people had gathered by scores around the several entrances to the galleries, while the lobbies were crowded with people anxious to secure tickets for admission. Within five minutes of opening standing room in the galleries was at a premium.

After routine business had been disposed of and three new members introduced—Messrs. Stubbs, McShane, and Powell—Sir A. P. Caron rose amid profound silence to make a statement. Evidently the Postmaster-General realised the gravity of the situation, as he was somewhat nervous in his delivery. Summed up in brief, he asked for an adjournment for two weeks in order to enable the Government to determine the course it should pursue.

The Oppositon leader at once rose and said he could not assent to his proposal, and as, under the rules of the House, notice must be given of a motion for adjournment for a lengthened period, there was no alternative but for Sir Adolphe to withdraw his motion and let it stand as a notice for to-morrow, when the House will meet and the question come up again for discussion.

Mr. Laurier proceeded to make some very caustic observations on the situation. He demanded an explanation of the reasons for the resignations of the seven Ministers and administered a severe rebuke for the insult offered to His Excellency by these Ministers in furnishing him with a program and policy on Thursday and then, two days later, leaving him in the lurch.

Mr. Laurier's demand led to Mr. Foster rising on a motion to adjourn and reading a statement, which had been prepared by the seven Ministers, giving their reasons for their action.

Mr. Foster, who was received with cheers from the Conservative benches: Before the House adjourns I rise to perform a duty which I conceive should be performed at once, and to say at the same time that I do not propose (as neither, I think, do my colleagues, who are acting with me in this matter) to enter into any discussion of the subject. I will to-day simply make a statement for the information of the House and the country as to our position—I mean the position of those gentlemen who thought it their duty to retire from the Government—and I shall briefly state the reasons why they retired. I may say in the first place that there is no disagreement between ourselves and the Premier upon any question of public policy, trade or constitutional, with regard to which action has been already taken, or in respect to which an attitude has been assumed by the Government under the present Premier. I beg also to say that we retain our firm belief in the principles and policy of the Liberal-Conservative party, with which we are in entire accord, and of which, in common with others, we have been and will remain the exponents in so far as our ability admits. We have lost none of our confidence in the sound and healthy condition of the Liberal-Conservative party of Canada—(laughter and ironical cheers from the Opposition)—or of our belief that it embodies a policy which the majority of the electorate considers essential to the continued welfare and progress of the country, or of our faith that under firm and prudent leadership it will come back triumphant from the polls. (Conservative cheers.) Though with many misgivings we finally agreed to enter the Government under Mr. Bowell in succession to Sir John Thompson, we have nevertheless unitedly and loyally striven to the best of our ability to make it strong and efficient, and it has been with growing regret that we have seen our efforts result in a measure of success less than that for which we had hoped and striven. We are of the opinion that the Liberal-Conservative party ought to be represented by the strongest Government possible to be secured from its ranks; that the necessity thereof was never greater than under existing circumstances, and we believe that such a Government can be formed without delay. This we have repeatedly urged upon the Premier, with the result that we find ourselves face to face with Parliament, having a Government with its numbers incomplete and with no assurance that the present Premier could satisfactorily complete it. Under these circumstances we thought it our duty to retire, and in this manner to pave the way, if possible, for the formation of a Government whose Premier could command the confidence of all his colleagues, could satisfy the Liberal-Conservative party that its strongest elements were at its head, and impress the country that it had a Government which was united and had power to govern. We affirm with the utmost sincerity that the action we have taken has sprung from no feeling of personal dislike or of personal ambition, but has been solely dictated by our wish to sink all minor considerations in the presence of our great desire that the best interests of our party and country should be duly conserved.

After Mr. Foster sat down Sir Richard Cartwright rose and repeated the dose which Mr. Laurier had a little while before administered, after which the adjournment of the House was carried.

Her Excellency the Countess of Aberdeen was an interested listener to the speeches.

For a considerable while after the adjournment members were gathered in little knots on the floor discussing the position of affairs. The Premier was conspicuous amongst them and was warmly greeted by Ministerialists and Oppositionists, for a little while. It was noticed he was in conversation with Sir Hector Langevin and there was comment upon the fact that Mr. McCarthy greeted him with the utmost cordiality. The consensus of opinion among members of the House is that the explanation furnished by Mr. Foster is no explanation at all. It is felt that if the bolting Ministers had any ground for complaint against the Premier at all it was equally as strong last Thursday, the day of the opening of Parliament, as it was on Saturday, when they resigned. It was as strong three months ago as it was on Thursday. Here, then is the weakness of the ex-Ministers' position. There must be some other reasons for their action, and members are curious to know what these are.

The precise line of action which the Prime Minister will take cannot be foreshadowed to-night. Sir Mackenzie Bowell, it is said, has written out his resignation, but whether he will hand it to His Excellency remains to be seen. Certainly, judging from the tone of his speech in the Senate to-night, there is lots of fight still in the old man. Some of his utterances were remarkable. It is evident from his remarks that he was greatly hurt by Mr. Foster's observations in the Commons, and this may stiffen his back bone and induce him to hold out. There is a possibility that he may succeed in reconstructing his Cabinet, but in that event an immediate dissolution would almost be inevitable. If he fails and surrenders the leadership to Sir Charles Tupper it is said that Mr. Ives will become High Commissioner in London. The feeling is almost unanimous among the members that the position outlined by The World the other evening, that a new Conservative Premier could not repudiate Sir Mackenzie Bowell's school policy, is the correct one.

THE SENATE.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell Makes a Statement, But Reserves a Good Deal for a Future Time.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell, after reading the same statement that was read in the House of Commons, said: I have to ask that when the House adjourns to-night it stands adjourned until to-morrow at 8 o'clock. It is not usual, I believe, upon occasions of this kind, to make explanations at any length until the action of the Government, whatever it may be, has been taken in reference to the filling of the vacancies or the organization and formation of a new Government. I shall act on this occasion in accordance with English precedence. I have simply to say, in addition to the remarks I have already made, that I believe an explanation has been made in another place by one of the gentlemen who retired from the Cabinet, giving his reasons therefor. I have not yet had an opportunity of reading it, but only casually heard it, and am, therefore, not in a position to deal with it as I think its importance demands. I must therefore ask the indulgence of the House for at least 24 hours, when I shall be in a much better position to deal with the statement as it deserves. In making this request, I have no desire to shirk any of the responsibilities which devolve upon the head of the Government in dealing with matters referred to in the Speech from the Throne. As I have stated, I have not seen the statement to which I refer, nor was the courtesy extended to me as the head of the Government of handing me a copy of it in order that it might be dealt with properly, and I therefore ask again the indulgence of the House to permit me to postpone the matter until it appears in the press to-morrow, when I can deal with it as its merits deserve. If my ears did not deceive me in what I heard of it, I can only say that it was uncalled for, that it was unfair to the head of the Government for the time being. To say that much is I think, saying very little. I leave that to the gentlemen who thought proper to make the statement, and if it fails to satisfy him and his friends I can only appeal to the judgment of the country in defence of the course which I have taken. I shall add this, however: The declaration that I made in this House just before its prorogation last year in reference to the future policy of the Government upon the great question which is agitating the people of this country will be, so far as I am concerned, and I so far as my influence goes, carried out to the letter. (Applause.) I have yet to learn that it is my duty as a public man to do otherwise. Having enunciated a principle, firmly believing as I did, and as I suppose my colleagues did, that it was a sound principle, that it was but doing justice to a portion of this Dominion and maintaining the provisons of the constitution, and giving to a portion of Her Majesty's subjects who had been deprived of their rights that which the constitution and the highest court of the realm stated that they were entitled to, I feel it my duty as far as in my power lies to see that the matter is given effect to in a manner of which I do not regret that any difference of opinion should prevail among gentlemen who had formed a deliberate opinion to take a course which, I regret to say, led one of my colleagues in whom I had the most unbounded confidence and respect, to leave the Government last year because we did not act at that time and because we asked for delay in order to give the province whose autonomy it is asserted will be interfered with, time at least to consider the grave question with which they and with which we have had to deal. We were accused of no other desire but to so put off and delay the question that it might be ultimately defeated to use the very familiar, but not very elegant expression) by some fluke. Whether that was the intention of those who have taken a different course from the gentlemen who have remained in the Cabinet, I am not prepared to say. I shall content myself at the present moment with the few remarks that I have made, and when the proper time arrives, when it will be necessary to deal with the explanation which has been made in another place, I trust I shall be enabled to make such an explanation in reference to myself personally—the statement to which I have referred having had relation to me to some extent, and to the policy of the Government of which I have been for some little time the head--as will be satisfactory to the Senate. I now move that when this House adjourns to-night it stand adjourned until to-morrow even-at 8 o'clock.

Hon. Mr. Scott said he thought the Premier would have given full explanations for the unprecedented step taken by the Ministers. He believed the verdict of the country would be that the time selected for the resignations was an unfair and improper one. Only one precendent of the same character approaching this could be found in Canadian history—in the case of Sir Allan McNab.

The motion for adjournment carried and the Senate adjourned until 8 o'clock to-morrow night.

THE HYAMS TRIAL.

Dr. Temple the Only Witness—Mrs. Harry Hyams Too Ill to Attend Court—Dr. Field's Position.

Toronto, Jan. 8.

Dr. Temple was the only witness called at the trial of the Hyams twins. He deposed that Mrs. Harry Hyams was in his private hospital at Bellevue-avenue and Oxford-street.

"Is she in a condition to give evidence before this court?" asked Col. Denison.

"She could be brought here," replied the witness, "but she is physically extremely weak. She can just be moved from room to room with the assistance of a nurse, and I think it would be extremely undesirable to subject a woman in her condition to the hardships of appearing in a public court and being subject perhaps to a severe cross-examination."

"Can she give evidence at your institution?" asked His Worship.

"Yes," replied the physician.

"Well, then, we will go there and take what evidence she is willing to give."

An agreement was reached between the counsel. It was decided that Mrs. Hyams' evidence be taken at Dr. Temple's Hospital during the noon hour to-day.

Mr. Johnston stated that both prisoners were willing to waive their right to be present. Crown Attorney Curry said that it lay within the court's power to permit the prisoners to be absent if they so desire.

"Then I will permit them," said the Magistrate. "They need not be brought up in the van to-morrow."

The charges of forgery will be heard next Tuesday.

Dr Field's Position

Dr. Byron Field, 642 Spadina-avenue, who has appeared as a witness for the crown in the preliminary examination of the Hyams brothers on a charge of conspiring to murder Mrs. Martha Wells Hyams, now going on before the Police Magistrate, has explained to The World that he was not consulting with Dallis in the capacity of a medical examiner in the interests of the Standard Life Insurance Company of Edinburgh, but simply had undertaken to assist in the arrangement of the preliminary details to such insurance; and the commission that was to have been paid him was in compensation of such services and not for rendering a favorable health report as appears to be the supposition in some quarters. The doctor admits that he had previously examined Martha Hyams, but in the case referred to in the Police Court on Monday he had nothing to do with the medical examination and had not the slightest intention of interfering with it. He was merely assisting the Hyams boys to effect the insurance and innocently enough, as he knew that Mrs. Hyams had already been accepted and pronounced a good risk by all the medical examiners of the respective companies, and he had been further led to believe that the twins were business men of good standing at the time and had not the remotest doubt of their sincerity in attempting to place the desired sum on the life of Mrs. Harry. Dr. Field feels that he has been unjustly criticised in the premises and his explanation is cheerfully given in these columns.

To Pray for Peace.

New York, Jan. 6.—A cablegram has been received from the British Alliance requesting that Christians throughout the United States be invited to join British Christians in fervent prayer next week, especially on Wednesday, "that Christ-like counsels may prevail in the present crisis."

In response to the above, the Executive Committee of the Evangelical Alliance for the United States passed the following resolution: "Resolved that, in accordance with a cablegram from the Evangelical Alliance of Great Britain, the Evangelical Alliance for the United States invite the Christians of America to unite in prayer with their British brethren on Wednesday of the week of prayer, that in the relations of their respective Governments pacific counsels may prevail."

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 8, 1896.

APROPOS of the present Cabinet situation, "When rogues fall out honest men get their due.

MR. FOSTER, ex-Finance Minister, aspires to be a leader. His best chance is to be leader of the Opposition.

SIR MACKENZIE BOWELL refuses to be forced out of the Premiership by his colleagues, but he will have to yield to the people.

THE Globe points out that the three bye-elections, Montreal Centre, Jacques Cartier and British Columbia, represent a gain of 2000 liberal votes—what would a general election show?

VANDALS a few days ago stole the bronze plate from the monument over the grave of President Monroe in Hollywood Cemetery in Richmond, Va. Take the brass out of the Monroe doctrine and there's nothing left but dust and ashes.

IN the recent bye-elections it is generally thought that that the people were the authors of the "handwriting on the wall," but Sir Adolf Caron seems to think that Dr. Montague had something to do with it.

THE remaining ministers of the split in the Dominion Cabinet are doing double duty. Premier Bowell is acting Finance Minister, Mr. Daly acting Minister of Justice, Mr. Ouimet acting Minister of Railways and Canals, Sir Adolphe Caron acting Minister of Militia, Mr. Ferguson acting Minister of Trade and Commerce. This is all right if they do not insist on drawing double salary.

THE Globe of Tuesday prints a splendid cartoon over the legend, "After me, the Deluge—Sir John Macdonald." Bengough has depicted the Conservative leaders struggling in the waters of the flood, with Montague and Caron in the foreground, putting reciprocity into practical effect by pulling each the other's hair. Sir Charles Tupper, on a rock not yet submerged, stands aghast, gazing down on the whirling deluge, Mr. High Commissioner's knees knocking together. In the distance over a hill rises the sun, labelled "Laurier." The cartoon is a graphic delineation of the present situation, with a very comforting dash of prophecy.

EAST, centre and west bye-elections have spoken loudly of the waning popularity of the Dominion Government and its policy. In Quebec Province the Government has been smitten, hip and thigh. In Ontario, Cardwell, that never before, was mad enough to reject a Conservative, sent the Government candidate to the right-about. The extreme west, British Columbia, has spoken in condemnation. In a riding, Victoria, where a few years ago the Liberal candidate could not get votes enough to save his deposit, the Government candidate, Col. Prior, with all the resources of Government influence and lavish boodle, got a majority of a paltry hundred votes.

Y.P.S.C.E. NOTES.

Paragraphs of Local Interest to Endeavourers Supplied by the County Union and Epworth League.

THE WORLD'S C. E. PRAYER CHAIN.

Subject of prayer for January.—"That churches, young people's societies, and individual Christians everywhere may receive the indwelling Holy Spirit, and that the week of prayer and subsequent weeks of the month may be marked by a great ingathering into the Kingdom of the Lord Jesus Christ."

Rev. Dr. Clark in speaking on New Year resolutions says:—"I think one trouble with our New Year's resolutions is that we lay them upon the shelf, as it were, for safe keeping. Then they are easily broken. A resolution is not like a delicate China plate—the more often it is used the more liable to be broken. In fact, it is just the reverse with a good resolution, the more often it is used, the less likely it is to be broken."

FORWARD, MARCH!

"Into the New Year of Christian Endeavour—Forward, march!

Much of the path will be up hill, but Heaven lies that way, too—Forward, march!

There are foes to face, foes of sloth, of doubt, of opposition, of temptation, of selfishness and worldliness. But our leader has conquered them all, and can conquer them again—Forward, march!

For a larger Christian life, for a wider Christian fellowship, for a fuller Christian sympathy, for a deeper Christian experience—Forward, march!

With a prayer on our lips and a song in our hearts, with sorrow for our sins and weakness, but with joy for Christ's omnipotence, and trusting in our Lord Jesus Christ for strength—Forward, forward, march!—GOLDEN RULE.

UNION PRAYER MEETING.

The number present in the Y. M. C. A. Hall on New Year's morning was not as large as should have been, yet there was a very good attendance. The president, Mr. H. P. Kennedy, conducted the meeting. Rev. W. C. Beer gave a very helpful address, pointing out the possibilities of better work this year and warning against dangers of the past. The consecration service was heartily participated in, all feeling the presence of the Holy Spirit, and determined to be more faithful, with God's help, this year than in the past.

LOCAL EXECUTIVE.

At a meeting of the Local Executive held last Friday evening, it was decided to celebrate Christian Endeavour Day on Monday, Feb. 3rd, by holding a union rally in St. Andrew's church.

It was also decided that the different societies of town give receptions during the coming three months to the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. as follows:

January—George street Methodist to Y. M. C. A.

January—Charlotte street Methodist to Y. W. C. A.

February—St. Paul's Presbyterian to Y. M. C. A.

February—St. Andrew's Presbyterian to Y. W. C. A.

March—Murray street and Park street Baptist to Y. M. C. A.

March—Mark street Methodist to Y. W. C. A.

A report was also heard from the convener of Good Citizenship Committee, who reports the work progressing.

VILLIERS, OTONABEE.

Our consecration meeting on Tuesday evening was well attended, all the members responding to their names at roll call. The topic, "How next year may be made better than this has been," was conducted by Miss Jennie Nelson. A paper on "How my committee might do better work," was read by the convener of the Prayer Meeting Committee. The prayer meeting was led by Miss Jennie Lancaster. To make the year 1896 better than 1895 we must each consecrate our all to the Master. We must have a greater love for Him and His work, allowing no opportunity to pass of helping some one nearer to the Saviour and be more earnest in our prayers, asking Him to guide us in all our ways. Let our daily prayer be: "Lord, what wilt Thou have me do?" and forgetting the things that are behind, and reaching forth to those that are before, let us press forward toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus.

A LETTER OF THANKS.

From a Young Lady who had to be Carried About Like a Child, but who has once More Regained Health and Strength.

Some letters bear in themselves the evidence of such sound judgment, good sense, and absolute sincerity that a single word added to them would be a blemish. Happy the man who gets such letters. They are the outcome of honest and discriminating good sense. The following is such a letter. It is dated at Emsdale, P. E. I.

Gentlemen.—I am pleased to be able to add my testimony to the very large accumulation you must already have with regard to the efficacy of Dr. William's Pink Pills for Pale People. I am now in my 20th year, and as far back as my memory carries me I have had rheumatic affection in both legs, from the knees to the ankles. I have also been much troubled with erysipelas. One doctor attended me constantly for three years, but to no purpose, and another attended me for a short time with equally poor results. Besides this treatment I have used advertised medicines too numerous to mention, but none helped me. I became so bad that abscesses formed on both legs and the bone began to decay. For three years I could not put a foot under myself, and had to be carried about like a child. It is not possible for one who has not been in a similar condition to form any conception of what I suffered. My days and nights were alike filled with agony, and at times I felt that death would have been a welcome release. Friends urged me to try your Pink Pills and I have found from them such results as I never anticipated. My recovery was not rapid, but from the time that an improvement set in. I steadily progressed until now I am in good health, go about easily and can do a good day's work around the house. I unhesitatingly say that I owe my present health, if not my life, to Dr. William's Pink Pills, and I trust that others may find benefit from my experience. All who live in this vicinity know of the truth of these statements, and know that my restoration to health is little less than a miracle.

Yours gratefully,
LAURETTA J. HAYWOOD.

This is not an isolated letter. Every mail brings them from grateful people in all parts of the country who hasten to acknowledge the great benefit they have derived from the use of Dr. William's Pink Pills, often after other medicines had utterly failed do give any help. Throughout the length and breadth of the land it is a recognised fact that Dr. William's Pink Pills are one of the medical marvels of the age. They positively cure locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus dance, sciatica, neuralgia, nervous headache, the after affects of la grippe, palpatation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, all forms of weakness either in male or female. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, (50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50—they are never sold in bulk or by the 100 or ounce,) by addressing Dr. William's Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont., or Shenectady, N. Mr. H. E. Hudson, of Combermere, Severely Injured.

Protruding Knot Wound—Entered the Body Four Inches—Bladder Injury—Kidney Disease—One Box of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Barrie Bay, Jan. 8—(Special).—Universal interest has been taken throughout this newly-settled region in the cure of Mr. Hudson, of Combermere, hunter trapper and lumberman. Personally well known to every man, woman and child, his case, both before and since the cure, has created much talk.

The accident occurred over eight years ago when he fell upon a protruding knot in such a way as to enter the body from beneath, injuring the bladder and affecting the kidneys. Speaking of his sufferings and cure he says:—

"I was confined to my bed for six weeks to commence with, have suffered from pain across the back, weakness and loss of time for over eight years.

"I have taken one box of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and since taking the first four doses have been free from pain

"One box to me has been worth more than one hundred dollars, as only one was necessary to complete my cure.

"I have had not the least symptom of any return and am able to work as well as ever I could in my life."

HUSTLING HAVELOCK.

From our own Correspondent.

Last Thursday evening a number of the members of the Epworth League and of the Methodist church assembled at the residence of Mr. W. Port, and, after spending the evening very pleasantly in singing, games, etc., the following address and a handsome present were presented to Miss Howson, the president of the League:—

Miss Howson:

DEAR FRIEND,—We the members of the Methodist church and your associates in the Epworth League of Christian Endeavour, together with your friends generally, assembled on the eve of your departure from Havelock, where you have so successfully laboured during the past two years, desire to place on record our appreciation of your many good qualities and the esteem your good character has secured throughout this village. For your fidelity and zeal in every enterprise connected with the church of your choice we accord you our warmest thanks, and sincerely hope that a better reward than we can give will be vouchsafed you by the Master whom you serve.

Very greatly, indeed, will your absence be felt in the Epworth League of which for the past year you have been a worthy president. Since you were elected to that position you have been untiring in your exertions to advance the interests and to extend the usefulness of the society.

We cherish the hope that the League has had a reflex influence upon yourself, so that you will carry with you warm memories of its gatherings and an inspiration to work along similar lines in the future.

Moreover, we desire to express our recognition of your pleasing manner and unfailing good humour amidst the perplexing occurences of life. We deplore the necessity of your removal from us, but our assurance is that our loss is the gain of those among whom you go.

Merely as a token of our sincerity we ask you to accept this jewel case and these volumes of Whittier and Longfellow, so that in future, when you have occasion to look at them, they may refresh your memory with pleasing incidents of the then past.

May God and His blessing go with you, causing you to "dwell in peaceable habitation and in sure dwellings and in quiet resting places," and may our Father give you and us at last access to His presence, where the weary rest and the faithful are rewarded.

Signed on behalf of the League.

Pheumatism cured by 4 Pink Pow'ders

The joints would swell a good deal and were exceedingly painful. Sometimes it was so bad that I found it almost impossible to work. You will remember that I obtained a box of powders from you on the 25th at 9 o'clock. The two powders which I took helped me wonderfully, and after taking four powders I was walking around with no pain and capable of doing a day's work. Yours truly, W. H. Lewis, Calgary, Alberta.

WARLIKE SENTIMENT

Seems to Have Become Strong In England.

BITTER FEELING AS TO GERMANY.

The Queen Writes to Her German Grandson a Letter of Rebuke - Important Conference at the Foreign Office Activity at Aldershot Peace in Transvaal.

London, Jan. 7.—Lord Salisbury visited the Foreign Office this afternoon and immediately after his arrival received Mr. Chamberlain and later received Count Von Hatzfeldt, the German Ambassador. Political circles in London maintain that if it be true that the Emperor of Germany has promised to recognize the independence of the Transvaal Republic by appointing a German Resident Minister instead of a consul at Pretoria, it may mean war between Great Britain and Germany.

The Globe this evening prints some sensational news under the following scare heading: "Activity in the War Office." "Anticipated Military Measures." The Globe then states that the War Office sent a special messenger this afternoon to the Colonial Office and that it is rumored important orders are impending.

A despatch received here from the military camp at Aldershot says that the general belief, almost backed by proof, prevails that the authorities are considering the mobilizing of the army reserves and part of the militia. The men employed in the ordnance stores are all very busy.

The Pall Mall Gazette says that Mr. Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, will visit the Queen at Osborne this evening for a conference with Her Majesty.

Anti German Feeling in London

London, Jan. 7.—There were disorders in the east end last night, growing out of the fact that the German and Dutch sailors about the docks were hissed and molested. The windows in the shops kept by German Jews were broken, and several German clubs were closed. The disorders were due to the anti-German feeling aroused throughout England by the Emperor's recent congratulatory message to President Kruger.

England's Foes Within.

Dublin, Jan. 7.—John E. Redmond, M.P., in a speech at Wexford last evening, declared that the British Empire was without a friend in the world. "Never since the passage of the accursed Act of Union," he said, "had it been more needful than now that Ireland should be united in principle and policy of action." Mr. Redmond's address was received with wild cheers.

The Queen Rebukes Her Grandson

London, Jan. 7.—The Westminster Gazette says the Queen has written a letter to the Emperor of Germany rebuking him for his attitude in regard to the Transvaal, especially in the matter of the congratulatory message which His Majesty sent to President Kruger.

Orders for Law and Order.

London, Jan. 7.—Sir Hercules Robinson, Governor of the Cape Colony, has wired Mr. Chamberlain, Colonial Secretary, from Pretoria, under yesterday's date, that an order has been issued in the name of the Queen, directing the officers of the British South Africa Company in charge of the ordnance and reserve ammunition at Buluwayo and Fort Salisbury to hand the same over to an imperial officer. Orders were also sent on January 2 to the civil administrator at Buluwayo calling upon all citizens to maintain law and order. This order was faithfully obeyed. The excitement will be allayed, Governor Robinson says, when it is known that Dr. Jameson and his comrades have been released.

A Word to Germany.

London, Jan. 7.—The St. James' Gazette says: "We would rather face a rupture with Germany than to renounce the stipulation of the convention of 1884 that any international arrangement made by the South African Republic requires the consent and ratification of Great Britain."

JAMESON'S VERSION.

He Only Crossed the Frontier at the Urgent Appeals of His Countrymen.

London, Jan. 7.—A despatch to the Central News, dated Johannesburg, Jan. 3, gives a brief report of an interview had by the Central News representative with Dr. Jameson, who was sent as a prisoner to Pretoria. "I only crossed the frontier," said the doctor, "because of the urgent appeals made by the inhabitants of Johannesburg, and because I fully believed that large numbers of my countrymen and countrywomen were in dire peril of their lives. It was only to save them and protect them that I moved. I could have beaten the [illegible] if the people of Johannesburg [illegible] any effort to help themselves. [illegible] they exhausted, and our ammunition had been spent.

"The Boers were in a strong position and in strong force, and we were unable to shift them, but if the men of Johannesburg had only destroyed the railway to Krugerzdorp, which they could easily have done, it would have prevented the supplies of ordnance being taken to the entrenched Boers, which enabled them to hold out against our attacks. As it was, a special train loaded with ammunition ran out to the Boers from Johannesburg without hindrance."

PEACE IN SIGHT.

Everybody in the Troubled Neighborhood Laying Down Arms.

London, Jan. 7.—Sir Hercules Robinson, Governor of Cape Colony, cables from Pretoria, capital of the Transvaal under date of to-day, that he has received a message from the Reform Committee at Johannesburg, stating that the Uitlanders have resolved to comply with the demand of the Transvaal Government that they relinquish their arms. The people, the committee added, are placing themselves unreservdly in his hands, being confident that he will see that justice is done them.

Sir Hercules concludes his despatch by saying he hopes now to be able to confer with President Kruger and the executive council relative to the prisoners and the redressing of grievances of foreign residents of Johanesburg.

Volunteers are Patriotic.

London, Jan. 7.—Princess Louise, daughter of the Queen and wife of the Marquis of Lorne, to-day presented prizes to the Middlesex volunteers. General Greenfel made an address, in which he said that the volunteers were never more efficient than at the present time. They numbered a quarter of a million. Many of the volunteers who had been retired were coming forward at the present mometous crisis and offering to rejoin the force. The War Office was receiving similar offers from the retired members of all the corps in town and country.

Hisses for the Kaiser.

London, Jan. 7.—At a large public dinner of farmers and traders given at Chard, County of Somerset, last evening, the Mayor of the town proposed to drink the health of all of the Queen's family, except one grandson (referring to Emperor William of Germany). The toast was received with enthusiastic cheers, which were followed by groans and hisses for Emperor William.

A Flying Squadron.

London, Jan. 7.—The Times to-morrow will say that orders have been sent to Portsmouth, Davenport and Chatham for the immediate placing in commission of six ships to form a flying squadron. The squadron will be composed of two first-class battleships and two first and two second-class cruisers.

Commenting upon these naval preparations, The Times will say it hopes that if nothing can be gained by keeping the Mediterranean fleet at Salonica, it will shortly be ordered to concentrate where it can be more immediately available in case of need.

Relative to the report about Germany ordering marines to the Transvaal, The Times refuses to believe the report until it shall be proved that Portugal consented for them to pass through her territory. It adds, however, that it would not be surprised to learn that efforts had been made to tempt the tempter to such disloyalty to a friendly power and old ally. If the proposed landing of the marines at Delagoa Bay was not done under agreement with Portugal it was intended as an act of filibustering more rephrehensible than Dr. Jameson's, because it was projected by a regular Government fully aware of the character of the act in the eye of international law.

Reinforcements for Cape Town.

London, Jan. 7.—The Telegraph will to-morrow say that the Government has decided to send to Cape Town as soon as possible strong reinforcements of cavalry and infantry. It adds that a second regiment which is under orders to return home from India will stop at Cape Town, while other regiments selected from the first army corps of England will shortly leave for that place.

The Telegraph further says that a first-class British cruiser has been ordered to proceed to Delagoa Bay.

OWEN SOUND Jan. 6 (Special)—Mr. Shipman tells his story in the hope that he may benefit others, and says:—As the result of a tumble when a boy which injured my back, I have been troubled with weak kidneys all my life. For the past year I have been a great sufferer, growing worse until a friendly druggist advised me to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Tests of the urine showed Diabetes and I realized my danger. I found it impossible when tired stand upright and at such times was drawn down sideways. In all I have used about one dozen boxes and am now hearty and healthy as ever in my life.

IRISH ROUND TABLE.

The Committee of the Various Irish Factions Assembles in Dublin.

Dublin, Jan. 7.—The committee of representatives of the various sections of the Irish parties to discuss measures for the general good of Ireland, which may be submitted to Parliament, met in this city to-day. The plan of the committee originated with the Right Hon. David Plunkett, Conservative M.P. for Dublin.

Mr. Plunkett was present at the meeting and proposed that they call themselves the Irish Round Table, and sit as long as they could do good work. Messrs. John Redmond, Parnellite M.P. for Waterford city, Richard Dane, Conservative M.P. for Fermagh, the Earl of Mayo, an Irish representative peer, Monsignor Mollerit and others attended the meeting.

Maltine With Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites—a Food, Medicine and Digestive.

Thousands of invalids are starving—starving in the midst of plenty and despite the tender care of loved ones. Health is restored, not by what is eaten, but by what is digested. Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites is a food, for it is rich in the nourishing properties of wheat, oats, and barley; a medicine, for it is combined with the best Norwegian oil, which it renders palatable, non-irritating, and readily assimilated; and a powerful digestive, for it acts rapidly upon starchy foods, making them soluble and capable of supplying in abundance the elements of nutrition. One bottle is of greater remedial value than ten bottles of any emulsion. Try it.

Speaks for Itself.

MESSRS T. MILBURN & Co., Toronto.

GENTS,—Please send us four, dozen Milburn's Cod Liver Oil Emulsion. We find it a genuine article. It knocks all others out in the first round. Several ladies here are [illegible] trying to have saved the conditions

In some conditions the gain from the use of Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil is rapid. For this reason we put up a 50c. size, which is enough for an ordinary cough or cold or useful as a trial for babies and children.

In other conditions gain must be slow, sometimes almost imperceptible, health can't be built up in a day. For this Scott's Emulsion must be taken as nourishment, food rather than medicine, food prepared for tired and weak digestions.

WAR AND THE MONROE DOCTRINE.

A Labor Preacher at Lynn, Mass., Scores Cleveland and Salisbury—Workingmen Suggest a Single-Handed Fight

Lynn, Mass., Jan. 6.—In the labor church here yesterday Rev. Herbert Casson preached on "War and the Monroe Doctrine." During his sermon he said: "Instead of exchanging Christmas gretings Cleveland and Salisbury have been squabbling like two newsboys over a marble. It is a ridiculous and immoral spectacle. Both nations have been disgraced by the hoodlum conduct of their rulers. The great mass of American people have no grudge against the great mass of English people and the war messages are only political fireworks to draw our eyes away from the incompetency and corruption of the present Government.

"While the hard times grow harder and the industrial war is slaying its tens of thousands every year Cleveland dares to threaten two great nations with war. Cleveland, the Judas of free trade, elected President under false pretences; that second Buchanan brought down to date in legal trickery and bluff; that lightweight in everything but fat. He fancies it would be a change to carry a gun instead of a bottle. He thinks blood is as cheap as beer. He wants to make bullets fly instead of corks. Imagine him at the head of an army in a steel boiler hait full of beer kegs to throw at the enemy dragged along on a six-wheeled wagon by 10 other fat oxen. Cleveland is like a 7-year-old kid in a gunshop, and the American people will not allow him to be fooling around the powder barrel. He is fast establishing a dictatorship and proving the need of direction legislation on all important matters. He may have been drunk when he wrote that message; Salisbury may have been drunk when he replied, and two such incapable fatheads are allowed to stir up strife between two peaceful nations."

At the conclusion of the sermon the congregation adopted the following resolution:

Resolved, that we, the workingmen of Lynn, are not interested in any agitation for war between the United States and England over the ownership of some South American state, and if President Cleveland and Lord Salisbury are, we recommend that they settle it by a personal fight to a finish.

Shrewdness of a wellknown City Merchant.

HE KNEW WHAT WAS GOOD FOR HIM.

In winter when Canadians spend a large portion of their time indoors and cannot have the same variety of fresh food as in summer and fall, indigestion and dyspepsia afflict a majority. "If anybody will tell me that dyspepsia in its advanced stages is perfectly curable," said a Toronto merchant, "I will take his word. Personally I run no risks. As soon as I feel a sense of weight in the stomach, after a meal, I know that my blood is sluggish in circulation. In my business I cannot take much exercise, and I fight the first sign of stomach troubles with Scott's Sarsaparilla. It has never failed me, and has saved me many a doctor's bill."

Scott's Sarsaparilla possesses medicinal properties superior to all other so-called sarsaparillas made. As a remedy for indigestion, rheumatism, pimples, scrofula and all blood diseases, physicians state that its equal was never known. Sold at $1 per bottle, of all dealers.

Crockery, China, etc., is our especial business, and to undersell all competitors is our set policy. China Hall, 360 George street.

Machinery Damaged.
A blister formed on one of the boilers at the Canadian General Electric Works yesterday afternoon, and in consequence about three-fourths of the hands have been laid off until Friday, by which time it is expected the damage will be repaired. Instead of closing up the works during the last two days in January for stocktaking, this work is now in progress and will continue to-day and to-morrow.

Off for China.
Mr. Geo. Shields, an out-going missionary to Thibet, northwest of China, will give a farewell address to-night at 8 p. m., in Bethany Mission, Water street. Mr. Shields is a young man of unusual promise. He is from Toronto, and has been under training at the Christian Alliance Institute, New York. His address will be particularly interesting, about that long-closed land to foreign enterprise and missions.

Death of Mr. Wm. McFadden.
Mr. M. Carton received word to-day of the death of Mr. Wm. McFadden in Buffalo. The deceased formerly lived in Peterborough and was a great worker in Methodist church circles, being also a local preacher. While in town he pursued the avocation of a photographer and had many friends in the district. The remains will be brought here for burial on Friday. Particulars concerning the funeral will be announced to-morrow.

A Handsome Recognition.
Mr. Edg. J. Hartley, has received from the Star Manufacturing Company, Halifax a present of a pair of beautiful club skates, nickel plated, and especially made with a view to fancy skating. This is a high tribute to Mr. Hartly's superior abilities as a fancy skater—the best in Canada except Rubenstien, of Montreal. The skates will be used shortly in exhibition at Lindsay and other towns, when they will doubtless "cut a good deal of ice." These skates are on exhibition at the Peterborough Hardware store.

School's In.
This morning troops of girls and boys could be seen tramping back to school again with their school bags on their backs in full marching order. Scholars will now be instructed what new school books they require to get since the promotion examinations. The Peterborough Bookstore is right in line with an unlimited stock of all the authorized school books and the newest and best school supplies. We will be pleased to supply scholars in the same liberal manner we have always done before. A. H. STRATTON & Co.

Tramps Still Around.
John and James Dillon, two tramps, were this morning sent up to the county gaol for six days by County Magistrate Edmison. The pair were captured by Detective Ross of the C.P.R., and charged with beating their way on a freight train into town. It seems the detective spotted the tramps in Havelock, and warned them to keep out of the yards. He then kept an eye on them and ascertained that they boarded a freight and made Peterborough, hence the charge. The pair stated that they were on their way from Montreal to Chicago, and had seven dollars between them.

FORTNIGHTLY CLUB.

Mr. Burnham's Paper Read Last Evening.

The regular meeting of the Fortnightly Club took place last evening in the rooms of the county council.

Mr. Burnham in his address, briefly summarized, said: The scientific zoologist or student of animal life groups animals into species, genera, families, orders and classes according to their similarities in structure and function, adding sometimes a name descriptive of distribution upon the surface of the earth. The study of fossil remains of extinct members of the animal kingdom discloses the fact that between many of the forms now distinctly separated there once existed intermediate or connecting forms. This apparent connection of the members of the animal kingdom together with Darwin's claim that breeding and conditions of existence produce new differences similar in kind to those already existing in the animal kingdom, induced many scientists to assert that all the members of this kingdom are related and derived from a common ancestor But not only are there many of the intermediate forms wanting and consequently many alleged relationships unestablished, but there are no tidings of the remote common original itself.

THE DARWINIAN THEORY,

therefore, though thought to be probable by some, is regarded as quite unestablished, and therefore quite unscientific, by others. The lowest forms of plant and animal life are quite indistinguishable in some cases, so far as appearance goes. The real distinction between plant and animal life lies in the kind of food required by each, and in the manner of its assimilation. Plants live upon inorganic compounds, as carbonic acid, water, etc. Through the agency of sunlight they assimulate this food. From this food they produce protoplasm, a thin transparent jelly-like substance, which acts upon the plant in somewhat the same way as blood upon the human body. Animals cannot live upon this kind of food, that is, upon the mineral food that plants live upon, but they can and do live upon plants, and upon animals that live upon plants. The animal requires organic food. Mr. Burnham also went into a detailed dissection of the structure of the polypi and of sea flowers, showing their wonderful

BEAUTY AND VARIETY.

He described the manner in which coral islands are built and gave some amusing descriptions of the life of the microscopic toilers of the sea. The forms of life described were chiefly of those creatures whose form and parts were quite invisible to the naked eye. Mr. Burnham had with him his microscope, under which a few specimens were examined. He said that, in his opinion, the Fortnightly Club could not do better than to purchase a really good instrument and go into the microscopical examination of the minute wonders of the animal kingdom. He also strongly advocated the extending of the club's sphere of usefulness. There were many in town who would welcome, he was confident, practical lectures, by competent people, on scientific subjects. He hoped to see the time when mechanics, artizans, lawyers, doctors and school teachers would have an opportunity of spending evenings together in practical investigations through microscope and telescope. A knowledge of theory was really not a necessity. Intelligence and opportunity are all that are needed for the appreciation of wonders as yet undreamt of by the vast majority. The meetings of such a club it would be a pleasure to attend.

A SAD CASE IN THE POLICE COURT.

A Little Boy Turned out in Cold as a Punishment—He was Very Thinly Clad.

The Children's Aid Society had a case in the Police Court, this morning, having laid information against the grandmother of a delicate little orphan lad, of about ten years of age, to the effect that on the 2nd of January, "having the custody of William Bawn, a boy under the age of fourteen years, wilfully exposed such boy in a manner likely to cause such boy serious injury to his health by compelling him to remain in the open air exposed to the inclemency of the weather, while insufficiently clad, contrary to the Children's Protective Act of Ontario."

The woman pleaded guilty to the charge and was dismissed by the magistrate with a warning, as the the prosecution admitted that, as far as they knew, she was not habitually cruel to the child.

The evidence of two witnesses was taken, to the effect that at about seven o'clock on the second of January, they heard some one crying out on the ice on Spaulding's Bay. On going out they found a little boy, very thinly clad, sobbing as if his heart was broken. On asking him what was the matter the little fellow stated that, as a punishment, his grandmother had sent him to stay out in the cold for an hour, and between his sobs inquired whether it was five minutes past seven yet? He was afraid of being beaten if he went home before the hour was up. The men, of course, at once took him to his home and arranged for him to remain there.

In commenting on the case the magistrate stated that it was an instance of most inhuman cruelty, as he understood that the poor little lad had been also deprived of his meals as punishment. The woman was dismissed with a grave warning, and it is hardly probable that cause for complaint will be again given.

CATHOLIC LITERARY ASSOCIATION.

An Entertainment Which was Largely Attended and Greatly Enjoyed.

The hall of the Catholic Association was crowded last evening by an eager and expectant audience, who have come to hear the debate on the question "Resolved that Napoleon was a greater general and statesman than Wellington." Nor were they doomed to disappointment, for the contest proved very interesting and at times amusing, while the accompanying programme, though short for want of time, was very entertaining indeed.

Miss Katie Simons opened the evening with a song entitled "Don't Run Down the Irish," which she sang by request and which was very well received.

Mr. Dan Simons danced the funniest of Irish jigs in excellent style, followed by an Irish reel that convulsed the audience with laughter. Dan is fairly considered the best clog dancer in town, and it is a treat to see his performance. Later in the evening he favoured the audience with a recitation entitled "Kelly's Dream," which as the Irishman said, was much like the dancing, only more so. We would advise Dan to eat no more lobster salad.

The debate occupied an hour and a half; the leaders having 25 minutes each, the seconds 15 minutes each and the affirmative 5 minutes for reply. Messrs. LaPlante and T. Mahony took the affirmative, Messrs. Bogan and T. Begley the negative.

Mr. LaPlante opened the debate with a prolonged eulogy of Bonaparte. He showed a broad and deep knowledge of his subject which he ably advocated presenting argument after argument, facts and figures in abundance, which he enlarged upon very effectively and drove home with considerable force, backing by eloquence and poetry in his enthusiastic defence of the great French Emperor.

He was followed by Mr. Bogan who did the same for Wellington, omitting the poetry; but absence of the poetic was atoned for by a caustic criticism of the previous speaker's remarks, all of which he assured the audience were totally erroneous.

The second speaker for the affirmative, Mr. T. Mahoney, then addressed the audience in a speech bristling with points and hard facts which were very logically arranged and did more to convince the thinking audience than much of the previous oratory.

Next followed Mr. T. Begley, with an able address in support of Wellington. Time was too short for all Mr. Begley had to say, but he succeeded in exposing many of what he deemed malignant and wilful misrepresentations on the part of the affirmative. He was sorry life was so short or he might have had a better opportunity of showing forth the vileness of these upholders of despotism.

Mr. LaPlante then rose to reply. He was even more oratorical than before, looking down in contempt from his exalted eminence upon his pigmy antagonists and by the power of his eloquence and epithets raising the temperature of his surroundings to a white heat.

When matters became cooler the chairman put the decision to a vote of the audience. The friends of the negative were in the majority and their enthusiasm ran high when Messrs. Bogan and Begley were pronounced the winners.

These gentlemen then issued a challenge to any society in Peterborough to debate within the next six weeks. The evening closed with God Save the Queen.

PREPARE FOR THE GENERAL ELECTIONS.

According to present conditions—with the Dominion Government rent in twain by internal dissensions, and Premier Bowell struggling in vain to find victims to fill the places of the bolted ministers, there is a possibility of a dissolution and of the general elections being precipitated upon the country at any moment. At any rate, the general elections must come within two or three months, and in view of these circumstances, it behooves the Liberals to be in readiness to meet them when they come. And they should be stimulated to activity from the fact that never before has the country been so ripe for good government. It has shown by the bye elections, which, as a rule, go with the Government, that it is tired of the reign of corruption, burdensome taxation, extravagance and incompetence that has lasted the past seventeen years. The Liberal policy commends itself to the needs of the country and the good sense of intelligent electors.

Accordingly, it is to be hoped that the Liberals of the West Riding will realize the situation and gauge their actions in accordance therewith. The Executive Committee of the Liberal Association is considering the matter, and it is probable that within the course of two or three weeks a convention will be called to deal with the matter of selecting a candidate to contest the representation of the West Riding. In the meantime the duty is thrown upon the members of the Liberal party, generally, of considering the question of a candidate and of attending the coming convention, prepared to submit names of eligible candidates from which the convention may be able to make a selection. With a strong candidate there is every hope that the Liberals will carry West Peterborough at the coming elections. The Liberal policy is sound and high in popular favour and the candidate required is one who will personally bring the greatest weight to the Liberal candidature—in effect, one who will poll the most votes. Let the matter of a candidate and thorough preparation for the contest engage the attention of West Peterborough Liberals in a practical manner. We must fight this; election and, with a strong candidate, we shall win. Let every Liberal put on his working harness and prepare for the fray.

Mr. Jacob Wilcox of St. Thomas, Ontario, is one of the best known men in that vicinity. He is now, he says, an old man, but Hood's Sarsaparilla has made him feel young again.

"About a year ago I had a very severe attack of the grip, which resulted in my not having a well day for several months afterwards. I was completely run down and my system was in a Terrible Condition.

I lost flesh and became depressed in spirits. Finally a friend who had been benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla advised me to try it and I did so. I continued taking it until I used twelve bottles and today I can honestly say Hood's Sarsaparilla has restored me to my former health." JACOB WILCOX, St. Thomas, Ontario.

DAILY MOTTO.

Wednesday, Jan. 8th.

The lost of time is the most hopeless and absolute loss we can sustain. Fortune may return after having taken her flight, but our hurried years can never come back to us from the grave. There is but one point at which time is entirely in our power and is submission to our will—that is at its beginnings.

Big sacrifice in goods at Grafton & Co.

The Fire Brigade.

The members of the Fire Brigade held their annual meeting last evening, the full report of which will appear in to-morrow's issue, having been crowded out of this evening's EXAMINER.

A Five Dollar Fine.

The two young men who were found by the Chief of Police assisting in dressing the bar in the Commercial house one Sunday morning recently were each assessed $5 this morning in the Police Court.

Do You Love Your Family?

"Of course" you say. Then use at the table upon every occasion, the celebrated Windsor Table Salt. Without compeer. Pure as the snow; uniform crystals; never cakes. Try it.

Piano Tuner.

Mr. George Gumpricht, as a first class piano tuner, is highly recommended by Messrs. Heintsman & Co., and all leading piano dealers. Orders may be left at Mr. H. S. Macdonald's drug store.

Dividend Declared.

Mr. R. R. Hall, assignee of the Peterborough Carbon and Porcelain Company, has declared a first and final dividend to the creditors of 18,6 cents on the dollar, payable after January 17th inst. The assets are $4,328.00, and the liabilities $27,220.61.

A False Report Corrected.

Mr. Wm. Yelland desires THE EXAMINER to say for him that the rumour that is being circulated that Mr. Bradburn refused him the use of the Opera House on Monday evening has no foundation in fact, on the contrary, Mr. Bradburn, he says, offered him the use of the building if he desired it.

Formal Reopening of the South Ward School.

On Friday afternoon next, at half-past two o'clock, an at home will be given at the South Ward Central school, when the new rooms will be formally opened. The work will go on in the classes as usual and ushers will be on duty to show parents and others, interested in Peterborough's school system, through the building.

Japanese Jugglery.

The third event in the Canadian Entertainment Bureau Star Course, the exhibition of Oriental jugglery and magic, was presented by Soto Sunetaro in the opera house last night. There was a fair audience, which was greatly amused and entertained by the programme of prestidigitation presented. There were a few original tricks very cleverly done, but many were familiar and transparent. On the whole the Japanese entertainer gave good satisfaction.

Don't Miss This Treat.

Read what an exchange says of Killarney and the Rhine, which appears at Bradburn's Opera House on Friday evening, January 10th: "Killarney and the Rhine" was produced here yesterday at the Opera House with great satisfaction, and will be continued during the week with the exception of to-night, when Patti, the divine, will appear. The singing in the musical comedy is excellent, all agreeing that it is away above the average." Prices, 25, 35 and 50c.

A New Year's Wedding.

The Port Hope Guide gives the following account of the wedding of a young couple who are well known in Peterboro and who spent the first few days after their marriage with friends in town. "Some sixty relatives and friends assemble at the residence of Mr. Wm. Uglow, of Morrish, the occasion being the marriage of his eldest daughter Elizabeth, to Edward R. Diamond, of Belleville. The bride looked handsome in a becoming costume of cream cashmere with silk and lace trimmings. The bride was assisted by her sister Mary, who was similarly attired. The bridegroom was supported by Mr. F. J. Farrel, student of Albert College, Belleville. Miss Bertha Hallowell played the wedding march. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Thom, after which a grand supper was served. The bride received many beautiful and costly presents, showing the high esteem in which she was held by her many friends. No doubt she will be greatly missed. The happy couple left for Peterborough amid showers of rice and good wishes for their future. They intend making their home in Madoc."

The Secret of Good Crops.

The modern farmer is not content to use the antiquated tools and methods of of his fathers. In this age of keen competition, the farmer who wishes to prosper, needs and gets the most improved farming implements; and by reading the best agricultural literature, he keeps in touch with the spirit of progress that pervades our farming communities. He is particular, also in regard to the kind of seed he plants and the manner of planting it. The seeds must be of highest fertility and grown from the highest cultivated and most profitable varieties of stock. The great seed firm of D. M. FERRY & Co., Windsor, Ont., fully appreciate this fact, as is attested by their progressive business methods and the quality of the seed which they supply farmers and gardeners through the dealers all over the country. The reliability and fertility of their seeds are proverbial and the largest seed business in the world has been created by their sale. In evidence of this firm's knowledge of the wants and requirements of planters, large and small, is Ferry's Seed Annual for 1896. This book is of the greatest value to farmers and gardeners—a veritable encyclopædia of planting and farming knowledge. It contains more useful and practical information than many text books that are sold for a dollar or more, yet it will be mailed free to any one sending his name and address on a postal card to the firm.

THE PROPERTY COMMITTEE

through its Chairman, Mr. Peter Hamilton, reported "that on the 6th the new rooms in the extension to the South Ward Central Schools were opened, and are, evidently, in every way, complete and satisfactory."

"We have under consideration the advisability of inviting the ratepayers, generally, to an opening, to interest them in the schools and show them the comfortable apartments which the Board of Education has provided with the money entrusted to them, and with that object in view would recommend that the Inspector arrange with the Principal of the South Ward Central School to have an "At Home" on Friday afternoon and invite all who wish to come, through the daily papers. We feel satisfied that good will result from giving the parents and citizens generally an object lesson in our Public Schools."

"As instructed by you, we had the outside sash procured for the lower windows in the Central School, seventeen windows at a cost of $14.

"Also, during the holidays, the room vacated by Miss Nicholls, in the Collegiate Institute, being wanted by the Principal for physics and science work required, close shutters on the windows to darken the room to enable them to use the reflector and magnifying glass, we had this done; six windows required shutters and one door, all to cost $26. These, we are informed by the Principal, was something very much required to complete our Institute in scientific work."

"We feel that we can congratulate the Board on the completion of the South Ward Central, and hope that the results will fully bear out our expectations."

Regarding the clause referring to the "At Home," Mr. Hamilton stated that he had seen the inspector respecting it, and Mr. Wherry had signified his willingness to co-operate in making it a success. Many of the citizens had expressed themselves in favour of the idea. On his motion, seconded by Mr. McBain, the report was adopted.

Mr. W. G. Ferguson, chairman of the Finance Committe, presented the estimates as follows:

A Song of the Season.

I love no rost but a nut browne toste
And a crab layde in the fyre;
A little bread shall do me stead—
Much bread I not desyre.
No froste nor snow, no winde, I trowe,
Can hurt mee if I wolde.
I am so wrapt and throwly lapt
Of jolly good ale and olde.

Back and syde go bare, go bare;
Both foote and hand, go colde;
But belly God send thee good ale inoughe,
Whether it be new or olde.

With sober cheerfulness the grandam eyes
Her offspring round her, all in health and peace,
And, thankful that she's spared to see this day
Return once more, breathes low a sacred prayer
That God would shed a blessing on their heads.

One Honest Man.

Dear Editor:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially I will mail in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell, and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. Perfect secrecy assured. Address with stamp:—Mr. Edward Lambert. P. O Box 55, Jarvis, Ont.

No Trouble to Answer Letters

Most people when meditating the purchase of a Piano feel more or less troubled in making a decision. The structure of a Piano is a thing they know so little of.

If you feel this way just write us a line and ask for information. It is no trouble at all to us. It is our business. We are experts of a quarter of a century's standing in the trade. Our stock is large. Our variety of styles is infinite, especially when you consider that we handle many other Canadian and American Pianos than those of our own make. Our prices are moderate, quality considered. Our terms are easy. Our Pianos are exceptional.

Again we say it is no trouble to answer letters, therefore write us and get full particulars.

When a baby comes to the house real happiness comes. Worry and work and care and anxiety count for nothing against the smoothly dainty, clinging touch of the little hands and the sound of the little voice. The highest function given to human beings is bringing healthy, happy children into the world. Nothing equals that—nothing compensates for the loss of it. The woman who has not borne a child has never come to the real fullness of womanhood. Over thirty years ago the needs of women appealed to Dr. Pierce, now chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. The result of his study improved by thirty years of practice is embodied in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It serves but one purpose. It strengthens, purifies and makes healthy the organs distinctly feminine. It gives weak women the strength and health necessary for the production of healthy children and it makes the bearing of those children easy. It is sure to cure any weakness or derangement peculiar to women; stops pain, soothes inflammation, strengthens, purifies, invigorates. Thousands of homes have been made happy by its use. Thousands of letters like this one from Mrs. W. P. CAIN, of Clinton, Allegheny Co., Pa., who writes: "I was affected with all sorts of female trouble. I tried three doctors, and seven kinds of patent medicine, and found no relief. My husband said 'try Dr. Pierce's medicine.' I told him I might as well throw his money in the fire as to try anything more. I had lost all hope. I had not taken more than half a bottle, when I could eat and sleep well. I took four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and several vials of his 'Pellets.' One year after I gave birth to a fine baby girl. I got along so much better than when my other child was born. Three of my friends are taking your medicines, and are improving." Yours truly.

Mrs. W. P. Cain.

AN EPISODE.

CHRISTMAS OF THE JOLLITY THEATER STOCK COMPANY.

[Copyright, 1894, by James L. Ford.]

Three weeks before the holidays, and the outlook for a merry Christmas was a gloomy one, at least so far as the members of the stock company of the Jollity theater were concerned. Salary day had come and gone, and as yet the ghost had shown no disposition to walk, and it was because of the nonappearance of that most welcome specter of stageland that the rumor had started and was rapidly gaining ground that Messrs. Hustle and Hardup, proprietors and managers of the Jollity theater, were "in a hole again."

The piece which occupied the boards had proved a flat failure, and receipts at the box office had fallen in consequence to a plane never before reached in the history of the house. Moreover, no new play had as yet been put in rehearsal, and an atmosphere of unmistakable gloom and apprehension pervaded the region behind the footlights and weighed heavily on the spirits of every one there, from Pearl Livingstone, the talented emotional actress who played the leading female parts, down to little Kitty Sullivan, who was only 7 years old and was in the depths of despair because for fully three weeks she had been out of the bill. In short, every member of the company was in a condition of mingled uncertainty and curiosity in regard to the future of the playhouse and the projects of its managers, who as yet had given no sign of their intentions and had, in fact, been invisible to the members of their artistic staff ever since the last day on which salaries became due.

On this particular night, which happened to be one of storm and rain, two or three of the principal actors had gathered together for a serious talk about the situation, when Tom, the programme boy, appeared suddenly before them in an almost breathless condition and exclaimed: "Mr. Freelance is back from Chicago. He's in the office with Mr. Hustle. They've got both doors locked."

"Mr. Freelance!" cried Miss Livingstone, her face lighting up with joy, precisely as it does in her scene in the second act where her lover comes back from India, or rather as it did light up in that scene before the business became so bad. "Are you sure it was Mr. Freelance, Tommy?"

"Sure!" rejoined Tom, with emphasis. "I seen him meself when he come in."

"Then, Tom, you be sure and see him when he comes out and tell him that I am particularly anxious to see him back here as soon as the curtain goes down on the second act. Here's a quarter for you, Tom, and you'd better keep it as a curiosity, for it's getting to be a very rare sort of bird in the Jollity theater preserves."

"Thank you, mum," said Tom as he pocketed the coin, with a grin.

"I fancy I see a gleam of light on the distant horizon," remarked the venerable Mr. Borders in a tone similar to that which he assumes in the great melodrama called "The Ocean Blue," in the scene in which he is discovered sitting on a raft in midocean on the lookout for a passing sail. "In the meantime," he added, "I think we had better wait and hear what Billy has to say before we take any further action in the matter."

Up to that moment they had taken no action whatever, but the phrase sounded well, and so Mr. Borders employed it.

Now, Mr. William Freelance, called by his intimates Billy, was and is today one of the best known figures in the theatrical affairs of the town, and, as every member of the stock company knew, he had on more than one previous occasion come to the rescue of his old friends, Messrs. Hustle and Hardup, and that, too, when they were in even more deplorable financial straits than they were at the present moment.

It was his reputation as a mascot fully as much as his remarkable talents which caused the whole avant scene to brighten up at the news of his presence in the theater, for playfolk are notoriously superstitious and have an unbounded and childlike faith in the efficacy of a [illegible] as well as in the destructive qualities of a "jonah."

Just as the curtain fell on the second act Mr. Freelance appeared behind the scenes and received the rapturous greetings of the company. Then Miss Livingstone took him by the arm, detached him from the little group which surrounded him, led him gently but firmly into her dressing room, placed him on her zinc trunk, and standing before him with folded arms said, "Billy, what's going to happen?"

"My dear," replied Mr. Freelance persuasively, "everything is all right, and I just left Hustle for five minutes to come back here and tell you so. We are going to put on a new piece, and there's a part in it that's simply great—out of sight, in fact. We are not quite sure who'll be cast for the part because it's a very heavy emotional one, and if we put a woman in it who didn't know how to read lines she would go all to pieces and the bottom would drop out of the whole play. I thought I'd speak to you about it because Hardup has caught a new 'angel' and said something to me about Kitty Bracebridge"—

"If that wolf puts her foot in this theater"—began Miss Livingstone, but Mr. Freelance interrupted her by placing his hand over her mouth and saying: "Wait for me after the curtain goes down, Pearl, and I'll talk to you about it. Shadrach's waiting in the office, and I've got to give him a 'jolly' so as to get the costumes out of him, but I'll be back here after the last act."

In spite of the storm outside and the dispiriting atmosphere within the performance given that night by the Jollity stock company was a notably brilliant one, for the news had spread that there was to be a speedy change of bill, and hope was once more in every member's breast. Mr. Freelance invited Miss Livingstone out to supper just as she was on the point of declaring that she would not go on again unless she received every cent of the back salary that was due her, and before they left the restaurant she had meekly agreed to study the great emotional role which had been intended for Miss Bracebridge and to say nothing more about back salary.

The next morning, in accordance with a call posted in the stage entrance, the company assembled to hear the new play read by the gifted Mr. Freelance, and such was that gentleman's elocutionary power that when he laid the manuscript aside expressions that ranged from mere satisfaction to rapturous enthusiasm were heard on every hand, and there was scarcely an actor or actress present that did not feel confident of a personal success in the new production.

The reading over, Mr. Freelance took Miss Livingstone, Mr. Borders and one or two other rebellious spirits aside, and, as he expressed it in a subsequent interview with Mr. Hustle, "stiffened their backbones" with the assurance that everything was all right and that the piece was to be done on Christmas eve in order that they might have a really merry Christmas on the prospects of its success. After that, he assured them, their back salaries would pour in upon them in a perfect avalanche.

As Mr. Freelance was leaving the theater he felt some one tugging at his coat, and on looking down saw little Kitty Sullivan standing beside him and saying, in earnest tones, and with a sad, wistful face, "Billy, isn't there any part for me in the new piece?"

The child called him by his first name because she had always heard him spoken to in that way by other members of the company, and Billy rather encouraged her in the idea because it sounded funny to him to hear himself addressed in such familiar terms by an infant of her size.

Kitty was a veritable child of the avant scene, and had been an actress from her very earliest infancy. She was now about 7 years of age, and was just beginning to comprehend the difference between the real things of life, such as houses, trees and streets, and the painted imitations of stageland. And yet it was only two years and a half ago that she beheld the ocean for the first time, and it is related of her that on that occasion she stood with Billy's hand tightly clasped in hers, watching the waves as they broke upon the beach, and finally turned to her companion and said in her serious way, "Bill, how do they work 'em?"

And now she was here beside her old friend, with her small, pathetic face upturned, and inquiring earnestly if there were a role for her in "The Giant's Causeway."

"See here, Kitty," exclaimed Mr. Freelance, touched by the child's grief, "I'll tell you what I'll do for you, and what's more, I wouldn't do it for any one else in the company. Are you listening?"

"Yes," said Kitty, turning her head around.

"Well, I'll write in a part specially for you, and that's something that an author like Sardou or myself rarely does for any one except a Bernhardt or a Duse. Now, run along and be here to-morrow at 11 for rehearsal."

The child darted away, wiping the last tear from her cheek as she ran, and Barney said approvingly, "That's the best deed you'll ever do in your life, Mr. Freelance, and, mark my words, the child'll bring good luck to the house."

How Billy succeeded in persuading the economical Hardup that the piece would prove a failure unless a child were introduced into it and how he contrived to write the part in for her that very night are matters that had A Camera's Lies.

Photographers, especially amateur photographers, will tell you that the camera cannot lie. This only proves that photographers, especially amateur photographers, can; for the dry plate can fib as badly as the canvas on occasion, and is actually more pernicious because of its undeserved reputation of veracity. Who would believe a ghost story on the uncorroborated evidence of a painter's picture? Yet a photograph of a house at Halesowen, taken a few day ago, included the likeness of the wealthy lady who vacated it six months back. As she vacated it for the churchyard, the plate appropriately enough exhibited her dressed in a shroud; and so convincing was this counterfeit presentment that a regular ghost scare broke out, and several women averred that they saw the dead lady at the window. On Saturday it was discovered that it was all due to some flaw in the photographic apparatus, just as in a very similar case at Ipswich some time ago. There the view represented a back water off the River Gipping, and in the water there was clearly outlined a drowned female figure—waist, bust, features, hair and all. They actually dragged the river to see what they could find, and found nothing. Curiously enough, a woman was really drowned at the very spot a few weeks later; so that Ipswich photography seems to be as previous as Halesowen is retrospective.—Pall Mall Gazette.

AN EPISODE.

best be left to conjecture, but the very next day Kitty received the typewritten copy of her lines, and rehearsals of "The Giant's Causeway" were carried forward under Mr. Freelance's direction with the energy and spirit that mark all of that gentleman's undertakings.

The opening night, Dec. 24, found the house well filled with an audience which made a favorable impression on the venerable Mr. Borders as he looked out through the peephole in the curtain, while behind the footlights feverish excitement and anticipation prevailed.

As for Kitty, she had become so wrought up over her role—the longest one she had ever been intrusted with—that she seemed in danger of losing her balance and forgetting every one of the lines that she had, by dint of study, crammed into her small head. She was standing in the first entrance with her hand clasped in that of Mr. Freelance, when her cue came, and as she walked out on the stage, the ideal of childish loveliness, a murmur of delight ran through every part of the crowded house.

'They're going to foreclose the mortgage on the old mill tomorrow night, and if that child lives I am a beggar," said the polished, cigarette smoking villain, and then a youngster in the parquet set up a pitiful howl of despair, which was followed by a general ripple of merriment that might have proved fatal to the piece had not Kitty gone on with her lines with the coolness and gravity of the born and experienced artist, which she was displaying there by a presence of mind which won for her, on her exit, the first real applause of the evening.

Kitty Sullivan was, as the eminent dramatic critic had observed, an old hand at the business, despite the fact that she was but 7 years of age, for she had been born and brought up on the stage and was as much at home in the presence of a great audience as an ordinary child is before a nursery. As the piece went on she realized that she was making a hit—a far greater one than she had ever made before—and, young as she was, she was enough of an artist to appreciate the importance of keeping a restraint on herself and not overdoing her role.

She was looking forward to a certain scene in the last act—a scene which she had rehearsed with much delight, and in which she firmly expected to make a great impression. Billy, who had been waiting with some anxiety for the same scene, came down and took a seat in a proscenium box, and as the child stood in the wings waiting for her cue she saw him smiling encouragement to her. The scene represented a barren, wave washed rock near the coast of Ireland, and on this rock was standing the virtuous heroine, just where she had been left by the villain. The lights grew dim, the moon arose from beyond the scene, and the Philadelphia quartet, stationed behind the scenes, warbled plaintive Irish melodies.

"Must I die here alone?" moaned the heroine as the tide rose higher and higher about the rock on which she stood and heavy clouds began to gather above her head. And just at this moment, a rowboat, propelled by childish arms, came swiftly around the rocky point at the left of the stage, and Kitty Sullivan, throwing aside the oars, stood up in the boat with her foot on the prow and exclaimed in a clear, infantile treble, "I have come to save you for the sake of old Ireland!"

Commonplace as it was, with its old, well worn melodramatic effects of soft music and moonlight, nevertheless the situation had taken a strong hold on the audience, and the sudden appearance of the sweet faced child, who had charmed every one during the earlier portions of the play, sent a thrill through the entire house, and there came such a been heard to remark half audibly, "The kid's knocked 'em good this time, sure, for a thing's got to be good if it gets me."

And as the audience dispersed that night it seemed to Mr. Freelance, as he stood alert and watchful in the lobby, that there was but one name on every tongue, and that Kitty's sweet face and infantile art had made their way into the very heart of an always fickle public.

"You were right about her, Billy," said Hardup.

"I told you the young one would bring us good luck," said old Barney at the stage door.

"The idea of making such a fuss over a 7-year-old brat! That shows what art is coming to in this country!" exclaimed Miss Livingstone as she swept through the drafty passage, leaving an odor of sealskin, tuberoses and sachet powder behind her.

The members of the stock company had their Christmas dinner in the wardrobe room between the matinee and the evening performance, Messrs. Hustle and Hardup footing the bill and Mr. Freelance presiding, with Miss Pearl Livingstone on his right hand and the venerable Mr. Borders on his left. And it is a matter of record that no toast offered that evening was drunk with heartier applause than was the one proposed by Mr. Freelance to Kitty Sullivan, "the mascot of the Jollity theater and the founder of this feast."

JAMES L. FORD.

Tom to Sue and Sue to Tom.

"Can you guess, my sweetheart," queried Tom of Sue,
'Can you fathom by love's art what I'll buy for you?"
Pretty Susan bowed her head, made a pretty frown,
Then in accents sweet she said, opening eyes of brown:
"Why, certainly not. But I'm dying to have Christmas eve come so that I can find out. I know it will be something frightfully expensive—something that will cost lots more than you can afford. You men are so reckless with your money!"
Poor Tom next day run in debt for a diamond pin.
And he hasn't paid up yet, for he's "shy of tin."

And he says that if he ever asks Sue such a question again it will be after he has arranged in advance for a year's board in the nearest insane asylum.

By the way, Sue gave Tom a piece of neckwear that cost 75 cents.

New Year Means Progress.

A new year, not simply another year. Many people may be said to live the same old year over and over again. Each succeeding year is the same unit added once more to the sum of life. There is the same task performed in the same spirit with the same motive; the same imperfections of character, the same failures of conduct. The times may change and progress hasten, but if we stand still, we live only the old year once again. A new year never comes to the contented ox; he simply grows old. It is not the lapse of time or the progress of civilization, but our progress, which makes possible to us a new year. —Josiah Strong.

For the Ensuing Year.

May the new year, just opening to us, be signaled in public and in private life by the growth of noble ideas—of ideas that shall make men freer, truer, better; that shall more and more reflect the incomparable teachings of the Holy Child whose nativity we have just celebrated, and whose spirit, imitated and obeyed, can redeem the time and crown mankind with blessedness.—Christian Work.

Birth of the Year.

How like a human birth the waking hour
Of the child year! The weak and querulous gale
Mid tears of rain doth lift a kindred wail.
Blankly the sun's eye stares; the air doth lower
Dense as a listless ear. Beneath a shower
Of snow from fallen those branches, white and frail
As newborn limbs, lie prone, with only power
Given to endure what wind soe'er prevail.
The baby lips that pout their hungering
Do not more wistfully the nurse invite
Than every spiral leaf bud yearns for spring.
And as the young blue eyes wax deep and bright
While the soul greatens, so the glowing light
Widens by morn and eve its azure ring.
—Philadelphia Times.

Rheumatism Runs Riot

When there is lactic acid in the blood, liniments and lotions will be of no permanent benefit. A cure can be accomplished only by neutralizing this acid and for this purpose Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best medicine because Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only true blood purifier prominently in the public eye.

Gold Production in 1895.

Washington, Jan. 6.—R. E. Preston, director of the mint, estimates the production of gold in the United States during 1895, at from $46,000,000 to $47,000,000, and of silver at 46,000,000 fine ounces.

COUNTERFEITS.

A few years ago a great discovery was made.

Unprincipled persons are trying to prey upon and dupe people who are led to ask for kidney treatment.

Some of the methods adopted by imitators are as follows:—

First:—To imitate the size, color and shape of Dodd's Kidney Pills and sell them by count.

Second:—To put them up to appear very nearly the same and to be offered at the same price.

Third;—To hook on the word "kidney" in naming catharatic pills so as to increase sales of mere physic.

Fourth;—To give a name so near to Dodd's that unwary people may be deceived and think they are getting Dodd's.

Look out for such dodges. When you want kidney medicine you want the best. And ought not to be the subject of any trick.

So beware.

INSPECTOR'S REPORT.

To the Chairman and Members of the Board of Education, Peterborough, Ontario:—

GENTLEMEN,—The past month in the schools has been a busy and anxious one, as the time has been occupied in the work of preparation for the promotion examinations, and the actual examination. Indeed so completely has this work occupied the time that there is little else upon which to base a report.

When conducted judiciously, these examinations are an important branch of the school work, their results furnishing the only means, by which we can test the outcome of the teaching. But in applying this test to the Peterborough schools, in the present instance we must, in fairness, take into account the shortness of the time for preparation, the newness, in some respects, of the course of study, and the greater difficulty of the questions when compared with former examinations. If all these are allowed due weight, I am sure the results point to a very satisfactory condition of the schools, generally, though in a few rooms a marked weakness in the character of the teaching has been manifested. The results are shown on the accompanying sheet, arranged for easy comparison. An examination register is also kept in which the standing of each pupil is entered for future reference. Besides being valuable in this way, the record thus kept will furnish a sure means by which the work of the various teachers may be compared and judged; for though the results of a single examination may not be a fair test of a teacher's efficiency, still repeated failures point clearly to inefficiency. As will be seen from the accompanying statement, 393, or 33 per cent. of the pupils have been promoted—by no means a bad showing.

The attendance during the month has been much better than for any previous one, though the record throughout the term has been unsatisfactory. In my experience since here, I have never known the average to rise to 90 per cent. in the Peterborough schools it has been below this, ever since August. [illegible] strangers for all the [illegible]

95 per cent., and in some rooms even 97 per cent. was reached.

As anticipated in my last report, the opening of the new rooms in the South Central school made a redistribution of the pupils necessary. Owing to the promotions, a few additional changes were required. These changes are now, I believe, completed and the pupils fairly distributed among the various divisions.

In compliance with the wishes of the Board of Education, I have made a few changes by way of a reorganization of the staff. The new arrangement has already been published. In every instance I have been guided by what I believe is the best interests of the schools, and I look confidently for marked improvement to follow in consequence.

In conclusion, I would beg to add that I believe the schools are now in excellent condition. The buildings are well equipped and comfortable, the classes well organized, and the staff of teachers, as a whole, an excellent one.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

ALEX. WHERRY,
Inspector of Public School.

Referred to the Committee on Supervision.

It was resolved on motion of W. H. Hill and Dr. Caldwell, that the Head Master of the South Ward Central School be placed under the schedule of salaries applicable to Head Master of the Central School from the first inst., inasmuch as the work is now co-ordinate and equal, the minimum salary of course to apply.

The Board then adjourned.

NORWOOD NEWS NOTES.

(From Our Own Correspondent.

Mrs. Lennox, of Toronto, and Mrs. Duncan, of Barrie, were guests at the home of J. McMillan, Esq., this week.

J. McCracken was in town this week.

Miss C. Coon, who attended Model here last fall, has been engaged as teacher at Oak Lake.

Miss N. Murdock has gone to her home for her holidays.

Mrs. Hall was removed to the hospital last week.

W. Merritt, of Smithville, has returned here to attend the High School.

Mr. H. Bewell, formerly of Winnipeg, but now teaching in the Collegiate Institute at Lindsay, was in town this week renewing old acquaintances.

On New Year's day one of Norwood's most popular young ladies, Miss Christina Cameron, was married to the Rev. Albert Mahaffy, B.A., pastor of the Presbyterian church at Milton. The ceremony took place in the Presbyterian church, Rev. J. F. Sommerville officiating. The bride was attired in a neat travelling dress of grey ladies' cloth, trimmed with velvet. She was attended by Miss R. Anderson, of Toronto, who was also dressed in grey. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Fred. Mahaffy, of Toronto University. A. J. Raddon, of Toronto University, and G. Rose, of Queen's College, Kingston, acted as ushers. A large number of people were present to witness the happy event. After the ceremony a reception was held in the basement of the church, where a large number of the friends of the bride extended their congratulations and best wishes to the newly-married couple. After the reception a dainty repast was partaken of at the home of the bride's mother. The guests included only the intimate friends of the contracting parties. Mr. and Mrs. Mahaffy left on the 4 p.m. train for Toronto, where they were the guests of Rev. Mr. Morrison. On Friday they proceeded to Strabane, where they visited the Rev. Mr. Cameron and family. On Thursday they proceeded to their home in Milton. The presents were rich and beautiful, many being received from a distance—a number of pretty ones were from the bride's classmates at the Presbyterian Ladies' College, Toronto.

Mr. E. Gallagher, who attended the Model here last fall, has been engaged as teacher at Burnley.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Niebel spent New Years in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jackson of Lindsay, spent a few days with Mrs. Stinson, the latter's mother.

J. P. Day, who is attending the Owen Sound Collegiate Institute, was the guest of Chas. Munn, during the Xmas vacation.

Miss Maggie Hall, from the vicinity of Peterborough, was visiting her uncle, W. C. Harrison, last week.

Miss Sarah Paget of Toronto spent a few days with her mother this week.

Mrs. Richard Lees of St. Thomas, was visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Waters, last week.

Philip Rahal of Buffalo, was visiting his brother last week,

Miss Lucy Coffee of Tyendinaga, was visiting Miss Nora O'Reilly last week.

W. Whyte, who is attending Wycliffe College, Toronto, was home for New Year's.

Mrs. A. Munn, is spending her holidays at Erin and Hillsburgh.

The Jubilee Anniversary of the Methodist church here will be held next Sunday. A number of excellent speakers have been secured for the occasion. On Monday evening a public meeting will be held in which a history of the circuit will be read by Dr. Ford, and music will be rendered by the choir, and numerous speeches given.

W. Kidd of Warsaw was in town on Friday. He has been engaged as teacher in Williamsford.

J. Crow was in town Friday.

Miss Weir was visiting friends in town this week.

The High School has opened with a pretty fair attendance.

Miss E. Christie of Peterborough, was in town this week.

Misses A. and S. Cameron and E. Brown of Peterborough, were guests of Miss Roxburgh last week week.

Last Thursday evening a number of the prominent men of the village met for the purpose of organizing a curling club. The following officers were elected:

Patron—P. W. Reynolds, Esq.
Patroness—Mrs. P. W. Reynolds.
President—A. R. Anderson.
Vice-president—F. W. Ashe.
Secretary—J. C. Moffatt, M.D.
Treasurer—J. G. Keefer.
Executive Committee—W. E. Roxburg, Esq., H. S. Buck, Esq., James Cumming, Esq.

Last Friday evening one of the greatest of Norwood's pleasure organizations (the Norwood Canoe and Cruising Club) held their annual at home at Cessnock. The Canoe Club was first organized in 1891 with a membership of eight and has grown steadily since then, and on Friday evening there were fifty enthusiastic members present. Each member wore a symbol by which some incident in camp would be recalled. From the bursts of laughter which could be heard all through the company, it could be judged that most of these tended to be humorous. After an hour or so spent in travelling from one to another and making out the representations, games were commenced. After this each guest received one half of a card on which was written one half of a camp expression or joke. It was the duty of the gentleman to find the fair lady who had the other half of his card and forthwith take her into supper. After supper an impromptu programme was rendered, A. J. Raddon, the commodore for 1895, acting as chairman. Speeches were given by all the honorary presidents and a number of the camping choruses sung. Solos were sung by Miss Sophy Cameron, of Peterborough, and Mr. Frank Pearce, of Toronto. Among the guests from a distance were Miss M. and Mr. Frank Pearce, Toronto; Miss Anderson, Toronto; Miss E. Christie, Miss F. Perrin, Miss Truen, Misses A. and S. Cameron, and Miss E. G. Brown, of Peterborough; Miss L. and J. and Mr. Walt Fowlds, Hastings, Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Berry, of Hastings; Mr. H. Beevell, formerly of Winnipeg. During the evening it was suggested by W. E. Roxburg, that next summer they have a reunion in the shape of an excursion up the lakes. He said he would promise to entertain them at [illegible] and give them all they could [illegible] drink. With the strains of "Auld Lang Syne" still ringing in their ears the [illegible] dispersed, looking forward to their [illegible] this summer.

The officers for 1896 are:
Hon. Pres.—J. McMillan, Esq.
Commodore—W. A. Eaton.
Vice Commodore—D. H. Booth.
Secretary—F. R. Rutherford.
Purser—W. R. Cameron.
Steward—C. P. Pearce.

A gentleman of the west who has been in correspondence with the village clerk in regard to a foundry was in town last week. After a half hour's consultation with the council and some of the prominent business men, he proceeded to look up temporary premises and a situation for the new buildings. The necessary funds needed for securing the premises and erecting the buildings was erecting the buildings was secured in less than two hours by twenty of our business men subscribing $2,000. Mr. McCrae, who is to carry on the business, brings references from some of the leading foundrymen of the west. He is a skilled mechanic and has built several saw mill outfits, portable, maine and stationery engines, dredges, etc., everything except the moulding being done by himself.

Mr. Stevens, the Globe representative, was in town last Thursday.

WESTERN ONTARIO DAIRYMEN.

The Nineteenth Annual Convention Opened in Woodstock—Cheese Making Discussed.

Woodstock, Ont., Jan. 7.—The nineteenth annual convention of the Dairymen's Association of Western Ontario opened at the Opera House here this afternoon. There are a large number of delegates in attendance. Among those present are: Hon. Theo. Louis of Louisville, Wis.; Hon. John Gould of Aurora, Ohio, besides all the Ontario dairymen.

President Andrew Pattullo of the Woodstock Sentinel-Review occupied the chair at the opening session this afternoon.

The report of the directors and the secretary's report were presented by J. W. Wheaton, secretary-treasurer. The former report was adopted on motion of Messrs. Jacques and Leech. A discussion followed the secretary's report in which John Blaney of Lynedoch and others took part. The president then delivered his annual address. It was an able and exhaustive review of the year's cheese trade, its failures, their causes and proposed remedies. The unprofitable year was caused by over production. The remedies proposed were a cultivation of the home market and improved quality, which should be obtained by use of improved machinery, grouping of factories for more efficient inspection and instruction, and preventing the carrying of whey in the milk cans. Decrease in the cost of manufacture should also be aimed at. This might be aided by decreasing the cost of hauling by the improvement of the roads.

John S. Pearce of London read an interesting paper on "Cheese Markets and Best Methods of Operating Them." He condemned the present system of call boards, which had deteriorated into nothing but a farce. The salesmen were largely to blame in not boarding their cheese and selling when boarded. If the grouping system were followed and uniform quality of cheese manufactured one buyer could represent any number of factories and better prices could be obtained.

A spirited discussion followed.

This evening addresses were delivered by Hon. John Gould, Hon. Theo. Louis, Hon. Thomas Ballantyne and others.

Moncton, N. B. — Westmoreland County on Monday sustained the Scott Act by 399 majority.

Fragrant as the Flowers.

Is the new and delightful tooth preparation "Ivorine." Foaming Ivorine is charmingly pleasant to use—a perfect delight to the senses and possesses in a marvellous way the rendering of the teeth white and brilliant. Ivorine hardens the gums, prevents decay, and imparts to the breath a delightful fragrance.

STRAIGHT FIGHT IN HURON.

Mr D. C. Cameron and Mr D. Weismiller the Only Candidates.

Goderich, Jan. 7.—The tottering Government at Ottawa is on trial in West Huron, and so shattered is the confidence in them and thir Administration that their own candidate, specially designated by themselves, and imported from another riding, is all at sea with reference to his stand on any question. All that he will say is that he is a Conservative, but it is only within the last two years that he has had the courage to make even this statement. His opponent, and the opponent of the Ottawa factionists is Mr. M. C. Cameron, the sturdy champion of Liberalism both in Parliament and out of the House for over 30 years, and his cordial reception by the electors at the nomination to-day is an evidence of the appreciation in which he is held by the lovers of good government. The nomination proceedings were held in the Court House, with Mr. Joseph Beck as returning officer. When the hour for receiving nominations closed, Mr. Beck announced that two candidates had been nominated—Mr. M. C. Cameron and Mr. David Weismiller. Another nomination paper, he said, had been received, but some formality was wanting, and Mr. R. C. Newman, upon whose behalf these papers were filed, could not be a candidate, there were, therefore, but two candidates nominated. The date upon Mr. Newman's affidavit was omitted, and this was considered faulty. When the formal proceedings were concluded, a public meeting was organized, with Mayor R. Holmes of Clinton in the chair.

Mr. Cameron made a telling speech and was followed by Mr. McLellan of St. Catharines. Mr. Weismiller and Mr. Frank Pedley of Toronto.

Catarrh can be successfully treated only by purifying the blood, and the one true blood purifier is Hood's Sarsaparilla.

400 Acre Farm FOR SALE.

IN SNOWDEN.

I WILL SELL AT A BARGAIN A 400 acre Farm in the Township of Snowden—very convenient—about half a lot from the Village of Gelert and Gelert Station. The property consists of lots 16, 17, 18, 19, in the 11th Con less a strip of Lots 17, 18 and 19, through which runs the Victoria branch, of the Grand Trunk Railway. There are cleared on lot 16, 20 acres; on lot 17, 60 acres; on lot 18, 20 acres, and on lot 19, 25 acres, balance good hardwood bush and well timbered. Log House. Log Barn. The property is well watered by a branch of the Burnt River and would make an excellent farm for stock and grain and the Timber being convenient to the station can be sold at a good price or shipped as purchaser desires, and in the most profitable manner. It is close to school and church.

At a recent examination it is estimated that there are upon the four lots the following quantities of wood, etc.:—300 cords maple wood; 200 cords birch wood; 300 cords hemlock, balsam and soft wood; 2000 cedar ties; 2050 cedar posts; about 200 acres good farming land; 100 acres good pasture land. It is one of the best farms in the country for stock raising, pasture being always good.

Will sell to a good man on reasonable terms Apply to ANOTHER DAY.

The Expected Statement in the House Put Off.

NO CHANGE IN THE SITUATION.

Mr. Laurier's Rantering Remarks in Reply to Sir Adolphe Caron. Dr. Montague, Mr. Clarke Wallace and Sir Adolphe Caron on the Letters.

Ottawa, Jan. 8.—In the House of Commons this afternoon, Mr. Laurier and Mr. Tarte introduced Mr. Napoleon Charbonneau, the new member for Jacques Cartier, after which business was proceeded with.

Sir Adolphe Caron, rising, said: Before the orders of the day are called, I take it that the House will expect some information in relation to the announcement which I made yesterday. I then had the honor of asking the House to consent to an adjournment for ten days. It was refused, and I had to give notice of motion, and that motion will come up to-morrow. I am not in a position to-day to say anything more to the House than I said yesterday, except that the Prime Minister is now with His Excellency, and of course I can make no further announcement. I would again ask the House if the motion which I made yesterday can be agreed to, and, if not, it will of course come up in the regular order to-morrow. I move that the House do now adjourn.

Mr. Laurier: I am sure that Sir Adolphe Caron remembers that yesterday he stated that at the next sitting of the House—that is the way he put it—he expected to be in a position to declare the course which the Government intended to take under existing circumstances.

Sir Adolphe Caron: My expectations have been disappointed.

Mr. Laurier: Yes, and in more ways than one, perhaps. Under such circumstances the hon. gentleman will not find it extraordinary if again I cannot agree to an adjournment for ten days. He will see that it is most reasonable that we should not separate, at all events for such a length of time, until we have been informed of the intentions of the Government in reference to the present state of affairs. The hon. genleman tells us to-day that the Prime Minister is in consultation with His Excellency. That being the case, we cannot press for more information, but will expect it to-morrow.

Mr. Mills called attention to the unprecedented situation of affairs, and severely criticized the statement of the ex-Minister of Finance that the crisis was caused by a want of confidence in the personal ability of the Prime Minister. He pointed out the absurdity of the ex-members of the Government, who were really more responsible for public business than the Premier, who said in another place, pretending that it was the personality of the Premier which had caused he present trouble. The defence put up by the late Minister of Finance for the killing of the Government was that they had taken office for better or for worse, and had found it much worse than they took it for. If there is dissatisfaction in the country, it is not the Prime Minister alone who is responsible, but rather the Minister of Finance himself. Although a Government appointment was promised to the member for Cardwell, the Administration were afraid that the tail of the Government coat might be walked upon by the honorable member for North Simcoe. Mr. Mills took up the ex-Finance Minister's statement item by item, showing where inconsistency came in. The statement presented by the bolters yesterday to the House seemed to him more like a conspiracy.

Mr. Wallace: Before the motion is declared carried I wish to make this statement: Yesterday two hon. members of this House informed me that they had learned from the hon. member for Haldimand (Dr. Montague) that I was responsible for the anonymous letters alleged to have been written by the hon. member himself. I have to deny absolutely the truth of the charge of the hon. member for Haldimand, and to say that I did not write said anonymous letter or letters or inspire the writing of those letters, and I did not know that any such letter or letters were in existence for many months after they were received.

Dr. Montague: I think, though, this is a matter upon which my lips as a recent member of the Privy Council ought to be sealed in this House at the present time, I cannot allow the statement made by the member for West York (Mr. Wallace) to pass without saying a few words to this House. In doing so I trust that I shall not be break any rule of courtesy or decency which should be observed as between a member of the Privy Council of Canada and the other members of that Privy Council and the representative of the Sovereign in this country. First, let me say, three days ago, I think, an insinuation was made to me that I was guilty or that I was charged by an hon. gentleman who belonged to the Privy Council with having written certain anonymous letters in relation to [illegible] matter in the Province of Ontario. I denied that, being absolutely innocent of the charge, I demanded at the very moment the insinuation was made that that statement should be sent to His Excellency, to whom, as a member of his Privy Council, I was responsible for honorable, manly and above-board conduct. Those charges made by a member of the Privy Council had been concealed, I understand, in a drawer for two or three months, and then, at an important juncture they were thrown at me without a moment's notice, and I acted as I have stated to you this afternoon. That matter, as it concerns my honor as a Privy Councillor of Canada, is before His Excellency, and I do not intend, in accordance with the rules of decency and of courtesy to him, to discuss the subject this afternoon, more than to say this, that no baser lie was ever told of a public man in Canada, and it was part of a foul and dirty conspiracy to ruin an hon. member of this House and a member of the Government of Canada. I am bound to say, however, that since the hon. gentleman has stated this afternoon that he did not write those letters, I am prepared to accept that statement. I never said that the member for West York wrote the letters. What I did say was that the Postmaster-General consulted the member for West York; that the member for West York hawked those letters around the city of Toronto, to Dr. Beattie Nesbitt, to Mr. Richard Armstrong and to men who had nothing to do with members of Parliament or with members of the Government of Canada.

Mr. Wallace: That is utterly untrue.

Dr. Montague: And that he charged me with writing those letters. I have only to say this, that when the whole subject is investigated, as it will be investigated in a court of law, then the hon. member for West York will have an opportunity of proving his innocence of the charge which I then made. I am here to say to this House that the charges made against me, humiliating and annoying as they are, are as false as it is possible to make them; and I am here to say also that with regard to any member of this Government, or with regard to any member of this House, since I have had the honor of a seat here, I have never yet committed an act that could not bear the light of day, or that would not do me honor. (Cheers.)

Sid Adolphe Caron: The reason given by the hon. member for Haldimand (Dr. Montague) for not entering into a discussion of this subject at the present moment seems to be absolutely conclusive. If, as is quite true, the matter is in the hands of His Excellency, it seems to me it would be unbecoming to enter into a discussion of subject, and unless one can enter into the discussion of that subject, it is impossible to make any statement. I am, however, prepared to say this, that as soon as the matter came to my cognizance in the press, I stated, as I now state to you, Mr. Speaker, and to the House, that directly or indirectly I had nothing whatever to do with authorizing the publication of a matter which I consider a personal between the hon. gentleman and myself. Not only had I nothing to do with this publication, but when I saw the statement in the paper, I found that it was made by one who knew nothing about the case or very little about the details. I found inaccuracies in that which, knowing the matter as I did, proved to me that it was based upon reports and was not made with full possession of the facts. I am prepared to say that in so far as the denial from the hon. gentleman goes, it is my duty, and I say so here before the House, to accept that denial. As to the statement that reports have been circulated for one object or another, that those letters were hawked about Toronto, I can tell the hon. gentlemen that those leters have always been in my possession, and have not left my possession unless I knew where they were going under my own positive instructions by reliable persons to reliable people who were investigating the matter. That is the only statement which I consider it proper to make at present.

I would not have said one word on the situation were it not for the fact that an old personal friend of mine (not a political friend) has been assailed in the house of his friends in a manner which constrains me to say a few words in his defence. I cannot but feel, as an independent member of this House, that the Premier of this country has been assailed in a manner which very few would have expected to witness. If he had not been stabbed in the back, he has been, in the words of a late governor-general of this country, struck below the belt at least. It was my good fortune when I first became a member of this House, 25 years ago or thereabouts, to find as one of its members the present Premier. Although we were not at one in regard to all of our political views, we saw alike in respect of many of them. I received at his hands many personal kindnesses. I was indebted to him for obtaining a seat near himself, which relieved me from occupying a seat that in the then construction of the chamber would have proved very detrimental to my health. I did not forget his kindness because of that fact, and because it afforded me the opportunity of cultivating a friendship and personal relations which have continued to exist till this day. I was then led to form a high opinion, an opinion which I entertain still, of the force of character, of the clearheadedness, of the sound common sense possessed by the Premier. And the revelations which have been made to us to-day, and which were made to us yesterday, have constrained me to believe that he has displayed signal evidence of ability in one respect at least—that he has succeeded as head of the Administration in preventing certain members of it from flying at each others' throats. What may be the outcome of the present embroglio it is impossible for me to say. I do not know whether or not the Premier will be enabled to reorganize his Administration, and it may be within a few days in the power of those who have been instrumental in procuring his overthrow to exclaim with some men in the past, "Le roi est mort; vive le roi." They may perhaps become Ministers in a new Administration, but if that be the case, of this I am convinced, that if the hon. gentleman becomes again simply a private member of this House, I trust that years of usefulness will be spared to him. In those years of usefulness as a public man, I have no doubt he will continue to display those qualities of head and heart which during 25 years or more have distinguished him as a public man, whether as a private member of this House, as the head of an important department of the Government, or as First Minister of the Crown."

After some remarks from Mr. Casey, Mr. Laurier said: Before this motion is put, perhaps the hon. gentleman who leads the Government will permit me to ask him for [illegible] the Government business. I understand that at the present moment what is left of the Government is fast depleting this House by distributing among its members, Senatorships, collectorships and other offices. I understand that since yesterday no less than four or five members of this House, perhaps more, have been appointed to divers offices. I would like to have some explanation as to that.

Sir Adolphe Caron: I cannot give the hon. gentleman the information he requires just now, but I think that by to-morrow I would give it to him.

Cries of "Oh, oh," and Opposition laughter.

Sir Adolphe Caron: Well, to the hon. gentlemen opposite it may seem very funny, but it is very serious. Supposing those appointments have been made, the papers may not have returned yet from His Excellency, and I think I am right in saying that I will take the first opportunity that I can properly do so in giving my hon. friend the information he asks.

Mr. Laurier: Then I understand that my hon. friend suggests that His Excellency may think it advisable not to carry out the wishes of his council. (Oh, oh!) That is quite proper, and a very good point for His Excellency to consider. In his wisdom perhaps my hon. friend is right, because I understand there are a hundred or more offices to be distributed, and he cannot remember them all and may have to refresh his memory on that point.

Sir Adolphe Caron: I wish to correct my hon. friend on one point. Supposing the orders-in-council making those appointments have passed, they must go to the Governor-General to be signed. Would it be proper for me to give any information until I know whether they have returned from Government House, and whether they have been signed or not signed? Now, with regard to the hundred appointments, I have no manner of doubt that my hon. friend is just speaking from rumors.

Mr. Laurier: Nothing else.

Sir Adolphe Caron: Well, it is very unsafe to put a question upon rumors.

Mr. Laurier: It is not safe to depend on rumors and that is why I want a positive answer.

Mr. Edgar: There is another rumor which the hon. leader of the House will answer or not, as he thinks proper. The latest rumor is that the Prime Minister has ordered the High Commissioner to go back to London and attend to his own business. (Laughter.)

Sir Adolphe Caron: That is merely a rumor.

The motion was agreed to, and the House adjourned at 4.20 p.m.

TUPPER.

The Conspiracy on the Eve of Success—All the Ministers in the Movement.

Ottawa, Jan. 8.—It looks very much as though to-night Tupper, senior, has his foot in the stirrup and that to-morrow he will be seated in the saddle. There is less doubt than at any time since the crisis commenced that the mutineers command the situation. Sir Mackenzie Bowell, after packing up his traps in the Privy Council, and putting through many death-bed appointments drove to Rideau Hall at 4 o'clock and had a long interview with the Governor-General. The result cannot be stated officially to-night, but the general impression is that Sir Mackenzie Bowell has given in. He is to be rewarded, it is said, by being appointed Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, the present Governor, Mr. Kirkpatrick, entering the new Government. There is only one man named as the head of the new Ministry—Sir Charles Tupper. He will resign the office of High Commissioner, and Sir Hibbert Tupper will not be in the new Cabinet. Too much Tupper is to be avoided, as the country is pretty well convinced that there is already a surfeit of that commodity in the public pay. Of course, as far as can be ascertained to-night, Sir Mackenzie Bowell is still Premier, but he is helpless. When the strikers struck they knew the blow was fatal.

It has become quite evident that every member of Sir Mackenzie Bowell's Ministry was in the conspiracy to depose him, and there is every evidnce that they have acted in harmony from the beginning. They arranged between them that one-half should go out and one-half remain in, because if they had all gone out the Premier might have been in a better position to begin anew. The men who remained inside have been in constant communication with the men who are outside, and it was very clear on the face of things that they were on the most friendly and confidential terms. In the House it was evident there was no antagonism between them. They all decided to throw over the Premier, and a part was assigned to each of the two wings, and they have been acting in concert ever since. With the exception probably of Sir Frank Smith, they are all deceiving the public and playing a deep game for the rewards of office. How any intelligent elector who reads the events of the past week in Ottawa could repose any confidence in any of the men concerned in this shuffle is incomprehensible. Yet so desperate are they that they actually believe that Sir Charles Tupper, the High Commissioner, is such a conjurer that he can induce the people to vote confidence in the crowd at his back. The sober opinion amongst thoughtful men here is that Sir Charles Tupper cannot construct a Government that will do any better in the elections than Sir Mackenzie Bowell would have done.

In connection wit the present complicated situation, it is said that His Excellency is preserving a strict neutrality, and will of course act only in accordance with constitutional usage and precedents.

Sir John Carling has refused the offer of a Senatorship. While fully appreciating Sir Mackenzie's kindness on tendering it to him, he does not consider it fair to the people of London to put them to the expense of two elections within six months.

It is stated to-day that at to-day's meeting of the Cabinet the following appointments were made: Alec. McKay, M.P. for Hamilton, to be inspector of customs.

David Boyle M.P. for Monck, to be a Senator for Ontario.

J. W. Bain, M.P. for Soulanges, to be postoffice inspector for the Montreal division.

Nathaniel White to be a Senator for the Province of Nova Scotia.

The new Senators are members of the House of Commons, whose constituencies will no longer exist under the last redistribution bill.

SABBATH SCHOOL ENTERTAINMENT.

The annual entertainment of the Baptist Sabbath School was held on Tuesday, New Year's eve., and was a decided success. Quite a number were present and thoroughly enjoyed the programme, which was presented by the children of the school. The church was nicely decorated for the occasion.

The funeral of the late James Freeburn (the account of his sad and untimely end, on New Year's day, having appeared in these columns,) took place on Thursday afternoon to the Lakefield cemetery, and was held under the auspices of Buckhorn lodge of True Blues, of which the deceased was a member. The local lodges of True Blues and Orangemen turned out in large numbers. The Lakefield Band headed the funeral cortege, playing the Dead March in Saul.

A great many of the ladies of the village deplore the loss of their house plants on Sunday and Monday nights, owing to the severity of the weather. The thermometer here on Monday registered 25 below zero.

This being the week of prayer, meetings have been held as follows:—On Monday evening, in the Methodist church, addressed by Rev. A. R. McDonald. On Tuesday evening, in the Baptist church, addressed by Rev. W. Limbert. On Wednesday evening, in the Presbyterian church, addressed by Rev. A. R. McDonald. And to-night (Thursday) in the Methodist church, to be addressed by Rev. A. C. Reeves. Friday night being left for the Christian Endeavour Societies.

There was no election held this year, Mr. G. A. Strickland resigning as Reeve, and Messrs. Hilliard. Burgess, Eastland and Simpson resigning as Councillors, leaving our Council as follows, for 1896, and elected by acclamation:—Reeve—W. H. Casement. Councillors—John Hull, J. F. Lillicrap, F. J. Moore and R H. Braden.

A meeting of the Farmers' Institute will be held on Wednesday—forenoon, afternoon and evening—of next week, at which addresses will be delivered by Prof. Shuttleworth, and Messrs. Petlit, Payne, McEwing and others.

CHRISTMAS ENTERTAINMENT.

The Church of England held their annual Christmas tree and entertainment on Monday evening of this week, in the old church, for the Sunday school. There was a good attendance of young and old, and a very pleasant evening was spent. Santa Claus appeared in person and distributed the gifts off the tree in such a pleasant manner as caused considerable merriment to the children. A number of prizes were also distributed to those who answered the Bible questions most efficiently during the year.

MILLBROOK.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

A rather interesting case came up before Magistrate Thomas Gilliott on Monday evening, the complainant being James Bullied, of the Fraserville hotel, and the defendant being John Irwin, also of Fraserville. Irwin was charged with coming into the hotel and trying to raise disturbance and, on being put out, of throwing a stone through the window, breaking a large mirror in the bar and doing other damage. He was also charged with threatening to "roast" Bullied, assumed to mean that he would burn down his buildings. Mr. A. A. Smith appeared for the complainant, while the prisoner conducted his own defence. The prisoner did not deny throwing the stone through the window, but claimed he was under the influence of liquor, and to back up this he swore he had between twenty-five and fifty glasses of whisky between nine o'clock and twelve. He also swore that he used no abusive language toward the proprietor of the house, and that it was Bullied who committed the offence. James Daniels and Arch. Reynolds swore that Irwin was sober when he caused the disturbance, and that they heard him tell Bullied that he would "roast" him.

The magistrate imposed a fine of six dollars for damages to property, seven dollars costs, and required him to furnish bonds to keep the peace, or one month in the county gaol. As the unfortunate appears to have no friends to furnish the money, it is likely he will go down to Cobourg.

The municipal elections caused considerable excitement here, and great was the surprise when it was known that W. S. Pickup had defeated Mr. A. Ferguson for reeve. Mr. Ferguson has been returned for reeve for the last 15 years by acclamation and large majorities.

Miss Lillian Staples of Cobourg, is visiting Miss Elena Eyers.

Mr. R. Ruddy was in Uxbridge over Sunday.

Miss D. Deyell of Port Hope, is visiting Miss A. Wood.

Miss Stanley Pickup has been engaged as teacher of the Elizabethville school.

Miss Kathlene Patterson of Port Hope, who has been visiting Miss Lottie Cochrane, returned home on Monday.

French Canadian Jour de L'an.

A child prostrate before its father asking for his blessing on a New Year's morning. This is a typical custom among the French Canadians of the province of Quebec, and undoubtedly retained by French Canadians now resident in New England and other parts of this republic. The head of the family rises early New Year's morning, renews the fire on the hearth and in the stoves, and, seating himself in an armchair within the shadows of the Yule log, watches the embers and awaits the first of his offspring to ask for the paternal blessing on the glorious "jour de l'an." —Boston Globe.

Read the Bible New Year's Morning.

In many a Welsh household the first thing that is done by each member of the family on rising on New Year's morning is to consult the family Bible with a view to learning from it what the coming year has in store for the person seeking the information. This is done by reading the first verse upon which the eye falls, and the verse in question is believed to foretell in some way the good or ill fortune, the happiness or unhappiness, during the just begun new year of the person making the trial.—Exchange.

New Year Bells.

Of all sounds, of all bells most solemn and touching is the peal which rings out the old year. I never hear it without a gathering up of my mind to a concentration of all the images that have been diffused over the past twelvemonth. I begin to know the worth of that regretted time, as when a person dies.—Charles Lamb.

The Magic Bell.

The old year is dead, and hoary haired time
High in the belfry is tolling his knell
From the phantom rim of a magic bell,
And the world is swayed by its mystic chime.

For earth is the ponderous tongue that swings
In the tower of time. The cathedral dim
Is the universe, and the bell's huge rim
Is the ether blue as it rings and rings.

The chimes are the passions that sway men's souls—
That tempt and inspire them. The thought, the deed,
On this New Year's eve from the earth dross freed,
In one mighty vibration upward rolls,
And hushed are the voices around the throne,
As the Great Creator receives his own.
—Detroit Free Press.

COUNTERFEITS.

A few years ago a great discovery was made.

Unprincipled persons are trying to prey upon and dupe people who are led to ask for kidney treatment.

Some of the methods adopted by imitators are as follows:—

First;—To imitate the size, color and shape of Dodd's Kidney Pills and sell them by count.

Second:—To put them up to appear very nearly the same and to be offered at the same price.

Third;—To hook on the word "kidney" in naming catharatic pills so as to increase sales of mere physic.

Fourth;—To give a name so near to Dodd's that unwary people may be deceived and think they are getting Dodd's.

Look out for such dodges. When you want kidney medicine you want the best. And ought not to be the subject of any trick.

So beware.

SIAMESE NEW YEAR.

Evil Spirits Supposed to Infest the Departing Year—A Night of Terror.

The Siamese "Choola Sakarat," or religious New Year, generally falls on the day after the first full moon in the month of March. The Brahmin astrologer, whose sole duty it is to point out the aspect of the sun, moon and stars, heralds the approaching full moon by setting in motion all the multitudinous gongs and temple bells in the city far and near. The people, who are always ready, waiting, for this signal, have generally finished their business for the year. Debts have been paid off, accounts closed, merchandise disposed of and all traffic of buying and selling suspended three days previous to the expected event.

The announcement made by the many tongued instruments is received by the vast population that inhabits the valley watered by the beautiful Menam river with fear and trembling, for they firmly believe that this is the witching hour when the very atmosphere of the world is alive with gods, demons, genii and hobgoblins, and forthwith the anxious, superstitious people hasten to frustrate their evil designs. They bind unspun cotton thread, consecrated by the priest, round their doors and windows, as the sacred thread is supposed to prove an effectual barrier in keeping out the malicious spirits. This done they place by the doors of their houses and huts a platter containing a pig's head and a bottle of arrack, as a conciliatory repast for the wandering ghosts that may desire to regale themselves during the night, after which the whole city, like the snail, draws in its horns and no consideration will tempt a mortal soul to venture out of it until sunrise the next morning.

At sunset every family offers to its own household genii an oblation of candies, perfumed tapers and roasted rice. As for the royal palace, 7,000 balls of unspun cotton, of seven fibers, consecrated by 27 priests, are reeled round and round the walls, and from sunset until dawn a terrific and continuous cannonading is heard from all the forts of the city to rout the evil spirits that infest the departing year.

But once this dreadful night is passed, the terror sticken inhabitants, with a long drawn sigh of relief, prepare to welcome the new year. Dressed in many colored silks, they repair first to the temples to offer praise and thanksgiving for their deliverance and to make handsome gifts to the priests, and not until they have propitiated Buddha and Buddha's earthly representatives do they think of their own merrymaking.—Exchange.

THE CHEESE MAKERS.

Second Day of the Convention at Woodstock.

AN UNUSALLY LARGE ATTENDANCE

Annual Report of Inspector Millar—Addresses of the Visitors From Across the Line and Well-Known Canadians—Eastern Dairymen at Campbellford.

Woodstock, Jan. 8.—The second day's session of the convention of the Dairymen of Western Ontario has been attended very largely. No less than 500 or 600 people, including nearly all the prominent dairymen and practical cheese-makers of Western Ontario, are present at the meetings, and the addresses to-day were of great value to them. The president presided at the morning session, at which addresses were delivered by the American visitors, Hon. John Gould and Hon. Theo. Louis.

Inspector Millar presented his fifth annual report of his season as inspector and instructor of the association. It contained interesting statistics and many valuable suggestions.

Mr. Gould's address was on "The Dairy Cow and Where to Find Her." He described fully his ideal dairy cow, and advised those present to breed with the fixed purpose of having a good milker and not attempt to combine that quality with the quality of getting good beef.

Hon. Theo. Louis' address was on "The Hog." He dwelt on the necessity of having good shelter, proper food, correct ideas of feeding and sufficient care of the hogs to secure a success as a breeder.

The afternoon session was presided over by Vice-President A. F. MacLaren of Stratford. The papers were all by practical cheese makers and the discussions they provoked were very instructive to the delegates.

James A. Grey, maker at Elma factory, Attwood, read a paper on "Care and delivery of milk and sampling for composite test."

Harry White of Belfast addressed the delegates on "Handling tainted milk and floating curds."

Prof. A. S. Bell read an extensive paper on the art of "Practical cheese making."

Robert Johnson of Bright gave a short paper on "Handling over-ripe milk."

The discussion which followed brought expressions of views from Hon. T. Ballantyne, J. A. Ruddick, Kingston, Inspector Millar and others.

After the discussion was over, Hon. Mr. Louis continued his address on "The Hog."

In the evening addresses were delivered by Hon. Mr. Gould and Prof. Robertson.

EASTERN DAIRYMEN.

The Nineteenth Annual Meeting Opened at Campbellford.

Campbellford, Ont., Jan. 8.—About 300 people were present here to-day at the opening of the 19th annual meeting of the Eastern Dairymen's Association, the audience being chiefly composed of cheese men, buyers and patrons of factories in this locality, among whom are E. Kidd, R. G. Murphy, D. Derbyshire, J. R. Dargavel, E. J. Madden, M. Bird, A. E. Bailey, W. W. Grant.

The morning session was opened by an address from President E. Kidd of North Gower. He showed the importance of the Canadian cheese trade by stating that out of 26 million dollars' worth of cheese imported by the Mother Country 15 million dollars' worth was from Canada. Low prices, he said, had prevailed, but he strongly urged that the quality be kept up, as only the best was wanted for the British markets.

He was followed by Mr. Derbyshire, President of the Ontario Creameries' Association, who claimed that an overstock of inferior cheese in 1894 caused the low prices in 1895, but predicted a revival in prices for the season to come for good qualities.

At the afternoon session Messrs. Purvis, Eager and Grant, inspectors, took part and gave good advice to the makers. All were in favor of the Babcock tester.

Prof. James Fletcher of the Central Experimental Farm, delivered an instructive address upon grasses and gave some valuable advice as to the best and most suitable mixtures for use for feeding purposes. He was asked many questions regarding grasses, etc., which were well and clearly answered.

At the evening session a large number of ladies and gentlemen were present. The local orchestra provided suitable music for the occasion.

C. L. Owen, ex-warden of Northumberland, presided, and on behalf of of the town welcomed the association. Mr. C. Smith read an address of welcome, to which the president replied.

D. Derbyshire also replied, thanking the townspeople for the reception. He showed the growth of the export of Canadian cheese to Britain, while the [illegible] export to [illegible] had [illegible] to 7 [illegible] the same [illegible]

MANITOBA NOMINATIONS.

Eight Government Members Returned by Acclamation—Mr. Luxton Withdraws in South Winnipeg.

Winipeg, Jan. 8.—Nomination day was a discouraging one to the Conservative Opposition in Manitoba. The election to-day by acclamation of eight straight Liberals to support Mr. Greenway has completely disorganised the Opposition ranks, and it will be a very small corporal's guard facing the members of the Manitoba Government whe nthe new Legislature meets. It was the original intention of the Opposition to place candidates in every constituency by orders from Ottawa, but gradually the men chosen as victims withdrew, and to-day Premier Greenway has eight suporters on his school and general policy without a ballot being cast. Those returned today unopposed are: Birtle, Mr. C. J. Mickle, Government; Lakeside, Dr. Rutherford, Government; Minnedosa, Mr. R. H. Myers, Government; Souris, Mr. A. M. Campbell, Government; Springfield, Mr. T. H. Smith, Government; Winnipeg Centre, Hon. Col. McMillan, Government; Winnipeg South, Hon. J. D. Cameron, Government; Westbourne, Mr. T. L. Morton, Government. Against this not one Opposition candidate was elected, and Government candidates are out in all except the French constituencies.

In this city the surprise was the withdrawal of Mr. Luxton's candidature in South Winnipeg against Hon. J. D. Cameron. Mr. Luxton is snowbound in the mountains, and wired his friends he did not think it advisable to run. In Centre Winnipeg no one could be found to face the popular Col. McMillan, Provincial Treasurer, and he also was returned by acclamation. Following is the complete list of candidates elected and nominated to-day:

Avondale—T. Dickie, Government; J. H. Hartney, Opposition; Dr. Hughes, Independent.

Beautiful Plains—John A. Davidson, Opposition; W. F. Sirret, Liberal-Patron.

Birtle—C. J. Mickle, Government, by acclamation.

Brandon City—Charles Adams, Government; A. Kelly, Opposition.

Carillon—A. Doig, Government; A. F. Andrews, Opposition; James Davidson, Patron.

Deloraine—C. A. Young, Government; W. D. Drew, Opposition.

Emerson—George Christie, Government; D. H. McFadden, Opposition; Galvin Ross, Patron.

Kildonan—J. J. Bird, Government; Hector Sutherland, Opposition.

Killarney—Hon. F. M. Young, Government; N. Clark, Patron.

Lakeside—Dr. Rutherford, Government (acclamation).

Lansdowne—T. C. Morris, Government; T. R. Todd, Opposition.

La Verandyre—T. Pare, Opposition; W. Lagimodiere, Independant Liberal.

Lorne—James Riddell, Government; R. G. O'Mally, Opposition.

Manitou—J. D. Mackintosh, Government; S. Cruthers, Opposition; B. Swanson, Patron.

Minnedosa—R. H. Myers, Government (acclamation).

Morden—T. Duncan, Government; J. Borthwick, Patron.

Morris—Major Mulvey, Government; A. F. Martin, Independent; A. Morrison, Patron.

Mountain—Hon. T. Greenway, Government; R. S. Preston, Patron.

Norfolk—G. Rogers, Government; R. F. Lyons, Opposition.

North Brandon—Hon. Clifford Sifton, Government; W. J. Sargeant, Opposition.

Portage la Prairie—Hon. Robert Watson, Government; W. J. Cooper, Opposition.

Rhineland—V. Winkler, Government; N. Bowman, Opposition.

Rockwood—S. J. Jackson, Government; J. M. Toombs, Opposition.

Rosenfeld—E. Winkler, Government; C. Pieper, Opposition.

Russell—Thomas Almack, Government; James Fisher, Independent.

St. Andrew's—Capt. Jonasson, Government; B. L. Baldwinson, Opposition.

St. Boniface—J. B. Lauzon, Opposition; Hon. J. E. P. Prendergast, Independent Liberal.

Saskatchewan—D. McNaught, Government; W. Ferguson, Opposition; J. W. Shanks, Patron.

Souris—A. M. Campbell, Government; by acclamation.

South Brandon—H. C. Graham, Government; T. Nichol, Opposition.

Springfield—T. H. Smith, Government, by acclamation.

Turtle Mountain—John Hettle, Government; Wm. Millar, Opposition.

Westbourne—Thos. L. Morton, Government, by acclamation.

Winipeg Centre—Hon. D. H. McMillan, Government, by acclamation.

Winipeg North—P.C. McIntyre, Government; T. W. Taylor, Opposition.

Winnipeg South—Hon. J.D. Cameron, Government, by acclamation.

Woodlands—Geo. Main, Government; R. P. Roblin, Opposition.

Maltine With Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites—a Food, Medicine and Digestive.

Thousands of invalids are starving—starving in the midst of plenty and despite the tender care of loved ones. Health is restored, not by what is eaten, but by what is digested. Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites is a food, for it is rich in the nourishing properties of wheat, oats, and barley; a medicine, for it is combined with the best Norwegian oil, which it renders palatable, non-irritating, and readily assimilated; and a powerful digestive, for it acts rapidly upon starchy foods, making them soluble and capable of supplying in abundance the elements of nutrition. One bottle is of greater remedial value than ten bottles of any emulsion. Try it.

HAWAII AS A STATE.

Proposal That Uncle Sam Make a Grab for the Sandwich Islands.

Washington, Jan. 8.—In the House, by unanimous consent, a joint resolution, offered by Mr. Spaulding (Rep., Mich.), was read and referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs. It provides for the erection into the State of Hawaii of the territory commonly known as the Sandwich Islands, with the consent of the people thereof. It carries an appropriation of $100,000 to pay the expenses of the negotiations preliminary to the constitution of the state.

conditions

In some conditions the gain from the use of Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil is rapid. For this reason we put up a 50c. size, which is enough for an ordinary cough or cold or useful as a trial for babies and children.

In other conditions gain must be slow, sometimes almost imperceptible, health can't be built up in a day. For this Scott's Emulsion must be taken as nourishment, food rather than medicine, food prepared for tired and weak digestions.

A SENATOR DROPS DEAD.

Hon. Mr. Kaulbach Suddenly Stricken Down While Passing From One Chamber to the Other.

Ottawa, Jan. 8.—At five minutes past 3 this afternoon Senator Kaulbach dropped dead in the upper corridor of the Senate wing. He had had lunch in the Senate restaurant, and then proceeded to his room on the ground floor. He was there for a little while, and then came out into the corridor and walked up and down with Senator Boulton. Leaving that gentleman with the remark that he was going over to the Senators' gallery in the House of Commons, he proceeded upstairs. Senator Kaulbach was a very stout man, and has latterly been suffering from heart trouble. It is supposed that the exertion of climbing the staircase was too much for him, as no sooner had he reached the top and taken about 20 paces over toward the Commons wing of the building than he fell forward on his face. The vital spark had fled. A great gush of blood oozed from his mouth, but there was not a sign of life. A stretcher was hurriedly procured, and the body was carried to one of the rooms of the Senate building. It is expected that it will be conveyed to Nova Scotia for interment. Deceased was of German descent, and had been a member of the Senate for 24 years.

NOT A BAD SUGGESTION.

Movement on Foot in London to Secure a Permanent Court of Arbitration

London, Jan. 8.—The Westminster Gazette says a movement is on foot in London to put into effect the suggestion alleged to have been made by Justice Harlan of the United States Supreme Court, that differences between Great Britain and the United States be settled by a commission composed of an equal number of judges of Her Majesty's High Court of Justice and of the United States Supreme Court. Already a private meeting composed of Englishmen and Americans has been held to consider what further action shall be taken. The disclosures made in The Chronicle's Washington despatch concerning the Venezuelan dispute have encouraged the leaders in this movement to publish their proposals, which amount to advocacy of the establishment of a permanent court of arbitration.

Laid Low by Indigestion.

I was so run down I had to give up work.

Scott's Sarsaparilla the kind that cures.

Indigestion or dyspepsia is the bane of thousands, and is one of the most depressing of afflictions. It arises from an impure or impoverished condition of the blood, which weakens the digestive and assimilative organs, rendering them incapable of performing their natural functions, and if neglected, the sufferer loses flesh, complains of exhaustion after slight exertion, and becomes rapidly debilitated.

Mr. Wm. W. Thompson, a prominent resident of Zephyr, Ont., in a letter dated Aug 12th, 1895, says: "It gives me great pleasure to testify to the fact that Scott's Sarsaparilla has caused a most remarkable change in my condition. I was so much run down I had to give up work and felt as if life were not worth living. Mr. Dafoe induced me to try Scott's Sarsaparilla, and after taking four bottles I am now feeling as I formerly did years ago, and I want to say for the benefit of those suffering from indigestion and feeling, to use slang phrase, 'completely knocked out,' don't despair until you give Scott's Sarsaparilla a fair trial."

Scott's Sarsaparilla is a blood food, it stimulates all vital organs to healthy normal action, enabling them to throw off all poisonous and debilitating humors. Sold by druggists at $1, but there is only one Scott's. The kind that cures.

The publication of this supplement is a credit to the publisher and to the town, and we are pleased to see that it has been appreciated.

ALLEGED THEFT OF A NEW SUIT OF CLOTHES.

Edward Swayne Disappears at the Same Time as Some of Charlie Cavanagh's Wearing Apparel.

The Police Department is telegraphing to all points between here and Toronto, to endeavour to effect the arrest of one Edward Swayne, charged by Mr. T. Cavanagh with theft.

Swayne, it seems, came to town several months ago and has worked for the Peterborough Canoe Company, and on the Trent Valley Canal, boarding at times at Mr. Cavanagh's house.

Several days ago he stated that he had secured a permanent position with the Canadian General Electric Company, which he would assume in the course of a day or so, and yesterday morning gathered his tools together to do some work, as he said, with Mr. J. R. Donell. He told Mrs. Cavanagh not to be surprised if he was gone by the time she arose in the morning. She therefore thought nothing of it when she found her boarder had gone out before breakfast, but if she was not surprised, her son Charlie was, when, on arising, he missed a new suit of clothes and a pair of boots.

Inquiries were at once made concerning Swayne and the police discovered that he had stolen a number of tools from the Peterborough Canoe Company and had pawned them. It was also ascertained that instead of going to work for Mr. Donnell he had taken the morning train for the west.

The police are hard on the man's track and every effort is being made to locate him.

Swayne is an old Central Prison bird and is suspected of being the man who hired a rig from Liveryman Gibbs' and left the horse tied to a tree out near Nassau. A number of his other shortcomings are being brought to light as the search for him progresses.

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.

THE ANNUAL MEETING HELD ON WEDNESDAY.

Reports Presented—A Satisfactory Year—Thanks for the President and Secretary—Rev. V. Clementi Made an Honourary Life Member—Officers Elected—The Care of Court House Park.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society was held in the Council Chamber on Wednesday afternoon. There was a good attendance. Dr. Burnham, president, occupied the chair.

DIRECTOR'S REPORT.

After routine Mr. A. H. Cobb read the report of the directors as follows:—

To the Officers and Members of the Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society:

GENTLEMEN,—Your Directors beg to submit the following report of the work of the society for the year 1895:

Owing to the Town Council only granting to the Society the sum of $400, instead of the $500 asked for, your Directors have been unable to carry out the improvements to the Courthouse park which they had intended doing and which we all feel are badly needed in order to make said park the source of pleasure and pride to our citizens which it should be. More seats are required, besides other improvements, and your Directors would strongly urge that you appoint delegates to wait on the new council at an early date requesting a grant of $500 for the coming season, so that we may be able to carry out the said improvements.

Your Directors have had the trees in park properly pruned and a drain put in to carry the water from lower walks which were flooded after each rainstorm.

The annual exhibition was held on Thursday, Aug. 29th, and was in every way a success, the number of entries being larger and the door receipts more satisfactory than at any previous exhibition, the number of entries being 424, last year 370, and door receipts $35.55.

Your Directors would suggest that a collector be appointed to canvass the town thoroughly for new members, as it seems our Government grant depends on the number of names secured.

While we have an increase in membership this year your Directors believe that by a systematic canvass the same would be very much increased the present year.

Your Directors have awarded the contract for care of Park during the coming season to Mr. J. H. Cobb, his tender being the lowest, but said tender is subject to our receiving the usual grant from town council.

Your Directors also suggest that there should be a proper inventory of all tools, implements, etc., belonging to the society and that the caretaker should be charged with the said articles and return the same to the secretary at the expiration of his contract, ordinary wear and tear being of course excepted; and also that a binding contract should be entered into between the society and the caretaker for the proper discharge of the duties of his office.

Your Directors would suggest that the secretary be authorized to procure a new set of judges' books, as those now in use are not satisfactory, and it is almost impossible to avoid mistakes with them; besides, with proper books the judges would be able to fulfill their important duties very much more quickly and better.

Lastly your Directors feel that the members have every reason to congratulate themselves on the present position of the society. Not only have we been able to pay every liability incurred during the past year, but also to wipe out all old accounts, some of which have been outstanding for the past three years. The Treasurer's report which will be presented to you will show a balance on hand to the credit of the society of $38.87, and on Park account of $30.91. Against the Park here is an outstanding account due Mr. F. Mason of $14.45, leaving a net balance to credit of said account of $16 46.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

A. H. COBB,
Secretary.

Mr. J. R. Stratton said, in reference to the report, that it afforded gratification to see the prompt manner in which the new secretary had grasped his duties and, assisted by the president, had contributed to the success of the society's operations for the past year, and he moved, seconded by Lieut.-Col. Rogers, that the thanks of the society be cordially tendered to the president and secretary for their satisfactory services for the past year, which was unanimously passed.

Dr. Burnham acknowledged the resolution in suitable terms.

Secretary—A. H. Cobb.
Treasurer—W. H. Hill.
Directors—H. C. Rogers, T. E. Bradburn, J. R. Stratton, J. H. Roper, John Burnham, F. Mason, H. Symonds, T. A. Hay, W. H. Foord and H. Nesbitt.

Messrs. the President, Dr. Burnham, T. E. Bradburn, J. H. Roper, W. H. Hill, D. W. Dumble and J. R. Stratton were appointed a deputation to wait upon the town and Ashburnham councils to solicit a grant for the society.

GRACEFUL HONOUR CONFERRED.

Mr. Stratton moved, seconded by Lieut.-Col. Rogers, that on account of his lengthened services to the society, Rev. V. Clementi be made an honourary life member of the society. Carried unanimously.

Mr. A. H. Cobb was appointed to act with one of the Directors in soliciting membership for the Society.

On motion of Mr. Stratton, seconded by Mr. Hill,—Mr. Mason, late care-taker of Court House Park, was requested to furnish an inventory of all the tools, implements, etc., in his custody belonging to the society, and it was directed that a contract be entered into with the caretaker for 1896, Mr. J. H. Cobb.

The Society was authorized to procure the necessary books for the use of judges at the annual exhibition.

Messrs. Dumble, Roper, Foord and Nesbitt were appointed a committee to revise the prize list.

The meeting adjourned.

TRIED TO ROB A GRAVE.

Did Medical Students Make an Endeavour to Secure a Body?

The citizens are considerably excited over the fact that an attempt was made on Monday night last to rob a grave in the Little Lake Cemetery of the remains of the late Andrew Douglas, who died on the 28th December.

On Tuesday morning Superintendent Foord, of the Cemetery, discovered the open grave, the earth having been removed and the lid of the rough box exposed to view. He ascribes the reason of the body not having been removed to the fact that he had occasion to visit the barns at about two o'clock in the morning and probably disturbed the trespassers and frightened them off. It is supposed that medical students were engaged in the affair, as their mode of procedure in removing a body from the grave is easily recognizable, and as the death of Mr. Douglas resulted from the effects of a tumor of the parotid gland, the students would be very anxious to have the remains for purposes of dissection, such a tumor being of rare occurence.

The desecrated grave has been filled in and arrangements made to guard it until such time as the use of the body for purposes of examination is impossible.

SOUTH WARD CENTRAL SCHOOL.

The Formal Opening of the New Wing To-morrow—Parents Invited to be Present.

The parents of children attending this school and school supporters generally are cordially invited to attend the formal opening of the new building, to take place on Friday (to-morrow) afternoon. The school building from end to end will be thrown open to the public from 2.30 to 4 o'clock, and they will be at liberty to pass through the rooms at will and see the teaching in the different rooms, which will be in progress. During the afternoon there will be interesting Kindergarten exercises. This will be an excellent opportunity to see the excellent new building which the Board of Education has provided, and also an opportunity which may not soon be repeated, to see the way in which the work of education is carried on by the several teachers. The visit, on this occasion, of parents will have a good effect. The practical evidence it will afford that the people take an interest in educational matters, will stimulate the teachers and encourage the children. The people contribute over $20,000 annually in support of our public schools and Collegiate Institute, and it should be some satisfaction to the ratepayers to attend the formal opening to-morrow and see for themselves practical evidence that the money they so willingly contribute is wisely expended.

Nervous Prostration

It is now a well established fact in medical science that nervousness is due to impure blood. Therefore the true way to cure nervousness is by purifying and enriching the blood. The great blood purifier is Hood's Sarsaparilla. Read this letter:

"For the last two years I have been a great sufferer with nervous prostration and palpitation of the heart. I was weak in my limbs and had smothered sensations. At last my physician advised me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla which I did, and I am happy to say that I am now strong and well. I am still using Hood's Sarsaparilla and would not be without it. I recommend it to all who are suffering with nervous prostration and palpitation of the heart." MRS. DALTON, 66 Alice St., Toronto, Ontario. Get Hood's, because

Hood's Sarsaparilla Is the Only True Blood Purifier

Prominently in the public eye today. It is not what we say but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does that tells the story.

Hood's Pills act harmoniously with Hood's Sarsaparilla. 25c.

DIED AT OTTAWA.

Death of Mrs. (Dr.) Campbell.

Yesterday Rev. James Thom, of Welcome, was in town, on his way to Ottawa, where he was called by the death of his daughter, Flora Thom Campbell, who, with her now bereaved husband, Rev. Dr. Campbell, was well known and very highly esteemed in Peterborough.

Mrs. Campbell, who was thirty-five years of age, passed away yesterday from the effects of a chronic affection, from which she has suffered for some time. She had been married to Dr. Campbell 13 years and leaves to mourn her loss, three children—two boys and a girl. The numerous friends of the bereaved husband and of Rev. Mr. Thom's family, in Peterborough, unite in extending to them the heartfelt sympathy the occasion demands.

DOURO.

An In Memoriam Sermon by Rev. Father Kelly.

From Our Own Correspondent.

On last Sunday Father Kelly during his sermon in St. Joseph's Douro, made a feeling reference to the members of his congregation who had passed away during the year of grace, 1895, and recited the following beautiful poem from one who had lately passed away himself—the immortal Eugene Field:

Out yonder in the moonlight, wherein God's Acre lies,
Go angels walking to and fro, singing their lullabies,
Their radiant wings are folded, and their eyes are bending low,
As they sing among the beds wherein the flowers delight to grow:—
"Sleep, O sleep!
The shepherd guardeth his sheep,
Fast speedeth the night away,
Soon cometh the glorious day.
Sleep, weary one, while you may—
Sleep, oh, sleep!"

The flowers within God's Acre, see that fair and wondrous sight,
And hear the angels singing to the sleepers through the night;
And, lo! throughout the hours of day those gentle flowers prolong
The music of the angels in that tender, slumber song—
"Sleep, oh, sleep!
The Shepherd loveth His sheep,
He that guideth His flock best
Hath foldeth them to His loving breast,
So sleep ye now and take your rest.—
Sleep, oh, sleep!"

From angel and from flower the years have learned that soothing song,
And with its heavenly music speed the days and nights along;
So through all time, whose flight the Shepherd's vigils glorify,
God's Acre slumbereth in the grace of that sweet lullaby—
"Sleep, oh, sleep!
The Shepherd loveth His sheep,
Fast speedeth the night away,
Soon cometh the glorious day;
Sleep, weary ones, while ye may—
Sleep, oh, sleep!"

HOCKEY.

The local hockey team goes to Lindsay to-morrow afternoon on a special train to play the first game in the O. H. A. series. The following were chosen last night to make up the personnel of the team:—Goal, Wasson; point, Adams; coverpoint, Parsons; forwards, King, Montgomery, Phelan and LeFevre. The team, it will be observed, is all composed of men who have played together before, with the exception of Wasson, between the flags, and as there is no combination play required in connection with this position, he will have to hold it by the strength of his own merit. Judging by the good showing which he has made in the practice games, he will fill the bill to a nicety. Montgomery is out on the forward line this year, his old place at point being taken by Adams. The latter is a cool-headed player, and fully posted on every point of the game. His excellent game at cover point in the finals at Toronto last year, will long be remembered by those who witnessed the game. If he plays the position as well as has Monty for so many years no more can possibly be asked of him. Montgomery's brilliant rushes from his old place, stamp him as a man who will be a valuable acquisition to the forward line, where he will take Wonham's position. Parsons, as of yore, will play at coverpoint, and will put up his steady, reliable game with more dash this year than last, as is evidenced by his practice. King will be on the forward line, and with Phelan should be able to play a great combination. Last year Lionel blossomed out suddenly as a star of the first magnitude and played so brilliant a game as bring him offers of positions on Toronto teams for the winter, but he remained true to his first love and will again be with the Peterboroughs for 1896. Phelan is playing even a better game this year than he did last and his sure eye and steady hand will, as usual, be a source of great strength to the forward line. LeFevre takes Roger Davidson's place. His weight ought to be a factor in any scrimmage which ensues around an opponent's flags and his experience will contribute largely in bringing the puck into such a location. With a team of such good average weight and capabilities for lifting the puck on goal the local team need have no fear of anything until they enter the finals.

The team and a large number of hockey enthusiasts will go over to Lindsay to-morrow afternoon on the regular five o'clock train, returning on a special at midnight. Arrangements regarding the special are now being made by Station Master Hayden. A large crowd should go over and give the boys a cheer to help them on to victory. It is expected that as the special returns the same evening a number of ladies will take advantage of the trip.

A friendly game of hockey will take place between the Volts and town team at seven o'clock at the rink to-night. The following will represent the town team:—Goal, Wasson; point, Adams; coverpoint, Parsons; forwards, Montgomery (captain), LeFevre, Bellegheim and Phelan.

A Generous Offer.

(Published by request.)

Dear Mr. Editor.—Will you kindly inform the readers of your valuable paper that I will gladly send FREE to any sufferer from Lost Manhood, Nervous Debility, Night Losses, Varicocele, Impotency and the results of youthful folly, particulars of a simple and inexpensive means of self-cure which after being humbugged and imposed upon for years by quacks and patent medicine sharks, cured me in a few weeks. I have nothing to sell or give away, nor am I advertising any patent medicine business, but will be pleased to hear from any sufferer anxious to find a cure for his complaint, to whom I will explain confidentially how and by what means I was cured. Address confidentially and enclose stamp if convenient.—D. G. OWEN, P. O. box 264, Picton, Ont.

ELECTION SIGNS.

The situation at Ottawa is still tense, and there does not seem to be any other outcome than a dissolution and the general elections. Whatever way the Cabinet patches may be applied, this will be the ultimate and, doubtless, speedy result. All the unseemly friction and game of grab for the spoils among the Conservative leaders must naturally result in the alienation of the loyalty of the rank and file to a combination so weak and unworthy as to be unable to refrain from knifing each other in a mode of treachery unprecedented in political history. The policy and attitude of the Liberal party are therefore daily gaining new adherents. We know that in local circles there is a decided reaction. There are many Conservatives who are not only disgusted with their leaders in respect of the present unseemly family squabble and the turpitude of prominent ministers, whom no self-respecting man can support, but are also disgusted with the failure of the Government to implement, to any appreciable extent, the glowing promises made in the name of its policy, and with the reign of corruption and extravagance that has disgraced the name, weakened credit and impaired the resources of the country. Such men, and there are hundreds of them, when an election comes, will quietly poll their votes for the Liberal candidate and the Liberal policy. Besides there are numerous Liberals who were deluded in 1878 and subsequent years into endorsing the policy of high taxation, which has only kept its promises in respect of the taxes, which have verily been piled on, but without the resultant prosperity that was the promise of its adoption. These gentlemen have had enough of an experiment, which has proved an appallingly costly failure, and will at the coming general elections support the Liberal policy. As the situation is in this riding, so is it throughout the Dominion, and, as we remarked yesterday, the country was never so ripe for a change in its government, and never were prospects of the Liberals for carrying the country and restoring honest and efficient goverment so favourable as at the present time. Therefore the duty of Liberals is plain; they must close their ranks and prepare for the impending struggle, which is sure to come soon. Forewarned should be forearmed, and thrice is he armed whose cause is just. The Liberal cause is just, let Liberals see that it prevails.

SIR MACKENZIE BOWELL takes mighty good care that the "Grits" don't have a chance to win any bye-elections for the Senate.

THE Conservative party is, in respect of retaining the reigns of power, in a very bad way, but it cannot be believed that its greed for office is so strong as to accept Sir Charles Tupper as a Moses to lead them out of the wilderness in which the party officially finds itself at present.

No Trouble to Answer Letters

Most people when meditatng the purchase of a Piano feel more or less troubled in making a decision. The structure of a Piano is a thing they know so little of.

If you feel this way just write us a line and ask for information. It is no trouble at all to us. It is our business. We are experts of a quarter of a century's standing in the trade. Our stock is large. Our variety of styles is infinite, especially when you consider that we handle many other Canadian and American Pianos than those of our own make. Our prices are moderate, quality considered. Our terms are easy. Our Pianos are exceptional.

Again we say it is no trouble to answer letters, therefore write us and get full particulars.

WM. LECH & SONS

413 George Street. Established 24 years.

NOWADAYS, when women are trying to do everything it is not strange that many things are over-done. It is not strange that there are all kinds of physical and mental disturbances. If the woman who is a doctor, or a lawyer, or a journalist, or in business would not try to be a society woman too it might be different; but the woman who knows when she has done a day's work has yet to be born. Usually a woman's way is to keep doing until she drops.

Working in this way has manifold evils. As an old colored Aunty used to say: "There's always somethin' the matter. If it isn't one thing it's two." The most common trouble resulting from over-exertion, either mentally or physically, is constipation of the bowels, with all its attendant horrors.

There is no human ailment that so saps the energies, so deadens the ambitions, as that coming from the bowels forgetting their vocation, or the liver only working about eight hours out of the twenty-four.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the most effectual remedy in the market. They work upon the system easily, naturally. There is no unpleasant nausea after taking them. No griping—no pain—no discomfort. They are composed of materials that go through the system gradually, collecting all impurities and like the good little servants that they are, disposing of them effectually.

MRS. ROSANNA M. BLISS, of Colosse, Oswego County, New York, says: "I had suffered much with dizziness, sometimes faintness from too much mental work. Over exertion physically caused constipation of the bowels. I tried liver pills. They gave temporary relief. Two years ago I began using Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. I have, at intervals, used three bottles, and I am now enjoying uninterrupted good health."

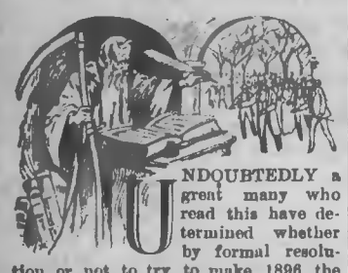
Yours truly,

Rosanna M. Bliss

NEW YEAR MOTTOES.

POINTS ABOUT SUCCESS FROM THE UTTERANCES OF GREAT MEN.

Here Will Be Found Much That Will Tend to Help Every Aspiring Young Man In Successfully Fighting the Battle of Life.



UNDOUBTEDLY a great many who read this have determined whether by formal resolution or not to try to make 1896 the most successful year of their lives. To these a few of the mottoes and sayings of successful men, together with here and there an anecdote, showing how they put their notions into practice, may possibly be helpful. If read aright, much that follows will show that one essential feature of success is hard work. Genius may be necessary for the highest success, but given ordinary intelligence no one need fail who is willing to exert himself continuously. But there must be mental toil as well as physical. The day laborer who is satisfied to exert his muscles only will never rise above day wages. The clerk who is satisfied to do his work perfunctorily without exerting his mental powers in striving to become something better than a clerk will remain in that station. The handicraftsman who does not work with his brain will always be a handicraftsman. But in striving for success it must not be forgotten that there are other and better successes than those of a financial nature. It is better to achieve character than wealth, but character may not be won without intellectual activity any more than money.

Do Not Neglect Your Opportunities.

Quite as important to success in life as continued activity is the seizing of your opportunities when they come to you. Many eminent men have expressed this idea in many ways. Here are a few such expressions which have been gathered by Orison Swett Marden and printed in the first chapter of his book, "Pushing to the Front:"

Things don't turn up in this world until somebody turns them up.—Garfield.

We live in a new and exceptional age. America is another name for opportunity. Our whole history appears like a last effort of divine Providence in behalf of the human race.—Emerson.

Vigilance in watching opportunity; tact and daring in seizing upon opportunity; force and persistence in crowding opportunity to its utmost of possible achievement; these are the martial virtues which must command success.—Austin Phelps.

"I will find a way or make one." There never was a day that did not bring its own opportunity for doing good that never could have been done before and never can be again.—W. H. Burleigh.

Are you in earnest? Seize this very minute. What you can do, or dream you can, begin it.

You Must Be Resolute.

"The truest wisdom is a resolute determination," said Napoleon once, and his career was an exemplification of his words.

Mr. Marden gives the following entries on the fly leaf of the Greek lexicon owned by Edward Irving as another exemplification of the same idea:

"Six o'clock a. m.—I, Edward Irving, promise, by the grace of God, to have mastered all the words in alpha and beta before 8 a. m.

"Eight o'clock a. m.—I, Edward Irving, by the grace of God, have done it."

Russell Sage, who has certainly won success of a financial sort, once told the writer that he had saved himself from failure almost solely by the strength of his will. I asked him what he did when he met with an apparently insurmountable obstacle.

"[illegible] said [illegible]y. I [illegible]an who has will enough can always remove the obstacles that confront him."

"'Tis not what a man does which exalts him," said Browning, "but what he would do."

You Must Be Persistent.

The great violinist, Geradini, being asked how long it took him to learn to play, replied, "Twelve hours a day for 20 years."

This is virtually the keynote to the success of many eminent men in all lines. Edison, the electrical inventor, expressed this idea with regard to himself when he said:

"Anything I have begun is always on my mind, and I am never easy until it is finished."

Darwin, the great scientist, whose theory of evolution has wrought a greater change in the views of thinking men than any other theory that has been broached in modern times, owed much to persistence. He was almost always ill. "For 40 years," said his son, "he never knew one day of health." Yet during those four decades he used to force himself unremittingly to pursue the work which he had set out to do. Many a man with the strongest constitution would have shrunk from the enormous toil performed by Darwin, but he stuck to it with a patience that was marvelous.

Charles H. Cramp, the shipbuilder, in talking of success and how it could be obtained, declared its greatest secret to be "practice, practice, practice!" "If you want to win," said he recently, "you must never let up. If you do, you will surely fall behind. I have always found on returning to my business after an absence, no matter how brief, that I had something to learn over again, that I had to work harder than ever to catch up."

Christmas Changes.

The Yule log has given place to the steam radiator, the furnace register and the base burning heater, but we who are warmed by any of these means on Christmas eve are quite as likely to enjoy Christmas as were our forefathers and foremothers, who used to celebrate its festivities when gathered about the old time fireplaces. There have been changes in heating apparatus, but human nature and Christmas remain as they were and will probably so remain after the present apparatus has been displaced by electric heaters. We grumble about our furnaces, our radiators and our stoves and will probably grumble about our electric heaters, but in Yule log times our ancestors were often roasted on one side and frozen on the other.

Juggling With Figures.

The peculiarity of the date of 1896 is its involved connection with the digit 3. As that number is regarded by those who hold superstitious belief as a proverbially lucky one, from its association with certain Biblical events, it is to be hoped that the coming annual cycle may prove this one particular theory to be true, and that Jan. 1 will usher in an auspicious season of material and financial prosperity.

The number 1896 is equally divisible by 3. So is the sum of its digits, 1 plus 8 plus 9 plus 6 (and the reverse is necessarily the same) equaling 24, which, again united, 2 plus 4, equals 6. Separating its hundreds from the tens, 18 and 96 or 81 and 69, they are still multiples of 3. The sum of the first and last digits, 1 plus 6, equals 7. Added to the two middle figures they produce 96, which is the last two units of the date, being equally divisible by 3, as is its sum, 9 plus 6, equals 15.

The centuries 18 are divisible wholly by 9, 6 and 3; the number reversed, 81, by 9 and by 3, by the product of these two numbers (9 multiplied by 3) 27, and the sum of the digits, 1 plus 8, equals 9. The sum of the first two figures in the date, represented as digits, equals the third. Eighteen plus 96 equals 114, and 96 minus 18 equals 78, over which the mystic 3 has full control, as it does over the sum of the digits in these latter numbers, 1 plus 1 plus 4 equals 6, and 7 plus 8 equals 15. And 15 minus 6 equals 9, while 15 plus 6 equals 21, the sum of whose digits, 2 plus 1, equals 3. The product of the digits in the year, 1 multiplied by 8 by 9 by 6, equals 432, a multiple of 3, and the sum of the unit figures, 4 plus 3 plus 2 is 9. Eighteen minus 9 equals 9, and 9 minus 6 equals 3.

From this can be derived the infallible rule that when the sum of the digits of any number is equally divisible by 3 the number itself is a common multiple. For instance the numbers 261 (equals 9) and 3441 (equals 12) must necessarily be equally divisible by the mysterious factor 3. ALBERT P. SOUTHWICK.

Old English New Year's Customs.

There is one ceremony common to England and Scotland which is sometimes observed in the United States on New Year's eve—that is the ringing of the bells to announce the death of the old year and the birth of the new. In many churches an impresive service is held at the hour of midnight. Another English custom is the one of sitting up on the last night of the year till 12 o'clock, and as the hour strikes, the outer door is opened and with great formality they "let out the old and let in the new." The "mummers" or "guisers" play an important part in the celebration of New Year's in Scotland. All the boys in the village who can sing practice songs for the occasion, and on the important night they borrow old shirts from their fathers and cut out brown paper miters, from which hang masks that conceal their faces. Each guiser is accompanied by a squire dressed as a girl, who goes before him to open the door when he sings. While the song is in progress she sweeps the floor with a broomstick or plays some curious prank. They receive in return small pieces of money.

Begging Bread and Cheese.

Scotch children of the poorer class in small towns still beg on New Year's eve from door to door at the houses of wealthier families for a dole of oat bread, calling out "Hogamanay" or some of the local rhymes which are given in Chambers' "Popular Rhymes of Scotland," such as:

Hogmanay,
Trollolay,
Give us of your white bread
And none of your gray!

They also beg for cheese, which they call "nog-money," and Brand's "Popular Antiquities" gives this begging rhyme used by Scotch children:

Get up, gude wife, and binno sweir;
Deal cakes and cheese while ye are here,
For the time will come when ye'll be dead
And neither need your cheese nor bread.

As the children on these forays are swathed in great sheets formed into a deep bag or pouch to carry the oatcake they form quite a mumming and fantastic appearance on the by streets and lanes.—Independent.

One Honest Man.

Dear Editor:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially I will mail in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell, and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. Perfect secrecy assured. Address with stamp:—Mr. Edward Lambert. P. O Box 55, Jarvis, Ont.

Worth $5.00 a Bottle.

SIRS,—For five years I have been troubled with neuralgia and tried everything I could see or hear of. At last I was advised to try a bottle of Yellow Oil and I refused because I thought it was like all the rest—a failure. A half bottle was given me, however, and I found it helped me, and bought a bottle which cured me. If it cost five dollars a bottle I would not be without it.

TEMPUS FUGIT.

A Few Paragraphs From the Pens of Newspaper Philosophers on the Flight of Time.

In our boyhood time walks, in middle life it ambles, and in old age it pants in breathless haste to reach the goal and have done with us. A day is a week to the child, and a week is but a day to the aged.—New York Herald.

The months may speed as they will. The days may come and go like lightning flashes. Age may creep on apace and youth hasten to middle life. November blasts may chill and December snows cover the sod like a shroud. It matters little. There will be other years in other climes, and the work we leave unfinished will be brought to completion after the grass has grown on our graves. —Unidentified.

No time is so short as that of the man who has passed the three score milestone. The clock no longer ticks the seconds away, but the days. The very weeks flash by. Hardly do the flowers of April bloom before the frosts of October set in, and hardly do the frosts carve fantastic pictures on the window pane before the sun of another spring makes the meadow green once more.—Exchange.

Time was when it was considered a sure sign of death before the next New Year to see your own shadow in the moonlight on the 1st of January.

January is still called by the old Celtic name—Juis Genver, the cold month—in Cornwall, England. The Saxons called it Wolf Monat, because the wolves were unusually ravenous in January. By the Saxon it was termed Aefer-Yule.

Pins were invented in the sixteenth century at Gloucester, England. They straightway became a popular New Year's present, but later money for their purchase, called "pin money," was given instead.

In the days of our European forbears it was believed that unless misfortune were courted no one should leave the house on New Year's day till some one had entered, and the visitor to bring a fine brand of good luck should be a dark haired man.

Black cats, generally thought to be of extremely evil omen by the superstitious, are considered lucky visitors on New Year's day.

In Wales fires are frequently burned on Jan. 1 to purify the house for the entrance of the new year and the ashes of these fires are often kept most sacredly from year to year. They are supposed to possess special medicinal virtues, being particularly efficacious against "falling sickness" or fits.

New Year's In 1790.

New Year's day, 1790, was one of special interest to those who delight in tracing facts concerning this method of celebration. President Washington, then in the first year of his first term, lived at the Franklin House, in Cherry street, New York.

The city was then a little Dutch town of cobblestones and gardens, containing about 1,400 houses and 20,000 people, most of whom were tradesmen and mechanics of very limited means.

The president had lived among them several months, but most of them had held aloof through the awe inspired by his great character and his high office. But on this New Year's day a great number of them put on their best cooked hats, their Sunday wigs and all their best clothes and called upon the president.—Philadelphia Times.

Some Good and Bad Omens.

To meet a red haired person on first getting up indicates a dull day in business, and if such a one cross your door on New Year's day you will have an unlucky year. While making a trade, if a cross eyed person looks at you, it indicates that the bargain will be unprofitable. To hear a cricket chirp is good luck, and it is always a welcome sound under the hearthstone of the farmer's house.—Exchange.

A New Epoch.

As the sun completes his annual revolution through the heavens by touching the southern solstice, and then commences his return to northern latitudes, man is compelled to recognize a new epoch in his own career and is reminded to pause a moment for earnest reflection in order to gather wisdom from vanished months and to forecast the signs of the future.—Christian Work.

Japan's Common Birthday.

The first of the year is really a sort of double festival in Japan, for the Japanese, like the Chinese, reckon their age from that date. A child born 24 hours before New Year's day is called 1 year old on that day, so that it is the birthday of all the Japanese people.—New

BASE CONSPIRACY.

The Plot to Overthrow Premier Bowell.

COMMENTS ON THE SITUATION.

Cold-Blooded, Cruel and Heartless Work—The Tupper Dynasty—Forces Working to Make it Supreme—The Premier Backed Up by the Quebec Ministerialists.

Ottawa, Jan. 7.—Premier Bowell is still holding the fort and has considerable backing, but the split in his Cabinet is wider than ever and cannot be healed. It is war to the knife apparently between the Tupper-Foster conspiracy and the Premier. Sir Mackenzie Bowell would be more than human if he did not sharply resent the way he was trampled on by his late colleagues in the statement read by Mr. Foster. A more cold-blooded, cruel and heartless statement never was penned by a public man, and a more shameless confession of duplicity and hypocricy was never made to a deliberative assembly. The statemelt is more, much more; it is degrading to the whole Canadian people, irrespective of party. It is demoralizing to the sense of honor, fair play and manhood of the Canadian citizen. It is to the honor of the Conservatives in the House of Commons that, while New Brunswick cheered Mr. Foster when he rose, he was allowed to resume his seat in silence. The Premier's representative in the House, his chief Minister, the man who enjoyed his chief's unlimited confidence, sat down in the depths of a disgrace from which he will never rise. The same remarks apply to Mr. Foster's desk-mate, Sir Hibbert Tupper, and to every member of the Tupper crowd. As Minister of Justice, Sir Hibbert Tupper had the chief part in putting Sir Mackenzie Bowell's policy into execution. He had defended it from Antigonish to Cardwell. When the time came to finish that policy in pursuance of his own pledge to Parliament, he ratted, and went on strike, like a common millman, in the busy season.

Sir Hibbert Tupper's share in the affair is particularly discreditable. The whole conspiracy is a Tupper movement to place in power the most unscrupulous politician that ever governed in Canada. Sir Hibbert Tupper acted an unworthy part. The Tupper dynasty resolved to not only reign, but govern, and it marshalled its forces secretly, and made the attack when it thought the enemy must surrender. The Conservatives condemned Mr. N. Clarke Wallace for deserting on the eve of battle in North Ontario but that was a small thing compared with desertion of the Sovereign's representative and the Crown's adviser on the eve of meeting a strong enemy in Parliament. There are three Tuppers here directing the forces of the usurper—the High Commissioner himself, drawing the pay of his office; his son Hibbert, until yesterday drawing the pay of office, and his son Stewart of Winnipeg. All the powers of political darkness gathered in the Tupper train—the promoters of the Chignecto Marine Railway wild-cat scheme, the Hudson Bay Railway vision, Mr. Armstrong's Atlantic and Superior Railway wild-cat scheme, discredited contractors, unscrupulous heelers and promoters, partizan tools and others are here forcing the issue on the part of Tupper or ruin. Telegrams from Nova Scotia express delight at what they term "the advent of Tupper." The High Commissioner came here ostensibly bent on schemes of empire, and bearing a friendly front towards the Premier. He announced his intention of returning to England immediately after the new year, but as the conspiracy gained head he announced his intention of remaining here indefinitely.

If Premier Bowell is killed it will be by the barest conspiracy in political history, and the most self-seeking treachery. The Tupper ammunition was all prepared. Millions for every scheme expansion, expenditure, froth, thunder, loyalty. The old flag and empire. It was a nice scheme, but it may have been too nice. Schemes resting on treachery, manipulation and deceit are not the most successful. The Premier is being backed up by the Quebec Conservatives, and he is negotiating daily with Mr. Clarke Wallace, who had a long interview with him this evening in the Senate apartments. Mr. Joncas, one of the Quebec leaders, said to-day to your correspondent: "We must stand by Premier Bowell, and, if necessary, fall with him." This fairly expresses the view of the Quebec Conservatives.

At to-day's meeting of the Cabinet four new Senators were appointed. They are Michael Adams, M.P., for Northumberland, N.B.; Sir John Carling, M.P. for London; Hon. J. C. Aikins of Toronto, ex-Lieut.-Governor of Manitoba, and G. B. Baker, M.P. for Missisquoi. The three constituencies opened by the above appointments will not be filled until the general elections.

The following Senators were introduced in the Upper Chamber to-night: Sir William Hingston, Hon. Josiah Wood, James O'Brien, J. E. Villeneuve and William Owens.

It is expected that a Liberal-Conservative caucus will be held on Thursday.

A meeting of Quebec Tlews was held to-night, at which it was decided to endeavor to secure Remedial Legislation this session.

Mr. Flint gives notice of motion in favor of prohibition.

Mr. Lepine proposes to introduce an 8-hour bill.

Notice is given to-day of several old legislative friends in the shape of bills promoted by private members. Brother George Carey was the first to get legislation before the House. He introduced two railway bills to-day.

Captain Victor Williams, who is well known in Ottawa, has accepted the adjutancy of the Royal Canadian Dragoons at Winnipeg. Capt. Williams is at present attached to the school of instruction at Toronto. He will leave at once for Winnipeg, accompanied by his wife, who is a daughter of Mr. Hugh Sutherland.

TRANSVAAL CRISIS.

The Danger of Further Trouble is Over.

DESPATCHES FROM THE GOVERNOR

He Was Unable to Recall Jameson in Time Because the Wires Were Cut—English People Still Resentful Towards the German Emperor—The Flying Squadron.

London, Jan. 8.—A despatch from Pretoria, dated Jan. 6, says Sir Hercules Robinson, Governor of the Cape Colony, after consulting with the heads of the Transvaal Government, informed the people in the Rand that they would be allowed 20 hours from noon that day to lay down their arms unconditionally.

Direct From the Governor

London, Jan. 8.—The following statement has been issued by the Colonial Office: "Governor Robinson of the Cape Colony, telegraphed to Mr. Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, from Pretoria, on Jan. 7: I communicated to F. J. Newton, Secretary of the Colony of British Bechuanaland, your telegram of the 5th, and received a reply from him that he had been absent nearly a fortnight prior to the raid into the Transvaal. He arrived at Mafeking on December 29 and heard then, after the telegraph lines had been closed, that Jameson's force was leaving. That night the wires were cut and the first message that got through, December 30, was yours directing me to send Dr. Jameson an order to return. About one-fifth of Jameson's force started from Mafeking, and the rest from Pietsani, in the British South Africa Company's new territory. Jameson left only ten policemen in the whole of the Bechuanaland Protectorate, and of these four were doing customs duty. The whole country was virtually unpoliced. There was no representative of the South Africa Company in Mafeking and no magistrate in the company's territory. There was only one representative of the company in the lower Protectorate, and he had joined Jameson's force."

Governor Robinson adds: "Newton will come to Pretoria at my invitation to confer with me in regard to reducing the Protectorate."

Governor Robinson telegraphed Mr. Chamberlain on Jan. 7: "Johannesburg surrendered unconditionally this afternoon and gave up arms."

President Kruger has intimated his intention to hand over Jameson and the other prisoners upon the frontier of Natal. You may be satisfied that the crisis is over and all danger of further hostilities ended."

England is Unanimous

The St. James' Gazette, in an article under the caption, "Getting ready," and The Globe, in an editorial headed "Taking up the gage," calls attention to the unanimity displayed by all classes and parties in Great Britain in resenting the Kaiser's message to President Kruger.

It is announced upon official authority that Admiral Rawson, commanding the Cape and West Africa squadron, has been ordered to take his flagship, the St. George, to Delagoa Bay.

An official despatch from Pretoria says Dr. Jameson will be released and handed over to Sir Hercules Robinson, Governor of the Cape Colony, on the frontier of the Transvaal.

Despite the receipt of evasive replies from Sheerness and Portsmouth to enquiries in regard to The Times' assertion that orders have been given to put six warships in commission, it is known that the report that a flying squadron is to be formed is true. The admiralty are now preparing lists of the officers and men for the squadron, which will comprise the armored battleships Royal Oak and Revenge, and the cruisers Gibraltar, Hermione, Charybdis and Theseus.

The Governors of the Portsmouth and Sheerness dockyards declared this morning that they had not received any orders to prepare a flying squadron, but said that several ships were available for such use immediately. In political circles it is believed that the formation of a flying squadron indicates that the situation is graver than it has hitherto been thought. Afternoon newspapers all approve of preparation for war. Some of them urge the revocation of the charter of the British South Africa Co., after which England would be able to fight Germany with clean hands.

Mr. Chamberlain now considers the crisis over and will recognize the services of the staff of the Colonial Office during the period of the tension by entertaining them at dinner at the Devonshire Club.

The new flying squadron will be put into commission Jan. 14.

A despatch to the Central News from Cape Town says the Imperial officers, with the Black Watch regiment, will go to Mafeking to supervise the disarmament and disbandment of the British South Africa Company's forces.

THE WAR SCARE ARTIST

Has Set Himself to Work to Bring England and Germany Into Conflict.

New York, Jan. 8.—A special cable despatch to The Sun from London says: The issue of peace or war in Europe hangs upon the will of the German Emperor. It was again reported yesterday from Berlin that the Kaiser assured Dr. Leyds of the Transvaal of his intention to give immediate recognition to the complete independence of the Boer Government. In view of the tremendous import of such an act, the reports of this nature cannot be accepted as true except upon the authority of the Emperor himself. The moment the Kaiser sends a Minister to Pretoria, Lord Salisbury must summon a Parliament for the purpose of declaring war against Germany, or must abandon the avowed intention of the British Government to maintain its suzerainty over the Transvaal. These reports regarding the German Emperor's decision have not been denied.

Germany's Ambassador in London sent a messenger in haste to the Foreign Office yesterday to demand an immediate interview with Lord Salisbury. The Premier received him an hour later and the consultation was protracted. An enquiry was made afterward at the German Embassy as to whether it was true that the Emperor had decided to send a Minister to Pretoria. The reply was not an authorized answer to that question. Information was also refused at the Foreign Office. Attention is now absorbed in official and diplomatic circles by the European rather than the South African situation. It is the widespread conviction that the Emperor's hostile attitude has little to do with the transvaal events. That impression is growing stronger that the action is intentionally provocative of war, and that the young Kaiser must be relying upon Russian, and, perhaps, other support. There is still reason to believe that a strict censorship is maintained upon all matter leaving Cape Town. There is no independent news from British South Africa.

One effect of the Transvaal episode is inevitable. The English people will have no more chartered companies. The British South African Company may not be deprived of its charter, but it is certain to be stripped of most of its governing functions.

RIGHT IN OUR MIDST

Mr. Shipman, of Owen Sound—Seven Years' Acute Suffering—Diabetes Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

OWEN SOUND Jan. 6 (Special)—Mr. Shipman tells his story in the hope that he may benefit others, and says:—As the result of a tumble when a boy which injured my back, I have been troubled with weak kidneys all my life. For the past year I have been a great sufferer, growing worse until a friendly druggist advised me to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Tests of the urine showed Diabetes and I realized my danger. I found it impossible when tired stand upright and at such times was drawn down sideways. In all I have used about one dozen boxes and am now hearty and healthy as ever in my life.

Baltimore Easy for Queen's.

Baltimore, Jan. 8.—The hockey team of Queen's University, Kingston, defeated the team of the Baltimore Athletic Club last night with ridiculous ease. The score was 10 to 0. Two twenty-minute halves were played, the visitors scoring 7 goals in the first and three after intermission.

The interference and team work of the visitors were perfect and were loudly applauded by the large attendance at the ice rink.

The same teams will cross sticks here to-night, and on Thursday will play in Washington.

ALSO PARALYSIS.

The Stricken to be Seen in Every Community.

Many Cured of This Appaling Form of Living Death by Using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

The most startling example of human helplessness is the paralytic.

The victim excites your commiseration, but with eye clear and mind still unclouded he resents your interest.

The most hopeless sufferer of all is he of the tottering gait and dragging feet.

He of the palsied hand stiffly pressing the benumbed side is to be seen everywhere you go.

The most convincing proof that this pitiable condition is the outcome of kidney disease is the fact that Dodd's Kidney Pills cure it.

Not generally recognized as a kidney disease, it succumbs to kidney treatment.

And that is all Dodd's Kidney Pills were ever claimed to be.

That paralysis should even be placed on the list of curable diseases stands to the credit of these Pills.

Did you ever know of a cure? Just think a moment.

If you do, it must have been the work of Dodd's Kidney Pills, for no other medicine ever yet cured.

THE BEST DIPLOMATISTS.

They Are Usually Men of Whom the Public Hears Nothing.

Sir Edward Malet, in his recent speech at the dinner given in his honor by the British colony in Berlin, dwelt as follows upon the qualities which go to make up a good diplomatist:

When it became known that I was about to retire from the service, much speculation arose as to who was likely to be my successor, and the names of men who are great in other branches of the service of the Queen were suggested. For a reason which I will attempt to explain it was advanced that it would be better to fill the place with an outsider of distinction than with one belonging to the permanent diplomatic service. It is a very peculiar thing about that service that the greatest ability may be concealed beneath a bushel It is our duty to proceed noiselessly in our course. The surest proof of the merit of a diplomatist is that he is not heard of. The moment a fuss is made about him you may be pretty sure that something is wrong, for so long as he can keep everything smooth, which is the object and essence of his calling, he can attract no attention. It is a question whether a very brilliant man can ever be fitted for diplomacy. The very keenness of his intellect will impel him to dazzle the public by successes great and small.

But the victories of diplomacy must be achieved in silence, or their spoils are often lost. I remember many years ago a distinguished outsider being sent to represent us at a distant post. He was resolved upon success, but he was also resolved that his successes should be known. So he telegraphed them to one of the most influential of the daily papers—I will not say which—and I can assure you that we were all duly impressed with the records of them, and dwelt, not perhaps without envy, on the picture which was presented to us of the potentate to whom he was accredited writhing in the iron grasp of our representative. But when these reports came to be translated into the foreign press the vigilance and the jealousies of foreign nations were aroused. Reprisals were threatened in other quarters of the globe, and in the end our Minister was requested to come home. The diplomatic service heard of him no more. Yet this man would have been a useful agent if he had acquired the habits of self-negation and reticence which training alone can give. In another case a brilliant lawyer was appointed. He went to his post determined to uphold the flag as it had never been upheld before, and succeeded. Within a short space he had quarreled with a majority of his colleagues to that extent that when he gave an official dinner on the occasion of the Queen's birthday, they neither came nor sent an excuse. He afterward contributed in a slashing style to a rupture of relations, and this really showed much talent, for the nation was both a peaceful and a friendly one. He came away in a whirl of fireworks which left him in the dark, and the diplomatic service saw him no more. No, we do not want coruscating diamonds; the homely button is much more useful

I will push this simile further. The world is a huge body clad in a garment of state. The diplomatists, studded all over the earth, are the unobtrusive buttons which hold the garments together. As long as we perform this function satisfactorily we pass unnoticed because the garments continue to fit properly. It is only when we break loose or come off that we become an object of attention and discussion. For instance, I am going to come off, and on that account alone I have recently been more written about in the papers—I say it with pride than during all the eleven years that I have been Embassador. I have thus fairly outlined the causes which might lead it to be supposed that when a high post falls vacant it can be filled from outside the pale of service. Believe me that within its ranks there are men who can fill all the diplomatic posts we possess with ability and distinction, and that these posts can not be so filled except by persons who have behind them a long diplomatic training. You will not, therefore, be surprised that I should have hailed the selection of Sir Frank Lascelles as my successor with great satisfaction, a sentiment which was increased by a long-standing friendship between us. We were together at the Paris Embassy during the trying time of the Commune, and it is under such a strain that one learns best the metal that a man is made of. He has mounted step by step, the rungs of the diplomatic ladder. He is versed in all the traditions and possesses all the qualities which combine to produce distinction in a diplomatist. He will, I am sure, within a short time gain your suffrages to such an extent as to make me pleasurably jealous in my retirement.

THE NEW DEAL.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell to Remain Premier.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER TO COME IN

The Coercion Policy to Go Through—The Cabinet Slate—Bolters to Stand Outside for the Present—Humiliating Position of the Governing Party.

Ottawa, Jan. 9.—The political situation to-night is different from anything anticipated twenty-four hours ago. Light seems to break in. Premier Bowell is to remain, and Sir Charles Tupper, the High Commissioner, enters the Government as Minister of the Interior. It will be a Bowell-Tupper Government, adopting the program of the speech from the throne, with another shuffle at the end of the session, when it is arranged that Sir Charles Tupper will succeed Sir Mackenzie Bowell as Prime Minister, and with a new Government appeal to the people. The whole thing was cut and dried at Rideau Hall yesterday afternoon between Premier Bowell and Sir Charles Tupper. This is the meaning of the announcement made to Parliament this afternoon. Sir Mackenzie Bowell is to remain Premier during the session. Sir Charles Tupper, the High Commissioner, will be Minister of the Interior, and Mr. Daly Minister of Justice. The vacant Quebec portfolio is to be filled by Senator De Boucherville or Senator Masson. The Ontario vacancies are to be filled by Speaker White as Minister of Finance; Dr. Sproule, Minister of Agriculture; Mr. W. F. Maclean, Controller of Customs; Col. Tisdale, Minister of Railways and Canals. Senator Baker is to be Solicitor-General and Col. Prior Controller of Inland Revenue. Mr. Speaker White wants Agriculture, and it is hard to see why Sir Charles should not fill his old portfolio of Finance. Dr. Weldon of Albert has been strongly urged to take Mr. Foster's place in the scratch Cabinet, but he is said to have been overawed by the New Brunswick supporters of Mr. Foster. In their desperation, Hon. A. G. Blair of New Brunswick, the Liberal Premier, is mentioned as a colleague of Premier Bowell. None of the dissident Ministers are to be in the new Cabinet, but they will bide their time. The public may well be excused for laughing at this extraordinary Cabinet, but tonight it is the slate, and on the best authority. Mr. Speaker White refused to enter a Bowell Cabinet, but the Bowell-Tupper combination is a compromise forced on the party to prevent the possibility of Mr. Laurier becoming Premier during the present session, and he will enter it in some capacity, although his preference is for the portfolio of Agriculture.

Sir Charles Tupper will, it is said, run for an Ontario constituency immediately. Monck is available. Anything to bring in Tupper is the watchword. It is Tupper or ruin. Foster, Haggart, Montague and Wood are to vote for a remedial bill, or, at all evets, they will vote for the address which adopts the Speech from the Throne and pledges Parliament to coercion. They have already agreed in Council before the smash, to the draft bill, which is in type and ready to introduce. The programme is too elaborate and complicated to last, but it is the one agreed upon to-day, and it is understood that His Excellency has agreed to it so far as the reconstruction of the present Ministry is concerned. Sir Charles Tupper hopes to force Parliament to adopt the coercive bill, and some of its Ontaro opponents are to be purchased by office.

Senator Ferguson of Prnce Edgard Island admitted in the Senate to-day that a bill passed at Ottawa coercing Manitoba would be useless with Manitoba opposing it. Mr. Ferguson is a member of the Government, and that is his opinion. Mr. Speaker White is to be succeeded by Deputy Speaker Bergeron.

THE PREMIER'S STATEMENT.

Sir Mackenzie Will Undertake a Reconstruction of the Cabinet.

Immediately after the routine, upon the orders of the day being called:

Sir Mackenzie Bowell said: In the few remarks which I addressed to the Senate yesterday, I indicated that I should be in a position to state definitely to the House what course the Government proposed to pursue under the present trying circumstances. I need scarcely add that English history offers no precedent for the position in which we find ourselves to-day. There have been many occasions upon which Ministers of a Cabinet have resigned their positions, and have broken up Governments, but there is no precedent that I have been able to discover, nor have those who are learned in the law or who have made constitutional practice a study been able to put their finger upon a single instance in which a Cabinet, apparently united, met Parliament and placed an address affirming the principles and policy of the Government in the hands of Her Majesty's representative and then, after having asked for an adjournment of three or four days, in the interim, or between the time of the delivery of the address and the assembling of Parliament again, that seven members, or in fact any portion of the Cabinet have sent in their resignations. I need scarcely say that we are, or have been, establishing a precedent, which I trust in the future, no matter what party may be in power, will not be repeated. For our own credit, let us endeavor to follow as far as possible to do so the precedents which we find in the Mother Land. The precedents which have been laid down in the constitution, and which, as you all know, is very elastic, not bound as many other countries are, particularly the country to the south of us, where they have a written constitution, and within the provisions of that constitution they have to abide upon all occasions, unless where there are disputes which can be appealed to the Supreme Court for a decision, or by a two-thirds majority of the people of the nation, change the provisions of that constitution. In this country we are not so hampered. We have had an illustration of it since the opening of Parliament. We have a Government meet Parliament with an avowed policy, and in a few days afterwards a majority of the Cabinet retired, for reasons which were given to the public in the statement made by my late colleague, the Hon. Mr. Foster, ex-Minister of Finance, speaking as he did for his colleagues, or those with whom he was acting. Those reasons were not reasons, strange to say, of strict policy. They were not reasons which would justify any member of the Government for retiring from that Government, unless there was something in the character or reputation of the head which would justify their leaving and refusing in future to associate with him. Whether such a state of things exists I must leave to the judgment not only of this House, but of the country in which I have lived for the last 65 years. These gentlemen, in their statement, make this important statement, and I read it because I am desirous of having it placed upon the records of the Senate, though some portions of it reflect upon myself; not upon my moral character; not upon my political character; for I defy any man, whether he be a political opponent or a political friend, from one end of the Dominion to the other, though I have been serving my constituency for many years, and for 17 years in which I have been at the head of one of the most important departments in the state, to put his finger upon a single act that can be called either political or moral dishonesty. (Applause.) It may be thought that I feel somewhat warmly upon a question of this kind. You will come naturally, I think, to the conclusion that one who has been so long in public, one who has served under the most brilliant intellect that has ever graced the Parliament of Canada, and that I have remained there for no less than 17 1-4 years, when all the rest have either retired or passed away, that there must be something at least in this old grey head of mine that justifies my rising to a position of that kind, notwithstanding the opinion of those men who have left the Cabinet over which I preside. It is not my habit, either in private life, and more particularly in public life, to boast of my achievements and acquirements. No man in this assembly knows better than I do how unfit I am for the important positions which have devolved upon me, but I say this, and I desire to say it so that it may be handed down to my children and others, that whatever position in life I have occupied, whether it has been in the Legislative Assembly of Canada or in the Senate, or in the council of my country, until I reached the pinnacle of fame so far as political aspirations are concerned, that I ever sought, directly or indirectly, from friends or from any one, for any of those positions. When as a young man I was dragged from my business and asked to contest a constituency, it was against my own inclination. I positively refused to do it until forced into it by my party, to which I have adhered, I hope, with fidelity in the past, which has characterized my whole political life. I say that because I am firmly of the conviction—I dare say my friend who sits opposite me will not acquiesce—that the interest and the maintenance of the Conservative party in this country is a synonym for the porsperity and good of the country. (Hear, hear.) I make that explanation as a reason why I have adhered from boyhood up to my early opinions, and I know of no party that has for its foundation, or its basis upon which it acts, any more strict and fundamental principle than that of adhering strictly to the constitution that guides us. Now, I do not desire to dwell at any greater length upon the personal part of this explanation. I have again to state, after a long life in this country, working my way up from the printer's desk to the position which I hold to-day, that I can appeal with satisfaction to the whole country, and more particularly to those with whom I have been associated the most of my time, to say whether I have fulfilled the duties pertaining to the different offices that I have held, or whether I have been a failure. That is all I have to say upon this question further than this, that having been successful in every position in life which I have held, having risen to the top in every position in which I have been placed, and even in the present trying circumstances, I hesitate not to say and to say it boldly—I would not have stated it had not such reasons as were given to the House been advanced as the cause which induced these gentlemen to leave the Government—I say that had I had that loyal support which every Premier ought to have in his endeavors to govern the country that characterized the support that was given most loyally to my late chiefs, Sir John Macdonald and Sir John Thompson, that I would have been just as successful in carrying on the affairs of the Government as my predecessors, though not possessed of the same ability or political tact or stratagem as they were. (Cheers.) No one felt his inability more than I did when I was placed in the important position of head of the Government, following, as I did, such men as the Right Hon. Sir John Macdonald, Sir John Abbott and the Right Hon. Sir John Thompson, all of whom we all knew and revered, not only the gentlemen individually, but for their intellect and ability. Had not that jealousy prevailed, and the ambition to destroy the usefulness of the Government, been so firmly rooted in the breast of those with whom I was associated, I flatter myself that we should have been as successful in carrying on the affairs of this country.

Now, in order that this may be placed upon record I will read what Mr. Foster stated. In the House of Commons he started out with this declaration: "I may say in the first place that there is no disagreement between ourselves and the Premier upon any question of public policy, trade or constitutional, with regard to which action has already been taken, or in respect to which an attitude has been assumed by the Government under the present Premier. I beg also to say that we retain our firm belief in the principles and policy of the Liberal-Conservative party with which we are in entire accord, and of which, in common with others, we have been and will remain the exponents in so far as our ability admits. We have lost none of our confidence in the sound and healthy condition of the Liberal-Conservative party of Canada, or of our belief that it embodies a policy which the majority of the electorate considers essential to the continued welfare and progress of the country, or of our faith that under firm and prudent leadership it will come back triumphant from the polls."

In that respect I am fully in accord in sentiment and in feeling with my late colleague. He states there that there has been no difference of opinion between us. That being the case, can any of you conceive why, after the Parliament has met, after the address has been promulgated, not only to Parliament, but to the whole country, that you should find seven of the Cabinet coming to Parliament and sending in their resignations, simply because they did not like the gentleman with whom they had been associting, some of them for eight or ten years, and whose ability or character they knew just as well as they do to-day? however inferior to their own it may have been—and I readily admit that I never assumed that I had the gigantic intellect with which these gentlemen who have retired from the Cabinet have been endowed. (Laughter and cheers.) Not at all. All I claim for myself is this: A moral honesty, a firm conviction of what is right, and the determination under all circumstances, whether it pleases the prejudices of one party or another, to endeavor to carry out the policy of the Government and put it in force.

Now comes the gist of the explanation.

"Though with many misgivings we finally agreed to enter the Government under Mr. Bowell in succession to Sir John Thompson, we have nevertheless unitedly and loyally striven to the best of our ability to make it strong and efficient, and it has been with growing regret that we have seen our efforts result in a measure of success less than that for which we had hoped and striven. We are of the opinion that the Liberal-Conservative party ought to be represented by the strongest Government possible to be secured from its ranks; that its necessity, therefore, was never greater than under existing circumstances. We believe that such a Government can be formed without delay. This we have repeatedly urged upon the Premier, with the result that we found ourselves face to face with Parliament having a Government with its members incomplete and with no assurance that the present Premier could satisfactorily complete it. Under these circumstances we thought it our duty to retire, and in this manner to pave the way if possible for the formation of a Government whose Premier could command the confidence of all his colleagues, could satisfy the Liberal Conservative party that its strongest elements were at its head, and impress the country that it had a Government which was united and had power to govern. We affirm, with the utmost sincerity, that the action we have taken has sprung from no feeling of personal dislike or of personal ambition, but has been soely dictated by our wish to sink all minor considerations in the presence of our great desire that the best interests of our party and country should be duly conserved."

I might naturally, I think, ask if these were the sincere convictions of the gentleman who wrote this, or in the other sense who acquiesced in these sentiments, how is it that the discovery was not made until we were in the beginning of a session, until it was impossible, almost, to proceed with the business of the country without having not only a disintegration of the Government itself, but treating he people of this country with, I was going to say, comparative contempt? Surely my colleagues knew my incapacity to govern, to rule and control before the two days after the meeting of Parliament, when they sent in their resignations. Surely they could not have come to the opinion that I was unfit to continue at the head of this Government in so short a period. What occurred between the writing of that address, the placing of it in His Excellency's hands, the meeting of Parliament, and the delivery of that address by His Excellency? What, I ask, could possibly have occurred, or what have you been told that occurred during the last two or three days to lead them to a conclusion which induced and impelled them to take so important a step as they have done? Had they come to me previous to the meeting of Parliament, had they met me in Council and said, "We disagree with the policy which you have laid down," had they said in any single particular there was a difference of opinion upon the great issues that were agitating the people of this country, and we cannot by any possibility be a party to it, or had they gone further and said, "After one year and a quarter's experience of you as head of the Government, we have lost confidence in your ability to continue to administer the affairs of this country, or rather to direct the affairs of the country," then I could have understood it; then I could have said, "Take the reins of government, I will not stand in the way," and I never shall in the future stand in the way of the success of that great party to which I have had the honor of belonging from boyhood up, and towards which I have done something, for its prosperity and continuance in office.

At this point the Premier was forced to almost break down from hoarseness and Senator Deboucherville suggested that the hon. gentleman ought to rest for a few moments before continuing with his remarks.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell immediately responded, "Oh, no, I will endeavor to do in this instance, as I have done in every other, never give up." (Prolonged cheers and applause.) Continuing, he said: You will note, however, one sentence in this explanation which might leave a false impression upon the minds of the readers in the country. I refer to this paragraph:

"This we have repeatedly urged upon the Premier, with the result that we found ourselves face to face with Parliament having a Government with its members incomplete, and with no assurance that the present Premier could satisfactorily complete it."

He says: "Nevertheless, we have unitedly and loyally striven to the best of our ability to make it strong and efficient." That is, the Government. I shall not

THE OTTAWA SITUATION.

At Ottawa the strain continues, and to say that the situation is unprecedented is superfluous. Sir Adolf Caron hit the nail on the head when he said in the House, in reference to the citation of a precedent by Mr. Laurier, that it was useless to quote precedents because the present situation was unprecedented. The Premier is allowed more time to patch up his Cabinet, the Governor-General refusing to accept his resignation, which was tendered. He must meet the House and dispose of the speech from the throne. Those who were preparing to compliment Sir Mackenzie on his pluck were premature. He not only tried to resign but is creditably credited with something far worse, coquetting and conspiring with Sir Charles for the latter's succession to the Premiership. The programme is, the House will meet, remedial legislation be passed or rejected and then Sir Mackenzie will retire in favour of the great "plunger," who will become Premier. Such a programme will be ruinous to the country. It is simply a party plot, in which the interests of the country will be sacrificed to ultimately retaining the present disgraceful regime. Sir Charles will simply try to bulldoze the country into endorsing his Cabinet. Then he will resign and resume his handsome $10,000 a year, and we shall have a Cabinet composed of the political brigands who knifed Sir Mackenzie in the back, and have attempted to govern this great country by conspiracy. Tupper, as a permanency, would be bad, inexpressibly bad; but it is a question whether the bolting ministers, and the gang they would associate with themselves, would not be worse. But this little plot is subject to the approval of the people, who, it seems from recent events, are in no mood to submit to have the weightiest interests of the nation made the cat's paw of intriguing, conspiring, reckless, unprincipled politicians, who can give points to Tammany in its rankest days on plotting and political turpitude. The sunshine of the situation consists in the fact that behind all the plotting and planning the figure of Mr. Laurier as head of the Government is seen. He is the man to meet the wants of the country, longing for good government in the interest of the people, instead of saturnalia of corruption and intrigue for the benefit of a band of plunder-hungry politicians.

MR. LAURIER IS THE MAN.

The Globe, in the conclusion of an able article dealing with the present political situation, speaks as follows regarding Mr. Laurier's place in political life:—"No device can prevent the will of the people of Canada from expressing itself in the elevation of the Hon. Wilfrid Laurier to the highest position in their gift. He is the foremost figure in the public life of Canada. He is at the head of a party united, full of enthusiasm, strong in policy, strong in numbers, gaining in strength every day. He is a man of broad and liberal views, honoured by the dislike of extremists in Ontario and extremists in Quebec. Under his guidance racial and sectarian quarrels will disappear from politics, and due attention will be given to the real business of a Federal Government and Parliament. We shall have an era of safe, progressive, businesslike administration. The talents and energy of Liberal statesmen will be devoted to the reduction of debt and taxation, the extension of trade and the revival of industry by the removal of unwise restrictions. The election laws will be so modified as to permit of the fair and free expression of the will of the people, no matter to what party they may belong—Liberals, Conservatives, Patrons, men of all parties and creeds and races will share in the benefits of the great deliverance that is at hand. It will be a triumph not merely for Liberalism but for the Canadian people against the cliques that are now frittering away great opportunities by their squabbles and intrigues, against privilege and monopoly, against senseless quarrels of race and creed, against all that impedes the growth of the nation.

POSITION OF THE PARTIES.

In the House of Commons which is now in session, the parties have the following standing:

	C.	L.	Absent or McC. vacant
Ontario	48	32	3 4
Quebec	20	24	.. 1
Nova Scotia	15	6	.. ..
New Brunswick	14	2	.. ..
P. E. I.	2	4	.. ..
B. C.	6	0	.. ..
Manitoba and N. W.	3	1	.. ..
	128	79	3 5
	87
	41	highest possible Conservative maj.

The four absent or vacant seats in Ontario are Denison (ill, we regret to say, from an incurable disease), Corby (absent), the Speaker and West Huron (vacant). The one vacancy in Quebec is Charlevoix. Mr. Clarke Wallace is classified with the Conservatives. But on the Manitoba question he and several Ontario Conservatives would vote against the Government's policy.

When the bolters performed the Cabinet trick did Dr. Montague do the mysterious slate writing?

The Mail and Empire remarks in dealing with the present situation at Ottawa, that in the Conservative ranks every man is to take his place, whatever it may be. None of them exhibit any very fervent anxiety to take a place in Premier Bowell's shattered Cabinet.

Sir William Hingston, the St. Thomas Journal remarks, was not fit to represent Montreal Centre in the Commons, but he is good enough for the Senate. The manner in which he was pitchforked into it would indicate that he had been promised the Senatorship as his price for contesting the riding, and the Government was bound to pay its debts before it was told to go. Such deeds as this disgrace alike the Government and the Senate.

One on a Lawyer.

A lawyer tells the following story in The Green Bag: "Some time ago he had under cross-examination a youth from the country who rejoiced in the name of Samson, and whose replies were provocative of much laughter in the court. 'And so,' questioned the barrister, 'you wish the court to believe that you are a peaceably disposed and inoffensive kind of person?' 'Yes.' 'And that you have no desire to follow in the steps of your illustrious namesake and smite the Philistines?' 'No, I've not,' answered the witness. 'And if I had the desire I ain't got the power at present.' 'Then you think you would be unable to cope successfully with a thousand enemies and utterly rout them with the jawbone of an ass?' 'Well,' answered the ruffled Samson, 'I might have a try when you have done with the weapon.'"

Where the Miracle Came In.

A negro preacher addressed his flock with great earnestness on the subject of "Miracles" as follows: "My beloved friends, de greatest of all miracles was 'bout the loaves and fishes. Dey was five thousand loaves and two thousand fishes, and de twelve 'postles had to eat 'em all. De miracle is, dey didn't bust."—Atlanta Constitution.

THE M'CORD CASE.

Twenty-Seven Months' Ailing, Nine Months Helpless.

His Disease Pronounced Diabetes and Incurable—Given up by Himself and Friends—Cured by Nine Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Richmond, Jan. 10th.—(Special).—This has been a day of unusual crowds and excitement here. The talk of the farmers and others in town for holiday trading is mostly all about the recently published cure of Wm. McCord, a farmer living not far out, and one of our oldest inhabitants.

The presence of Mr. McCord made assurance visible, for many who who heard of his cure thought recovery impossible.

Among other things in praise of Dodd's Kidney Pills he said: "After the doctors pronounced my trouble diabetes, no one thought that I should ever be cured."

"I was partly paralysed and to get out of bed had to roll out."

"Was nine months unable to do even a chore about the place; could barely trail myself along."

"I ran down in weight and there was little left of me but the shell."

"But when I commenced taking Dodd's Kidney Pills I stuck close to directions and I could see great improvement before the first box was finished."

"In all I took nine boxes and am as well as ever I was in my life, though past sixty years of age."

"I always say that Dodd's Kidney Pills should be bought the same as groceries and kept in the house for colds, and the first signs of rheumatism and such like."

Miss Mary Eastside and Her Vacation.

I got a chance t' go t' Saratogy las' summer. The boss's wife took me. She wanted one of th' young ladies, t' go with her, an' she selected me 'cause she said't I suited her complecksh'n. Bought me a suit too; an' a hat. No style t' th' hat. George didn't like it neither, an' he says t' me:

"Mary Ellen, by jimminy Christmas! If I thought you was a-goin' up there ter work th' widder rackit on some o' them howlin' swells, with them durn black things, I'd send that hat chasin' your las' summer' parrysol; an' don't you slip no cogs about it neither!"

The parrysol was one't he bought me fer not bitin' my nails fer a month; an' jest as soon as I got it I went t' chewin' 'em ag'in worse'n ever. So one Sund'y afternoon he fired th' parrysol inter th' East River.

There really is nothin' in Saratogy t' amuse a young lady; no shootin'-jutes nur roller-coasters, nur nothin'.

An' as fur them waters! U-u-g-g-h-h! I got a chance t' dance oncet at one o' th' hops. I had on my white dress, an' I pretty near danced th' feller t' death. He thanked me an' I tol' him "no thanks at all," an' t' jest go an' take off his jew'lry so's t' light'n him up a little an' I'd give him another go. But he didn't come round ag'in.

I was out walkin' one afternoon an' a pasty-faced dude come up t' me an' touched his hat an' says:

"Miss Cleveland, I believe?"

"Which one of th' dawters of th' President o' th' United States was you takin' me fur?" I says. An' he says: "Oh, I beg youh pahdon. But I mistook you foh a young lady membah of th' foah hundwed that I met heah lawst summah. But weally now, isn't youah name Cleveland?"

"No, but your name is Mud!" I says; an' as he was walkin' off I hollered after him: "Stick by these Saratogy waters, Johnny. See if they don't put some paddin' in that holler where yer stummick ought ter be."

Next mornin' after I got home t' New York Bob brought me my breakfast: a plate of fried pertaters cut about half an inch thick, an' a tumbler of saleratis water. Said he didn't want me ter change my diet too suddint.—Judge.

THE NEW DEAL.

comment upon their statement. I could, however, characterize it in better language than that in which the sentence is couched, and more than that, with no less degree of truth. Then, they state that they waited upon me repeately in order to insist upon the Government being strengthened in its personnel. That is quite true, but is there a single word in any of those sentences which would lead you to believe after what has been whispered about the country, that it was the head of the Government they were striking at, instead of the members of the Government? It is true that they waited upon me and pointed out the necessity of strengthening the Government, as all Governments ought to be strengthened, and according to my own views, I should acquiesce in any proposition of that kind; but there is no intimation in those interviews other than pointing to certain members of the Government whom they thought ought to go out. Certainly they never meant themselves, because from this statement one would suppose that all the wisdom was concentrated in their craniums. But there were others of whom they had not so exalted opinions, and had they intimated to me that I was one of them, I should have made way for them; but I heard nothing of that until two days after Parliament had met. I make that explanation in order that I may verify their statement as to their anxiety for strengthening the Government. My hon. friend opposite me (Senator Scott) has had some little experience during the five years he had the responsibilities of that office resting on his shoulders. At least, if he had not, the newspapers of the day and the rumors of political opponents were not correct.

Having said that much in reference to this explanation and so far as it affects myself personally, I leave it, and I leave myself, whatever may be my future state, in the hands of my countrymen, and leave them to judge whether a life of some 50 years, to a greater or less extent spent in politics, in conducting a journal advocating the policy of the party with which I have been connected from its inception until the present day, and whether 20 years of parliamentary life justifies the position that my colleagues have taken, or the imputation which they have cast upon my character or my reputation as a politician. I leave that to the country and to those who know me and to those who do not know me, to those who are directly my political opponents, to say whether my conduct has ever been otherwise than that of a straightforward, perhaps blundering politician, always ready to express my sentiments and to cast my vote for my party in the interests of the country, and with some little ability at least.

The matter of precedents was touched on by the Premier, after which he said: Let me say this and I hope it will not be considered a reflection on some of my party, but I mean precisely what I say—that the crisis to a certain extent has been brought about because, having a great question before the country, the prominent men who were most interested in having it settled did not come forward and render that assistance that I say under the circumstances particularly they should have done, no matter at what personal sacrifice it may have been.

It was not in Ontario a fight for any particular principle that they held so dear, but it was a fight for the constitution of the country. It was a fight to fix firmly upon the minds of the people that under no circumstances could any province be permitted to infringe on the rights and privileges of any portion of its people, no matter what individual opinion may be, or may have been upon the questions which divided them. I look forward with very grave apprehension to the times when any one province shall be permitted by the Federal power to interfere with and deprive any portion of its people of rights which are guaranteed to them by the constitution. Whatever may be the position of the Catholic portion of the people of Manitoba to-day, although I may say that I have greater faith in the wisdom and patriotism of the French-Canadian fellow-citizen of the Province of Quebec, still I say that what is the fate of a minority in one province to-day may be the fate of another minority and another creed in another province to-morrow. That unfortunate condition may be brought about by the very fact that a majority is permitted to interfere with and deprive a minority of their rights. If we desire to make this a great and united country; if we desire to see one homogeneous people living together in peace and harmony, we have to learn to respect individual opinion and the sacred rights, guaranteed to them, either implied or direct, in the constitution. These are the views which I hold on this question. I yield not my own individual views upon political or religious questions to any man. I live in a country in which it is our pleasure to be able to say that the Crown and the country recognize the rights of every one of its subjects. No matter where those rights are infringed, in any part of the world, it is [illegible] not only the duty but world with impunity. No doubt there is much more that I could say on that subject, but I do not propose to do so at the present moment.

Sir MacKenzie Bowell then told the details of the Caron-Montague episode in so far as he was connected therewith. His explanation was to the same effect as has been stated in the newspapers and concluded as follows:

I think I may close by stating what it is proposed to do. I do so with a great deal of diffidence, because I would much rather retire from public life than go through once more the ordeal through which I have gone during the last week or ten days. If my retirement from official life will aid in the perpetuation of the principles of the Conservative party, and keep it where I think it ought to be, that is to say, in power, it would be a matter of small moment to me whether I retire from the position which I hold, or whether I leave political life altogether; but as long as I am in this position, I propose to act in a strictly constitutional manner and to do only that which is believed to be constitutional and justified by precedent. Should I be defeated, either in the House or at the polls, it will be an honorable defeat; but to go down now after having been attacked in this manner would, I consider, be dishonorable, and leave a stain upon my reputation which I do not desire to hand down to my family. Therefore, I beg to state that after several interviews with the Governor-General respecting the resignation of seven of my colleagues from the Cabinet, I yesterday waited upon His Excellency for the purpose of tendering my resignation. His Execellency, however, intimated that he was not at that moment prepared to receive it. The chief reason for this attitude on the part of His Excellency is that the Speech from the Throne, although presented to Parliament, has not yet been considered, nor an expression of opinion given by Parliament upon it. It is regarded by His Excellency as unfitting that the Premier, as the head of the Administration, and responsible for that speech, should not have a full opportunity of reviewing the situation and testing the feelings of Parliament thereon.

Under these circumstances I deem it my duty to endeavor, as far as in me lies, to reorganize the Government. (Cheers.) I therefore move that when this House adjourns, it do stand adjourned until Tuesday, the 14th inst., at 3 p.m., or if the House desires it, I have no objection to making it Monday at 3 p.m., or at 8 p.m., whichever may be desired. If I cannot succeed in reorganizing the Administration within these 3 days, then I shall do that which is the constitutional duty of every Premier who finds himself in such circumstances, namely, place my resignation in the hands of His Excellency.

Let me say this, to close, that although I am not going to pledge myself publicly to the details of any measure which may be proposed in Parliamene. I wish it distinctly understood that whatever Government is formed, if I am to be its leader, must be formed on the basis of the principles enunciated in the Speech from the Throne. (Loud cheers.) Otherwise I shall not consent to be connected with any body of men who are not prepafed to carry ont and hold inviolate the pledges which were then solemnly made to Parliament. (Cheers.)

The motion to adjourn until Tuesday was carried.

WHOLE HOG OR NONE.

The Morgan Syndicate Will Take the Whole Bond Issue or None.

New York, Jan. 9.—From a subscribing member of the J. Pierpont-Morgan bond syndicate the following facts have been obtained: The syndicate expects to secure the entire $100,000,000 four per cent. bonds which are to be sold by the Treasury on Feb. 5.

Mr. Morgan is not at all annoyed at the so-called popular call. He knew all about it and made his arrangements accordingly.

The syndicate will bid for the entire issue and expects to be awarded the entire $100,000,000. It will take all or none

Maltine With Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites—a Food, Medicine and Digestive.

Thousands of invalids are starving—starving in the midst of plenty and despite the tender care of loved ones. Health is restored, not by what is eaten, but by what is digested. Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites is a food, for it is rich in the nourishing properties of wheat, oats, and barley; a medicine, for it is combined with the best Norwegian oil, which it renders palatable, non-irritating, and readily assimilated; and a powerful digestive, for it acts rapidly upon starchy foods, making them soluble and capable of supplying in abundance the elements of nutrition. One bottle is of greater remedial value than ten bottles of any emulsion. Try it.

Debts Settled on New Year's.

On New Year's eve in Japan handfuls of beans are thrown about the rooms and over the threshold to exorcise evil spirits who may be about.

Before the new year the merchants endeavor to get in all the money that is owed to them and to pay or settle their own debts. As a consequence many things can be bought very cheaply at the end of the year, for ready money is the great desideratum. Men carrying trays of something looking like white worms go through the streets crying, "Soba, soba!" the Japanese form of macaroni, which, eaten with soy sauce, is a favorite delicacy with the coolies and jinriksha men. For their little customers these men make all sorts of figures of devils, gods and animals from this paste.—Exchange.

WATCHING THE OLD YEAR OUT.

The Custom Once Common In New England Has Nearly Passed Away.

An old fashioned "watch night" in New England or the middle states was until recently one of the institutions of this country. The keen, frosty air of the early evening bore upon its crystalline and twinkling depths the sound of numerous strings of sleighbells converging to the church. The well loaded cutters and the crowded sleighs hissed through the creaking snow, that stamped off with loud emphasis at the porch door, announced the arrival of each load. The interior of the church, heated to almost a point of discomfort by big stoves, still retains the decorations put up when the Christmas tree did service before its removal. The usual chatter and gossip soon subside. A solemn hush falls over the assembly, and when the first hymn is given out it is sung with more hearty uplift of tone than usual. The prayer is more fervent than usual, and the anthem that follows it is more like a dirge. The young elder, who is present, preaches an address, the tones of which fall on all hearts with a sadness that begets repentance. No such theme as this finds expression at any other portion of the year, "We all do fade as a leaf," and then he closes with Longfellow's mournful words:

Howl, howl, and from the forest
Strip the red leaves away.
Would the sins that thou abhorest,
O soul, could thus decay
And be swept away!
Kyrie eleison! Christie eleison!

More singing, more prayers, all instinct with earnestness, and then a shrill voiced girl recites Prentice's "Dying Year,"

'Tis midnight's holy hour, etc.

Another Tennyson's "Old Year," then comes a breathless waiting, and the bell strikes, when a joyous "Amen!" is followed by a burst of song that every one joins in.—Chicago Tribune.

New Year Fairies In Wales.

Among the Welsh people fairies are known by the name of "y tylwyth teg," which means the fair folk or family, and are believed to have remarkable privileges on New Year's eve, at which time they are said to be rampant and to possess unusual power. They are thought to have a great fondness for children, and woe betide the fond mother who has in any way offended the tylwyth teg during the now dying year. Let such a mother watch carefully and unceasingly at the cradle where her darling lies sleeping on New Year's eve, for if she fails to do so the malicious fairies will come in her absence and steal away the child and substitute for it a "plentyn newid," or changling, who, though it may at first be the exact counterpart of the stolen little one, will soon alter into a frightful looking, shrunken, puling brat, not unfrequently becoming idiotic.—New York World.

A HEAVY MORTGAGE.

How a prominent farmer quickly lifted it.

A mortgage has been described as an incentive to industry, a heavy mortgage, as a sure sign of ruin. The last is particularly true, for if a mortgage is allowed to ran it will eat up the farm. In this connection Mr. Henry Fowler, of Huron writes: "From my boyhood scrofula had marked me for a victim and it seemed as if it had a life mortgage on my blood. I suffered fearfully with sores, and knowing my condition I have remained a single man. Doctor after doctor prescribed for me, and finally a Toronto specialist told me bluntly that my complaint was a deep-seated, incurable, blood disease. Sarsaparilla I knew was a good blood medicine, and I sent for a bottle of the best. Mr. Todd, the druggist, sent me Scott's Sarsaparilla, and I have stuck to it. It has lifted my mortgage, for to-day I am free from those horrible sores, my eyesight is not blurred, my tongue is not furry, and I have no irritation. I look upon Scott's Sarsaparilla as a marvellous medicine when it will cure a life long disease in so short a time."

Scrofula, pimples, running sores, rheumatism and all diseases generated by poisonous humors in the blood are cured by Scott's Sarsaparilla. The kind that cures. Sold only in concentrated form at $1 per bottle by your druggist. Dose from half to one teaspoonful.

GRATIFICATION SALE

PREPARATORY TO STOCK-TAKING!

Our gratification for the successful business which our two big stores have been favoured with during the year just closed, is oozing out of every pore.

Our bounding enthusiasm urges us—perhaps rashly—to making our January business something phenomenal—something better and greater than anything in the past! Besides—

It's Price-Pruning Time, Previous to Taking Stock.

That usually means selling at about cost, but we mean to crowd bnsiness by crowding down prices away below anything you've ever known before.

The whole of our immense stock of Men's, Youth's and Boy's Clothing, Furnishings, Hats, Boots and Shoes, &c., have been marked down for immediate sale to prices that will make the whole Town and Country ring with the startling news!

Our Prices are Dwarfs! Our Values are Giants!

You lucky fellows who have been waiting for the cold weather, have struck it rich! Don't let go of that mighty dollar until you have seen what we are doing in the way of cut prices on Suits, Overcoats, Underwear, Hats and Boots.

Six Small Boys.

This morning six lads were ranged before the Magistrate with downcast faces. It seems that the other day they surreptitiously appropriated a quantity of wood from Mr. T. Deep Snow in Auburn.

Anyone with sufficient enterprise to carry up a few score pair of snowshoes to Auburn, could make quite a few shillings out of the residents in that portion of the town, as the snowplough has not visited them yet and great difficulty is experienced in getting down town through the deep drifts. The villagers are after the North Ward contractor with a sharp stick.

The Sewer Contracts.

The Street, Bridge and Sewerage Committees met last night for the purpose of squaring accounts with the contractors, but no satisfactory settlement was reached. Contractor Bogue has a very long list of extras and the committee disputes the payment thereof on the ground that there was no authority given for the construction of work entailing these extras. The committee meet again immediately.

The Annuals Nearly all Gone.

Bear in mind that we have a very limited supply of Sunday at Home and Leisure Hour — latest editions. If you wish to secure a copy at half price, namely $1.00, come at once to the Peterborough Bookstore, or telephone No. 235, and we will send you a copy. Girls' Own and Boys' Own Annual are just about closed out—the price sells them. You cannot get better, cheaper or more interesting reading for less money. A. H. STRATTON & Co.

A Gem of a Calendar.

The EXAMINER thanks Mr. D. W. Little, agent for the Singer Sewing Machine Company, for the handsomest calendar of the many fine calendars received at this office. It is issued by the great Singer Sewing Machine concern, and is a veritable gem. It is floral in design, and consists of four sheets clasped with heavy silk cord. Each page contains a quarter's calendar, which is enclosed in a beautiful bunch of flowers in their natural colours, a different kind for every sheet. It is really a high art production, and is equal in beauty of design and execution to many of the high-priced calendars sold at Christmas time.

Special Notice.

What an exchange says of the Tyrolean Troubadour and Swiss Warblers: "Without a doubt the most attractive feature of the evening's programme was the singing of the Tyrolean Troubadours. Miral Meister, J. Kolm, Hans Glieber and Helene Ewers, who compose the Tyrolean quartette, have voices of remarkable range and the singing of their national songs, warbles, yodles and solos was the feature of the evening's entertainment."—New York Herald. This concert company, assisted by Elwer P. Ransons, the popular entertainer, appears at Bradburn's Opera House next Tuesday evening. Lovers of music should not miss this treat.

Snow Ploughing.

So far this winter the snow ploughing has been very unsatisfactorily done and some of the contractors are likely to get a wigging at to-night's meeting of the Council. The last snow fall, it was not finished in time to have the walks clear for children attending school, a most important matter. As a sample of the judgment exercised in the central division, the snow plough came through Babb's lane from Homewood avenue, upon Gilmour street. Instead of taking the walk on the north side to the west end of the street, the plough was taken up the middle of the street, removing the snow from the drive, which was so light as to afford very poor sleighing, [illegible] scraped off down to the dust. WEEK OF PRAYER.

The Services Held Last Evening in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Mr. Beer, of the Mark street Methodist church, Ashburnham, delivered the address at the Week of Prayer meeting in St. Paul's church last evening. He spoke on "Benevolent Institutions" and characterised the church as being the foundation from which all institutions of this nature emanated. He made special reference to the local Hospitals, the Peterborough Protestant Home and the Children's Aid Society.

The devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. Dr. Torrance and Rev. J. J. Rae, Rev. J. E. Trotter, Rev. A. MacWilliams and Rev. Mr. Cragg were in attendance.

This evening's service will be held in the Murray Street Baptist Church, when the address will be given by J. J. Rae.

NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—The roads are in good condition but the sleighing is poor off the beaten track as the snow is so light. A slight thaw would mend matters.

—Col. Gibson, of Lakefield, states that he has located some valuable deposits of lead, silver and copper near the head of Cedar Lake. He will organize a joint stock company for the purpose of working the mines.

—J. E. Toole, in "Killarney and the Rhine," at the Opera House to-night. This company and play is something above the ordinary, and anyone wishing an evening's enjoyment should not miss this treat. Prices for the engagement have been reduced to meet the times. See large ad. 1t

—Lent, the period in which all churches are interested, falls somewhat earlier this year, as Ash Wednesday is on Feb. 19th. This brings Easter Sunday on April 5th. The Queen's Birthday falls on Sunday; Dominion Day, on Wednesday; Labour Day, on Monday, Sept. 7th, and Christmas on Friday.

—The Standard Life Assurance Company, who is represented in town by Mr. T. E. Bradburn, have issued their very convenient cloth bound pocket diary for 1896, containing, as usual, memorandum spaces for every day of the week, and other convenient data. It also contains the Herschel weather tables and other interesting information. The hanging calendar also used by the Standard for 1896 is especially convenient in its arrangement.

—The water in the river has risen several inches during the past few days. If it continues the Riverside Park will be flooded. If so the skaters of Ashburnham will place arc lights in position to illuminate the whole park, and erect waiting rooms, with heating appliances, which will make one of the finest open air skating rinks in Canada. No pains will be spared, once the park is flooded, in keeping it free from snow and in good condition during the balance of the winter season. No doubt skaters will attend the Park Rink in large numbers.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Andrew McNeil is in Belleville on a business trip.

Mr. H. Calcutt has sufficiently recovered from his recent temporary indisposition to be able to attend to business.

Mr. R. Nagle of Ottawa, who has been visiting his daughter, Mrs. Harry Phelan, Rubidge street, returned home to-day.

Rev. Dr. Shaw, of Toronto, died without a will. His eldest son Dr. Shaw, of Keene, petitions for administration of the estate.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Quinn have given up their apartments at the Grand Central, and are occupying a residence on Stewart street, near London.

Miss A. Hepburn, of Peterborough, returned home Monday evening, after spending two week's holidays with friends in town.—Lindsay Watchman.

ADVERTISING HINTS.

"The better the day, the better the deed." The better the ad., and the better the mediums used, the better the results.

If you have something that the people need, advertise with "courage and faith," and the people at home and abroad will respond to your profit.

Do not forget that an advertisement is "perpetual motion," if it is good will wear its way into the people's memory, with consequent results to you.

Here is a suggestion—"Make your advertisement an argument deriving its force from the situation, and present it clearly to all to whom it is addressed."

By advertisers I mean those who know that advertising "well done," is bound to bring success; by business men I mean a very large class of manufacturers who are "poor in the midst of great wealth," i. e., of possibilities of development.

Inside Figures.

China Hall will give inside figures on all Dinner, Tea and Chamber Sets, Lamps, etc., during the month of January. No such assortment in the Midland district as at China Hall. We will positively undersell all other dealers, no matter what imaginary reductions may be offered. Crockery, China, etc., is our especial business, and to undersell all competitors is our set policy. China Hall, 360 George street.

At Elliott's.

A grand stock of fine Wines and Liquors has been laid in at the Palace Grocery for the New Year. Prime Ales, the best brands of Canadian Whisky, fine imported Scotch and Irish Whiskies, Ports, Sherries, Stouts and Champagne. Also some special stock in Gins, Rums and Brandies.

HOCKEY.

The Volts very kindly gave the Peterborough's a practice last night in order to help them get into shape for the Lindsay match to-day.

The two teams lined up on the ice as appended at seven o'clock :

Volts.		Peterborough.
Kelly	goal	E Wasson
B Thorne	point	S Adams
Barclay	cover point	J Parsons
Wilgar	forwards	W Phelan
Rubidge	forwards	W Montgomery
Hall	forwards	F Lefevre
Adams	forwards	B Belleghem

The game was held merely as a practice and the boys therefore did not pay as much attention to scoring goals to perfecting their combination work. Before the teams left the ice the Peterborough's had reduced their passing game to so fine a system that the puck was carried through the Volts strong defence in a manner which led the onlookers to express the belief that Peterborough would have no trouble in again landing the trophy this year.

Wasson in goal acquitted himself with credit and proved satisfactorily that at this point the home team is stronger even than last season. Phelan and LeFevre are both playing stronger games than they did last year and their work on the ice, last night, was fast. Montgomery and King will make a great combination on the forward line, as the former is putting up a strong game in his new position.

The Volts have not as yet sufficiently developed their combination, owing, probably, to not having selected the personnel of their team sooner and arranging to have them work together. Last night's practice, however, was a great help to them and they should now have no trouble in disposing of Norwood on Saturday, when they go there to play off a schedule game in the O. H. A. series.

The Peterboroughs left for Lindsay on the 5.15 train, this afternoon, and will play there at 8 o'clock this evening.

The Queen's University Hockey team is touring in the United States and the Yankees are unbounded in their praise. The Pittsburg, Pa., Sunday Leader says:—The Queen's University men have come, taken their look and have won. Never in the history of amateur sport in this city has such a fine team of any description put in an appearance in this city. What the Canucks do not know about polo and hockey is hardly worth knowing. The game they put up was worth going several miles to see. They simply played with the local men, and could have beaten any team picked just as easily as they did the Casina's, W. U. P's or Holy Ghost College or any of them. They will be back on Friday night, inasmuch as they like this city, and want to stop before they go home. The polo organizations have the matter under consideration and are trying to pick out a team that will give them a little better entertainment than they found here last week. If these Canucks were not born with the skates on it is very evident that they have lived on skates most of their lives, and that no ordinary players have any business mixing up in their class.

Queen's hockey team defeated the team of the Baltimore athletic club Tuesday night with ridiculous ease. The score was 10 to 0. Two twenty minute halves were played, the visitors scoring seven goals in the first and three after intermission. The interference and team work of the Canadians were perfect, and were loudly applauded by the large attendance at the ice rink.

The Victorias won from the Granites in an O. H. A. match in Toronto, yesterday, by 8—3.

CURLIANA.

The Peterborough curlers were most disastrously defeated yesterday in the Lindsay-Peterborough cup series. Six rinks played—three here and three in Lindsay, and when the totals were compared it was found that Peterborough was 34 points down. The return match will be played next week when it is hoped that the local curlers will win and thus make it necessary to play off the tie. The ice on which the Tankard rink of Colts played in Lindsay was very crooked and to this their defeat may be attributed. The Lindsay men felt peculiar of downing the Peterboroughs on anything else in the city's sports and well they might, but to what [illegible] look, etc., and the chaps will [illegible] advantage in the return match. [illegible]

Kells and his men played well, but were out curled, Skip McMillan being able to draw to within half an inch of where he wished his stone to lie. He played a beautiful game indeed. Skip R. S. Davidson succeeded in defeating Skip McClelland by three points, his being the only successful rink which went to Lindsay. The game was a close and exciting one.

Lindsay winning by 34 points.

In Peterborough, it will be observed, Mr. Dennistoun's rink was the only one victorious.

The score cards provided at Lindsay were inscribed with the following warm greeting :—

Losh man! I'm glad to see yoursel',
I'm glad to meet a frean';
But, man, the pleasure's greater still
When he's a curler keen.

CHORUS—

See gie's the curler's grip, my freen',
See gie's the curler's grip,

Weak, Tired, Nervous

Women, who seem to be all worn out, will find in purified blood, made rich and healthy by Hood's Sarsaparilla, permanent relief and strength. The following is from a well known nurse:

"I have suffered for years with female complaints and kidney troubles and I have had a great deal of medical advice during that time, but have received little or no benefit. A friend advised me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and I began to use it, together with Hood's Pills. I have realised more benefit from these medicines than from anything else I have ever taken. From my personal experience I believe Hood's Sarsaparilla to be a most complete blood purifier." MRS. C. CROMPTON, 71 Cumberland St., Toronto, Ontario.

DAILY MOTTO.

Friday, Jan. 10th.

We talk about the telescope of faith, but I think we want even more the microscope of watchful and grateful love. Apply this to the little bits of our daily lives, and how wonderfully they come out.

WOMEN'S EXALTED MISSIONS.

Certainly there is wisdom for two young people who have sworn to love each other, no matter whether there is poverty or wealth, no matter whether the days are bright or dark, to have a home of their own, writes Ruth Ashmore discussing "The Mistress of the Small House," in November Ladies' Home Journal. Boarding-house life is bad for women, and I do not believe that any man has ever really enjoyed it. God created women to make homes—to make homes for the men they love and for the children whom God will send them. And a home must be started at the beginning of this new life. Do not wait for a big house and many servants, but make happiness exist in a little house with one maid as a help. It can be done. I know it can. Do not shrug your shoulders and say you do not like housework. Work is only disagreeable when it is badly done and from washing the silver and glass to dusting the bric a-brac and beating up a cake, everything may be daintily done and well done if you go about it in the right away and with the right spirit. You will have to be considerate and you will have to be patient. You will certainly make mistakes, but each mistake is one step toward success. Burden yourself with patience, consideration and tenderness; you will need to make calls upon them often and often. Then you will gain so much. You will be the happy housewife, the lady of the house who has the right to dispense hospitality and good will, the mistress, not only of the house, but of the heart of your husband, because for him you have created a home. And that is a womanly work—a better monument to you, my dear, than the painting of a wonderful picture, the writing of a great book, or the composing of a fine piece of music. From out a home all virtues and all great works may come. No man ever made a home. He does not know how. The woman's brain, heart and hands are necessary, and a home is such a beautiful thing. It means rest, it means peace, and it means love. Make one for your husband and let him find these three great joys in its four walls.

WHEN KISSING IS PERMISSIBLE.

When ruby lips curl daintly
In many a graceful line,
When great gray eyes, so roguishly
Above these lips do shine,
When rosebud lips so kissable,
Droop warm o'er gleaming white—
I think 'tis quite permissible
To taste their sweet delight.
For an old and truthful saying is
That lovely lips were made to kiss,
To keep their crimson hue.
When maiden sweet stands modestly
Beneath the crimson moon,
When low voice murmurs tenderly,
As thrush's go den tune,
When maiden's form bends lissomely
In curves of airy grace,
What wrong if round is lovingly
Your arm you gently place;
For everyone that's learned, knows,
That maiden's form must be clasped close,
To keep the maiden warm.

BID AGAINST HERSELF.

How an Auctioneer Advanced the Price of an Article.

A lot of people were present at an auction sale of Japanese goods recently, goes the story in the Hartford Times.

"How much am I bid for this exquisite vase?" asked the auctioneer, holding it above his head.

"Five dollars," responded an elderly lady, sitting in one of the front seats.

"That's a shame!" cried the man with the hammer, "This vase, as a work of art, is worth four times that sum. Why, look at it! Will an intelligent audience allow surh a sacrifice?"

"Six dollars," came in the same woman's voice.

"Well, well, well! 2Can't you see that this is a treasure, and you stand here and allow it to be given away for such a paltry sum?"

"Eight dollars!" Again it was the same bidder speaking.

"Eight dollars! The very idea!" ejaculated the auctioneer "I never saw the like. Come, what is the meaning of this? One of the Mikado's special de-signs slighted in such a manner. It is a reflection on your taste."

"Nine dollars!" said the solitary bidder.

"It is too costly, too precious and too rare in pattern. Wake up or I'll put it in the box!"

"Ten dollars!" the woman said.

"Well, it doesn't seem as if I can get any more; so here goes. Ten dollars—once, twice, three times—sold to the lady there at that shameful figure."

The lady stepped up and paid for and received her parcel and departed, apparently without noticing the smiles of the audience.

This Sorry World.

Lots o' folks a-wearin' mournin'; some folks put it on their hat;
Others hev a secret sorrer hid away too deep fer that,
Some remind us o' their troubles 'ith a lot o' gloomy clothes,
While there's some at mourns unheeded by a grave nobody knows.

There is funerells occurrin' all erbout us every day,
Where the heart o' man er woman lays a tender hope away.
There is faces that is smilin'; there is lips 'at laugh an jest
'Ith a wish as dear as heaven buried jest inside the breast.

Love an' doubt an' joy an' sorrer came as sort o' tangled up,
Can't guess ef yer next door neighbor's is a sweet er bitter cup.
Why a man is glad er gloomy—say, it's pretty hard to tel,
You may think he's got a picnic when he's at a funerell.

So of you should meet a feller 'ith the sunshine on his lips,
Don't unfold yer cloud o' trouble like a terrible eclipse.
Though he may be bright and cheerful he hes grief an' sorrer too,
Only he's too kind an' thoughtful fer to dump it onter you.

A NEW YEAR'S DANCE

CELEBRATION OF THE FETE BY HALFBREEDS AND INDIANS.

A Dance That Lasted Thirty-Six Hours—The Hudson Bay Company's Annual Reception to the Indians at La Biche—Life in the Great Barren Grounds of the Northwest.

Half-breeds — French and Cree—constitute the larger share of population at La Biche, if I may class as its population those scattered over the immediate surrounding country, and where the settlement consists of just three cabins besides the Hudson Bay Company's. But, after all, the French blood reveals itself chiefly in a few Christian names and in the more fanciful coloring and use of some articles of wear, for there is little French spoken, the children of mixed parentage tongue, Cree. There are not more than one hundred Crees who come into La Biche, which is the most northerly post where treaty money is given, and they are not thriving to any very great extent, nor increasing. The annuity of about five dollars a head is not sufficient to support and just enough to interrupt keen hunting; they plant a few potatoes, which grow here fairly well, but are making no progress towards self-support, as are those of the same nation more to the south.

After what I had seen on the night before of the preliminaries to the annual feast day, I did not expect on New Years to be able to make any preparations for our further progress. Long before we had turned out of our blankets the house was literally packed with Indians, and by noon time the fiddle was going and the dancers had entire possession of the floor. I doubt if I ever saw, outside of some of the Chinese dens in San Francisco, so many crowded into the same space. I lacked the heart to talk business with Gairdner, who, I divined from some of his remarks, had not accomplished, in the way of making ready our dog-brigade, all I had expected of him. I simply pitied him for the unpleasant and malodorous fulness of his home, and I pitied his half-breed wife and her daughters, who were kept cooking for and feeding half-starved Indians from early morn until late into the night. Heming took his pencil and scratch-pad and I my camera, and we went out to see the New Year's day arrivals and the dogs and the Indians.

In front of the fort's stockade were gossiping groups that grew with each fresh arrival, while scattered all about the enclosure, just where their drivers had left them, were the dog trains of the Indians who had come to fill Gairdner's house and cat the Hudson Bay Company's meat. There was no stabling nor feasting for these dogs; in a 24 degrees below zero atmosphere they stretched out in the snow and waited, without covering, and in many cases without food. The Indians with their blanket coats or capotes, and the dogs and sledges and "jumpers," made a picturesque whole against the unbroken background of snow, but, like all Indian pictures, its attractiveness faded away on the close inspection that discovered the dirt of the man and the scraggy, half-starved condition of the beast. These people had never before seen a camera, and many of my plate show them scurrying away or turning their backs. It was only after the most elaborate descriptions to Gairdner, who instructed the interpreter, who explained to the Indians, that we induced one or two "types" to sit in our presence while Heming sketched them. They thought we were making "medicine" against them, but were won over by Heming drawing the moose and caribu, while they watched the animals they knew so well develop under his pencil.

When we returned to the house the dance was still on; it was always "on" during the first thirty-six hours of our stay at La Biche. Formerly the Hudson Bay Company officers merely "received" on New Year's day; but as the Indians have a custom between sexes of kissing on meeting, and as it did not become an impartial officer to distinguish in this respect between old women and young, unattractive and attractive, the feast was substituted; so now the women are fed and danced instead of being kissed.

I hope that New Year's night will not be recorded against me. Those Indians danced until four o'clock in the morning, and they danced to my utter demoralization. We sat around and watched the "gymnastics" and pretended we enjoyed them until about one o'clock; then we retired. We all three slept in Gairdner's office, a tiny apartment separated from the main room by a thin board partition, of which a good quarter section in the centre was removed to admit of the two rooms sharing a single stove. There was a piece of loosened sheet iron tacked to the partition to protect it from the heat, and my head was against that partition, and our blankets on the same floor upon which those Indians sprinted and jumped and shuffled!—From "On Snow Shoes to the Barren Grounds," by Caspar W. Whitney, in Harper's Magazine for December.

A NAVAL WONDER.

The Russian Fleet Now Possesses th Fastest Ship in the World.

Very few vessels that have yet been built have excited more interest that the Sokol, the latest addition to the Russian fleet. The guaranteed speed of twenty-nine knots was alone sufficient to account for this, it having been two knots in excess of anything promised at the time the contract for the vessel was made. It may be said at once that the interest shown by engineers and naval architects in the progress of the vessel has been more than justified.

The vessel is 190 feet long by 18 feet 6 inches beam. She is, of course, a twin screw vessel, and has three-stage compound engines of the type ordinarily fitted by Messrs. Yarrow in vessels of this class; having cylinders of 18 inches, 26 inches and 39 1-2 inches in diameter by 18 inches stroke.

The boilers are eight in number. They are of the well-known Yarrow type, and it may be stated that boiler arrangements are similar to those of the Hornet, the vessel built by this firm for the English Government, but which was about two and one-fourth knots slower than the Russian vessel. It will be remembered that at the preliminary trial the maximum mean speed of 30 1-4 knots was obtained as a second mean of three runs with and against the tide. Since then the official three hours' run had been made in the presence of Prince Oukhtomsky, naval attache to the Russian Government, and chief of the Russian Commission; Capt. Behr, who will command the vessel; Mr. Poretchkin, engineer-in-chief to the commission, and other naval representatives.

The mean speed on the six runs was 29.777 knots. As the mean revolutions per minute of the six-mile run was 405.15, the true mean speed of the vessel for the three hours was 29.762 knots. The coal burned during the three hours was ten tons seven hundred weight, with an average air pressure of 1 3-8 inches.

It will be seen, therefore, that the palm for the swiftest vessel in the world has once more reverted to the Poplar yard, and the British navy once more loses the supremacy in speed which it has held for some time past.

The remarkable success of the Sokol has not been due to a mere exercise to what may aptly, if not correctly, be termed the brute-force of horse power. The maximum power exerted did not reach 4,000. Exactly what it was we are not aware, but taking a line through the speed obtained by progressive runs on the preliminary trial, it could not have exceeded the figure named.

In the case of the Sokol, although she had been steaming about 30 knots for three hours, the paint on the four chimneys was as fresh as when put on.

Enduring Extreme Heat and Cold.

In reply to the question "What are the greatest heat and cold that men are able to endure?" Tit-Bits says: Five hundred degrees (Fahrenheit). Prof. Chaubert, the French "Fire King," has often remained for a considerable length of time in ovens heated to this temperature. The furnace in which the great sculptor, Sir Francis Legatt Chantrey, dried his molds, was about 14 feet long, 12 feet high and 12 feet broad. With the door closed, the thermometer marked 350 degrees of heat, and the iron floor became red-hot. Nevertheless, Chantrey's workmen often entered it at a temperature of 340 degrees, walking over the red-hot iron floor with wooden clogs, which became charred on the surface. On one occasion Chantrey himself accompanied by five or six of his friends, entered the furnace, and after remaining about two minutes they brought out a thermometer which registered 220 degrees. Some of the party experienced sharp pains on the tips of their ears, while others felt a pain in their eyes. The point of greatest cold was settled by the well-known Arctic explorer, Lieut. Schwatka of Tacoma, who commanded an expedition sent in search of Franklin. He recorded the fact that on the 3rd of January, 1880, the thermometers recorded 103 degrees of frost, notwithstanding the severity of which temperature he and his men moved their camp twelve miles on that day.

No Trouble to Answer Letters

Most people when meditating the purchase of a Piano feel more or less troubled in making a decision. The structure of a Piano is a thing they know so little of.

If you feel this way just write us a line and ask for information. It is no trouble at all to us. It is our business. We are experts of a quarter of a century's standing in the trade. Our stock is large. Our variety of styles is infinite, especially when you consider that we handle many other Canadian and American Pianos than those of our own make. Our prices are moderate, quality considered. Our terms are easy. Our Pianos are exceptional.

Again we say it is no trouble to answer letters, therefore write us and get full particulars.

When a man owns a blooded horse he is always careful of its health. He looks after its diet and is particular that the feeding shall be regular and right. While he is doing this it is likely as not that he is himself suffering from some disease or disorder that if left to itself will go on and on till it develops seriously.

When the trouble gets so bad that he cannot work, he will begin to give himself the care he gave the horse at the start. The time to cure a disease is at the beginning and better than all is to so watch your health that disease will never come. Good, pure, rich, red blood is the best insurance against disease of any kind. Almost all diseases come from impure or impoverished blood. Keep the blood pure and strong and disease can find no foothold.

That is the principle on which Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery works. It cleanses, purifies and enriches the blood; it puts and keeps the whole body in perfect order. Makes appetite good, digestion strong, assimilation perfect. It brings ruddy, virile health.

"I got a cancer on my tongue and had it cut out. I consulted fifteen different physicians without deriving any benefit. At last I turned to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I persisted in its use and my health is better than ever before. Formerly every accidental wound I received began to fester, would not heal; now, such lacerations heal themselves."

Respectfully yours,

Peter J. Shocker

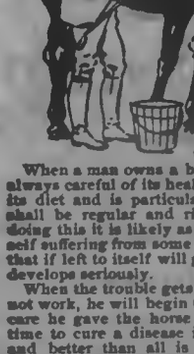
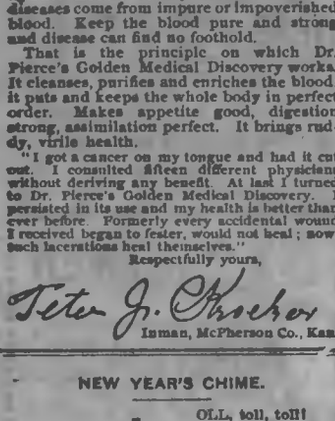
NEW YEAR'S CHIME.



OLL, toll, toll!
For the old year slowly dying;
Grim, gaunt, sere
On the breast of Time now lying.
Hopes of youth are fleeting,
Hearts with care are beating!
Ho, ye warders of the bells,
Toll, toll, toll!
For earth's enticing fashion,
Toll for strife's unholy passion,
Toll for friendship unrequited,
Toll for hope's enchantments blighted,
Toll for love's fond pledges broken,
Toll for want and woe unspoken,
Toll for mourners sadly weeping,
Toll for sin's vast harvest reaping,
Toll, toll, toll!
That while the world shall stand
Sin and woe shall fill the land.
Toll, toll, toll!
Ring, ring, ring!
A welcome to the bright New Year!
Life, hope, joy
On his radiant brow appear.
Hearts with love are thrilling,
Homes with bounty filling.
Ho, ye warders of the bells,
Ring, ring, ring!
For winter's bracing hours,
Ring for birth of spring and flowers,
Ring for summer's fruitful treasure,



Ring for autumn's boundless measure,
Ring for hands of gen'rous giving,
Ring for vows of nobler living,
Ring for truth of tongue or pen,
Ring "Peace on earth, good will toward men"—
Ring, ring, ring!
That this glad year may see
Earth's accomplished jubilee,
Ring, ring, ring!

THE GOOD MONTHS.

TRANSLATED FROM THE GERMAN.

[Copyright, 1895, by American Press Association.]

A widow lived with her two daughters, Mary and Helen. The former was her stepdaughter by her late husband, but Helen was a child by a first marriage. Of Helen she was very fond, but poor Mary she did not like at all, and the more that she was much prettier than her sister. As the girl was not vain, she could never understand why her mother flew in a rage every time she looked at her, and why she had to do all the work and drudgery of the household, while her sister Helen dressed herself and went from one amusement and entertainment to the other. To all this unkind treatment from her mother and sister Mary submitted without reproach.

But her angelic resignation did not soften their hearts. Every day they became more harsh and exacting, and as the years went by more unkind to her, for Mary was growing more and more beautiful, while Helen was older and uglier. At last her stepmother thought, "I must chase her out of the house, this pretty orphan, or I will never marry my own daughter, as all the youths will prefer Mary, and my girl will remain an old maid." So both her mother and sister determined to make her father's house unsupportable for the poor girl. One day in midwinter Helen insisted upon having violets from the forest.

"You will go to the forest, Mary, in the mountain, and gather violets. I wish to have a bunch for my bodice. They must be fresh and odorous. Do you understand? I will have violets."

"My God, good sister," cried Mary, "you do not think of what you are saying! Whoever saw violets growing under the snow?" cried the poor orphan, sighing.

"Wretched girl! Do you dare disobey me?" cried Helen. "Not a word more. Be off! Remember that if you do not bring me the violets I will kill you." Here her stepmother added a few cruel words, and with a vigorous blow pushed her out of the house and barred the door.

The poor orphan, weeping bitterly, advanced toward the mountain. The snow lay deep, and there was not the slightest trace of human footsteps. Long, long she wandered upon the mountain, trembling with cold and praying to God to let her die.

At last in the distance she saw a brilliant light, and climbing ever onward till she had reached one of the highest peaks she came to a bright open fire, round which were 12 large stones. On these stones were seated 12 men. Four of them were old, with white hair; four less old, and four were young men and very handsome. They were all gazing into the fire.

These men were the 12 months of the year, and great January, who was seated higher than the rest, had a long, white beard and snowy hair. In his hand he held a wand.

Mary at first was paralyzed with fear, but after a few moments of stupor and silence she regained her courage, and approaching them said: "Men of God, allow me to warm myself by your fire. I am trembling with cold."

Old January raised his head and said: "Why are you here, my maiden? What do you seek?"

"I am seeking violets," answered Mary.

"It is not the season of violets," said January. "Do you not see snow lying everywhere?"

"I know it is not, but my stepmother and sister have sent me to the mountain to gather them, and if I cannot find any they will kill me. I entreat you, fathers, tell me where I can find some?"

Slowly old January rose from his seat and approached one of the younger men. Putting his wand in his hand he said, "Brother March, seat yourself in my place."

March went and seated himself on the high stone and waved the wand over the fire. At once the flames rose to the sky, the snow melted, the trees began to bud, while beneath them the grass grew green and the ground was covered with primroses and cowslips. It was spring and the ground was quite blue with violets that grew under the brushwood.

"Haste and pluck them, Mary," cried March. "Quick!"

The beautiful orphan, filled with joy, hastened to pluck the flowers and soon had a large bunch. Thanking the months politely, she ran home, happy and gay.

Great was the astonishment of her stepmother and Helen when they saw the bunch of fresh violets.

They quickly opened the door and soon the house was filled with the perfume of the flowers.

"Well! And where did you find them?" asked Helen.

"Far up on the peak of the mountain," replied her sister.

Helen at once seized the flowers. She inhaled their perfume with rapture and let her mother smell them, but not giving a single violet to Mary or even thanking her for her trouble.

The next day, as Helen stood warming herself by the stove, she had a sudden fancy to eat strawberries and called her sister. "Mary," she said, "hasten to the mountain and gather me strawberries. They must be very sweet and ripe."

SHE JOYFULLY SHOOK THE TREE.

"My God, whoever heard that strawberries ripened under the snow!" cried the orphan.

"Not a word. If you do not bring me the strawberries soon, we will kill you. Remember, you are warned."

After this threat her stepmother seized her violently and thrust her out in the courtyard, barring the door.

The wretched orphan, her eyes filled with tears, began to climb the mountain. She already knew the way, and without hesitation climbed up the peak, where the 12 months sat round the fire, old January, as before, on the highest seat.

"Men of God," she said, "let me warm myself by your fire! I am trembling with cold."

Old January lifted his head and said

New Year's Wassail Bowl.

No English holiday was of much account that was not observed with flowing bowl. On New Year's eve the wassail bowl was filled with spiced ale and drunk in families, and poorer folk tied a bowl with ribbons and begged for money for ale to fill and refill the bowl, singing:

Wassail, wassail all over the town;
Our toast it is white; our ale it is brown;
Our bowl it is made of a maplin tree;
We be good fellows all; I drink to thee.

In some parts of England the old year is "swept out" by men and boys with blackened faces, dressed to represent sweeps; in others it is "burned out" with bonfires. Sometimes it is rung out with muffled bells that are unmuffled and rung clear after 12 o'clock.—Independent.

What Happy New Year Means.

A happy New Year! What does it mean? Are not these words often thrown out as a greeting without thought or depth of meaning? Is it a year in which to ourselves come wealth and health, prosperity and friendship; one spent in the pursuit of fleeting pleasure and filled with self centered interest? No! Rather let the wish be to each and all, as the new year dawns with all its opportunities, that the days of 1896 may be well spent—filled with thought and sympathy for those around; that in self forgetting and kindly deeds the happiness of others may be ever sought, and then most truly will each act rebound again in joy and blessing to the heart from which it springs.—Maud Booth.

COUNTERFEITS.

A few years ago a great discovery was made.

Unprincipled persons are trying to prey upon and dupe people who are led to ask for kidney treatment.

Some of the methods adopted by imitators are as follows:—

First;—To imitate the size, color and shape of Dodd's Kidney Pills and sell them by count.

Second:—To put them up to appear very nearly the same and to be offered at the same price.

Third;—To hook on the word "kidney" in naming catharatic pills so as to increase sales of mere physic.

Fourth;—To give a name so near to Dodd's that unwary people may be deceived and think they are getting Dodd's.

Look out for such dodges. When you want kidney medicine you want the best. And ought not to be the subject of any trick.

So beware.

THE GOOD MONTHS.

"Why have you come here and what do you seek?"

"I have come to gather strawberries," said Mary.

"It is now midwinter and strawberries do not grow under the snow," answered January.

"I know it," said Mary sadly. "But my stepmother and sister have ordered me to bring them ripe strawberries. Tell me where I can gather them."

Old January rose slowly from his seat, approached the month that sat opposite him, and giving him his wand said, "Brother June, seat yourself on the highest stone."

The month of June went and seated himself on the stone that marked the highest place. He waved his wand over the fire and the flames rose to the sky. In a moment the snow was melted, the ground covered with grass, while the birds sang and the earth bloomed with flowers in the forest.

Under the brushwood one saw innumerable little white flowers, thick as though one had sowed them, and as one looked the flowers changed to ripe fruit, and all this in a few moments of time, so that Mary could hardly cross herself before the ground was red with strawberries, like a sea of blood.

"Quick, quick, Mary, pick them!" said the month of June.

Filled with joy, she began to gather them, and soon had a nice amount in her apron, when, thanking the months, she started joyfully homeward.

Helen and her mother were surprised to see her come home with the strawberries.

"But where did you find them?" asked Helen sourly.

"Up on the peak of the mountain. They are not hard to find under the brushwood."

Helen took possession of all the berries. A part she gave to her mother, and devoured the rest.

The third day Helen, satiated with the strawberries, longed for fresh picked red apples.

"Mary," she called, "be quick and nimble. Go to the mountain and seek for red apples."

"My God, sister, you know that during the winter the trees are without leaves or fruit!"

"Ugly lazy bones! Go, climb quickly up the mountain and bring me back apples, or remember we will kill you!"

As usual her stepmother caught her rudely, thrust her out of the house and barred the door behind her.

The poor orphan, weeping bitterly, passed through the forest that led to the mountain. She climbed up to the peak, where the 12 months sat by the flaming fire. They all sat motionless on their stone seats, and old January as usual on the highest.

"Men of God, let me warm myself by your fire! The winter wind freezes me," she said.

Old January lifted his head and began to question her, "Why have you come here and what do you seek?"

"I seek red apples," said Mary.

"It is midwinter now," said old January, "and not the time for red apples."

"I know it," said the poor girl. "But my sister Helen and my mother have ordered me to bring them red apples from the mountain or they will kill me."

Hearing this, old January rose from his seat and went to one of the older men and gave him his wand.

"Brother September, seat yourself in the place of honor."

The month of September seated himself on the highest stone and waved his wand over the fire. The flames sprang toward the sky, taking a red tinge, while the snow melted rapidly. The leaves of the trees fell, one by one, blown here and there by a cold breeze, and the sun shone yellow. The orphan saw but very few flowers, and those only autumn ones. In the dells meadow saffron and high ferns were growing between the autumn brushwood and brambles.

Mary looked in vain for red apples till all at once she noticed a tolerably tall apple tree, and up on the top branches she saw a few red apples.

"Hasten to gather them," cried September.

The young girl joyfully shook the tree, and one apple fell. She shook it again, and a second rolled to her feet.

"You have enough," said the month. "Hurry home again."

The orphan picked up the apples, and thanking the months hurried home.

Helen and her stepmother were astonished to see her return with the apples and ran to open the door.

"Bah! How did you manage to pick [illegible]?" asked Helen.

"A few still hung on the apple tree on the [illegible] of the mountain," said Mary.

"Why did you not bring more?" cried [illegible] ate [illegible] up on other. That is all. I was not permitted to shake the tree a third time, but ordered to go home."

Helen, who loved fine fruit, left off persecuting her sister for the time, and bit into the apple. She found it delicious, the sweetest she had ever eaten, and her mother agreed with her, but both, after having eaten one, were dissatisfied. They wished for more.

"I'll tell you what, mamma," said Helen. "Give me a cloak and I will go to the mountain myself. That horrid girl would finish by devouring all the apples on her way home. I will be sure to find the mountain and the apple tree, and once there the fathers may scold as they like. I will not leave them until I have shaken down all the apples."

Heedless of her mother's disapproval, Helen put on the cloak and a warm hood and started for the mountain. Her mother stood by the door and gazed after her till she was lost to sight.

The ground was covered with snow; not a human footstep was to be seen, but after wandering here, now there, Helen saw the flame of the fire, far above her, and began climbing. After a short time she reached the peak of the mountain and saw the fire, round which the 12 months were sitting. At first she hesitated and was frightened, but soon recovering herself she went boldly to the fire, and stretching out her hands warmed herself without asking permission or even noticing the 12 months.

"What brings you here and what seek you?" asked old January sternly.

"You have no right to question me, old graybeard! Why do you wish to know what I seek?" answered Helen haughtily, and turning her head and back to the fire she went toward the forest.

Old January frowned and waved his wand over his head.

In the twinkling of an eye the sky was filled with heavy clouds, the fire burned low and large snowflakes began to fall, while an icy wind howled through the mountain. In the midst of this dreadful storm Helen began to curse her sister and call on the good God, as she knew the cloak could not keep her body from stiffening and freezing.

Her mother waited impatiently for her daughter. Every little while she went to the window, then to the door, to look for her, but the hours passed and she did not return. "Have the apples bewitched her so that she cannot find her way home?" thought her mother. "I must go and seek her."

Hastily wrapping herself in a cloak and hood she set out. The falling snow had obliterated her daughter's footsteps,

"OH, MY GOD!" SAID SHE.

and not a human trace was to be seen, while no voice answered to her loud call. Long she wandered at hazard in the snow, while it fell in avalanches and an icy wind blew from the mountain.

Mary in the meanwhile had cooked the dinner and milked the cow, but neither Helen nor her mother was to be found.

Her daily work was now ended, the day had gone and night was coming on.

What can have happened?

"Oh, my God!" said the excellent girl, and opened the window to look out.

The storm had ceased, the sky was brilliant with stars, while the snow glimmered like diamonds by their light—not a trace of a human being was to be seen. Mary sadly shut the window. She made the sign of the cross and prayed for her sister and stepmother. In vain she waited for them at breakfast and dinner. They never came.

Both Helen and her mother were frozen in the mountain, and Mary inherited the little cottage, the cow, and a small field. It was not long before she married an honest farmer, and they both lived in peace and happiness ever after.

New Year's was not observed as a Christian festival until the year 487, and there is little mention of it in the records before the eleventh century. It was not included in the liturgy until 1550 A. D.

"The Common People,"

As Abraham Lincoln called them, do not care to argue about their ailments. What they want is a medicine that will cure them. The simple, honest statement, "I know that Hood's Sarsaparilla cured me," is the best argument in favor of this medicine, and this is what many thousands voluntarily say.

Worth $5.00 a Bottle.

Sirs,—For five years I have been troubled with neuralgia and tried everything I could see or hear of. At last I was advised to try a bottle of Yellow Oil and I refused because I thought it was like all the rest—a failure. A half bottle was given me, however, and I found it helped me, and bought a bottle which cured me. If it cost five dollars a bottle I would not be without it.

War Preparations Going On in the Old Land.

GERMANY'S CONDUCT THE CAUSE

Torpedo Destroyers Ordered to Join the Flying Squadron by Next Tuesday—The Feeling of the Country is With the Government—An Ominous Outlook.

London, Jan. 9.—The flying squadron, composed of the battleships Royal Oak and Revenge, and the cruisers Gibraltar, Hermoine, Charybdis and Theseus, which is now fitting out, will when all preparations are complete, assemble at Portland for final orders. The Admiralty have ordered the Devonport dockyard to put six of the swiftest torpedo destroyers into commission and get them in readiness to join the flying squadron at Portsmouth on Jan. 14.

In addition to the six fast torpedo destroyers ordered to be got in readiness at Davenport, the Admiralty have sent orders to other yards requiring six other boats of the same class to be put into commission as quickly as possible.

It is announced that the Admiralty have ordered 20 torpedo destroyers to be put into commission immediately.

ABOUT THE WARSHIPS.

Facts Relating to the British Squadron Now Getting Ready for Sea

The St. George, the flagship on board of which Rear Admiral Rawson is hastening from Cape Town to Delagoa Bay is a first-class steel cruiser, of 7700 tons. She carries 2 22-ton guns, ten 6-inch quick firing guns and 24 smaller guns, and her speed is 19 7-10 knots.

The flying squadron, which is to be ready for service on Tuesday next, and which will probably be ordered at once to Delagoa Bay, comprises the following vessels:

Revenge, first-class battleship, 14,-150 tons; four 67-ton guns, ten 6-inch quick firing guns, 36 smaller rapid firing guns, 18 inches side armor, speed 17 1-2 knots.

Royal Oak, first-class battleship, 14,-150 tons; four 67-ton guns, ten 6-inch quick firing guns, 36 smaller rapid firing guns, 18 inches of side armor; speed 17 1-2 knots.

Gibraltar, first-class steel cruiser, 7700 tons; two 22-ton guns, ten 6-inch quick firing guns, 24 smaller quick firing guns, speed 19 7-10 knots.

Theseus, first-class steel cruiser, 7350 tons; two 22-ton guns, ten 6-inch quick firing guns, 24 smaller quick firing guns; speed 20 knots.

Charybdis, second-class steel cruiser, 4360 tons; two 6-inch quick firing guns, eight 4.7 quick firing guns, 13 smaller quick firing guns; speed 19 5-10 knots.

Hermoine, second-class steel cruiser, 4360 tons; two 6-inch quick firing guns, eight 4.7 quick firing guns, 13 smaller quick firing guns; speed 19 5-10 knots.

England is Prepared.

New York, Jan. 9.—All England has learned in this last week that Great Britain may soon have to fight for existence. Even Portugal and Italy seem to have joined the combination of hate against the Island Empire.

The response of the British people has been brave and instant. There is no faltering note from any part of the Empire of readiness to respond to the call to battle with Germany or all Europe if need be.

England is prepared for war with Germany at a day's notice.

Ordered to Deliver Up Their Guns.

London, Jan. 9.—The British South Africa Company has ordered its officials in South Africa to deliver all the guns and amunition in their possession to the officers of the Imperial Government.

Wants $2,500,000 Indemnity.

London, Jan. 9.—It was reported on the Stock Exchange to-day that President Kruger of the Transvaal Republic has made a claim of $2,500,000 [illegible] from the [illegible]

A WORD FOR ENGLAND.

Right and Justice Not All on the Side of the Boers.

Boston, Jan. 9.—Rev. Francis W. Betes, a missionary of the American Board, connected with its east Central African mission, is in this country on furlough, and is now in Boston. His residence of seven years in the region where the present hostilities between the Dutch and the British are occourring, has made him familiar with the situation. When seen by a reporter of the press, he said:

"There seems to be a widespread opinion that the late invasion of Dr. Jameson, of the British South Africa Co., into the Transvaal, was the result of a deep-laid plot on the part of the British Government to seize upon the Transvaal, and make it her own. It seems to me however, that such an idea is not in accordance with the facts, nor with the position that that Government has always held to the Transvaal since the time when Gladstone put an end to the Boer war and granted them their independence. Their cause was a just one.

"The present difficulties are the outcome of the attempt on the part of the Transvaal Government to continue the Transvaal as a Boer Republic, giving no voice to those of any other than Dutch descent. The English by far outnumber the Boers, especially in the cities. They furnish the greater part of the revenue. The Boer has been content with his ignorance. The English have established schools, and have taken the lead in educational matters, in spite of the oppposition of the older Boers. But in spite of the fact that English enterprise has done so much to build up the Government, which was a few years ago in the last stages of bankruptcy, the English have always been outside, with no rights as citizens. In other words, the Boers have attempted to force upon others the very system which led to their revolt against the English.

Dr. Jameson's raid was an ill-advised attempt to aid his fellow-countrymen in their revolt against this system. Mr. Rhodes may have encouraged it; he is a man of strong character, a forceful leader, but in no way a skilful diplomat.

President Kruger is a descendant of the old Vortrecker, those who were ever in revolt against progress in the olden times. His influence has ever been against advance in education and civilization, a man who was well described some tiem ago as one who "ads to the manners of a clown the morals of a hypocrite."

Too much is being said against the greed of England. She has done more for Africa than any other nation. She has a history in Africa extending over centuries. Her occupation has always resulted in the elevation of the nations. She alone of all nations forbids the sale of intoxicants to the natives; she aids in educating and civilization, she gives the native the rights of a man. It would mean a decided advance in civilization if England might have all of Africa instead of the small area that has fallen to her.

THE DAIRYMEN.

Conclusion of the Woodstock Convention—Officers Elected for the Coming Year

Woodstock, Ont., Jan. 9.—The concluding day's sesions of the dairymen's convention was as largely attended as the previous day's. The proceedings have been of a very high order and the delegates have manifested the same interest as before.

At the morning session Prof. A. T. Bell presided and a paper was read by Inspector Miller on "Mistakes in Cheese-Making and How to Avoid Them." A very lively discussion followed, in which a number of prominent dairymen took part.

Prof. Dean of the Ontario Agricultural College gave a very able address on, "Is Fat of Milk a Correct Measure of its Value for Cheese-Making purposes?"

The Hon. Theo. Louis then gave a further continuance of his address on "The Hog."

In the afternoon the reports of the different standing committees on resolutions, utensils and nominations were presented. Resolutions recommending the Babcock tester, further inspection and instruction and the branding of cheese were carried unanimously.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Hon. President, Hon. T. Ballantyne; President, A. F. Maclaren, Stratford; First Vice-President, J. S. Pearce, London; Second Vice-President, Harold Eagle, Attercliffe; Directors, J. Prain, Harriston; J. N. Paget, Canboro; A. Pattullo, Woodstock; Thomas Gibson, Fordwich; R. M. Ballantyne, Stratford; J. W. Symington, Camlachie; H. White, Hawkesville.

The newly elected president presided at the remaining session.

Addresses were delivered by Hon. T. Ballantyne, J. A. Ruddick, Kingston; President Mills, Guelph; Prof. Dean and Hon. Theo. Louis.

The delegates were entertained at a banquet by the Wodstock Board of Trade, at which, among other visitors, Hon. Sir Oliver Mowat, is present.

Eastern Ontario Dairymen.

Campbellford, Ont., Jan. 9.—Before the morning session of the Eastern Dairymen's Association the members of the association were shown through the Trent Valley woollen mills by the manager, Mr. S. L. Owen, and secretary, Mr. W. W. Cumming, and expressed themselves as highly pleased with the visit.

The morning session opened with an address from Mr. Bensley, one of the inspectors for this district, and after giving his report he dealt with the cleanliness of vessels used, and also the surroundings and urged this strongly upon makers and patrons.

Mr. W. W. Grant, another inspector, followed, with his report, and commented upon the fine results from the Babcock tester and in forcible terms urged the more general adoption of this tester.

The discussion which followed showed a great interest in this line. He was followed by Mr. Eager, who advocated the payment for milk according to the amount of butter fat contained in the milk. Prof. Fletcher then gave a practical address upon the horn fly. He recommended as a remedy kerosine emulsion; a pound of soap, one pint of coal oil and a gallon of water, which, if necessary, could be diluted.

At the afternoon session about 400 were present. Mr. John Gould of Ohio, was the first speaker. He was in favor of selecting good milkers and claimed the animal should be chosen with a view to the special work required of her, whether for butter or cheese. He advocated silo corn and meal as the best food for milkers.

He was followed by the Hon. John [illegible], who spoke highly of the aid the Government was now giving to agriculturists and asked for help from the farmers, who could be of great service if they united for their general good.

Prof. Robertson followed and made his subject "The Hog," and by chart showed the usefulness of this animal. He recommended finishing [illegible] was packed. Mr. S. S. Owen presided. Mr. Gould was the first speaker, and spoke at length on corn. It should be planted on sod and cut when glazing, and cultivation should be shallow. He was followed by Prof. Robertson and Hon. John Dryden.

Messrs. Owen and Smith and the citizens were thanked for their efforts to make this meeting a success. After this all repaired to a grand banquet, given in honor of the members of the association.

RIGHT IN OUR MIDST.

Mr. Shipman, of Owen Sound—Seven Years' Acute Suffering—Diabetes Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

OWEN SOUND Jan. 6 (Special)—Mr. Shipman tells his story in the hope that he may benefit others, and says:—As the result of a tumble when a boy which injured my back, I have been troubled with weak kidneys all my life. For the past year I have been a great sufferer, growing worse until a friendly druggist advised me to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Tests of the urine showed Diabetes and I realized my danger. I found it impossible when tired stand upright and at such times was drawn down sideways. In all I have used about one dosen boxes and am now hearty and healthy as ever in my life.

The Story of Santa Claus.

St. Nicholas was traveling through his diocese at a period when a great famine had driven the people to the verge of starvation. One night he put up at an inn kept by a certain man who was a fiend incarnate. This loathly personage, finding beef and mutton scarce and high priced, conceived the idea of replenishing his larder with the nice, juicy corpses of children whom he kidnapped, killing and served up to his guests in al lvarieties of succulent dishes. No one had penetrated the mystery of how he alone of all the neighboring bonifaces could keep his table well supplied with roasts and boiled meats, stews, hashes and savory soups. But no sooner had a dish of child's meat been served up to the saint than he discovered the horrible truth. He leaped to his feet, and poured out a torrent of righteous abuse upon the cringing and fawning landlord. And when the latter would deny his guilt, St. Nicholas went to the tub where the children were salted down. All that was necessary for him to do was to make the sign of the cross over the remains, and lo! three children who had been missing for days arose, alive and whole. Al lthe people were struck dumb at this miracle. The children were restored to thir mother, who was a widow. As to the landlord, he was taken out and stoned to death, as he richly deserved to be.

This story, it will be seen, does not aid us very materially. It is simply one of a whole group of legends in which St. Nicholas appears as the friend and benefactor of children, and in this respect only he resembles our Santa Claus. In all the characteristics which modern painters and story tellers in England, in America and in Germany have bestowed upon the rubicund representative of Christmas he differs in toto from the slender and even emaciated mitre and crosier, whom the mediaeval painters were fond of depicting. So the legends of St. Nicholas afford but a meagre clue to the identity of Santa Claus, alike indeed in name, but so totally unlike in other particulars.

McWILLIAMS

Pump and Windmill Factory,

DICKSON'S RACE.

I take great pleasure in announcing to the people of Peterborough and surrounding country that I have bought out the entire Plant, Patterns, Machinery and Agencies of the above well-known Factory on Dickson's Race.

I have also made arrangements to continue the lease and to carry on the manufacture of Iron and Wooden Force and Lift Pumps, Cisterns, Steel Windmills, Tanks, Fanning Mills, Hand Seeders, Churns, Washing Machines and every other line formerly manufactured in the above premises.

I have also removed the temporary Pump Shop which I opened on Charlotte street a short time ago—and will now be found at my Factory on Dickson's Race.

With the long, practical experience I have had in this business, and with the splendid facilities which I now have for turning out good work, I am confident that I will be able to guarantee perfect satisfaction to all who may favour me with their orders.

He will be at Schofield's Drug Store

I was spending one day in a Drug Store, a short time back fitting glasses, examining eyes and writing prescriptions, when a prominent business man Brown telephoned me, asking me to call at his store to fit him with a pair of glasses. He said he was fitted with a pair at that drug store and he did not like to come to see me there as the druggist imagined the glasses he got of him were perfection. He had gone so far as to tell his neighbours that he had fitted Mr. Brown with glasses. I answered that my outfit required a horse and carriage to move it and that we would have to see me in my private rooms in the rear of the drug store. My examination of the eye is always private in the rear rooms of the drug store, only one patient admitted at a time.

WAITING.

The Premier Struggling to Reform His Cabinet.

POSITION OF THE SEVEN BOLTERS

The Wreckers of the Conservative Party—Attitude of Sir Charles Tupper—Speculation as to Whether He Will Serve Under Sir Mackenzie Bowell.

Ottawa, Jan. 10.—The political atmosphere has cooled down here to-day, and everybody is speculating as to whether Sir Mackenzie Bowell will succeed in filling the vacant portfolios before Parliament meets on Tuesday next. If so, who the new Ministers will be. It is reported to-night by the friends of the Premier that he has managed to fill up what is called a temporary Cabinet. The intention is to take whatever material he can obtain with the least difficulty, and with as few bye-elections as possible, so that the speech from the throne may be disposed of, and afterwards to press for a dissolution. Remedial legislation will not be pressed, because there are too many Government supporters opposed to it. While it appeared last night that the High Commissioner was cooperating with Sir Mackenzie Bowell in the work of reorganization, and that he was to accept a portfolio in the Bowell Government, it is now stated by the friends of Sir Charles Tupper that he was not asked nor had he consented to lend any assistance to the Premier in his present difficult position. On the other hand, the Bowell party say that the High Commissioner, who had a two-hours' interview with the Premier yesterday, is lending a helping hand. But if this were the case the trouble in getting Maritime Province men to join the Administration would disappear. It is from there that the greatest obstacles come. The Maritime Provinces are, so far, standing by the bolters. At a meeting of the Conservative members from New Brunswick it was decided to stand by Mr. Foster, and, therefore, Dr. Weldon is not likely to accept the invitation to join Sir Mackenzie Bowell. Mr. Wood, now of Westmoreland, who is now in the Senate, may get this portfolio. Strong pressure is being made to get Mr. Kenny of Halifax to come to the assistance of the Premier. He may yet do so, although he refused on a former occasion. With Senator Ferguson, this would fill the vacancies in the Maritime Provinces. Coming to Quebec, it may be said that the Premier cabled Hon. C. C. Colby to-day offering Mr. Ives' position, but Mr. Colby refused. Senator Desjardins will probably take the other vacant portfolio in Quebec. Senator Masson is also spoken of. In Ontario the names of Mr. R. R. McLennan, Mr. W. F. Maclean and Mr. W. Smith are mentioned in connection with the vacant portfolios.

On the whole nothing is more certain to-night than the uncertainty. A great many suspect the High Commissioner of lending his name to the Bowell Ministry now in process of reconstruction in order to prove that he is not in the conspiracy to depose the Premier, but that he is doing nothing more, exerting none of his personal influence and waiting calmly at his son's house for the break-down of Sir Mackenzie Bowell's final effort. It is pointed out that for the High Commissioner to be in earnest in his declaration that he would serve under Sir Mackenzie would be a condemnation of his son's plea that they were justified in knifing the Premier for incapacity. Who can reconcile Sir Hibbert Tupper's statement by the mouth of Mr. Foster that it was disastrous to the party to allow Sir Mackenzie to continue in office with his father's assurance of help in keeping [illegible] in office? These two things cannot be reconciled, [illegible] assumption of further [illegible] Ministers. With [illegible] and in the High Commissioner's offer to take a portfolio under Premier Bowell. Some are of the belief that Lord Aberdeen would not be recommended by the retiring First Minister to call Sir Charles Tupper, and that even if recommended he might exercise his undoubted right of not accepting the suggestion That would be one reason to act as lieutenant. Another view is that it is considered absolutely necessary now to the safety of the party that Sir Mackenzie should succeed in forming a Ministry. If that is so, and a great many entertain such an opinion, it will result in an unpleasant surprise for the Ministerial rebels. They are watching the situation with anxiety. They are doing their best to frighten others from joining in the Bowell reconstruction. Tupper as Premier is their shibboleth. It is stated that no matter who is Premier, Lord Aberdeen would refuse to allow the seven Ministers who resigned to come back as his advisers. In this he would be exercising the constitutional right possessed by the Sovereign to object to persons recomended by the Premier as her advisers. Her Majesty exercised this right in 1892 by informing Mr. Gladstone that Mr. Henry Labouchere was objectionable as her adviser. Mr. Gladstone acknowledged Her Majesty's right to make the objection. If it can be imagined that seven of Her Majesty's advisers, after putting a speech from the throne into the royal hands, took such action as to prevent Parliament from even paying the Sovereign the usual courtesy of considering the speech, one would be surprised to find the Sovereign receiving back these rebels into her council. This makes the rumor probable that some what grayish offended dignity of the Crown will stand in the way of the re-entry of the Ministers who resigned into any Cabinet. If Sir Mackenzie fails to construct his Cabinet he will at least die game. The work of reconstruction has been going on all day, and it was not until 7.30 to-night that the Premier left his office. One of the last to see him was Mr. Cahan, exleader of the Opposition in the Nova Scotia Legislature. He held an interview lasting over an hour with Sir Mackenzie, which has given rise to the report that he is booked for one of the vacant portfolios. A caucus was held in Mr. Foster's room this afternoon, at which Mr. McLeod of St. John was present. As to the nature of the negotiations some of the other Maritime Tories would like to know. Mr. Dickey has been indisposed for some days, being the only one of the bolting Ministers who is absent from the ex-Ministerial caucus, Mr. Gillies of Richmond, N.S., and Sir James Grant of Ottawa have, it is said, offered to resign their seats to allow Sir Charles Tupper to run, should he decide to enter the Cabinet either as leader or lieutenant. Other seats have been offered as well.

The question which is being asked more than once is: "How did the seven Ministers come to take their final step at the particular moment they did?" They are supposed to be shrewd and brainy men, most of them, with a full knowledge of politics, and nobody can understand why they either waited so long, or, having waited, did anything without taking a Parliamentary caucus into their confidence.

The true causes which led seven leading Ministers to resign at the particular time chosen by them are still being eagerly discussed.

"The only solution I see," said a Conservative member, who is a pronounced friend of the Premier, "is that they did not stop to think what the situation would be if Sir Mackenzie Bowell refused to get out. Apparently the seven Ministers were sure that their united resignations would flatten the Premier out at once, and that they never considered the consequences of his not being flattened. Had they dreamed that Sir Mackenzie could hold on without his Ministers of Finance, Justice, Railways, Militia, Customs, Agriculture and Trade and Commerce, including really all the valuable men and fighters in the Cabinet, they would never have acted without the support of a Conservative caucus. It must have seemed impossible to them that Sir Mackenzie Bowell could even think of holding the fort without them. They expected him to resign at once, and that a reconstruction would immediately take place under Sir Charles Tupper, sr. They made their mistake in acting as if they owned the earth, at least the Conservative section. They over-estimated themselves. The men who should ultimately decide the leadership among us are the members of the Conservative party at large, not the select few who happen to occupy Cabinet positions. We, the Conservatives," he continued, "admit that Sir Mackenzie has not been a successful leader. But nevertheless the vast majority of us feel that they who have resigned, not Sir Mackenzie, are the wreckers of the party. Even had Sir Mackenzie alone originally steered the party into that ill-starred Remedial order, the bolters chose a fatally mistaken time to desert him. But Sir Mackenzie did not alone shove the party into the Remedial trap. The order was drafted by Sir C. H. Tupper, and was more his creation than that of Sir Mackenzie Bowell.

"The present chaos is the result of an overweening vanity and blundering shortsightedness on the part of the seven Ministers who went out. Their heads were swelled. The one I have sympathy for or for whom I find some sympathy, is Montague. He had a good reason to get out then and there, in those Caron charges. He is the best fighter the party has, a good fellow, a staunch Conservative worker, and we all feel sorry for him.

"But how in thunder those fellows couldn't stop to think of the mess they might make, beats Bannaker, as the Scotch say."

A WOMAN COOKED.

She Poured Coal Oil on the Fire and the Usual Result Followed.

Cleveland, Jan. 10.—Mrs. C. A. Marshall, a widow, was literally cooked this morning. While getting breakfast she poured coal oil on the fire. An explosion occurred and she was enveloped in flames. She ran screaming to the yard and when her two brothers arrived she was rolling on the ground, a sheet of flames. All the clothing was burned from her body and the flesh fell from her bones. She was taken to a hospital and cannot live. Her brothers were so badly burned that they were also taken to the hospital.

Wreck on the M. & St. P.

Chicago, Jan. 10.—Fast train No. 10, on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad, leaving Chicago at 6.20 for Omaha, was wrecked last night at Mannheim, a suburb, by dashing into a derailed freight train. The fireman of the passenger engine, named Bourse, was fatally injured and died a short time afterwards. The engineer was slightly hurt, but saved his life by jumping. The passengers were badly shaken.

THE WAR FEELING.

Great Britain Displays Her Fighting Strength.

STILL BRITANNIA RULES THE WAVE

Russia and France Said to be Willing to Co-Operate With Germany—The Transvaal Trouble to be Inquired Into by Royal Commission—Latest From Africa

London, Jan 10.—Great Britain has determined to make the greatest display of fighting power the world has ever seen. The fleet, which will rendezvous at Portland Harbor on next Tuesday, will be the strongest ever assembled under one flag. Its full composition is not yet known, but already 17 battleships or cruisers and 15 torpedo boat catchers have been ordered to join it.

These vessels are all of the latest type and best equipment. They include the eastern and western squadrons of the Channel fleet and the new flying squadron.

The purpose of this demonstration may be to resent Emperor William's recent action, or may be a declaration of England's "Come one, come all" defiance against the world. It is a measure which may work for peace, or it may work for war. A good deal depends upon the destination of the fleet, which, of course, is a Government secret. Its composition is of some significance.

The ony point of superiority of the German navy is the large number of torpedo boats. The fact that half of the British fleet will be composed of torpedo boat catchers seems therefore to have an important meaning.

It is now known that orders have been given to the British naval stations for the instant equipment for sea of a large number of warships which would not otherwise be ready for service until spring. Every available man in the construction departments of the great naval stations at Devonport, Portsmouth, Chatham and Sheerness are employed every hour they are able to work. This, of course, indicates more than a mere intention to demonstrate by a naval display England's power and invulnerability.

ANTI-BRITISH ALLIANCE

Russia and France Said to Have Promised to Support Germany

London, Jan. 10.—A special despatch received here from Berlin this afternoon says that Russia's co-operation with Germany in the Transvaal matter has been assured, and that France will act with Russia. This, apparently, tends to confirm the report of an anti-British alliance, and that the action of Emperor William towards the Boer republic was a thoroughly weighed step.

Portugal, it is announced, will remain neutral in the dispute with Great Britain and Germany regarding the Transvaal, and will not permit the Germans or the British to land at Delagoa Bay or to traverse Portuguese territory in South Africa.

Full Enquiry by Royal Commission.

London, Jan. 10.—Mr. Chamberlain has cabled to Hofmeyer, the leader of the Afrikander Bund, a party having a large majority in the Cape Parliament, and a supporter of Cecil Rhodes and the British South Africa Company, informing him that there will be a full inquiry into the British South Africa Company's raid into the Transvaal, and that further violation of the territory of the South African Republic will be prevented.

It is reported that the inquiry will be conducted by a Royal Commission, which will investigate the origin and circumstances of the whole affair.

Jameson to be Tried in England.

London, Jan. 10.—It is reported that Dr. Jameson will be taken to Natal, where he will be embarked for England, to be tried upon charges of violating the Foreign Englistment Act, which declares it a punishable offence to prepare a warlike expedition against a friendly state.

Rhodes Was Aware of the Plot.

London, Jan. 10.—A despatch from Cape Town to The Pall Mall Gazette, under date of January 8, says it is asserted there that Cecil Rhodes was aware of the whole plot which led up to and included Dr. Jameson's raid into the Transvaal. Rhodes is ill at Cape Town.

A German Threat.

London, Jan. 10.—A despatch to The Central News from Berlin says that unless Great Britain satisfies the demands of President Kruger, which include the abrogation of the convention of 1884, by the terms of which England exercises suzerainty over the Transvaal Republic, Germany will urge Kruger to appeal to the European powers to support him in his demands.

18,000 Boers Under Arms.

A despatch from Pretoria, dated Jan. 8, says that prior to the issuance of the Transvaal Government's proclamation, commanding the Uitlanders to deliver up their arms by 6 o'clock on the evening of Jan. 10, Sir Jacobus A. Dewet, the British Agent at Pretoria, went to Johannesburg to hasten the work of disarming the revolutionists. A Government Commission was sitting at Johannesburg with the object of ensuring the execution of conditions of surrender. Sir J. A. Dewet was to attend the sittings of this commission and render it all the assistance possible.

The despatch says that 10,000 Boers were under arms and would not return to their homes until the matter of disarming the Uitlanders was finally settled.

Von Bieksland Goes to France.

Amsterdam, Jan. 10.—Dr. Beelaerts Von Blokland, Minister of the South African Republic to Germany, the Netherlands and France, has gone to Paris to confer with the French Government in regard to the situation in the Transvaal.

Arms for the Transvaal.

London, Jan. 10.—The Maxim-Nordenfeldt Co., manufacturers of arms at Erith, on the Thames, have obtained permission from the British Government to consign two truck loads of small arms to Pretoria for the Transvaal Government. The arms have already been shipped.

The Queen Thanks Mr. Chamberlain.

Tired but Sleepless

Is a condition which gradually wears away the strength. Let the blood be purified and enriched by Hood's Sarsaparilla and this condition will cease.

"For two or three years I was subject to poor spells. I always felt tired, could not sleep at night and the little I could eat did not do me any good. I read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and decided to try it. Before I had finished two bottles I began to feel better and in a short time I felt all right and had gained 21 pounds in weight. I am stronger and healthier than I have ever been in my life." JOHN W. COUGHLIN, Wallaceburg, Ontario.

THE RATS SAVE THEMSELVES.

La Patrie, a French Liberal journal printed in Montreal, under the above title thus refers to recent appointments:—"When the tempest growls and the ship creaks, the rats save themselves. This is what has been going on at Ottawa for some weeks. For the information of those who wish to follow events we present this list of those who, scenting the shipwreck, have not waited to be engulfed before seeking shelter somewhere:

Hon. J. J. Curran, member for Montreal Centre, appointed Judge.

Mr. R. S. White, member for Cardwell, appointed collector of Customs at Montreal.

Hon. Mr. Baker, member for Missisquoi, made Senator.

Mr. Adams, member for Northumberland, N.B., made Senator.

Mr. Bain, member for Soulanges, appointed Post Office Inspector.

Mr. P. White, member for Shelburne, made Senator.

Mr. Desaulniers, member for St. Maurice, P.Q., appointed Assistant Registrar of the House of Commons.

Mr. A. McKay, member for Hamilton, appointed Collector of Customs at Hamilton.

Mr. A. Boyle, member for Monck, appointed Collector of Customs at Niagara Falls.

Has anybody ever seen a similar spectacle? Has any one ever seen such great fugitives? But the prudent prefer to take shelter before the "grand sweep of the broom comes."

Et encore un autre rat cherche se de sauver a Peterborough—dans les Douanes.

It is expected that the Ontario Legislature will open for the transaction of business on Thursday, Feb. 11th.

Has Dr. Montague any anonymous feelings as to Sir Adolf Caron occupying the position of leader of the Government party in the House of Commons?

The Tuppers who, under the new deal, seem likely to be brought back into the Government, represent two aspects of the turf, the "plunger, and the kicker.

On the day when the time given Sir Mackenzie Bowell to patch his Cabinet expires, he will have one more opponent—West Huron election next Tuesday and the Liberal candidate is certain to be elected.

It is sad that, after his long and faithful service to the State in the highest positions, Sir Mackenzie Bowell should be put to the comparatively humble work of cabinet making—with mighty poor material too, very much warped and not exactly sound—in fact infected with dry rot.

How much business can a man do whose system is in a state of disorder? Headache is only a symptom. It is not a disease. The pain in the head is the sign of rebellion. There have been mistakes in diet and other abuses.

FORTNIGHTLY CLUB COLUMN.

No. XLVI.

The Church in Relation to the Working Classes.

A learned and always interesting writer has recently published a book wherein he deals with the relation of the Church to the working classes. The book is English, and not always true to our Canadian circumstances, but yet as we know, the question is one that occupies no small share of the attention of our Canadian churches. Here in Canada we have scarcely anything like the developed Secularism found in older countries, yet occasionally we become aware of the fact that there is far less confidence in the clergy as spiritual guides than is desirable. The subject is not, perhaps, directly appropriate to the Fortnightly Club Column, but since the problem is one which demands the attention of all the churches, it is in no sense sectarian, and the author in treating of his subject frequently points out faults in our social life, and suggests remedies, which prove that his interest in the subject is a very wide one, it occurred to me that some account of his work might prove of service to some readers of this column, and we hope of interest to all.

I know of no really great writer who denies that spiritual interests are paramount in the lives of all men. The languid interest in spiritual things may indicate several things.

1. It may signify that we are so engrossed in the cares of this world, in hard work, and still more wearing anxieties, that the spiritual interests, thrust away into some dark corner of the heart, have but a pallid and spindling existence.

2. It may indicate the loss of an old faith, and the failure to find a new one.

3. It may indicate a profound distrust in the worth of the Church's message, or in her sincerity, or in her methods.

Of one thing I feel sure, that all the blame is not on one side, either the side of the workingmen, or on the side of the Church and conversely we may say that there is some blame on both sides. If the churches and the workingmen will frankly admit this then we are on the high road to reconciliation.

The English secularist is fond of holding up the minister to scorn, as a drone living upon society. What it is asked does he produce? To which we reply with a question:—What does the physician produce? What does the literary man produce? What did Mr. Bradlaugh, when he left off making shoes and took to speaking and writing, produce?

If man's whole and sole interest consists in eating and drinking and wearing clothes, if "Let us eat and drink for to-morrow we die," be the true Gospel, then of course not only the clergymen, but the book-writer, the public speaker, the singer, and perhaps above all the poet, are not wanted and should be put to work.

But supposing I find an inspiration to do my work in the books of the writer, or the sermons of the preacher—supposing that the load of the trials, the anxieties, the sorrows, the bereavements of life, is lightened by the proclamation of Truth, then although indirectly, the preacher and the writer are producers, even in the sphere of material things.

Thomas Carlyle was not particularly fond of churches, nor was he distinguished for orthodoxy. His writings abound in assaults upon Cant, Formalism, Hypocrisies; therefore we may regard him as an impartial witness to the value of spiritual things. "There is not, says he, in his peculiar way" a hamlet where poor peasants congregate, but, by one means and another, a church apparatus has been got together,—a roofed edifice with revenues, and belfries; pulpit, reading desk, with books and methods; possibility, in short, and strict prescription, that a man stand there and speak of spiritual things to men. It is beautiful;—even in its great obscuration and decadence, it is among the beautifulest, most touching objects one sees on earth. The Speaking Man has indeed in these trials, wandered terribly from the point, has also, as it were, totally lost sight of the point, yet at bottom what have we to compare with him? Of all public functionaries boarded and lodged on the industry of modern Europe, is there one worthier of the board he has? A man who professing, and never so languidly making still some endeavour, to save the souls of men: contrast him with a man professing to do but little, but shoot the partridges of men. The Speaking Function, this of truth coming to us with a living voice, nay in a living shape, and as a concrete practical exemplar; this, with all our writing and printing functions has a permanent place.

Mr. Ruskin was not a clergyman, but in a striking passage, he places at the head of all manufactures, that of souls of a good quality. Carlyle was unquestionably one of the most profoundly spiritual men of our century. The following quotation is applicable to every kind of atheism, whether it be an atheism of the mind or a practical atheism, which professing to believe is still occupied solely with this world.

"This I do say, and would wish all men to know and lay to heart, that he who discerns nothing but Mechanism in the universe, has in the fatalest way missed the secret of the universe altogether. That all Godhead should branch out of man's conception of the Universe seems to me precisely the most brutal error that men could fall into. It is not true; it is false at the very heart of it. A man who thinks so will think WRONG about all things in the world; this original sin will vitiate all other conclusions he can form."

"Belief," he says again, "I define to be the healthy act of a man's mind." "A man lives by believing something; not by debating and arguing about many things. A sad case for him when all that he can manage to believe is something that he can button in his pocket, and with one or other organ, eat and digest."

All of which is simply in the way of a comment upon a Divine utterance—

"Men shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God."

Maltine With Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites—a Food, Medicine and Digestive.

Thousands of invalids are starving—starving in the midst of plenty and despite the tender care of loved ones. Health is restored, not by what is eaten, but by what is digested. Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites is a food, for it is rich in the nourishing properties of wheat, oats, and barley; a medicine, for it is combined with the best Norwegian oil, which it renders palatable, non-irritating, and readily assimilated; and a powerful digestive, for it acts rapidly upon starchy foods, making them soluble and capable of supplying in abundance the elements of nutrition. One bottle is of greater remedial value than ten bottles of any emulsion. Try it.

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga, Tenn., says, "Shiloh's Vitalizer saved my life," I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used. For dyspepsia, liver or kidney trouble it excells. Price 75 cts. Sold by John Nugent, 389 George street.

She Ought to Know.

Having used Burdock Blood Bitters for 15 years I cannot keep from recommending it to others. I have sold hundreds of bottles from my store, and as I keep other medicines I ought to know which sells best. It is a wonderful medicine.

FOR TIRED FEELING.

Too Much Mental Worry and Too Long Hours Tell.

Exhaustion is Waste—Overwork Means Shortened Life—Dodd's Kidney Pills Means Rest for the Kidneys.

Overwork is what you do after common sense asks you to quit.

Overwork of any kind does more than tire, it exhausts you.

Just a little more after you ought to quit is the "too much" that uses you up.

Exertion increases heart action and whether it is work or exercise, this is good if—

The blood goes out to all parts faster than usual.

The pores of the skin are opened for perspiration and the wastes or poisons in the body are got rid of faster. But the worst of overwork is that it exaggerates the evils of any kidney ailment however slight.

If the kidneys are not in perfect filtering order, more poison is injected through them to all parts of the body than is usual and then work, to say nothing of overwork, is harmful.

The kidneys must be right or everything else will soon go wrong. And when anything else is wrong always look for the cause in the kidneys.

And set them in good working order at once by using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

As soon as your kidneys commence doing good work there is less and less poison in the blood every minute.

This explains why Dodd's Kidney Pills cure so promptly and effectively.

The kidneys do all the purifying as soon as they are helped by the greatest of kidney helpers—Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Nine Million Steps a Year.

A Swiss statistician, a man of leisure, has taken the trouble to count the number of steps he took in walking during the whole year. The number he finds to have been 9,760,900, or an average of 26,740 steps a day. Going still further into details, he declares that over 600,000 of these steps were taken in going up and down stairs.

Mr. George Crites, a Government official Used the Remedy and is Cured.

George Crites, Esq., Custom's Officer, Cornwall, Ont.

"I have been troubled with severe heart complaint for several years. The slightest excitement proved very fatiguing and necessitated taking rest, so that I was under a doctor's care for over six months, and not receiving the benefit I had hoped for, and hearing much of Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart, I asked my physician about taking it, which he advised me to do. The use of the remedy brought results I had scarcely dared hope for and I am now able to attend to business, and do most heartily recommend this remedy to all who suffer from heart complaint." Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart, relieves in 30 minutes and thus has been the means of saving thousands of lives. Sold by H. S. Mcdonald.

A MARVELLOUS STATEMENT!

The Oldest Merchant of Niagara-on-the Lake, Ont., Speaks of Paine's Celery Compound.

AN ASTONISHING VICTORY OVER DISEASE.

Every man, woman and child in and around the pretty town of Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont., knows Mr. W. H. Crysler, the deserving and successful merchant. Hundreds of families in the district are already aware of the fact that, by the use of Paine's Celery Compound, Mr. Crysler was raised up from a condition of utter helplessness, misery and weakness to a new life, and is now in such a healthful condition, that he is perfectly able to look after the details of his flourishing business.

Mr. Crysler's story of his long fight with the worst form of rheumatism, his failures with useless medicines, and his grand triumph with Paine's Celery Compound, are given to the public as follows:

"About four years since I had a severe attack of grippe, followed by rheumatism, for which the local physician prescribed the usual remedies, which helped me at the time, but did not eliminate the disease. Becoming gradually worse I finally became didcouraged, and began using 'proprietary' medicines, without any benefit. Then I went to 'Clifton Springs,' took the treatment and felt somewhat better; but after coming back I became very much worse, and was confined to bed for a time. I then went to 'Preston Springs,' and really improved; but after returning home I got worse, and was a perfect martyr for more than two years, often confined to bed, and gradually becoming worse.

"I was then induced to try Paine's Celery Compound, and have gained in health and strength up to the present writing. I now walk from my house to the store, a distance of one quarter of a mile, daily, and to church Sundays. Paine's Celery Compound has done all this for me. My friends are surprised and astonished to see me able to attend to business again. I might add that I have been in business in Niagara for 41 years, and was 70 years old on 7th January last.

"Believing that it is my duty to let other sufferers know of the great benefit I have received from Paine's Celery Compound, I cheerfully send this letter."

Conditions are Attached

London, Jan. 10.—A despatch from Johannesburg says the Standard of that place publishes the statement that the release of Dr. Jameson and those of his followers who were taken prisoners by the Boers will be made conditional upon the abrogation of the convention of 1884.

Leading Men Arrested for Treason.

Johannesburg, Jan. 10.—Twenty-two members of the National Reform Committee, whose efforts were devoted to inciting the recent rebellious Uitlanders, were arrested by officers of the Transvaal Government at the rooms of the Reform Club last evening on a charge of high treason. They were all taken to Pretoria. The prisoners included Col. Rhodes, a brother of Cecil Rhodes, Sir Drummond Miles Dunbar, Lionel Phillips and other leading residents of Johannesburg.

The arrests created no excitement, the populace maintaining a perfectly indifferent attitude to the action of the authorities.

ACTIVITY AT VICTORIA, B.C.

Work Going on Day and Night at the Esquimalt Dock

Victoria, B.C., Jan. 10.—The greatest activity is being shown by the naval authorities at this station. The officers have been taking a great deal of interest in the despatches regarding the trouble between England and Germany, and more official despatches than usual have been going between Admiral Stephenson and the Admiralty officials.

It is stated that two large ships will come out to join the Pacific fleet, besides the one which is intended to relieve the Royal Arthur.

Work on Her Majesty's ship Satellite, now in the Esquimalt dock, is being rushed night and day.

HATE TO GIVE UP.

The Uitlanders Very Slow in Surrendering Their Guns

London, Jan. 10.—A despatch from Pretoria says the Transvaal Government are greatly displeased at the slowness of the Uitlanders in delivering up their arms. They are said to have had in their possession 30,000 rifles, whereas only 2000 have been handed over to the authorities. In consequence of this the Government have issued a proclamation declaring that unless all the arms are delivered up to 6 o'clock on the evening of Jan. 10, the defaulters will be dealt with according to law. Those who comply with the demands of the Government will be pardoned, with the exception of the leaders of the revolt, who will have to suffer the penalty of their acts.

THE WISDOM OF GREY HAIRS.

Rev. John Scott, D. D., of Hamilton Ont., a Well-Known Retired Presbyterian Minister, Has Used Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, and Testifies to its Benefit.

The cautious conversation that is characteristic of Presbyterians, and especially of those who have seen years of service in the church gives weight and influence to any recommendation that they may make on almost any matter. When we find a clergyman of the years of the Rev. John Scott, D. D., of Hamilton, one of the church's most esteemed ministers, speaking favorably of a proprietary medicine we may rest assured that it possesses genuine merit. Mr Scott tells us of the benefits that have come to him from the use of this medicine, because he is able to speak from an experimental knowledge having used the medicine himself. Of its benefits he has testified over his own signature.

One short puff of the breath through the blower supplied with each bottle of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, diffuses this powder over the surface of the nasal passages. Painless and delightful to use, it relieves in ten minutes and permanently cures Catarrh, hay fever, colds, headache, sore throat, tonsilitis and deafness. 60 cts. Sample bottle and blower sent on receipt of two three cent stamps. S. G. Detchon, 44 Church street, Toronto. Sold by H. S. Mcdonald.

RIDDLED HIM WITH BULLETS.

A Niagara County Man Shot His Father-in-Law in Revenge and Was Killed by a Mob

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Jan. 10.—A brutal murder was committed in Ransomville this afternoon. Robert Clapsaddle, a wealthy farmer, was shot behind the left ear with a 32-calibre revolver by his son-in-law, George H. Smith.

Smith was sent to the Monroe County Penitentiary for perjury last summer. Before his arrest he and his wife, who is Clapsaddle's daughter, separated. When Smith was discharged from jail, a few days ago, he swore he would kill two men, his father-in-law, whom he blamed for setting his wife against him, and H. M. Ransom, who was a witness against him, in the perjury suit.

He slipped up on the old man this afternoon while he was reading, put the revolver to his head and pulled the trigger. Mrs. Clapsaddle and daughter were away at a neighbor's.

Clapsaddle is sinking rapidly and cannot recover. An angry posse of citizens is after Smith. It will be impossible for him to escape.

Ransomville, Niagara County, N.Y., Jan. 10.—(5 o'clock)—Swift justice has been dealt to George Smith, the cowardly assassin of his aged step-father. Shortly after 4 o'clock this afternoon he was overtaken by a citizens' posse and riddled with bullets.

When Smith murdered old Clapsaddle he fled from the house, and started across the country in a diagonal direction toward the home of his wife's second husband, named De Clute.

He had a considerable start before the posse of citizens had organized.

There were from 50 to 75 determined men in the posse. They were variously armed with shot guns, rifles, revolvers and clubs.

The posse had gone about two and one-half miles from this village when the first of the pursuers caught sight of Smith. De Clute's house was about a quarter of a mile away.

The house of a farmer named Brown was near by, and when the hunted murderer saw the posse closing in upon him he made a bee line for Brown's. As he was about to enter the door Smith turned and shook his revolver in the direction of the posse, firing one shot and shouting: "The first man who follows me in here will be killed." The crowd was up to Brown's in a moment and carefully surrounded the farm house to prevent Smith's escape.

Smith secreted himself in a clothes press, which had a window looking upon the yard.

Elmer Clapsaddle, a distant relative of the murdered man, made a dash toward the window, but shouts of the crowd had apprised Smith that his hiding place was known. Elmer Clapsaddle cried to him to surrender himself and come into the yard. With an oath Smith thrust his arm out of the little window and fired at Clapsaddle.

The shot took effect in the young man's wrist. This aroused the rage of the posse and it was at once decided to deal quickly with the murderer lest he kill some of themselves.

Smith did not attempt to fire again, but did not show himself at the window, and when the posse called out to him to surrender he made no reply. Suspecting some new deviltry on the assassin's part, the leader of the crowd gave the order to fire, and two score of rifles and shot guns poured their loads into the walls of the house.

The posse heard the sound of a falling body in the clothes press and a groan. Some of the bullets had found their target. A rush was made for the interior of the house and Smith was found in the closet, bleeding in a dozen places, and unconscious. Twenty rifle bullets or charges of buckshot were in his body. He was dragged out into the light, but his eyes were closed, and he was senseless.

An Old Tammany Man Dead.

New York, Jan. 10.—Thomas Dunlap, the oldest living member of Tammany Hall, and who had been alderman, deputy naval officer, commissioner of jurors, warden of Ludlow-street jail, and deputy cashier of the Post-office, died this morning at Westfield, N.J. He was born in Tyrone, Ireland, in 1816, and came to this country in 1824.

Mr. Yeigh's Picture Lecture.

Judging from the encomiums passed upon Mr. Frank Yeigh's Picture Lecture on Canada, wherever he has appeared, the citizens of Peterborough have a very instructive and entertaining evening in store for them at the Opera House, on Friday, the 17th, and the members of Courts Peterborough and Langton, Canadian Order of Foresters, will show in a very pleasant manner that they are deserving of the gratitude of the public by furnishing another of the high-class entertainments for which they have been distinguished in the past. In evidence of the high character of the entertainment, the school board have become patrons of Mr. Yeigh's coming lecture on Canada. It will be highly educative, for the young especially, and the lessons taught will be impressed with particular force upon their minds by the hundred splendid lime light views. Therefore for the benefit of school children, the tickets for them have been placed at 15c. The lecture will be full of interest to adults and will arouse greater interest at a time when the British Empire, of which Canada forms the most important part, is threatened with a combination of powerful foes. "Britons hold your own," and we will do so by standing by our session of the Empire. Keep the date of Mr. Frank Yeigh's Great Picture Lecture on Canada open or rather close it with the date, Opera House, Jan. 17th. Reserved seats 25c; children 15c. Plan of hall at Reynolds Bros store.

A PRETTY WEDDING AT LAKEVIEW HOUSE ON WEDNESDAY.

Celebration of the Nuptials of Mr. Arthur N. Deviney of Burnley, and Miss Ida Hicks, of Roseneath.

At high noon on Wednesday, January 8th, at "Lakeview House," the pretty residence of Mrs. Robt. Hicks, Roseneath, was the scene of an interesting and most pleasing event, it being the marriage of her only daughter, Ida, to Arthur N. Deviney of Burnley.

The ceremony was performed in the parlours by Rev. Mr. Talman, of Burnley, in the presence of about 70 invited guests, friends and relatives of the young couple. The rooms were prettily decorated with smilax, flowers, etc., and the bride looked most lovely in a becoming gown of cream faille, trimmed with pearl passementerie. A bridal veil was worn with orange blossoms, and she carried a beautiful spray bouquet of bride's roses.

The bride was attended by Miss Ella Deviney, sister of the groom, and Miss Ada Fraser of Peterborough. The former wore white dotted Swiss muslin, with lace collar and sash blue ribbons. She carried pink roses.

Miss Fraser wore a mauve and rose organdy, trimmed with Valenciennes lace and rose ribbons and carried yellow roses.

The groom was supported by Robt. Hicks, brother of the bride, and Dr. Lapp, of Roseneath.

After the ceremony a most elaborate wedding breakfast was partaken of, the dining-room being decorated with smilax and plants. The happy couple left on the afternoon train for Toronto and other western points on an extended tour.

Miss Hicks has many friends in town where she was very popular, and a large number from Peterborough were in attendance at the wedding. A quantity of most equisite wedding presents were received.

THE SOUTH WARD SCHOOLS.

The Formal Re-opening Took Place Yesterday Afternoon.

The formal reopening of the South Ward Centre School took place, yesterday, at half past two, and during the afternoon scores of those interested in Peterborough's educational system visited the class rooms and inspected the work of the scholars.

School trustees, Dr. Burnham, Peter Hamilton, W. G. Ferguson, W. H. Hill, J.J. McBain, and W. B. Bamford received the visitors in the early part of the afternoon and after a few words of greeting turned them over to one of a dozen or more little ushers, who conducted them through the different class rooms.

There were no addresses delivered the many visitors being taken from room to room in groups and given an opportunity of learning the grade of work taken by the respective classes, and also to inspect the new addition or wing to the school just completed. The pupils in the primary rooms sang nearly all the afternoon for the benefit of their visitors.

The first department visited was the Kindergarten, and here it was that the majority of the visitors spent the greater part of their time, as the interesting exercises of the tiny tots is irresistibly attractive. The room which they occupy is the largest and airiest in the building and possesses every convenience for the work, placing it ahead of the Kindergartens in some of the large cities. The room is separated from that occupied by another class by a movable partition, which in accordance with the most advanced ideas in architecture can be let down through the floor at a moment's notice, thus transforming the whole lower floor of the new wing into one large assembly room in which closing exercises can be held.

Above those departments are two other fine large rooms, one of which is occupied by Mr. Yeannie, the principal. All four of these class rooms are commodious, airy and light, and no finer rooms could be devised for the purpose. The Smead-Dowd system of heating has been adapted, and therefore the rooms are kept most comfortable. The basement of the new wing is dry and well lighted and is used as a play room and lunch-room for the girls. Besides the classrooms, there is also a teachers' room and several large cloak rooms in the new wing.

All who visited the school expressed great satisfaction on viewing the new improvements, and the visit to the classrooms roused quite an interest in many not heretofore actively concerned in the operation of the machinery which has made our local public school system one of the best in Canada.

THE PETERBOROUGHS WIN FROM LINDSAY.

THEY SCORED TWELVE GOALS TO ONE.

The First Game in the Hockey Association Junior Series was Easily Won by the Peterboroughs From the Lindsay Team.

The Peterborough Hockey team and its supporters to the number of about forty journeyed over to Lindsay yesterday afternoon, when in the evening the first game in the junior series of the O. H. A. series was played, resulting in an easy victory for the Peterboroughs by the score of twelve goals to one. The teams lined up on the ice as follows :—

Peterborough.		Lindsay.
E Wasson	goal	Walton
W Adams	point	Rankin
J Parsons	cover point	Walters
L King	Forwards	Lee
W J Montgomery		Keenan
W Phelan		Shennon
F LeFèvre		Kempt
Alf Terrill	Timekeepers	Dr Shire

Referee—H Richardson.

The game was called at 8.29½ o'clock and the goals were scored in the following order:—

1—Peterborough,	by LeFevre	5	mins
2— "	Montgomery	5½	"
3— "	Phelan	11	"
4— "	Phelan	3	"
5— "	King	13	"
6— "	Parsons	25	"
7— "	King	½	"
8— "	King	4½	"
9— "	Montgomery	1½	"
10— "	Phelan	1½	"
11—Lindsay	by Walters	4	"
12—Peterborough,	by King	4	"
13— "	King	6½	"

Considerable time was lost at intervals during the game through trivial accidents, consequently the games were scored in much shorter time than accredited in the above schedule.

When the puck was first faced off Phelan secured it, as

HE USUALLY DOES,

and a rush was made on the Lindsay goal. Walters relieved quickly and a shot was made on Peterborough's flags, which was stopped by Wasson with great dexterity. The puck travelled up the ice again, but was soon back in Peterborough territory, when Adams made a brilliant stop and a clever lift back on the Lindsay goal. By this time the first mad rush was over, and the Peterboroughs had sized up their opponents to a nicety and scored with a rapidity that was astonishing. The Lindsay men fought hard against defeat, but fought without system, consequently it was merely a matter of time before the line of Peterborough forwards would go through their opponents with their old characteristic dash, and add another to the long list of goals which had been scored.

Of the Lindsay men, Walters at coverpoint, Ed. Keenan on the forward line, were by far the best players, and the former relieved many times most brilliantly and also made a couple of good rushes. Keenan played a strong individual game, but had no one to back him up, and when he would come with the puck and carry it into the Peterborough territory there would be no one with him to whom he could pass it, all the other Lindsay forwards being some twenty feet behind him. He made things warm for Ernie Wasson, however, occasionally, but the latter showed he was fully equal to almost any emergency and made some of the prettiest stops ever seen on the rink, at times catching the puck in one hand when a quick lift had made things look dangerous. The only goal which Lindsay scored was a well-executed piece of play and was the only time during the evening when the forwards went down the rink in a line. Walters made a rush, and he and Keenan played a pretty combination which resulted in the former shooting a goal out of a scrimage just in front of the flags.

The Peterborough boys played a great game, and their mistakes were not many. Although the combination play is not as yet up to the mark of last year, this may be attributed to the fact that their opponents played no team game and spent a good deal of time in falling around the ice, consequently the Peterboroughs never knew in just what position to find them. With a

every player would be in his position, and when the rush line formed up it would only be by combination play that the puck could be carried through. Individual play would be disastrous and consequently there would be no temptation to indulge in it. Some grand work, however, was done, and the Lindsayites cheered, as well as the Peterborough boys, when the puck would be carried down the whole length of the rink by Phelan in one of his grand dashes and then at just the right moment passed over to King, and lifted by him on the goal as straight as an arrow and with almost the velocity of a cannonball. The Lindsay goal keeper's position was not an enviable one when King was in a position to shoot on the flags, and there are few portions of his body which do not bear the impress of the puck. Lionel played his old game and still remains Peterborough's surest shot on the goal. Phelan is playing the best game of his life, and his magnificent rushes down the ice were fully appreciated by the spectators last night. For bringing the puck out of a scrimmage, carrying it down the ice and knowing just when to pass it, Walter and when he shoots on goal he makes a sure and swift lift that is most effective. Montgomery did good work by his excellent judgment and experience, and is a great source of strength to the forward line. He made some very pretty plays last night, which called for loud applause. LaFevre is not the same man he was last year, the improvement in his style of play being most marked and apparent. He possesses more confidence than he did last year and his weight is just what is needed to counterbalance the otherwise rather light forward line. It takes a good chunk of a player to stop Fred. when he starts down the ice with the puck.

Parsons, who always has played a most steady, reliable game did some most brilliant work at coverpoint, last evening. Seeing that Sam Adams was quite capable of looking after the defence, he was always up on the heels of the forwards and by his effective work kept the forwards busy following up his shots. Sam Adams' proverbial coolness makes him a very strong man for point. No matter how hot the fight grows Sam does not, like many another, get rattled, but waits his chance and is seldom out-manœuvred by an opponent.

NOTES.

The members of the team were banqueted at the Benson House by the Lindsay boys after the match.

George Kempt received a nasty cut on the forehead just before half time was called, and was replaced by Kennedy.

The game was devoid of any rough play whatever, and the referee had no occasion for even a warning.

The occasional giving away of the movable sides to the hockey rink created quite a diversion by landing, at intervals, a dozen or so eager enthusiasts out on the the ice in a heap.

The referee, Mr. H. Richardson, has evidently a full and perfect knowledge of the game, or his decisions were most satisfactory to all.

The party returned to town by special train, arriving in Peterborough at one o'clock.

Lindsay furnishes cracking curlers but hasn't got the hang of Hockey yet.

The Lindsay girls felt worse than the hockey boys in the latter's defeat last night.

THE PETERBOROUGH CUSTOMS' HOUSE.

An Official Investigation of the Accounts —The Collector in Chicago.

The unsatisfactory condition of affairs in connection with the Peterborough Customs' Collectorship, previously referred to in these columns, still continues. The nominal collector of customs is out of town, said to be in Chicago. As was to be expected, the accounts are not in a satisfactory condition. Provincial Inspector Boultbee, of Toronto, and Assistant Douglas have been going over the accounts for several days. They began their investigation with July '93. Inspector Boultbee went to Toronto yesterday but will return on Monday to continue the investigation and report to the Department of Customs. It is two years since Inspector Boultbee was appointed and it is understood that there has been no audit since that time. The investigation not having been completed, it would be premature to mention specific as to the state in which they are found.

RHEUMATISM RELIEVED IN SIX HOURS.

South American Rheumatic Cure Gives Relief as Soon as the First Dose is Taken, and Cures Ordinary Cases of Rheumatism and Neuralgia in From one to Three Days—What a Grateful Citizen of St Lambert, Que., Has to Say.

For many months I have suffered the most excruciating pain from rheumatism and had despaired of getting permanent relief until South American Rheumatic Cure was brought to my notice. I procured a bottle of the remedy and to my suprise received great benefit from the first few doses. In fact, within six hours after taking the first dose I was free from pain, and the use of a few bottles wrought a permanent cure. It is surely the best remedy of this kind in existence. J. FREBEAU, St. Lambert, P.Q. Sold by H. S. Mcdonald.

Obituary.

Mr. Abraham Dies, who passed away a few days ago after a long lifetime of 82 years, at his residence in Tyendenaga township, Hastings county, was an American by birth, having settled in Canada when quite young. He was one of the pioneer settlers of the county, and was a successful farmer, respected by all who knew him. He leaves a widow now over 70 years of age, and several adult children to mourn his loss. The deceased was enjoying his usual health a few days before his death, and was suddenly stricken down with his fatal illness. His remains were deposited in the vault in Deseronto, waiting the arrival of one of his sons from the United States. Deceased was the father of Mr. George E. Dies, manager of the R.S. Williams & Sons Co. piano warerooms, Water street.

PERSONAL.

Miss Mabel Holmes, of Toronto, is visiting Mrs. C. Allison.

Mr. Norman Lee, of Parry Sound, is in town visiting friends and relatives.

Miss Ethel Hamshere of Cobourg, is the guest of her friend, Miss Mabel Warne.

Miss Edith Mark of St. Thomas, is spending her holidays with Miss Mattie Regan, Peterborough.

Miss Jessie Fairweather is still very low but is improving and her ultimate recovery is expected if nothing intervenes.

Mr. W. J. Drope, who has been confined to the house with illness during the past weeks will be able to resume his duties next week.

The Port Hope Guide says: Miss Ackerman, Peterborough, who has been the guest of Mrs. N. B. Gould, Penryn Park, has returned home.

Inspector of Inland Revenue Hamilton, of Belleville, who has been in town for the last couple of days on official business, returned home to-day.

Mr. Lionel King is spending the day in town, having played in the hockey match in Lindsay last night. He will resume his studies at Upper Canada College on Monday.

Rev. A. C. Crews of Toronto, secretary of Sunday Schools and Epworth Leagues of the Methodist church, who will preach at the anniversary services of the George street church to-morrow, is the guest of Mr. Thos. Morrow, Edinburgh street.

In the Beginning

Of a new year, when the winter season of close confinement is only half gone, many find that their health begins to break down, that the least exposure threatens sickness. It is then as well as at other times, and with people even in good health, that the following facts should be remembered namely: that Hood's Sarsaparilla leads everything in the way of medicines; that it accomplishes the greatest cures in the world; has the largest sale in the world, and requires the largest building in the world devoted exclusively to the preparation of the proprietary medicine. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best.

MANY MINOR MATTERS AT THE COUNCIL MEETING.

ATTENTION TO A FEW RATHER UNIMPORTANT MATTERS.

Communications—The C.P.R. Sheds—The Mason Case—Whyte's Dam—Sewerage Arbitration Costs—Preparing for the Final Session.

The Council met in special session last night. Present, the Mayor in the chair, and Messrs. Cahill, Best, Denne, Mills, Phelan, Dawson, Cobb, Sawers, Stone, Mason and Brady.

After routine the

COMMUNICATIONS

were read:—

From Mrs. E. Guy, asking compensation for sheltering a destitute woman.—Charity Committee.

From A. Mulhern, asking remission of taxes.—Granted.

From R. Redmond, requesting remission of taxes.—Granted.

From George Cunningham, with a similar petition.—Court of Revision.

From W G Morrow, sending estimates of Board of Education.—Finance Committee.

From J. G. Weir, asking compensation for damage done to the wheels of his vehicle by dropping through an opening in the west end of the "Peterborough bridge."—Joint Committee.

From R Grant, informing the Council that Mr. Winch had assigned his interest in the contract to Mr. Grant.—Received.

From Geo. Dennistoun, in reference to taxes.—Received.

From Mrs. S. A. Goodfellow, requesting the town to grant her a license for a restaurant, she being unable to pay for one.—License Committee.

From R. E. Wood, County Crown Attorney, enclosing presentment of Grand Jury at the recent County Court.—Property Committee.

From the Town Solicitor:—

"Messrs. Edmison & Dixon have written me that they wish to have this matter (North Monaghan vs. Peterborough) disposed of, and they asked me to give them an answer on the day on which I received their letter. I replied to them that as the matter had been allowed to stand for so long by mutual consent, that I was not prepared at such short notice to say definitely what course would be taken, and that I wished to consult the Town Council, and also Mr. Robinson, before deciding what course to take. I have written to Mr. Robinson but have not yet received a reply from him. If the council have any instructions to give me, directly or through the committee, I shall be glad to be informed as to the same."

Mr. Best said that he had instructed the Town Solicitor to ascertain the amount of the townships' bill, so that the town's liability could be known.

From E. B. Edwards, Town Solicitor, enclosing a copy of the bill of Mr. Moss, Q. C., for counsel fees in argument of the case of Mason vs. Peterborough, amounting to $113.58, and asking that a cheque for the same be issued.—Received.

From the Town Solicitor, reporting that he had not heard from the C. P. R. in answer to his letter re the freight shed on Wolfe street, and asking for instructions as regards issuing a writ.

Mr. Stone, in reference to a motion to refer the matter to the Finance Committee, objected to this course of delay. The rights of citizens were injured by the action of the town in this matter, and it was the duty of the town to grant these people proper redress; and Messrs. Phelan, Dawson and Cahill advised amicable settlement. Mr. Stone moved in amendment, that the Town Engineer be instructed to ascertain to what extent the C. P. R. freight sheds were upon the street, and report to the Town Solicitor, the latter to be guided by the former instructions of this council.

The amendment was lost, and the motion to refer the matter to the Finance Committee to instruct the Town Engineer to see to what extent the sheds are upon the street, was carried.

Mr. Stone demanded the yeas and nays, which were taken as follows:

Yeas—Messrs. Cahill, Best, Denne, Mills, Phelan, Dawson, Cobb, Mason and Brady.

Nays—Messrs. Stone and Sawers.

From W. E. Hudson, re taxes—extension of time.—Court of Revision.

The committee also reported having settled the old account with the Peterborough Light and Power Co for balance of quarter payment for street lights in the Arcade, and lights in the Park, which had been referred to the committee for settlement for $500, and also had cheques issued to the Ontario Bank for $631.37 for the years interest to the bank, to R. Hall and C. McGill for $256.85 for interest to the end of the year on the $15,000 borrowed by the town council from the executors of the Nicholls estate, and a cheque to A. Fairbairn for $7 50 for wood on the order of the Charity Committee.

The report was adopted.

ASHBURNHAM FIRE PROTECTION DEBT.

Mr. Brady explained, in reference to the account for fire protection of Ashburnham of $750, that the clerk had written demanding payment by the 20th of December, and had received no reply. Some discussion ensued, and it was resolved that the clerk be instructed to inform the Ashburnham council that unless the town's claim of $750 be paid the corporation of Peterborough will withdraw its fire protection after Jan. 15th.

Mr. Cahill said he hoped at the next meeting of the council that a full and clear statement of the finances would be presented.

Mr. Cahill gave notice of motion that this council memorialize the Ontario Legislature to amend the Municipal Act so that it shall be necessary for any person who desires to be a candidate for mayor or councillor or school trustee to to submit their names in writing to the deputy returning officer at the ward in which they propose running, with those of their proposer and seconder, each in their own handwriting, and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., with a request that he urge upon the Government the passing of the amendment suggested.

Mr. Stone's motion to pay the witness fees of Mr. Owen's in connection with the investigation in the matter of Whyte's dam, brought out considerable discussion, and Mr. Stone withdrew his motion, and the substance of his motion, as well as the question of paying the witnesses of the other parties to the investigation, was referred to the Health Committee with instructions to report at the next meeting of council.

Council adjourned.

DANGEROUS RESULTS SURE TO FOLLOW.

Neglect of Kidney Trouble—South American Kidney Cure is a Remedy That Quickly Eradicates Kidney Trouble in any of its Stages

It is an unfortunate blunder to allow disease of the kidneys to obtain a hold in the system. The disease is of that character that leads to many serious complications which too often end fatally. The strong point of South American Kidney Cure is that it drives this disease out of the system, whether taken in its incipient stages or after it has more nearly approached a chronic condition. The medicine is a radical one, easy to take, yet thoroughly effective, and what is encouraging to the patient the results of its use are made manifest almost immediately. As a matter of fact this medicine will relieve distressing kidney and bladder disease in six hours. Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

PYNY-PECTORAL
The Quick Cure for COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, HOARSENESS, etc.

Mrs. JOSEPH NORWICK, of 68 Sorauren Ave., Toronto writes: "Pyny-Pectoral has never failed to cure my children of croup after a few doses. It cured myself of a long-standing cough after several other remedies had failed. It has also proved an excellent cough cure for my family. I prefer it to any other medicine for coughs, croup or hoarseness."

H. O. BARBOUR, of Little Rocher, N.B., writes: "As a cure for coughs Pyny-Pectoral is the best selling medicine I have; my customers will have no other."

Since the styles have changed so rapidly
And bloomers worn for skirts,
I find I'm wearing hole-y sox
And my sister wears my shirts.
I don't believe she likes them
Still the reasons may be sundry,
For she's just 'caught on' that they're done up at the I.X.L. Laundry.

No Trouble to Answer Letters

Most people when meditating the purchase of a Piano feel more or less troubled in making a decision. The structure of a Piano is a thing they know so little of.

If you feel this way just write us a line and ask for information. It is no trouble at all to us. It is our business. We are experts of a quarter of a century's standing in the trade. Our stock is large. Our variety of styles is infinite, especially when you consider that we handle many other Canadian and American Pianos than those of our own make. Our prices are moderate, quality considered. Our terms are easy. Our Pianos are exceptional.

Again we say it is no trouble to answer letters, therefore write us and get full particulars.

THE doctor may be a good old man, but even so, medical examinations and the "local-application" treatment are abhorrent to every modest woman. They are embarrassing—often useless. They should not be submitted to until everything else has been tried. In nine cases out of ten, there is no reason for them. In nine cases out of ten, the doctor in general practice isn't competent to treat female diseases. They make a branch of medicine by themselves. They are distinct from other ailments. They can be properly understood and treated only by one who has had years of actual practice and experience in this particular line. This is true of Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician of the Invalid's Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription, for all derangements of the reproductive organs of women, has been in actual use for more than thirty years. It was originally sold with an absolute guarantee that it would cure every case, or that the money paid for it would be refunded. Its success has been so universal that this guarantee is no longer necessary. The "Favorite Prescription" relies now upon the thousands of testimonials from grateful and happy women, in all parts of the land, whose lives have been made worth living by its use. "Favorite Prescription" is sold by druggists.

Complete information regarding it, and testimonials from hundreds who have used it, are embodied in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a standard medical work of 1008 pages, profusely illustrated, which will be sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of customs and mailing only. This work is a complete family doctor book and should be read by both young and old. WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Buffalo, N. Y

TWO SKUNK FARMS.

THE PROPRIETORS OF WHICH ARE SAID TO BE WAKING MONEY.

These Farms Are Located in the State of Maine—Ways in Which the Delicate Task of Capturing the Game Is Performed.

Attars and sweet essences cannot be said to permeate the air in that part of the town of Mexico near Henry Ladd's skunk farm. Mexico is a remote little town up near the New Hampshire line on the Androscoggin River, nine or ten miles from Rumford Falls. It has a pulp mill which gives employment to a goodly number of the inhabitants. While those not engaged in running the wood chewing machines or sorting logs in the company's boom, support themselves by farming. Henry Ladd is a farmer, but of late he conceived a scheme of skunk propagation, which promises good returns.

The little animal is multiplying so rapidly in Maine as to become a subject of serious consideration. Only a month ago some of the residents of Bangor came out with a double-leaded protest against this nocturnal prowler, and thought the Legislature should do something in the way of offering a bounty for pelts. That he is a nuisance all who travel by night on the trains between Boston and Bangor can bear testimony. Never since 1636, when Gabriel Segard, in his history of Canada, first called the attention of naturalists to skunks, have they been more numerous, or the subject of so much speculation as now. Sagard called them the children of the devil, but passengers on the night Pullmans, aroused from a sound sleep by the villainous protest of one caught under the wheels, have given them names much more opprobrious. But there is money in skunks.

Despised as they are, the farmer has no better friends in the way of insect destroyers. The skunk devours vast numbers of beetles and grasshoppers, to say nothing of innumerable field mice. He is nocturnal in habits, and will, on a pinch, negotiate a hen roost. This one failing puts him on the black list with the farmer, and many is the complaint lodged against him. Some time back in the thirties a fur dealer discovered that the skunk produced as good "foreign sable" as ever graced a woman's cloak. After that there was a call for the pelts, but just how to handle the animals was an art not yet attained, and skunk hunters were few. There was a steady demand for good skins ever since 1840, until about [illegible] years ago, when the fur went out of fashion. Good black pelts will bring the killer in Maine $1 or more; so that it pays to hunt them.

Mr. Ladd began collecting for his farm early in September, and has now over 100 skunks. At a good distance from his house, in a rocky old pasture, he enclosed a space 100 by 200 feet with a fence of poultry netting. Before the fence was put up a trench two feet deep was dug around the enclosure and filled with stones. The fence posts are set in this, so there is no show for the animals to tunnel in under and escape. Inside the wire fence boards are so fixed as to prevent the animals from climbing up and over. There are a number of kennels in the enclosure, but the skunks seem to prefer to burrow, and several of them have already taken up winter quarters in the ground. Occasionally a fight occurs, and Mr. Ladd has seen several skunks attack the weaker one in a fight and kill him. This done the whole colony turns to, cannibal fashion, and eats up the slain. They are fed on bits of meat and waste fish, table scraps, or any kind of refuse food. They will eat sweet apples, pumpkins, milk, woodchucks, chickens, eggs and honey.

A son of Mr. Ladd helps in the enterprise. He looks after the trapping of the animals. Small steel traps, with smooth jaws, are used, the spring being strong enough to hold without breaking the leg. To each trap is fastened a pole about ten feet long. When a skunk is trapped it takes two men to take the animal. One uses a net, fashioned from a meal sack, with a ten-foot handle, while the other works the pole attached to the trap. The skunk's dead line, or limit of range, is from ten to fourteen feet, but there is not much to be feared from one in a trap, as it usually exhausts itself before the trapper appears. To release one and secure him, the man with the net attracts the skunk's attention, while the other goes up and lifts the trap from the ground with the long pole to which it is fastened. Suspended in the air the skunk is helpless. While in this position he is released, dropped into the net or sack, and from there deposited in a large box, with a trap-door arrangement, which skunk hunters on a large scale take along with them in a wagon.

About a mile west of Hallowell, on on the Kennebec, is another skunk farm, which two weeks ago, had fifty occupants. The proprietor of this institution catches his animals in a unique way. He is not wholly opposed to traps, but he says there is no sport in trapping. He hunts at night with a cocker spaniel, who, although often overcome, still sticks valiantly to his work. The cocker takes up the scent of the skunk as a hound does a fox or rabbit, and just yaps enough to let his master know that he has found one.

After him goes the hunter with a lantern, and when the skunk is sighted, the spaniel sets up a boisterous barking. He barks at long range—a judicious caution born of experience—but he fixes the attention of the skunk while his master flips the game into a net. It takes an adroit turn of both wrists to do this, but the Hallowell man makes few mistakes.

The skunk farm has for its enclosure an old hay barn. The floor has been removed, and boards driven stile fashion, around the inside to prevent tunnelling. When seen two weeks ago the animals on this farm were sleek and fat. The proprietor, who is something of a fox hunter, besides, did not intend killing any this year. After one breeding he would begin the slaughter.

The skunk has from six to nine young at a time. The little ones are as playful as kittens; very mischievous, too, and some of the up-country people, notably the Indians, consider the meat to be excellent. It is white and compact, like the breast of a partridge. The pelts of most of the animals killed in this state are sent to Boston and New York, to help swell the big cargoes of skunk skins sent abroad. The oil is valuable for dressing leather, and brings a fair figure, a good fat skunk yielding about a quart of oil.

The Cure of Diphtheria.

A Berlin correspondent writes: "The official statistics of the cases of diphtheria treated by the antitoxic serum, which have just been published, give some interesting details as to the success of the new method. The investigation on this subject was set on foot by the Ministry of Medicinal Affairs, which addressed its enquiries to physicians, both in public and private practice. Answers to the number of 1,349 were returned, dealing with 6,626 cases, of which 2,460 were treated in hospitals. Out of the total of 6,626 patients, 56.5 per cent. recovered and 12.9 per cent. died, while the remainder were still under treatment. Of the hospital patients, 80.5 per cent. recovered and 19.5 per cent. died. The mortality was highest (34 per cent.) in the Government district of Liegnitz and lowest (7 per cent.) in that of Munich. In 4,871 cases the physicians expressed their views as to the value or the antitoxic serum. In 55.6 per cent. of these cases the remedial effects of the serum are characterized as certain and 30.8 per cent. as probable, while in 13.6 per cent. the method apparently produced no effect. The serum was described as 'decidedly harmful' in only 60 cases, of which 42 recovered and 18 died, and as 'inocuous' in 4,514 cases. In these 60 cases the patients suffered from cutaneous eruptions, albuminuria, pains in the joints, disturbance of the heart's action, nephritis in three cases and general debility. It is not, however, believed that the enquiry has proved that such symptoms are of more frequent occurrence in consequence of the antitoxic treatment, though cutaneous eruptions and pains in the joints may, it is thought, be looked upon as likely to accompany the method. The authorities have come to the conclusion that the treatment with the serum exercises a favorable influence on the course of the disease, and that a continued employment of it is justified."

Their Statements Very Important.

Each month, hundreds of ladies write about their wonderful success with the popular Diamond Dyes.

Mrs. E. Chambers, Massey Station, Ont., says:

"Have used Diamond Dyes for years; they are excellent and make old things look new. I could not get along without them."

Mrs. P. Boudrot Lennox Ferry, N.S., says:

"We use from thirty to thirty-five packages of Diamond Dyes every six months, and would go ten miles for them rather than use any other kind."

Hall Caine on Gladstone's Estate.

He (Hall Caine) left school at the age of fifteen and was apprenticed by his father to John Murray, architect and land surveyor. The lad had no special faculties for architecture beyond possessing a fair knowledge of drawing. When only thirteen he drew the map of England which appeared in the first edition of "Gill's Geography."

John Murray was agent for the Lancashire estates of W. E. Gladstone, and it was in this way that Hall Caine first became known to the statesman, who from the first has been amongst his keenest admirers. One of the first occasions on which he attracted Mr. Gladstone's attention was one day when he was superintending the surveying of Seaforth, Gladstone's estate. Gladstone was surprised to see so small a lad in charge of the chainmen, and began to talk with him. He must have been impressed by the lad's conversation, for he patted his head and told him he would be a fine man yet. Mr. Gladstone has never forgotten this incident. Some time later, John Murray having failed in the meanwhile, an offer was made to Hall Caine, from the Gladstones, of the stewardship of the Seaforth estate at a salary of one hundred and twenty pounds a year. "Although the thought of so much wealth," he relates, "overwhelmed me I did not see in this offer the prospect of any career—indeed this had been pointed out to me—and I determined to continue in the architect's office." He accordingly attached himself as a pupil or apprentice to Richard Owens, the architect.—R. H. Sherard, in McClure's Magazine for December.

COUNTERFEITS.

A few years ago a great discovery was made.

Unprincipled persons are trying to prey upon and dupe people who are led to ask for kidney treatment.

Some of the methods adopted by imitators are as follows:—

First;—To imitate the size, color and shape of Dodd's Kidney Pills and sell them by count.

Second:—To put them up to appear very nearly the same and to be offered at the same price.

Third;—To hook on the word "kidney" in naming catharatic pills so as to increase sales of mere physic.

Fourth;—To give a name so near to Dodd's that unwary people may be deceived and think they are getting Dodd's.

Look out for such dodges. When you want kidney medicine you want the best. And ought not to be the subject of any trick.

So beware.

Shiloh's Cure, the great Cough and Croup Cure, is in great demand. Pocket size contains twenty-five doses only 25c. Children love it. Sold by John Nugent, 389 George Street.

Worth $5 00 a Bottle.

Sirs,—For five years I have been troubled with neuralgia and tried everything I could see or hear of. At last I was advised to try a bottle of Yellow Oil and I refused because I thought it was like all the rest—a failure. A half bottle was given me, however, and I found it helped me, and bought a bottle which cured me. If it cost five dollars a bottle I would not be without it.

scrofula

Any doctor will tell you that Professor Hare, of Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, is one of the highest authorities in the world on the action of drugs. In his last work, speaking of the treatment of scrofula, he says:

"It is hardly necessary to state that cod-liver oil is the best remedy of all. The oil should be given in emulsion, so prepared as to be palatable."

He also says that the hypophosphites should be combined with the oil.

Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil, with hypophosphites, is precisely such a preparation.

THE DYING YEAR.

My door stands open wide tonight
In token of a parting guest,
Who twelve months since, with keen delight
I welcomed to my homely nest.

He stands there now, wan, wasted, old,
His race quite run, his mission o'er,
And when the midnight hour is tolled,
We part, to meet on earth no more.

He came to me in merry guise,
With hopes and promises not few.
Ah, who could look within those eyes
And deem that they were all untrue!

But expectations all have fled,
The promises are broken, too,
The hopes lie withered, crushed and dead—
Not one of all but proved untrue.

And there he stands, decrepit, wan,
Who came to me a merry elf,
A few sands more he will be gone,
And with him gone part of myself.

So come and go the passing years
That bear us to the silent sea,
But bright with smiles or dim with tears,
They come in love, dear Lord, from thee.
—Christian Work.

A NEW YEAR ROMANCE

"You may talk as much as you please," said Muriel Vane, nodding her curly head, "but I'm going to receive company in the parlor on New Year's day. Why shouldn't I? Every other girl does."

"It's a sinful, wicked waste of time," said Mrs. Vane, "when the quilting is so behindhand and there's such a deal of sewing to be done."

"But life isn't all for work," pleaded Muriel. "And Mr. Clifton is coming all the way from the city in his sleigh to see me. Oh, mother, please let me have a loaf of homemade cake and some red apples and real cream for the coffee! Just for this once! It's only one day in the year. Do, mother!"

"Stuff and nonsense!" said Mrs. Vane, who was one of those aggravating women who make up their minds on the least possible grounds and then pride themselves on adhering to their word. "I've said no, and I mean no. When I was a young girl I wasn't setting my cap at every fellow that came along."

"Mother," cried Muriel, in an agony of wounded pride, "do you mean to say that I do such a thing?"

"You think a deal too much of the beaus anyway," said old Mrs. Vane, screwing up her thin lips. "And I'm going to break up that sort of thing. See if I don't!"

It was with difficulty that Muriel Vane, naturally a high tempered girl, checked the indignant retort that rose to her lips. Surely, surely, it was not right that she, a girl of 18, who was earning her own living by teaching in the district school, should be treated like a child of 8; that her tyrannical old mother should place no confidence whatever in her sense of right and delicacy. Up to this time she had rendered the tribute of an unwilling obedience to Mrs. Vane's behests, and now she felt that the moment for just rebellion had come. She felt that she could not live any longer in this cramped, niggardly sort of way, with the very lumps of sugar for her tea meted out to her, one by one, and the pippin apples for her lunch dealt sparingly forth, as if each one were molded in gold. Mrs. Vane took her lamp away at 9 o'clock every night. She dictated to poor Muriel as to the very color of her dresses and the number of yards which she might purchase for them; in fact, the girl scarcely dared to think for herself. Could she live thus always? she asked herself. Was it right that she should?

"At all events, mother," said Muriel, speaking in a low, determined tone, "I shall receive my friends on New Year's day! It is my privilege, and I claim it!"

"Humph!" was the contemptuous rejoinder, but there was a world of meaning in it.

So Muriel retrimmed her one black silk dress and bought a new ribbon sash and baked a great, golden New Year's cake filled with plums and studded all through with translucent bars of citron and herself bargained with the grocer for two pounds of real Java coffee with as little adulteration of Rio, Maracaibo and chicory as he could bring himself to concoct.

"I can use the china that my grandmother Vane left me in her will," thought Muriel. "That, at least, is mine, although mother would never allow me to unpack it!"

She was busy decorating the walls of the little parlor with laurel leaves and long, dark green trails of prince's pine on New Year's eve, when her mother came into the room.

"Muriel," said she, "I want to send some dressed chickens and a peck of those golden pippins to your Aunt Dora at the lighthouse. Jenkins' boy is ready with the boat, but he's such a limb that I don't, for the life of me, dare to trust him with the apples and the bag of hickory nuts. I want you to go and ask Aunt Dora for the pattern of the new bedquilt—the 'Philadelphia pavement,' you know."

"Very well, mother," said Muriel in the old submissive way. "But isn't it rather late?"

"Pshaw!" said Mrs. Vane. "Why, the sun is an hour high yet. You'll be back long before dark if Jenkins' boy is spry with the oars."

Aunt Dora, Mrs. Vane's only sister, was a worthy scion of the family tree—tall, masculine and hard featured. She had always taken the entire charge of White Reefs lighthouse, even although the official appointment was conferred upon her husband, and when one day that public servant departed this life, things went on precisely the same. Muriel was not fond of her Aunt Dora, and her Aunt Dora regarded her as a "poor, chicken hearted creature—Vane all over." But Muriel did feel sorry for the lonely old woman, and she thought that even a pair of fowls and a few apples—this unwonted manifestation of sisterly feeling—were worth carrying to White Reefs. So she made haste to don her wadded cloak and little fur edged hood, and to draw on the scarlet woolen mittens, which she herself had knitted during those long, dreary winter evenings when she and her mother sat in silence opposite each other, for Mrs. Vane never invited any company, and gave her neighbors but scant welcome when they came of their own accord.

"Jenkins' boy" was ready with the boat, a small, ferret eyed youngster, with an intensely freckled face and a furtive, sidewise glance, which Muriel always distrusted; and as they glided out over the water, already dyed with the orange reflection of sunset, in the direction of White Reefs lighthouse, Muriel leaned her chin in her hands and thought of Mr. Clifton.

What would her mother say if she knew it all—that Paul Clifton loved her—that he was coming to ask for her at the maternal hands the very next day.

"It will be of no use," she thought sadly. "Mother will say no. She desires me to marry Squire Sedley, who is bald and deaf and twice my age, and who only wants me because his housekeeper has struck for higher wages and he thinks a wife would be better economy. But we can wait, Paul and I. We will wait."

And then they ran up alongside the tall, spectral cylinder of the lighthouse, for the tide was high and landing was comparatively easy, and Muriel sprang lightly out of the boat, looking up at the fiery eye in the lantern above.

"Give me the bag and the basket, Tommy," said she. "Steady with the boat now! I'll be back in one minute."

So the orange glow had turned down into a deep red radiance, and the dusk shadows off the New Year's eve were creeping over all the glassy surface of the sea.

Aunt Dora was at home. In fact, Aunt Dora never was anywhere else. Her own society, little as other people cared for it, was all sufficient for herself.

"Oh, it's you, is it?" said Aunt Dora, as unconcerned as if she lived on dry land and was in the habit of seeing company every hour in the day. She was darning stockings by her own especial little lamp, and the teapot already simmered on the hob for her tea. "Anything the matter? Because I couldn't leave the light if it was ever so"—

"No, nothing is the matter," said Muriel. "I have brought you a note from my mother. Something about the pattern of a bedquilt, I believe. And some chickens and apples and a bag of fresh hickory nuts."

Aunt Dora read the note once, twice, three times over. Then she regarded Muriel in a sinister fashion from under her thick, black brows, while the girl played unconsciously with the cat.

"Humph!" said she. "Yes, I'll go and get the pattern!"

She was gone some time—half an hour, at least, as it seemed to Muriel, and when she came back, the girl started up.

"It is nearly dark," she said. "I must make haste home."

"Well you needn't be in such a flurry" said Aunt Dora, with a grim chuckle. "I've sent the pattern by Tommy Jenkins. He's half way to shore by this time."

Muriel uttered a little shriek.

"And how am I to get home?" she cried.

"You ain't to get home at all," said Aunt Dora. "You're to stay and spend the New Year with me. That's what your mother said in her note."

"But I shall not!" exclaimed Muriel, stamping her foot vehemently. "I must go home! I expect company tomorrow."

"Sit down and be easy—do!" said Aunt Dora. "Must is for the king. I'd like to know how on earth you're to get home, with only one boat at the steps, and that padlocked tight, with the key snug at the bottom of my pocket!"

And Aunt Dora laughed a hard, dissonant laugh that was like the croak of a raven.

For a moment Muriel gazed wildly around like a newly caged bird, then she burst into tears and sobs.

"It is all a stratagem of mother's!" she cried, wringing her hands. "I might have known it! I might have known it!"

And that night at the White Reefs lighthouse, with the melancholy sea lapping the foot of the tower and the wind whistling around the steady glow of the beacon, was the dreariest that Muriel ever spent in her life.

"You ain't good company tonight," said Aunt Dora, glancing at her niece over and anon between [illegible] cried Muriel. "You and mother!"

"Humph!" said Aunt Dora. "It's all for your own good. You'll thank us one of these days. Girls oughtn't to have their own way."

But Muriel only wept on and refused to be comforted.

She went down to the foot of the tower, the next day, and sat there, her cloak wrapped about her shoulders, listlessly gazing out on the sparkling floor of the deep.

"Is that a boat coming?" she asked herself. "With one man in it? Is it coming here, I wonder?"

Nearer and nearer came the boat, rocking lightly on the surface of the waves, and presently Muriel started up, with a cry of joy.

For it was Paul Clifton waving his hand to her, as he came ever nearer and nearer.

"A happy New Year, sweet Muriel!" he called out, as the boat touched the stone steps. "I am the enchanted knight come to rescue you from the prison tower!"

"How did you know I was here?" said Muriel, with sparkling eyes and velvety cheeks dyed with crimson.

"Your mother was entirely noncommittal," said Clifton gayly. "I could learn nothing whatsoever from her except that you were well and were not receiving company. But I was fortunate enough to meet Tommy Jenkins, who, for the consideration of a silver quarter, ignominiously turned state's evidence. And here I am, my sweetheart! Will you come with me?"

"Of course I will," said Muriel, springing lightly into the boat. "But where?"

"To be married," said Mr. Paul Clifton. "It is high time that this system of tyranny was broken up. My little Muriel must be mine and mine alone henceforward. Do you not agree with me?"

And Muriel answered:

"Yes."

Aunt Dora got to the window just in time to shriek an ineffectual summons to the pair in the fast receding boat.

"It's no use," said Aunt Dora, drawing a long breath. "When a girl is in love, she is neither to hold nor to bind. I've done the best I could. Mehitable can't blame me!"

Two hours later Muriel walked into the old brown roofed house on the shore, leaning on Paul Clifton's arm.

"Mother," said she to the amazed Mrs. Vane, who fully believed that she was "dreeing her weird" in the solitary lighthouse tower, "I am married! And this is my husband. Will you forgive us, please? For I am so very, very happy today that I do not want a living soul to be at variance with me!"

And so Muriel signed her declaration of independence, and became Paul Clifton's wife upon this glorious sunshiny New Year's day. And Mrs. Vane and Aunt Dora were compelled to confess themselves outwitted and to accept their defeat with as good grace as possible.

"Fate is fate," said Aunt Dora grimly.

"And I wash my hands of the whole concern," said Mrs. Vane.

But Paul and Muriel were serenely happy. And what mattered aught else? —New York Ledger.

A HEAVY MORTGAGE.

How a prominent farmer quickly lifted it.

A mortgage has been described as an incentive to industry, a heavy mortgage, as a sure sign of ruin. The last is particularly true, for if a mortgage is allowed to ren it will eat up the farm. In this connection Mr. Henry Fowler, of Huron writes: "From my boyhood scrofula had marked me for a victim and it seemed as if it had a life mortgage on my blood. I suffered fearfully with sores, and knowing my condition I have remained a single man. Doctor after doctor prescribed for me, and finally a Toronto specialist told me bluntly that my complaint was a deep-seated, incurable, blood disease. Sarsaparilla I knew was a good blood medicine, and I sent for a bottle of the best. Mr. Todd, the druggist, sent me Scott's Sarsaparilla, and I have stuck to it. It has lifted my mortgage, for to-day I am free from those horrible sores, my eyesight is not blurred, my tongue is not furry, and I have no irritation. I look upon Scott's Sarsaparilla as a marvellous medicine when it will cure a life long disease in so short a time."

Scrofula, pimples, running sores, rheumatism and all diseases generated by poisonous humors in the blood are cured by Scott's Sarsaparilla. The kind that cures. Sold only in concentrated form at $1 per bottle by your druggist. Dose from half to one teaspoonful.

That Was What Happened a Well Known Resident of Union, B.C., who Had Been in Declining Health.

From the News, Union, B.C.

A little over a year ago the reporter of the News while standing in front of the office, before its removal to Union, noticed four men carrying Mr. J. P. Davis, the well known florist and gardener into the Courtenay House. The reporter, ever on the alert for a news item, at once went over to investigate the matter, and learned that Mr. Davis had had a slight stroke of paralysis. A note of the circumstance appeared in the News at the time and nothing further was heard of it. Last spring Mr. Davis was observed to be frequently in Union bringing in flowers, and later vegetables for sale, and the reporter meeting him one day, the following conversation took place: "Glad to see you looking so well, Mr. Davis," said the reporter, "the last time I saw you you seemed pretty badly broken up."

"Yes," said Mr. Davis, "I did have a pretty tough time of it. I was troubled with my heart, having frequent severe spasms, and shortness of breath on slight exertion. I had also a swelling of the neck which was said to be goitre. Two years ago I came up from Nanaimo and took the Harvey ranch hoping a change would do me good, but in this I was disappointed, and seemed to be steadily growing weaker. I had three doctors at different times, but they appeared not to understand my case. At last I got so low that one day I fell down on the street, and those who picked me up thought I was dying. After that I was urged to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and almost from the outset they helped me, and after the use of about half a dozen boxes I was as well as ever." "Do you still take the Pink Pills?" asked the reporter. "Well," was the reply, "I still keep them about me and once in a while when I think I require a tonic I take a few, but as you can see I don't look like a man who requires to take medicine now." On this point the reporter quite agrees with Mr. Davis, as he looks as vigourous and robust a man as you could wish to see. After parting with Mr. Davis the reporter called at Pimbury & Co.'s drug store, where he saw the manager Mr. Van Houten, who corroborated what Mr. Davis had said regarding the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and further stated that he believed Pink Pills to be the finest tonic in the world, and gave the names of several who had found remarkable benefit from their use.

A depraved or watery condition of the blood or shattered nerves are the two fruitful sources of almost every disease that afflicts humanity, and to all sufferers Dr. Williams Pink Pills are offered with a confidence that they are the only perfect and unfailing blood builder and nerve restorer, and that where given a fair trial disease and suffering must banish. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers or will be sent by mail on receipt of 50 cents a box or $2.50 for six boxes, by addressing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N. Y. Beware of imitations and always refuse trashy substitutes, alleged to be "just as good."

Mr. Jimmy Connal is going to take a rink of colts to Toronto to play in the Tankard primary. The old grey beards in Toronto may laugh when they see the boys whom they have to run up against, but its shillings to doughnuts, that these same colts will be in the finals. The rink will consist of E. B. Clegg, K. Rutherford, D. Davidson and J. Connal. In commenting on this paragraph which appeared in the Peterboro EXAMINER, the Lindsay Post says "These same colts ran up against a rink of Lindsay colts, skipped by Geo. A. Little, in this town yesterday, and were beaten by four shots. If the Toronto grey beards are old enough, and slightly rheumatic, the Peterborough scribe may win his shillings, but it looks like a wild bet.

The Thistles now won a lead of 23 points in the Kendry cup competition. Rutherford vs Attrill and Ferguson vs Horkins have yet to be played off.

The Toronto Granites are anxious to come to Peterborough for a twelve rink bonspell next week and most probably Thursday will be selected as the day for the annual match, which is always one of the features of the season's curling for the Peterboroughs.

A NEW SUMMER HOTEL.

The Stony Lake Summer Resort Company to Build a Fine Summer Hotel at Stony Lake.

(Lakefield News.)

We have received the prospectus of the Stony Lake Summer Resort Co. (Ltd), of Toronto, one of the directors and also the secretary of which is Mr. C. Bell, of Toronto, son of Dr. Bell, of Lakefield. The prospectus states that The Stony Lake Summer Resort Company, Limited, is being formed for the following purposes:—

It is proposed to erect, in a convenient spot to be chosen hereafter, a suitable building, having all the necessary equipments of a first-class summer hotel. Those at all familiar with Stony Lake are aware that the accommodation for families, and especially for transient tourists, is extremely limited, particularly in view of the fact that the numbers who journey thither are increasing year by year. It seems apparent, therefore, that such an hotel as the company proposes to erect, managed by an experienced man, on a thorough business-like basis, would yield a substantial dividend.

It is to be noted that negotiations are now in progress with the Grand Trunk Railway Company for the publication of a guide book to the Stony Lake region.

It is to be further and specially noted that the value of Stony Lake property would be very largely enhanced by the building of a summer hotel in the locality, and by carrying out the projects of the company.

It is proposed also to purchase one or more steamers and meet the demand for easy transportation by running in connection with the hotel. These steamers would also meet the requirements of the islanders and cater to their traffic.

A charter is being applied for, and the company commence business as soon as one-half of the proposed capital stock is subscribed.

One Honest Man.

Dear Editor:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially I will mail in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell, and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. Perfect secrecy assured. Address with stamp:—Mr. Edward Lambert. P. O Box 55, Jarvis, Ont.

THE CHANCES OF WAR

Anti-British Combination in Europe Ridiculed.

OLD ENGLAND IS HERSELF AGAIN

The Same Spirit as in the Days of Elizabeth and Pitt—British and German Interests in Africa Compared—England Holds the Key to the Situation.

New York, Jan. 12.—Mr. George W. Smalley, the American resident representative of The London Times, contributes an article to The New York Herald on the chances for war against England. He ridicules the idea of a general European coalition against England, giving reasons why France, Austria and Italy would not participate in such an arrangement.

An attempt by Germany and Russia upon England would mean simply a European war, in which Europe would be divided into two not unequal camps. There is not a statesman on the continent who would put his hand to a bargain for such a contest as that, save under the direst necessity. It is ridiculous to say that any such necessity exists to-day, or that the Transvaal business affords even a pretext for European interference.

There remains, however, one incalculable factor, and that is the German Emperor. Him Europe has long believed, as Voltaire said of Habakkuk, capable of anything. His telegram to President Kruger has been commonly discussed, as if it were a mere ebullition of personal feeling. It is that, first of all, and is probaby something more.

Germany and England have long been rivals in the scramble for Africa. England began first and obtained the lion's share. She has got, in truth, almost everything in South Africa. Germany has not even a foothold on the southeast coast. She talked of sending marines to the Transvaal. There is not a port where she could land them, execept by permission of Portugal. There is not a foot of land over which they would have a right of way. Germany's nearest possessions to the Transvaal are on the west coast, many hundreds of miles distant, with British Bechuanaland between them and the Boers.

There are no German interests in the South African Republic save commercial interests. The immense majority of the population are Dutch, or of Dutch origin, and British. What business has Germany there? It is a question no one can answer any more than they can say what a Boer agent is doing in Berlin, while the covention of 1884, providing for an English suzerainty, is in full force.

It is through England, and England alone, that the republic must transact her business with the outer world. But the imperial and imperious ruler of Germany wishes this state of things altered, and seems to have supposed that an expression of his will would alter it.

The response of England has undeceived him. The Kaiser knows now that if he wants to champion the Boers or remake the may of South Africa he will have to fight for it. To retreat is disagreeable, perhaps humiliating. To go on would be to give the signal for a war of which no man can see the extent or the ending. I think most of us Americans, whatever may be our quarrel with England, have seen with pleasure her readiness to fight on a point of honor.

We could hardly wish to see the nation from which we ourselves are sprung flinch from a conflict. Be that as it may, she sprung to arms at once. There went up from all England a roar of which there could be no mistaking the meaning. It has cleared the air. It has shown Europe the old England—the England of Elizabeth and of Pitt.

The Jameson raid is half forgotten already. The English Government, it is now conceded, was not aware of it nor responsible for it. The Transvaal itself is half forgotten, much as we all admire the shrewd ability and courage she has shown. The Queen and President Kruger exchange civil telegrams and much business has yet to be settled between the two Governments.

Even Mr. Cecil Rhodes is half forgotten, or remembered because he has gone down before the stronger will and better head of Mr. Chamberlain, who has won in this business the greatest laurels of an honorable life. But for the moment what we all see is that angry figure on the German throne, so astonished at his own act, and the people of the great power to whom he flung a careless challenge accepting it with one voice.

We see England arming, with a celerity and with a display of overwhelming naval force, all ready for instant action, which restores to her whatever European prestige she has lost. We see the wisest and greatest of Germans, Prince Bismarck—himself no lover of England—warning Emperor and people that this is no quarrel for them, and that German interests are not to be sacrificed to a spirit or Imperial temper. That, of course, is not his phrase, but it is his meaning. To-day's Berlin telegrams all make for peace. There were four or five days when war seemed almost inevitable; at least in the newspapers.

But there are wise counsellers in Berlin, to whom even an Imperial Majesty sometimes listens.

ANTIPODES WITH HER.

Australia and Tasmania Cable Sympathy to Lord Salisbury.

London, Jan. 12.—Hon. George H. Reid, Prime Minister of New South Wales, has sent the following cable despatch to Lord Salisbury:

"The Governments of Australia and Tasmania view with satisfaction the prompt and fearless measures adopted by Her Majesty's Government in defence of integrity of the Empire. We desire to convey our united assurances of loyal support. The people of Australia are in full sympathy with the determination of the Mother Country to resent foreign interference in matters of British and colonial concern.

"Signed in behalf of and at the request of the Governments of New South Wales, Victoria, South Australia, Queensland, Tasmania and Western Australia.) G. H. REID."

The Laureate Scored.

New York, Jan. 12.—The Sun's London says: The Transvaal situation has now only a spectacular interest. It matters little what the Boer Government may or may not demand, the decision of the Continental powers, if asked to assist the Transvaal in asserting its independence, will depend upon other motives than sympathy with the Boer cause. Hence the reports that the British Commissioner and President Kruger are unable to agree are of little importance compared with the crisis in Europe.

It is impossible to overlook, even in this hour of crisis, the crowning disgrace inflicted on this long-suffering country to-day by its official versifier. The poet laureate's effort in The Times, entitled "Jameson's Ride," has broken the spirit of all Englishmen who have seen it, and if Parliament were in session might easily have caused a vote of no confidence in the Government which appointed this successor of Tennyson. Here are three stanzas:

Wrong—is it wrong? Well, maybe;
But I'm going, boys, all the same.
Do they think me a Burgher's baby,
To be scared by a scolding dame?
They may argue and prate and order,
Go tell them to save their breath.
Then over the Transvaal border,
And gallop for life or death.

Right sweet is the mariner's rattle,
And sweeter the cannon's roar,
But 'tis bitterly hard to be idle,
Beleaguered, and one of four.
I can tell you it was a trifle,
To swarm over Krugersdorp glen,
As they piled us with round and rifle,
And ploughed us again and again.

I suppose we were wrong—we're mad men.
Still I think at the judgment day,
When God sifts the good from the bad men,
There'll be something more to say.
We were wrong, but we ar'n't half sorry,
And as one of the baffled band,
I would rather have had that foray
Than the crushings of all the Rand.

BRITON AND TEUTON.

The Trouble in South Africa and in Europe Orange Free Staters Indignant Because of Jameson's Raid.

London, Jan. 11.—A despatch from the Bloemfontien, the capital of the Orange Free State, South Africa, says that at a special session of the Volksraad to consider the crisis growing out of Jameson's raid into the Transvaal Republic, the acting president delivered an address, in which he expressed indignation at the reckless and arrogant presumption with which the territory of the Transvaal was violated by the chief officer of a friendly state, and the peace of all Africa disturbed. He expressed great satisfaction, however, at the action of Sir Hercules Robinson, the Governor of Cape Colony, and that of the Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, in promptly repudiating Dr. Jameson's act and said he hoped that Sir Hercules Robinson's efforts to adjust the matter would be crowned with a peaceful and reasonable solution.

Czar Will Support Kaiser.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 12.—The autograph letter of the Emperor William to the Czar was brought to this city by Prince von Radolin, the German Ambassador to Russia. The letter reviews the general situations, especially the Transvaal and Egyptian questions. The Czar told Prince von Radolin that he entirely concurred in the views and aims of Emperor William, who was taking the lead against England's arrogance, and added that the German Emperor could firmly rely on his support and the support of the states friendly to Russia, namely France and the United States.

Prince Lobanoff Rostovski, Russian Minister of Foreign Affairs, who was present at the interview between the Czar and Prince von Radolin, commended an anti-English policy.

The Flying Squadron.

London, Jan. 11.—The Globe says it hears that the flying squadron just formed will first go to the Mediterranean. It adds that the vessels attached to this squadron, which may eventually be ordered to proceed to Delagoa Bay, Portuguese East Africa, will probably go by way of the Suez canal.

The whole statement has a doubtful air. Despatches from Portsmouth state that the date of the departure of the flying squadron from that port has not yet been fixed, but it is expected that Rear-Admiral Dole, who has been appointed to the command of the squadron, will be at sea by Jan. 18.

FORGET AND FORGIVE.

President Kruger's Proclamation to the People of the Rand

Pretoria, Jan. 12.—The rank and file of the Jameson expedition who were captured by the Boers and brought to this place have started for the Natal border. The officers of the expedition are expected to follow shortly.

The customs officials have opened a large safe that was consigned to Farrar, one of the leaders in the Rand, who was arrested, and found that it contained 100 revolvers and 7000 rounds of cartridges.

President Kruger has issued a proclamation to the people of the Rand saying he believes they have been deceived by a small number of designing men outside of the country. He urges the Rand residents to co-operate with the Government and to make the republic a country where all nationalities can live fraternally together. He promises that Johannesburg shall have a mayor and a municipal council, and concludes: "Let the inhabitants of Johannesburg make it possible for the Government to appear before the Volksraad with the words 'Forget and forgive.'"

As Peaceful as Before.

London, Jan. 12.—The Standard will to-morrow say that it is in a position to state that President Kruger has made no demand for a change in the existing stipulations of the treaty between the South Africa Republic and Great Britain. It will further say:

"It is now explained from Berlin that the Emperor's message to President Kruger, instead of indicating a new departure in German foreign policy, was at the most an expression of momentary irritation, which we are authorized to declare has passed away, leaving the relations between Germany and Great Britain as friendly as heretofore."

Rhodes is in Politics Yet.

Kimberley, Jan. 12.—Right Hon. Cecil Rhodes, formerly Prime Minister of Cape Colony, arrived here to-day and was cordially received.

In a speech expressing his thanks for his reception, he said that his political career was not at an end; it was only beginning. He firmly believed that, encouraged by his friends, he would like to do much good work in behalf of the country.

Will be at Coomassie To-Day.

Cape Coast Castle, Jan. 12.—The Ashuntee expedition has reached a point within 28 miles of Coomassie, the capital of Ashantee. The final advance on that place will be made to-morrow.

The St George on Her Mission.

Cape Town, Jan. 12.—Rear-Admiral Harry S. Rawson, commanding the Cape and West Africa squadron, who was recently ordered to take his flagship, the St. George, to Delagoa Bay, arrived here to-day and at once proceeded for that place. The St. George is a twin-screw cruiser of the first-class. She mounts 12 guns.

Worked All Sunday.

London, Jan. 12.—Work was carried on all day to-day at the Plymouth and Davenport ordnance yards, the men being engaged in completing the supply of shells for the use of the flying squadron.

THE MIOWERA HEARD FROM.

The Big Canadian-Australian Liner Met by Her Sister Ship, the Warrimoo.

Victoria, B.C., Jan. 10.—The Canada-Australian steamer Miowera, which broke the tow lines off Flattery, while attempting to tow the disabled Strathnevis to port, and for whose safety grave apprehension has been felt, is safe.

The Warrimoo, of the same line, arrived this morning. It passed the Miowera 100 miles south of the Hawaiian Islands. After the Miowera's tow line broke, she stood by in the vicinity for 15 hours, searching for the Strathnevis.

Ingersoll Chronicle Changes Hands.

Ingersoll, Ont., Jan. 10.—The Ingersoll Chronicle has changed hands. Mr. Robert Elliott, late of The Wingham Times, being the purchaser. Mr. Elliott is an old newspaper man, having for some years been connected with The Listowel Banner, and for the past eight years proprietor of The Wingham Times. The Chronicle is one of the oldest established newspapers in Ontario, having been established nearly 43 years.

THE LION AND THE LAMB.

Will the lion and the lamb lie down together? Respecting the rumour that Sir Donald Smith is to make way for Sir Charles Tupper in Montreal West, the Toronto Globe reminds us that in the reports of the debates of the House of Commons on May 16, 1878, will be found an interesting exchange of civilities between the two gentlemen, in which Mr. Tupper said Mr. Smith had uttered "as false a statement as ever issued from the mouth of any man;" and had "continued with a tissue of as false statements as were ever uttered;" and that he had been guilty of "cowardly abuse." Black Rod interrupted the discussion, and the remarks of both gentlemen were somewhat disjointed. Here are some of them:—

Mr. Tupper—"Coward, coward, sit own!"
Mr. Smith—"He knows——
Mr. Tupper—"Coward, coward, coward!"
Mr. Smith—"You are the coward."
Mr. Tupper—"Mean, treacherous coward!"
Mr. Smith—"Who is the coward? The House will decide—it is yourself."
Mr. Tupper—"Coward; treacherous——"

AN Ottawa dispatch says that above all things Sir Charles Tupper is loyal to the party. For "party" put Tupper — father, son, son-in-law and nephew—all now having a big pull on the public chest, and the statement will pass as correct.

IF Sir Charles Tupper decides to go in with Sir Mackenzie Bowell, he will be inconsistent with the attitude of his son, who has performed the double bolt—he will have to hunt with the hounds and run with the hares—the bolters being the hounds in more senses than one, and Sir Mackenzie, the hare. But this would not puzzle the plunger much. He is capable of just such an exploit. If Tupper, father, is coquetting with the Premier, why do the Maritime members fight shy of entering the Cabinet?

THE CANADIAN AND AMERICAN CHEESE TRADE.

Prof. Sheldon, the noted English agricultural expert, has an excellent article in the London Agricultural Gazette on "Counterfeit Cheese." After crediting the cute Yankee with the invention, he notes the fact, which is obvious as it is discreditable, that he (the Yankee) has succeeded in greatly lowering the reputation of his cheese in Great Britain, and of helping to place Canadian cheese at the top of the list of all the Cheddar cheese imported into England. It is manifestly true, as Prof. Sheldon says, that while the loss to American dairyman caused by the malodorous repute of filled cheese, is incalculably great, the makers of margarine cheese have reaped no equivalent advantage, have not only demoralised and depreciated foreign trade, but also played serious mischief with the domestic cheese trade. The Dominion Government in 1888, during the time Sir John Carling was Minister of Agriculture, enacted and enforced stringent regulations against adulteration, with a result quite in contrast with the United States diminuendo movement in cheese, once the pride and profit of American dairy operations.

The following figures will show the rapid decrease of the United States cheese export trade since 1881, and the equally substantial development of the Canadian trade since that date.

	United States. Pounds.	Canadian. Pounds.
1881	147,[illegible]	78,355,838
1882	127,[illegible]	80,808,060
1883	99,238,467	55,041,257
1884	113,982,875	69,753,428
1885	111,982,920	79,646,287
1886	91,897,325	78,113,267
1887	81,253,994	72,604,448
1888	80,066,458	84,172,267
1889	84,840,828	88,834,837
1890	83,376,068	91,890,127
1891	82,133,876	106,802,140
1892	82,100,221	113,276,039
1893	81,250,889	133,905,875
1894	73,852,126	151,977,480
1895	69,448,431

According to this in fifteen years the loss of 60 per cent. of the United States cheese trade is recorded, while Canada exports three times as much as in 1880, and six times as much as in 1874. The rise and progress of American cheese exportation from 1860 to 1890, from a few millions to the proud altitude attained at the latter date, was a gratifying result incidental to the development of a great industry, which no doubt was too valuable to be destroyed by the greed of a few unscrupulous simulators of a nutritious food product which had gained a good reputation in England."

It cannot be said that there has been no warning of the disaster to American dairying caused by adulteration. The crime has long been lamented and decried, both here and in the United States. Five years ago, in an address before the New York Dairymen's Association, the statistician of the Department of Agriculture, Mr. Dodge, said:—"Shipments have relatively declined, and average prices have fallen because of the exportation of a proportion of inferior grades, skim adulterations with oleomargarine and 'filled cheese,' the products of greedy and unscrupulous manufacturers.

COLDSPRINGS—OTONABEE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

On Thursday evening, Jan. 9th, the Cold Springs Union Sunday School held their annual business meeting. The secretary's and treasurer's reports were heard as follows:

TREASURER'S REPORT.

Balance from 1894	$38 82
Receipts for 1895	71 65
Expenditures	$122 33
Balance on hand	37 84
	$160 17 $160 17

Miss L. BENNETT, Treasurer.

The officers for the present year were then elected:

Supt.—Mr. H. P. Kennedy.
Assistant Supt.—Mr. H. Beer.
Sec-Treas.—Miss L. Bennett.
Home Class Secy—Miss M. Maine.
Organist—Marvin Kennedy.

SECRETARY'S REPORT FOR 1895.

It is my pleasing duty to again present to you the annual report of our school. As we review the work of the past year we feel deeply grateful to God for the manifold blessings bestowed upon us as a school. We feel our school has been a blessing, not only to the teachers and scholars, but to the whole neighbourhood.

We have enrolled on our class books six teachers, with an average attendance of five; and 60 scholars, with an average of 42. Total average attendance, including visitors, 50.

The collections for the year were $44.38. Our missionary collections, amounting to $8, were this year given to the Children's Aid Society. Out of our funds was given $25 to the Y.M.C.A. Peterborough. With a view to keeping our scholars well posted in the Sunday school work of the Province, we have placed in each home a copy of "Our Sunday Schools," the official organ of the Sunday school Association of Ontario.

We were represented by delegates at both the county and township Sunday school conventions, who brought back very helpful and encouraging reports.

Through removal we suffered the loss of our very efficient superintendent, Mr. M. W. Matchett, who for the past five years has been our honoured superintendent. We felt we were not ready to part with Mr. Matchett, and while his presence and influence are missed in our school, we know that where he is, he is still working for our blessed Master. Our earnest prayer is that God will abundantly bless him in all his work. We were fortunate in securing as his successor Mr. H. P. Kennedy, and under his able management we know our school will maintain the high standard it has in the past.

At times we have been discouraged not seeing the spiritual results we would like to, but "let us not weary in well doing" for we have God's promise, steadfast and sure, that "in due season we will reap if we faint not.

Faithfully yours,
LAURA BENNETT, Secretary.

CANADIAN ROBBER CAUGHT.

Arrested at Niagara Falls While Trying to Dispose of Goods Stolen at Fenwick, Ont.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Jan. 12.—Charles Farr, alias Dock, was arrested here by Sergeant Miller and officer Eagan yesterday. The crime charged against him is robbery, and it was committed at Fenwick, Ont., last November, when the jewelry store of Charles Patterson was broken into and a large amount of jewelry carried off. Farr lay quiet until Thursday, and then he came over here and offered some of the stolen goods for sale. Chief Dinan got track of him and caused his arrest. Later he was arraigned on the charge of bringing stolen goods into this country, and was discharged, he having agreed to go back to Canada with Chief Young of Clifton, Ont.

Farr said that he had already served six senteces, and had broken jail on this side. He also admitted having planned to blow open a safe in another store in Canada, and was trying to dispose of enough jewelry to get money to pay his expenses. He had a key to the store in his possession when arrested. He told Chief Young where a lot of stolen property was secreted in the Dominion.

ALL NONSENSE.

The Report That the C.P.R and G.T.R Were About to Purchase the Intercolonial Denied

Montreal, Jan. 12.—The telegraphed statement that the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk railways were about to purchase the Intercolonial Railway, the former to secure the portion between St. John and Halifax and the latter that between Levis and Moncton, was laughed at by the officers of both companies. Mr. Shaughnessy, vice-president of the C.P.R., said this morning that it was the first he had heard of it, and that there was, of course, nothing whatever in the statement; while the Grand Trunk authorities said it was all nonsense.

The full intensity of living is reached only by the perfectly healthy. Sickness discounts the capacity for enjoyment. If his body is all out of order and run-down, he will not be able to enjoy anything, no matter how full of enjoyment it may be for other people. If he is just a little bit out of order, if he "is not sick, but doesn't feel just right" he will only be able to enjoy things in a half-hearted sort of way. The nearer he is to being perfectly well, the nearer will his capacity for enjoyment be perfect. If this condition doesn't exist, something ought to be done. That means nine cases in ten the use of Dr. Pierce's Medical Discovery. It works directly on the digestive organs, and on the blood and through these on every tissue of the body. It makes the appetite good, digestion and nutrition perfect and supplies rich, red blood to all the tissues, building up solid, healthful flesh.

Send 31 cents in one cent stamps to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

The Barometer of Health is the Nervous System.

Headache is not Brain Disease — Don't Make the Same Mistake as to Other Miseries—Use Dodd's Kidney Pills and Get Cured.

Nervous condition is the natural barometer of health.

If you want to know your exact standing in the scale, consult your nervous system.

If you lack pluck, courage, energy there is something wrong. If you feel shaky you may be sure of it.

Nineteen times out of twenty faulty kidney work is at the bottom of every ailment.

The proof of this lies in the fact that Dodd's Kidney Pills—solely and purely as kidney medicine—cure in that proportion of cases.

Don't imagine that because your head aches that the trouble is where the pain is felt.

It is quite as easy to make the same mistake when your misery takes any other form.

It is safer to assume that your kidneys need help and take Dodd's Kidney Pills, than to take the risk of any delay.

Delay may cost you a wearing sickness, or it may cost you your life, while Dodd's Kidney Pills only cost 50 cents a box.

It matters not what ails you, you will forget the name of your trouble after you have been cured.

The best proof that you needed kidney treatment is that you have been cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

STRUGGLING.

Striving to Re-form the Shattered Cabinet.

THAT COERCION BILL THE TROUBLE

The Rush for Shelter—Office-Seekers Looking for Their Rewards—Members of the Commons Seeking the Safety of the Senate—A Host of Appointments.

Ottawa, Jan. 12.—Utter confusion and uncertainty describe the position of affairs at Ottawa at the present moment. Maritime Conservatives are hoping that Sir Mackenzie Bowell's efforts to re-form his Ministry will not be successful, and that he will in the end fall back upon Sir Charles Tupper, whose efforts to supplant the Premier are well directed and his plans carefully prearranged. But whether the events of the next few days give us a new Bowell Administration or not, there is an uneasy feeling among the Conservatives generally, amounting almost to conviction, that the ship is so leaky, so dismasted and so much of a wreck that she will never reach port. This conviction is so widespread that everyone is scudding to shelter. Nearly a dozen members of Parliament have received appointments of one kind or another, either to the Senate or to offices throughout the country long vacant, and another dozen are wearing out their shoes trying to get disposed of as favorably before the final crash comes. The following is the list of members of the House of Commons who have sought or are seeking shelter in offices from the coming storm of defeat: Messrs. Girouard, White (Cardwell), Curran, Baker, J.C. Patterson, McKay, Boyle, Bain (Soulanges), Adams, Desaulniers, White (Shelburne), Wood (Westmoreland). Mr. Temple is anxiously awaiting his promised appointment o the Senate, but unless Mr. Foster is restored to favor the old gentleman will be left out in the cold, and perhaps be compelled to run again for York and make Mr. Foster return to the County of King's and defeat. Mr. Wilmot of Sunbury is also casting a longing eye on the red chamber, and, in fact, one cannot recall the names of all those who are hastening from the wrath to come. The Premier's private secretary is said to have obtained a permanent appointment as assistant clerk of the Privy Council, and the Premier's messenger is to be povided for in the Senate. All these signs are infallible. If there was any faith in the return of the party to power these appointments would not be rushed through, nor would any of them be made if there was any idea that the Goevrnment would pull through the session, because certain votes would in that event be badly needed in the House of Commons. This dying Administration has made more appointments in two days than have been made for two years.

With these men out of the House and the seats for West Hastings and West Toronto vacant, as they are, it is questionable whether the Conservative party would have a majority left if any number of the house had to go back for re-election because of the acceptance of Cabinet positions. After all, however, the pressing question is not the precise number of the Government's majority, nor whether Sir Charles Tupper becomes Premier, but how the vote will go on the Remedial Bill if the session does go on, because if the session does go on a Remedial Bill is unavoidable. The program of the malcontents who resigned was, of course, to work it out so that dissolution would be inevitable and thus avoid the difficult question of Remedial Legislation altogether. Every man of them who resigned, with perhaps, the exception of the Minister of Justice, is stoutly opposed to coercing Manitoba, and even the Minister of Justice is not now enamored of the idea, for the simple reason that he sees it is unpopular in the constituencies and among the Canadian people generally.

It is hard to see what advantage the Conservative party would derive from the accession of Sir Charles Tupper to the Premiership. He would have to abide by the policy of the Speech from the throne, else Lord Aberdeen would not hand him the seals of office, and there is not a single member of the House of Commons who will risk his return to Parliament at the general elections by becoming a coercionist under Sir Charles Tupper any more than they would under Sir Mackenzie Bowell. What does it matter to him whether this man or the other man is Prime Minister or one party or the other in power if he loses his seat in Parliament? Take Mr. George Taylor, the chief Conservative whip, for example. If Mr. Taylor voteed for a Remedial Bill he would not only lose his election but he would lose the nomination of his party in the riding at the convention yet to be held. Hon. J. F. Wood could not be re-elected in Brockville if he votes for a Remedial Bill. Neither can Cargill of Bruce, Ingram of Elgin, McNeill of Bruce, Hodgins of Carleton, Ross of Dundas, Craig of Durham, Reid of Grenville, Ferguson of Leeds and Grenville, Sproule of East Grey, Masson of North Grey, Henderson of Halton, Carscallen of Hastings, Metcalfe of Kingston, Rosamond of North Lanark, Wilson of Lennox, Marshall, Hutchins and Roome of Middlesex, Cochrane and Guillet of Northumberland, McGillivray of North Ontario, Smith of South Ontario, Pridham of Perth, Miller of Prince Edward, Burnham of East Peterborough, White of North Renfrew, Bennett and Tyrwhitt of Simcoe, Cockburn and Coatsworth of Toronto, Hughes and Fairbairn of Victoria, Carpenter of Wentworth and Maclean of East York. Here are over 30 Ontario Conservatives to whom a coercion bill would be fatal unless they voted against it.

Mr. Robert McKechnie has been appointed collector of customs at Dundas in place of Thomas Stock, superannuated. The salary of the collectorship is $1200. Mr. Stock is nearly 81 years old. He was 71 when he was appointed collector. Mr. McKechnie was the party candidate in North Wentworth at the last election.

WARRIMOO NOT TO BLAME.

J. Cranstoun, an Hawaiian Exile, Fails to Secure Damages.

Vancouver, B.C., Jan. 11.—A non-suit was granted to defendant to-day in the case of J. Cranstoun, one of the Hawaiian exiles, who sued the Canadian-Australian Steamship Company for $50,000 damages in connection with his deportation from Honolulu. Cranstoun is an American citizen who was charged by the Dole Government with complicity in the late Hawaiian rebellion and deported with others on the Canadian-Australian steamship Warrimoo by order of the chief executive. The court held that the steamship merely acted as an agent with Hawaii, and that it was an act of the State, and therefore the steamship should not be held liable for damages.

WASTING YOUR LIFE.

Failure of Physical and Mental Force—To add to Length of Life—Use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

With a pathetic sigh how often it has been said:

"Well, then, I suppose I must let go my hold on life."

To fathers and mothers of unreared children this is tragic.

But whence cometh sure and timely help? If death is preventable, how?

The timely answer is: By scientific and successful kidney treatment—by using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Hundreds write to thank us and tell of their cure, but none to say that Dodd's Kidney Pills have ever failed.

Heavy Duty on Beans Proposed.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Among the bills introduced in the House to-day were the following: By Mr. Brewster (Rep., N.Y.), imposing a duty of 40 cents per bushel on beans.

By Mr. Cobb (Dem., Mo.), repealing the section of the tariff law which imposes an additional duty of one-tenth of a cent per pound on all sugars, cane-juice and molasses imported from countries which pay an export bounty on these products.

Hood's is Wonderful.

No less than wonderful are the cures accomplished by Hood's Sarsaparilla, even after other preparations and physicians prescriptions have failed. The reason, however is simple. That Pain Knocked out

MR. JOHN MCKEE,
Druggist, Peterboro:

DEAR SIR—I have been troubled with Neuralgia more or less for 25 years. For the past 10 years my sufferings have been intense, until last winter, when you advised me to try a box of "Templeton's Rink Powders." After taking three or four powders all pain left. I continued them, however, until three boxes were taken, and have had no recurrence of the pain for about nine or ten months. G. J. JOPLING, Bridgenorth, Ont.

MURDERED THE SERGEANT.

A Buffalo Policeman Deliberately Shot His Superior Officer

Buffalo, Jan. 12.—Patrolman Michael Sammon, one of the best known members of the department because of the years he was captain of the third precinct, deliberately murdered Sergeant Timothy Cantlin at 4 o'clock this morning when Cantlin suspended him for violation of the rules.

Sammon had a beat on the south side of the city. Recently he had been before the Board several times on charges, but got off with light penalties. He had given Cantlin considerable trouble. When the sergeant could not find him this morning he suspected that he had entered an Elk-street malthouse to get warm. He waited there and at the expiration of 15 minutes Sammon sauntered out. Cantlin reprimanded him and told him to go to the station house, that he was suspended. Sammon walked along with the sergeant in the direction of the station. He asked him to let him off this time.

Sammon evidently feared that dismissal would follow another suspension. Cantlin told him he would have to report the matter and advised him to speak to the captain about it.

"Then take that," said Sammon, who had slipped his gun out of his pocket. As he spoke he fired a shot at short range into Cantlin's right side. The bullet lodged in his spine.

Cantlin fell on his face and Sammon quietly walked to the station.

Cantlin, though mortally wounded, did not lose cosciousness. After much effort he got the whistle out of his pocket and blew until a railroad flagman heard it and went to see what was the matter. The flagman summoned a policeman and an ambulance. Twenty-five minutes elapsed between the shooting and the appearance of the flagman and in the meantime Cantlin bled terribly.

On his way to the station Sammon met Patrolman McClure. "Have you seen the sergeant?" asked McClure. "Yes," said Sammon, "I left him out on Elk-street a while ago. I'm going to the station to get warm."

Mindful of the rules Sammon registered the time of his arrival at the station in a firm hand. He joked with the doorman, and took a seat in the reserve room. He lit his pipe and read a newspaper. At the end of the time allowed in the house for warming he buttoned up his overcoat and started to the door. As he reached it Patrolman McClure stepped in.

"Where are you going?" he asked Sammon.

"Back to my beat," said Sammon.

"I'm going to lock you up," said McClure. "You've killed Cantlin."

Sammon offered no resistance. He refuses to say a word about the tragedy.

Cantlin died at the hospital at 2 o'clock after identifying Sammon. He had five children, all under 10 years. He was considered one of the best officers on the force. The revolver Sammon used was a splendid gold mounted weapon studded with diamonds and pearls, a gift to him while he was captain. He had cleaned it carefully, evidently figuring that if Cantlin died at once or while unconscious no suspicion would attach to him as there were no witnesses.

Buckle Your Lines.

A well known proprietor of a Peterborough restaurant was very nearly the victim of an accident on Sunday evening while driving down George street with three others in a Gladstone sleigh attached to a team. The lines were not buckled and he dropped one of them with the result that the team was suddenly pulled into the sidewalk just opposite the Grand Central Hotel. Fortunately another well known restauranter observed the incident and caught the team before any damage was done.

A Novel Musical Treat.

A treat is in store for the music loving people of Peterborough. Read what an exchange says of to-morrow night's entertainment :—"The feature of the evening was the singing of the Tyrolean Troubadours with zither and guitar accompaniment. This concert company appears at Bradburn's Opera House Tuesday night next, and should be greeted by an overflowing house. Seats now on sale at Schodeld's drug store. Prices 25, 35 and 50 cents. 1d

INTERESTING SCIENTIFIC FACT.

A Peculiar Form of Injury to Steam Boilers.

The recent accident to the boiler at the works of the Canadian General Electric Company, and the occurrence of a similar accident to the boiler of the William Hamilton Manufacturing Company, draw attention to the very common occurrence of this peculiar form of accident.

It appears that in both cases the exhaust steam was utilized to feed the boiler with a view to economy of fuel. This steam brought with it to the boiler some of the lubricating oil used in the cylinder. The oil in the boiling water takes up or amalgamates with such impurities as may happen to be in the water, and while being driven through the hot water the greasy substance smears the boiler plates. This smearing is most usual where the plate is hottest. It frequently results in simply varnishing the plate. Sometimes a coating more or less thick is formed on the inner surface of the boiler—in any case the substance forms on the plate an intervening scale or paste, which, being a non-conductor, effectually prevents the heat of the plate being taken off by the water. The result is that the plate back of the fire chamber gets "burned" or over-heated and while soft the pressure of the steam bulges the plate between the stay bolts, sometimes causing severe leakage at the holes of the stay bolts. In the case of the Edison boiler the bulge was sufficient to withdraw the plate from the bolts and the steam and water escaping made things pretty lively for a while.

A careful examination of the boiler disclosed on the plate a coating of an oily paste about 1-16 of an inch in thickness. This burning and bulging occurred in a few moments. The company clean their boilers every two weeks, but it seems that, notwithstanding the greatest care, this result may occur. In the case of the Hamilton boiler an examination showed a thin brown scale covering the plate, no doubt also resulting from the same cause.

Lime in the water will coat the inside of the boiler like the inside of a kettle. Every care is taken to keep the boilers clean, but these results occasioning terrible expense are not infrequent. Several of the large steamers on the upper lakes, notably the great steamer Algonquin, have had to renew their boilers from injuries occasioned by burning. How to avoid the evil is a matter of much enquiry, but so far no complete remedy is known.

THE STAGE BROKE THROUGH.

The Mud Lake Bridge in bad Shape—John Sullivan's Horse Gets in.

Owing to the break of the floating bridges, the Peterborough stage has had to go around by Cowan's bridge, says the Bobcaygeon Independent. On Sunday the driver, John Sullivan, being in Ennismore and anxious to cross the lake as soon as possible determined to try the ice that had been formed by the previous night's frost.

There are two breaks in the Mud lake bridge, and when he reached the first one he took the horse out of the vehicle and led it on the ice by one of the lines. He did not go more than thirty yards when the horse dropped through.

The ice was not more than two inches thick, and every effort the horse made to get its front feet on the ice only broke it down. Sullivan tried for about half an hour to pull the animal out, but could not do it alone.

At last two men came to his assistance, and after choking the horse into quietness they managed to pull it out and get it back on to the bridge. The horse recovered itself in a few hours, and was none the worse of its bath by the following day. The frost on Sunday night made the lake passable and Sullivan now crosses in safety.

THE VALVE BURST.

And Clouds of Steam Filled the Cathedral Yesterday.

The blowing out of a cock in the steam pipes in St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday just at the close of the mass at eight o'clock, greatly alarmed the ladies in the congregation for a few minutes, as the escaping steam led them to believe that the boiler was bursting. The clouds of vapor which filled the cathedral added intensely to their fright, which, however, abated in a very few minutes when the steam was turned off. No damage was done.

ANNIVERSARY SUNDAY.

IN THE GEORGE STREET SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Rev A. C. Crews, General Secretary of Methodist Sunday Schools Delivers a Number of Most Practical Addresses During the day to the Pupils, the Teachers and the Parents.

Rev. A. C. Crews, the General Secretary of the Methodist Sunday Schools and the Epworth League was in town yesterday and spoke in the George street Methodist Church in the morning to the Sunday School children and teachers. In the afternoon he delivered a special address for children, and in the evening spoke to the young people of the congregation. During the afternoon also addressed a meeting in the Y. M. C. A. rooms.

In the morning he prefaced his sermon by a few brief remarks in which he stated how interesting and inspiring it was to look upon such a congregation, consisting as it did of Sunday School scholars, their teachers and their parents. He preferred, he said, to say a little to each in turn and took his text from the latter part of the fourth verse of the sixth chapter of the Ephesians 'Bring them up in the nuture and admonition of the Lord." The address was confined entirely to the

and as the speaker is noted for the clearness with which he expresses his ideas and the forcible arguments which he can clothe in the simplest of language, he commanded the closest attention of both the little ones and their elders.

The Sunday school, he stated, was a most modern institution, originating as it did about a hundred years ago, the originator being one Robert Raikes. In reality a Miss Hannah Bull first conceived the idea of establishing a Sunday school, but Raikes had so perfected and organized the scheme and brought it so prominently before the public that he was accredited with being the originator. Although the Sunday school was in its youth in the days of the Old Testament there existed a Bible school, where the children and their parents studied the scriptures together. If the present Sunday Schools partook more of this feature he thought it would be more to their advantage. In one Sunday School which he had visited the Superintendent had told him that the motto was, "Every scholar to be in the congregation and every member of the congregation to be in the Sunday School." This looked like an ideal state of affairs but it could be managed. He loved, himself, to see little children in the church, attending service. He would like to have them all grow up in the fold.

Sunday Schools had developed wonderfully within the last few decades. John Wesley had noticed the manner in which they were springing up and over and in one of his notes in a diary expressed the idea that there was far more in them than many knew and that they would eventually become the nursery of Methodism.

How true this prophecy was can be better understood when the statement is made that at present there are 250,000 Methodist children attending Sunday school in Canada to-day. He was pleased to learn that the George street Sunday school had an attendance of 600 children. As all these children would be the men and women of the next century, a great improvement on this century might confidently be looked forward to and expected.

Never before in the history of the world had so much be done for the children. Nearly every newspaper now had its "Children's Corner." Books were compiled for their especial amusement and benefit, but nowhere were such charming stories to be found for children as in the Bible. There were the narratives of Moses in his basket in the rushes, Joseph and his coat of many colours; Samuel, the little Hebrew maid and Timothy, all these beautiful stories culminating in that beautiful one of the Divine becoming a little child.

Not enough attention was paid to the children yet, but a change was

and the little ones would soon begin to be looked upon as in the days of old. Only does man begin to get old when he loses his interest in children and the man or woman who has no love for a child can have no place in the Sabbath School.

Rev. Mr. Crews then dwelt to considerable extent on the value of early conversion. Get hold of the young people, said he, before sin has had a chance to stain them. Henry Ward Beecher advocated the conversion of children, if possible, at the age of eight or ten years. The speaker thanked God that the church was waking up to the importance of the culture of youth. Had not the Lord Jesus said :—"Of such is the Kingdom of Heaven!"

He, himself, had always been a strong advocate of child conversion. If they were taken into the church early and its influence upon them was exerted from youth they would grow up godly men and women in the sight of the Lord.

Regarding the teaching of the children Mr. Crews expressed himself as being opposed to the time being devoted to a lesson in geography. He thought the first and last object of the Sunday school work was to bring the little ones to the Lord Jesus. The teachers should tell of the kingdom of Christ. The sweet story of Jesus, if told by a teacher in sympathy with the children, never grew old and was always sufficiently interesting to hold attention without allowing the lesson to degenerate into a lecture on the geographical location of the Holy Land.

Some ministers complained of the difficulty in securing teachers. The duty of an instructor in the Sunday school should be esteemed a blessed privilege and the teacher should always remember that sympathy was the only key which opened the hearts of children. Patience, perseverance and unfaltering trust in God were also requisites in a successful teacher.

In the morning the Sunday school children occupied the body of the church, and the Sunday school orchestra was also present, occupying the choir loft. The children led the singing.

THE SITUATION.

The latest reports from the capital show that chaos still reigns. Sir Mackenzie Bowell is finding that reconstruction of his Cabinet is a tough job and it seems pretty certain that he will have to confess his failure in Parliament to-morrow.

WEST HURON bye-election takes place to-morrow. Mr. M. C. Cameron is the Liberal candidate and Mr. Weismiller (no relation of Mr. Wes' Miller) is the Conservative candidate. The Government majority at the last election was only 14—an easy thing for the old war-horse to pull down.

FOR CONTEMPT OF COURT.

William Lunn, of Manvers, Brought to Town to Answer to This Charge.

William Lunn was brought to town, this morning, from Manvers, by Constable Stewart, on a warrant for contempt of court.

Lunn was charged with a violation of the Liquor License Act, in enticing a witness to absent himself from Court, the case being that in which Martin Connors was alleged to have sold liquor to Alexander Ralph on Sunday. Lunn it was said endeavoured to persuade Ralph to leave town and not appear against Connors, and he was summoned to appear before the magistrate for so doing.

Lunn completely ignored the summons and left home without attending court. He was notified by the Chief several times that it would be wiser for him to come into town and give himself up, but as no attention was given to the advice he was arrested and lodged in the cells this morning.

Mr. Lunn was brought before the magistrate at two o'clock this afternoon and remanded until Wednesday.

Catarrh in the Head

Is a dangerous disease because it is liable to result in loss of hearing or smell, or develop into consumption. Read the following:

"My wife has been a sufferer from catarrh for the past four years and the disease had gone so far that her eyesight was affected so that for nearly a year she was unable to read for more than five minutes at a time. She suffered severe pains in the head and at times was almost distracted. About Christmas, she commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and since that time has steadily improved. She has taken six bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and is on the road to a complete cure. I cannot speak too highly of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I cheerfully recommend it." W. H. The Regular Swing

Of our Annual Special Stock-Taking Sale keeps going on evenly and successfully and grows increasingly lively as the momentum keeps up.

There's nothing can stop the Reductions. The swing of the movement began in January, and just as shoppers realize that it is getting nearer its end, just in proportion are sales increased. But remember we don't have to keep a clearing sale going perpetually.

We are making it worth your while to buy now instead of waiting until Spring :—

CHURCH CHIMES.

Yesterday was sacrament Sunday in St. Paul's church.

Yesterday was Communion Sunday in St. Andrew's church.

The annual meeting of the Y.W.C.A. will be held Tuesday evening next.

Rev. J. J. Rae, of the Charlotte street Methodist church, was absent in Whitby yesterday preaching anniversary sermons.

During the offertory in the Charlotte treet church last night Miss Hendren and Mr. A. L. Davis sang the duet "In the Cross" with excellent shading and in perfect harmony.

The choir in the Park street Baptist church sang, "Behold the Bridegroom Cometh" as an anthem, last night, in a very effective manner.

Dank's "My Faith looks up to Thee," and "Schellinger's "Softly now the Light of Day" were sung as anthems in St. Paul's church last evening.

The attendance at the George street Sunday school reached high water mark yesterday, when there were 720 scholars in attendance, exclusive of visitors.

"Saviour Breathe an Evening Blessing" and "I lift up mine eyes unto the hills" were the titles of the two anthems sung in St. Andrew's church, last evening.

Dudley Buck's beautiful anthem, "Thou Wilt Keep Him in Perfect Peace," was sung with great effect in the Charlotte street Methodist church last evening.

Miss Hendren took the solo in "Consider the Lilies" in perfect voice in the Charlotte street Methodist church, yesterday morning, and also sang a solo during the offertory, which was greatly appreciated.

Mr. G. H. Sneyd, of McMaster University, conducted the services in the Park street Baptist church, yesterday. The congregation in the evening was so large that an adjoining class room had to be used to accommodate those in attendance.

Look out for colds at this season. Keep yourself well and strong by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great tonic and blood purifier.

What Does It Amount To?

In most cases it amounts to fully ONE-FOURTH off former selling prices, during our present Stock-Taking Sale.

Especially in all WINTER GOODS and GENTLEMEN'S FURNISHINGS does this hold good. Having only the best goods of best makers, is a guarantee for quality, and insures rapid selling in wearables required just now. Remember, discounts only on Spot Cash transactions.

SPRINGVILLE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

A rather peculiar runaway accident took place in this neighbourhood a few days ago. It appears a young man who resides in the vicinity of the Town Hall purposed attending a tea-meeting in one of our villages. Of course he wanted a partner and with this object in view he started out in search of a fair young lady who would "fill the bill." He drove to a certain residence, tied his horse and bravely entered the house. He hadn't time to more than warm his chilled fingers and make known the object of his mission when he became aware of the "awful truth" that his horse and rig had departed from their tie-post. No time was lost. A posse was quickly formed and set out in hot pursuit. The runaway had turned eastward and was making good time on his "home run." His pursuers went down the road like Jehu and it is questionable if the runaway made any better time than did the searching party. At the Town Hall the front section was overtaken but the posse were so eager to secure their prize that they made a mad rush to capture it. This only scared the animal more and he dashed off again at a nice jog. When he ran till he was satisfied, he allowed himself to be captured. Upon examination it was found the vehicle, which was a dandy, was a total wreck and the beautiful robe and blanket were lost. We believe some evil-disposed person, who was jealous of this young gentleman's success, set the horse at liberty, no doubt thinking in this way he would obtain revenge. It was a very ungentlemanly act, as it destroyed the rig.

On New Year's night, after the crowd which attended the tea-meeting had dispersed, a number of Peterborough's juvenile citizens drove to the residence of Mr. John Wilson and spent quite an enjoyable time. There were about forty couples, we are informed, and they "danced all night till broad daylight and went home with the girls in the morning." The genial host gave his visitors the use of his commodious dwelling and did everything in his power to make things pleasant for them. Mr. Wilson was taken by surprise, but it was unanimously said "all had a jolly good time." Mr. Wilson is very accommodating, for that same night he threw his doors open for the reception of the Presbyterian congregation and those who attended the tea. It was here the tea was served, and John proved himself "a jolly good fellow."

OTONABEE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Otonabee, No. 8, Football Club's second annual ball, held at Elm Grove on January 8th, was a financial success. Everything passed off smoothly under the direction of Mr. Joseph Duffis, who was master of ceremonies. He was first-class, and in time to come Otonabee can look forward to a floor manager second to none—bar Ward McAllister.

ENNISMORE.

Mr. P. Costello, of this township informs the EXAMINER that the report published of the vote for the reeveship, giving Mr. Crough a majority of 9 was incorrect, the correct figures being Mr. Crough 99 and Mr. Costello 93—a majority of 6.

In the Beginning

Of a new year, when the winter season of close confinement is only half gone, many find that their health begins to break down, that the least exposure threatens sickness. It is then as well as at other times, and with people even in good health, that the following facts should be remembered namely: that Hood's Sarsaparilla leads everything in the way of medicines; that it accomplishes the greatest cures in the world; has the largest sale in the world, and requires the largest building in the world devoted exclusively to the preparation of the proprietary medicine. Does not this conclusively prove, if you are sick, that Hood's Sarsaparilla is the medicine for you to take.

DEATH ON THE RAIL.

A C.P.R. Brakeman Killed at Perth this Morning.

Word was received in town to-day of fatal injuries received at Perth by G. Brusbey, a brakeman on the C.P.R.

Brusbey, it seems, was coupling cars when his foot slipped on the ice between the tracks and he was so horribly crushed that he died a very few minutes after being carried off the rails. The deceased lived in Tweed, but ran out of Havelock on the freights.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Down at the Rink Amongst the Curlers and the Hockeyists—Other Items of Interest.

HOCKEY.

The Volts went down to Norwood on Saturday evening to play off their first game in the O.H.A. Series. The team was a strong one, but lacked in combination play, and in not having acquired the knack of lifting the puck on the goal with the necessary accuracy to ensure success. They made a most plucky fight, however, and were only defeated after a hard struggle, during which they successfully scored two goals and the Norwood men six. Norwood is said to have a very fast team this year, on which Ash plays the star game, he scoring four of the goals for his team. The Volts state that they were well treated by the Norwood boys whilst there. Norwood plays the Peterboroughs on Saturday and a red hot game may be expected. The visitors will bring a large crowd up with them when they come.

The EXAMINER and Review Printers' Hockey team wish to issue a challenge to a team composed of either grocers or clothiers or a combined team of both.

CURLING.

Amongst the matches played on the rink on Saturday evening, was the appended :

THE WHEEL.

Fifty miles an hour on a wheel. This is the astonishing claim put forth for a new lever chain now undergoing the experimental tests in England. It is known in the bicycle world as the Simpson lever chain. All England is agog over it. It has been the past three months the talk of all the bicycle mechanics and factory superintendents on two continents.

At any rate the Simpson lever chain has waked up bicycle manufacturers as has no other one discovery since pneumatic tire dawned upon the scientists of cycling.

The time records claimed for the Simpson lever chain are: A tandem and a single have been clocked to do a quarter mile on the road in 20 3-5 seconds, and finished at the rate of fifty miles an hour. The best tandem record with a flying start is 23 seconds by Rigby and Johnson.

The tandem also did a half-mile in 44 4-5 seconds, and the single in 46 seconds, dead. At this distance the best tandem record is 53 1-5 seconds by Callahan brothers. The best single record is 52 3-5 seconds, by Long and Doimas.

This was followed later by a mile by the tandem in 1.39, ridden late in the evening.

If all that is claimed for this chain is realized, there can be no question that cycling will have reached the apex of perfection. There can be no further step forwards. There will be need for none. Man will get as near to actual flight as he can get on earth.

The Simpson chain aims to give greater driving power without increased effort. It is assumed that the reader, whether he is a cyclist or not, understands what sprockets are and what is their function. In wheels equipped with the Simpson chain there will, of course, be two sprockets. The forward sprocket, or driving wheel, will be the same as is now used. The rear sprocket will be greatly different.

This sprocket will consist of two opposite halves. Each half or side will have eight teeth, as now, but the teeth will be cut on a new plan. There is a little hollow between each pair of teeth, which will engage the links of the chain as it rolls along over the sprocket. The angle at which these little hollows or grooves are cut has been criticised. Bicycle scientists who claim to know say that the result will be an uneven, bumpety-bump motion on the part of the chain, together with a rattling that will shock all ears attuned, as it were, to the noiseless rhythm of the perfect machine. No self-respecting cyclist will ride a wheel that rattles.

However, the Simpson party say that there is nothing in this criticism. Time alone will tell. The little grooves are supposed to be so many average points, at each of which the links of the chain will brace itself for the next leap over the sprocket teeth.

The little grooves will thus act as conservators of energy. They will prevent the loss of power.

At a glance it will be seen that the sprocket is nearly twice the size of the ordinary sprocket. But it has no more teeth. The latter fact is highly important. If there were more teeth than on the ordinary sprocket the gear of the wheel would be affected. If there were ten teeth, for instance, the gear of the wheel would be 50.4, assuming that the forward sprocket had the usual number of eighteen. The average wheel is geared to 63. A gear of 50.4 would be an anomaly.

The increased size of the new sprocket, therefore, is the keynote of the Simpson invention. It permits the chain to revolve about a larger radius, thereby increasing the driving power of the chain. It does this without the exercise of any more power on the pedals; in fact with the same power on the pedals as is now exerted by the average rider, he can, with the Simpson device, so it is claimed, drive his machine harder and faster, the chain and sprocket revolving the wheels with a greatly increased force, which may be multiplied in direct proportion to the skill and strength of the rider, since power and speed are interchangeable.

This large sprocket will really give the bicycle a higher gear, but without calling for more driving power. It is claimed that it will give the equivalent of a gear of 84 on the ordinary bicycle. A gentleman who has seen the Simpson chain on an English machine in England, says that some wheels with this chain have had the equivalent of a gear of 96.

Since there are two halves to the sprocket each of whose eight teeth is gripped by the link pins of the chain in its flight, there is a double forward pull and a double saving of power, although by this is not meant that the pull and saving are two-fold.

The links of the chain are triangular in shape, and they are so joined, it is claimed, that they will afford a greater leverage on the sprocket, and this leverage is constant and regular through every revolution.

The bicycle mathematicians in England have been busy, many of them trying to prove that Mr. Simpson—who is by the way, a canny Scotchman—is all at sea in his calculations. At the same time not a few of the practical mechanics over there have come to his defence.

After all, there is only one criterion, or in this case two. The time records made by machines equipped with the Simpson chain have been given. Quite as convincing is the testimony implied in the incorporation of a company with $5,000 000 capital, which will manufacture the chain and put it on the market in 1896.

AMENDMENT TO THE PUBLIC HEALTH ACT.

It does not appear to be generally known that by an act of the provincial legislature, assented to on 16th April last, a radical change has been made in the manner of appointing health boards in cities and in towns containing more than four thousand inhabitants. Under the old law nine members were appointed yearly by the new council, to serve with the mayor. The revised section reads as follows :

(3) There shall be a local board of health for each city and for each town containing more than four thousand inhabitants, according to the municipal enumeration of the previous year, to consist of the mayor and six ratepayers, to be appointed by the municipal council as follows: Two members to be appointed for three years, two members for two years and one member for one year the retiring members to be replaced by two members appointed for three years from date of appointment.

There can be no doubt but that the change is a wise one, as it ensures experienced men on the board.

No Trouble to Answer Letters

Most people when meditating the purchase of a Piano feel more or less troubled in making a decision. The structure of a Piano is a thing they know so little of.

If you feel this way just write us a line and ask for information. It is no trouble at all to us. It is our business. We are experts of a quarter of a century's standing in the trade. Our stock is large. Our variety of styles is infinite, especially when you consider that we handle many other Canadian and American Pianos than those of our own make. Our prices are moderate, quality considered. Our terms are easy. Our Pianos are exceptional.

Again we say it is no trouble to answer letters, therefore write us and get full particulars.

Weak, Nervous Women.

One to whom a night's rest was unknown.

Strength and good health restored.

I was subject to frequent attacks of nervousness that seemed to sap all my vitality and left me in a state of weakness and misery. I could not relish food and such a thing as a good night's rest was unknown. Incapable of any exertion and with an ever present tired and despondent feeling. Medicines that I took did not do any good; it was a case of gradually becoming weaker and weaker. Hearing of Scott's Sarsaparilla and its success with similar cases to mine, I used it, and from the first few doses began to get better, appetite returned, got natural and refreshing sleep. I grew stronger, in fact life seemed to be fanned into activity.—Lottie Graham, 174 Crawford Street, Toronto.

For any weakness of the nerves, pale and sallow complexion, loss of appetite use the best blood and nerve remedy extant, Scott's Sarsaparilla. Insist on getting Scott's—imitations do not cure.

EASTERN DAIRYMEN.

Election of Officers—Addresses and Papers—Close of the Convention at Campbellford.

Campbellford, Ont., Jan. 10.—The first business of the Eastern Dairymen's Association this morning was the election of officers, which resulted as follows: President, Henry Wade, Toronto; 1st vice-pres., E. J. Madden, Newburg; 2nd vice-pres., John McTavish, VanCamp. Directors, W. Eager, Morrisburg; E. King, North Gower,; John R. Dargavel, Elgin; James Whitton, Wellman's Corners; T. B. Carlaw, Warkworth. Auditors, Morden Bird, Stirling; R. A. Craig, North Gower.

Then followed Instructor Publow with his report, Professor Fletcher on insects and how to overcome them and Prof. Dean on temperature in dairying and the use of rennet and salt.

J. A. Ruddick of Kingston Dairy School gave an outline of the year's work in that institution. The morning session closed with an address from J. Gould, of Ohio, on "The cow and her care in winter," in which the speaker advocated a flooring of sods inverted.

The afternoon session opened with a hot discussion upon the importance of casein and butter fat in milk for cheese making, which was enjoyed by all.

Checked cheese was next dealt with by Mr. Publow, which he said was caused either by the curd being too greasy or cooking too much.

Prof. Dean next rose to answer some questions, but so many were being put that it was necessary to ask the parties to send them direct to the department.

Prof Robertson gave good advice as to perishable goods and explained the cold storage. He was strongly in favor of branding cheese.

James Whitton dealt with the matter of turnipy milk, and said the only safe way was not to feed turnips to milch cows.

Prof. Dean gave an interesting account of his visit to Holland and Denmark last summer.

A resolution of condolence was passed to the relatives of the late J. B. Harris.

The members passed a hearty vote of thanks to the citizens of Campbellford for their cordiality and this closed the proceedings.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

A Lot of News Condensed Into Paragraphs for Busy People.

Brantford — William Chamberlain, traveler for D. B. Phillips of Woodstock, while walking on the street here was attacked by hemorrhage of the lungs and died after reaching a doctor's office.

Drayton, Ont.—Mr. Tolton, the Conservative candidate, has dropped out leaving the bye-election here for the Ontario House to be fought out by the Liberal and the Patron.

Markdale—The Liberal-Conservative Association of East and Centre Gray met here yesterday and endorsed the candidature of Dr. Sproule. Officers were elected also.

New York—The Board of Managers of the Joint Traffic Association have adopted rules prohibiting the payment of passenger commissions.

Bay City, Mich.—A prominent lumberman here says if the Canadian Government were to put an export duty on logs it would close their mills, throw 20,000 men out of work between here and Saginaw and force them to come to Canada to manufacture lumber.

Teheran, Persia.—Two severe earthquakes, causing the loss of 1100 lives, have occurred in the Khalkhal district.

Quebec—Madame Letourneau, aged about 50, was burned to death in her dwelling last night.

Thamesville—Mrs. Daniel Winters of the Township of Howard, about six miles from this village, died yesterday under suspicious circumstances. Enquiries will be made. She is suspected of having taken poison.

Burned to Death.

Lynn, Mass., Jan. 10.—Shortly after 2 o'clock this morning there was a fire in a one and one-half storey building occupied by a family named Lemoire. The body of Mrs Lemoire was found in a chamber burned to a crisp, while the daughter, Annie, was found lying on the stairway, terribly burned. Her injuries will probably prove fatal.

RIGHT IN OUR MIDST

Mr. Shipman, of Owen Sound—Seven Years' Acute Suffering—Diabetes Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

OWEN SOUND Jan. 6 (Special)—Mr. Shipman tells his story in the hope that he may benefit others, and says:—As the result of a tumble when a boy which injured my back, I have been troubled with weak kidneys all my life. For the past year I have been a great sufferer, growing worse until a friendly druggist advised me to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Tests of the urine showed Diabetes and I realized my danger. I found it impossible when tired stand upright and at such times was drawn down sideways. In all I have used about one dozen boxes and am now hearty and healthy as ever in my life.

VENEZUELAN BOUNDARY DISPUTE.

Mr. Gladstone Declines to Appear in a Public Discussion—Salisbury Declines Proposals.

London, Jan. 12.—The Daily Chronicle, whose despatches from Washington anent the Venezuelan dispute have attracted much attention, telegraphed yesterday to Mr. Gladstone, who is at Biarritz, France, asking: "Can you, with reference to the pending controversies, re-affirm your agreement with the House of Commons' resolution in favor of arbitration between the United States and Great Britain?"

In his reply, which The Chronicle will publish to-morrow, Mr. Gladstone says: "My opinion on arbitration is unchanged, but I think that I cannot usefully apppear in a public discussion at this moment."

THE BRITISH CASE.

Lord Salisbury Meets the Friendly Advances Made by the United States Re Venezuela.

London, Jan. 12.—In an editorial tomorrow, The Standard will say that the communications it publishes relative to the attitude of Germany and the Transvaal and the publication of the papers on the Venezuelan difficulty are all authoritative. It adds: "Urged by friendly public opinion in the United States to place before the world as soon as may be the British case as regards the controversy with Venezuela, the Cabinet on Saturday decided to respond to this amicable invitation by publishing the material documents in its possession bearing thereon.

"Of far mor eintereet to the English people than the problem to be faced in South Africa or the relations with in South Africa are the relations of this country with the United States, and we gladly take the opportunity of bearing testimony to the magnanimous attitude of the American nation towards us at a moment when communities less generous thought apparently that a favorable opportunity had arisen for adopting towards ue a tone of insult, if not of menace. Instead of taking advantage of the augmentation of our anxieties and the temporary multiplication of our assailants, the American people, with a spirit that does them honor and which is appreciated by us, have not only abstained from endeavoring to add to our perplexities, but where they did not actually offer us their sympathy, they have maintained an honorable, courteous reserve. That is conduct worthy of them and it has not unnaturally inspired the English Government with a desire to meet our kinsfolk across the Atlantic in a friendly spirit. Lord Salisbury, as we announce elsewhere, has decided not to wait for the meeting of Parliament, but will publish as soon as they can be got ready all the documents in his possession bearing upon the disputed boundary between British Guiana and Venezuela. As we have said, the attitude of the people of the United States during the past week has materially influenced the Prime Minister's decision, just as it has quickened the feeling of friendship entertained by Englishmen for those who speak their tongue and share their literature on the other side of the ocean. The maintenance of friendly relations with the United States must always be a consideration of the first importance for Great Britain. We say this to the American people with the absolute candor of deep-seated cordiality."

SERIOUS RESULT OF A CHARIVARI.

A Young Couple Get Married and a Crowd Serenaded Them—One Man Shot.

Brantford, Jan. 11.—On Christmas eve George Addy of Newport was married. After the wedding trip the young couple returned to live with Hugh Addy, George's father. On Friday night last a number of young people assembled to charivari the young couple. When the sport was running high, both the Addys (father and son) appeared on the scene and ordered the noisy crowd away. The crowd dispersed for a time, but when all was in darkness at the Addy homestead, the crowd again assembled and commenced their noise, when Hugh Addy appeared and firing a shot gun, hit William Knight, a young farmer, among the party. Knight's companions took him to a near neighbor's and summoned Dr. Mott from Mount Pleasant, who called in Dr. Digby of Brantford for consultation. So far the doctors have been unable to locate the shot which took effect in Knight's abdomen.

Hugh Addy is about 55 years of age, a much respected and highly esteemed farmer, living a short distance south of Newport. The night was very dark and it is said Mr. Addy had no idea or intention of hitting any person. William Knight is about 21 years of age, very much respected, an adopted son of Miss Nancy Hyman, living on a farm between Newport and Burtche's Corners. His condition is very critical, and there are grave doubts of his recovery.

One Honest Man.

Dear Editor:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially I will mail in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell, and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. Perfect secrecy assured. Address with stamp:—Mr. Edward Lambert. P. O Box 55, Jarvis, Ont.

Over Sixty Five Thousand Armenians Massacred by the Fiends.

London, Jan. 12.—The Constantinople representative of the United Press telegraphing under late of yesterday, says that more complete tables of the persons killed and property destroyed in the Provinces of Harpoot and Diarbekir show that 178 towns and villages, containing 8050 Armenian houses were burned. The Armenians in those towns and villages numbered 92,000, and of these 15,845 were killed. This excludes the uncertain reports of killings.

M. Cambon, the French Ambassador, estimates the total number of Armenians killed in Anatolia at 50,000.

A TELEPHONE IN THE STOMACH

Peculiar Phenomena of Human Nature

In an age when that subtle force electricity is presenting wonders to the world almost daily, and the Wizzard of Menlo Park has become the hero of the hour, there seems to be nothing that we may not expect in this direction. But it was not left to an Edison to establish a telephone in the stomach of human beings. The Great Maker of man in the economy of human nature provided such an instrument centuries ago. It is a fact that within the stomach of every man and woman there is a little instrument that telephones to the nerve centres in the brain as quickly as any food reaches that part. When for any reason this communication is stopped the food is undigested and physical trouble ensues. With word promptly sent from stomach to nerve centres, these supply the necessary juice that aids digestion, and nature successfully does her part, good health is enjoyed and man is able to perform with energy and pleasure his everyday duties. It will happen at times that these nerve centres will become deranged and lose their forces; then it is that a remedy must be supplied, just as the skill of the electrician is necessary when something goes wrong with the office telephone. South American Nervine is the electrician, so far as the human body is concerned. It is a medicine unique and exceptional in this particular that it works directly upon the nerve centres, and when these are out of order it quickly places them in proper repair and completeness. Nearly all diseases, especially indigestion, dyspepsia, nervousness, general debility, sick headache and disordered liver arise through trouble at the nerve centres. You can just as readily count on South American Nervine effecting a proper cure in all such cases as you can depend upon the electrician of the Bell Telephone Co., removing any derangements that has taken place in your telephone. A man may dress as well as his own good taste, judgment and the assistance of an artistic tailor may elect. He may take his "tubs" as regularly as the most conscientious water-cure doctor may dictate; but if his digestive organs are out of order, he will have an unwholesome appearance. His complexion and the white of his eyes will have a yellowish cast. His tongue will be coated, appetite poor, his teeth rusty, his breath abominable. He is one big, unmistakable sign of constipation.

Worst of all, his temper is as ugly and unwholesome to live with as is his person. A man who has the least appreciation of what he owes his family and friends, to say nothing of himself, will make an effort for health.

The quickest, surest, easiest way is to take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are made of refined, concentrated vegetable extracts. Nothing in the least harmful enters into their composition. They hunt down all impurities, and "make them move on." They are the product of many years' study and practice. Dr. Pierce cannot afford to put forth a worthless or a spurious article. Send for a free sample. If you would know yourself and the Doctor better, send 31 cents in one-cent stamps, to pay customs and postage only, and get his Common Sense Medical Adviser—1008 pages profusely illustrated.

Address, WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Buffalo, N. Y.

"For sometime I had used Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets for constipation with most satisfactory results. The winters have always been very hard on my husband. He too tried the 'Pellets.' They have made a new man of him. We have used in all, six bottles." Yours truly,

The Liberals Fighting an Aggressive Battle.

THEY ARE CONFIDENT OF VICTORY

Hon. G. W. Ross at Goderich Powerfully Arraigns the Ottawa Government—Special Attention to the Treachery of the Bolters—A Disgrace to the Country.

Goderich, Jan. 10.—As day after day of the campaign passes by the victory for Mr. M. C. Cameron grows more assured. Earnest work characterizes the efforts of the Liberals, whose meetings are exceedingly successful. To-night's magnificent gathering here, Hon. George W. Ross being the chief speaker, was but one out of many such triumphs. The Liberal forces were increased to-day by Mr. Frank A. Anglin and Mr. Peter Ryan, who arrived this morning, and in the evening addressed meetings, Mr. Anglin at Kintail and Mr. Peter Ryan in St. Augustine. For some days Hon. D. C. Fraser, M. P., has been rendering spendid and unremitting service to Mr. Cameron's cause addressing a coupe of meetings a day, and producing a remarkable effect with his vigorous and convincing oratory. Hon. Mr. Ross closed to-night his turn of service in the riding, during which he has addressed two important audiences.

The meeting in the Opera House here to-night was a record-breaker in size and enthusiasm. Long before the time for opening the hall arrived the building was crowded, and when the chairman advanced to the front of the platform it was absolutely jammed, and many were literally unable to force their way in. The gallery was reserved for ladies.

Mr Daniel A. McGillicuddy, the editor of The Huron Signal, and president of the Reform Association of the riding, was chairman, and after unsuccessfully inviting opposition he introduced Mr. M. C. Cameron, the candidate, who was well received by the audience. Mr. Cameron made one of his fine fighting speeches, assuring his hearers of his confidence as to the result.

Hon. G.W. Ross was heartily welcomed as he began his speech with hearty praise for Mr. Cameron's services in the past, and, after a warm eulogy of Mr. Laurier, proceeded to deal with the crisis as follows: We are face to face, he said, with a grave crisis in the history of the Dominion; the Government that for eighteen years claimed to have the confidence of the people is apparently upon its death-bed, and death-bed scenes are somewhat depressed. Having regard to the intelligence of our people and their sense of political morality, it is a surprise to me that this last act in its history has been so long postponed. For eighteen years they have held power by means which no government in England has adopted, and so far as known to me, since the days of Walpole. By their mismanagement in the Northwest they precipitated a rebellion costing millions of money and many valuable lives. By their extravagance in administering public affairs they have loaded the country with a debt which will cripple its resources for generations to come. They have partitioned out the Provinces among their political partisans by making constituencies to suit their purpose, as some feudal lord would parcel out a conquered country among his followers. They have endeavored to control the ballot box, where a free people is supposed to express its will without fear or favor, by influences which no honest man could justify. They have avowed the strongest loyalty to their Sovereign, even while appropriating for partizan purposes the money which the people had contributed for maintaining her honor and dignity. With such a record pressing upon them at this moment one cannot help but sympathize with them in the agony of the situation in which they find themselves. But, terrible as have been the offences which they have committed against the people of Canada, the unmistakable treachery characterizing the conduct of a portion of them against their leader and the representative of their Sovereign is, if possible, still more reprehensible. What have they done? In the most solemn manner, with a sense of the responsibility upon them as Her Majesty's advisers, for those who advise the Governor-General practically advise Her Majesty, they call Parliament and directed His Excellency to say that certain legislation would be submitted for the approval of the great council of the nation. They did more than this. The leader of the Government in his place in the Senate and the leader of the House of Commons declared before the last session of Parliament was closed that such legislation would be submitted when Parliament assembled. The people of Canada took them at their word. Those who believed in remedial legislation accepted their statement in the first instance as expressed by themselves, and the assurance of their Sovereign as expressed by the Governor-General. Then what happended at the very moment when this triple pledge was about to be redeemed? Seven members of the Government who had given the pledge, who were bound by every word of honor to carry it out and who were bound by their oath of office to advise what they were prepared to carry out, deserted their leader, and betrayed the whole Conservative party, who, through them, were pledged to remedial legislation. As a Liberal it is not for me to complain of the rupture of the Conservative party, but as a Canadian I am ashamed that the student of constitutional history will find that Canada is the only country where a Government has openly violated its pledges and so shamefully discredited its Sovereign as was done in this case.

What will be the end of this political travesty? As I understand the usages of our constitution, there is but one course to pursue: Sir Mackenzie Bowell must form a Government who will stand by the policy enunciated in the Governor-General's speech, or he must resign. More than that, I do not believe His Excelency can call upon any person belonging to the Conservative party who would not be bound constitutionally to present a bill for remedial legislation to the present Parliament. Parliament was called by the Conservative party, and every representative of that party is constitutionally bound by the avowed policy of the party. His Excelency might call upon any other Conservative and in that case might give him time to construct a Government, but, in my opinion, no such person would be entitled to a dissolution of Parliament until after he was defeated, if he should be defeated, in the present House of Commons. We have no reason to believe, however, that what the present Government did not dare to do before the stampede of Mr. Foster and his colelagues it could do in the present disorganized condition. Certainly, if the Government has not confidence in itself how could it expect to have the confidence of the country? If it has broken faith with the Governor-General how can he any longer entrust it with his confidence, and if His Excellency should refuse to take its advice at any moment and send for Hon Wilfrid Laurier to form a new Government, I believe his action would not only be in the highest interests of the country, but strictly according to Parliamentary precedent and sound British usage, and no one who knows his admirable training in statesmanship in a country that has produced more great statesmen than any other country in the world need have no fear that he will be actuated by any other motive than his duty to the Sovereign.

Turning from this aspect of affairs, Mr. Ross devoted his attention to the record of the Government, and delivered a terrible assault upon its extravagance and misgovernment. He compared the management of Ontario with its six millions surplus with the Dominion with its huge debt, and pointed out the huge increase in the cost or administration and the waste of the country's money in enterprises such as the Curran bridge, the Tay Canal, the Little Rapids lock, the St Charles branch, the superannuation system, and so on. That was what they got by having organized mediocrity for a Government. Mr. Ross then took up the trade question, and disposed of the cry that manufacturers would be ruined by the advent of the Liberals to power, showing how a revenue tariff would be necessary and how in Britain the progress towards free trade was made by safe and guarded steps extending over some years. The argument that free trade had ruined England came in for scathing comment from him, and he won round after round of applause by his ringing declaration that England stands to-day able to face her foes in any hemisphere. He closed with a reference to the Manitoba school question, reciting the history of the case, enumerating the Liberal policy on the question and arguing strongly that Canadians should be enlightened enough to be calm even during a storm. Cheers for the Queen, for Mr. Ross and for Mr. M C. Cameron closed the meeting.

Sir Richard Cartwright spoke to a large meeting at Blyth, as also did Mr. James McMullen, M.P. The feeling is general that Mr. Cameron will be returned by a substantial majority.

Its Cause and Cure

Cold weather, shivering, no heat to sustain, emaciated, because ill-nourished. This is either because the starchy foods are improperly acted upon by the digestive juices or the oily constituents of the food are not assimilated. Cod Liver Oil combined with Maltine and Hypophosphites supplies this deficiency, for the oil, rendered palatable and easy of digestion, is at once assimilated and stored up in the form of adipose tissue. Besides this the maltine renders soluble the starchy foods—whose special function is to supply heat or fatty tissue—thus affording material necessary to supply the waste of the body. Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites is at once a food, body builder, and medicine, incomparably superior to any preparation for the consumptive or debilitated. Verify this by a trial.

Fairweather's Fine Furs

And so this store swings into the dull days after Xmas.

Why "dull days?"—just because merchants, as a rule, go to sleep then. We do not know of a dull or sleepy place in the store. Every department is booming with interesting things.

Owing to the unfavourable condition of the weather on and about Xmas, we are carrying a few more Fur Coats and Robes than we want to at this season of the year, and are offering SPECIAL REDUCTIONS in these particular lines of goods.

Ladies' Furs.—Our stock is pretty well broken up, but we have some choice CAPES in stock at present ; and in a few days will have made up the sizes we are sold out of, and will be able to again present a full range.

The present weather is forcing you to decide whether you will buy warm furs or go shivering, shaking and sneezing—all because of improper clothing ; and that, too, when we have done more than ever to buy the softest, warmest and best furs that were ever produced, so close to your pocket-books that quarters will reach where dollars used to fall short.

Never in the history of the fur trade have furs been sold so cheap. With the exception of some fur bearing animals that are becoming extinct, Good Furs are always a good investment and will bring their value in wear or in money.

BRIDGENORTH.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The following officers of Court Bridgenorth, No. 315, Canadian Order of Foresters, were installed by Bro. R. Q. Bench, D. D. H. C. R., on Friday evening, January 10th, assisted by High Auditor Graham and Bros. Wallace and Jury, P. C. Rs. of Court Lakefield :

At the conclusion of the installation ceremonies, speeches were made by the newly elected officers and visiting brethren, after which all adjourned to Bro. T. Tully's, where refreshments were served, and a very pleasant time spent.

Very Hard Indeed.

There are so many things that appear unnecessary, and which for the life of us can see neither purpose nor end. It may be corns are just one of those thorns in the flesh the why and the wherefore of which we cannot see. Nevertheless they are of the kind that are easily removed. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor makes short work of them. Try it and see how nicely it coaxes them out. Use none other than Putnam's Corn Extractor. Sold by druggists.

A BEAUTIFUL ORIENTAL DEMON.

In person the Begum Somru was small, with a graceful, softly rounded figure, a complexion of dazzling fairness, large black eyes full of animation, delicately chiseled features and a hand and arm of such perfect symmetry that native poets sang of them as matchless wonders of beauty. Her dress was always in exquisite taste and of the costliest material. She spoke Persian and Hindustani fluently. Her manners were charming and her conversation spirited, sensible and engaging. But, as a set-off to this long array of personal attractions, her character was detestible. She was cruel, vindicitive and treacherous. If one of her servants displeased and disobeyed her, she would order his nose and ears to be cut off in her presence, and watch the mutilation with gusto, while she placidly smoked her hookah.

When one of her dancing girls offended her by attracting the attention of a favorite officer, she, in a spirit of furious jealousy, ordered the unfortunate girl to be buried alive. There was a small vault under the pavement of the saloon in which the Nautch dances were held, and in that vault the Begum saw her victim bricked up. When the horrible work was done, she commanded the rest of the Nautch girls to come out and dance over the grave in which their still living sister was entombed. According to one account—denied by some of those who have investigated the story—the Begum, that she might extract the last drops of fiendish pleasure out of the cup of revenge, had her couch placed exactly over the vault.

The Jerusalem of To-day.

I made no notes of Jerusalem, for I did not and do not intend to write of it. It was well done long ago by a man equally innocent and more abroad, and has not changed much since. The Turks are still on guard at the cradle and the grave of Christ, to try and keep the devout Christians from spattering up the walls with each other's blood. The lamps have been carefully and nearly equally divided between the Greeks, Catholics and Armenians, as well as the space around and the time for worship.

What strikes the traveler most forcibly on seeing Jerusalem for the first time is the littleness of everything. The Mount of Olives is a little mound; Mount Moriah is a scarcely perceptible rise of ground; Mount Zion is a gentle hill; the valley of Jehoshaphat is a deep, ugly gulch with scarcely enough water in it to wet a postage stamp, and the Tyropoeon Valley is an alley.—Cy Warman in McClure's Magazine for December.

Lightning by Luminescence.

In a paper read by M. A. Wits before the Academie des Sciences, the author gives the results of his attempts to measure the quantity of energy necessary to illuminate Geissler tubes. The figures that he has obtained show that in lighting by luminescence the proportion of calorific energy as compared with the total energy is feebler than in any other luminous source. The author thinks that by reducing the losses of electricity to a minimum, by concentrating the light in a confined space, by utilising the fluorescence of certain substances, and finally, by devising certain special arrangements one may hope to obtain luminous sources whose photogenic rendering will be superior to the best now known.

Silvering Mirrors by Electricity.

A curious method of silvering mirrors has recently been patented by M. Hans Boas, of Kiel, says London Engineering. It is based on the fact that when one of the heavy metals forms the cathode of a vacuum tube, containing a trace of hydrogen, this metal is volatilized by the current, and is deposited as a firmly adherent and highly polished layer on the walls of the tube. The mirror thus produced is of a much greater brilliancy than is obtained by the more orthodox methods.

Coldest Inhabited Place on Earth.

According to Carl Siewers, the coldest inhabited spot on earth is Werchojansk, in Eastern Siberia. During January, February and March the thermometer indicates 88 degrees of frost and occasionally 115 degrees. In April it marks 4 degrees, and in May it remains at zero. During July, August and September the mean temperature is 42.8 degrees. The average annual degree of frost is 35 degrees.

Facts About Waterloo.

At Waterloo 149,000 men were engaged, of whom 51,000 were killed, wounded or taken prisoners. In proportion to the number engaged, Waterloo was one of the bloodiest battles of history, no less than 35 per cent. of the whole number being placed hors de combat. The British artillery fired 9,467 rounds, or one round for every Frenchman killed in the battle.

THE DRAWING ROOM.

State Reception by Lord and Lady Aberdeen.

GRAND SCENE IN THE RED CHAMBER

Procession of the Vice-Regal Party—The Retiring Ministers Pay Their Respects—Gorgeous Dress of the Countess of Aberdeen—Some of the Mistakes Made.

Ottawa, Jan. 12.—The annual drawing room or official reception, of Their Excellencies the Governor-General and Lady Aberdeen was held on Saturday evening in the Senate Chamber. The attendance was quite up to the usual number, over 500 ladies and gentlemen in evening dress making their little bows to the representatives of Royalty.

Their Excellencies were escorted from Rideau Hall by a detachment of the Princess Louise Dragoon Guards.

The scene inside the corridors was a lively one, ladies in evening dress were to be seen hurrying to their dressing rooms and officers of the different corps finding their way to their different posts.

At 8.30 the officers on duty took up their position in the Senate Chamber, the band of the Governor-General's Foot Guards being stationed outside. At twenty minutes past nine Their Excellencies entered the Senate Chamber to the strains of the National Anthem. They walked through the long lines of officers, taking up their position on the dais. The A.D.C. in waiting walked first, then the ladies of the household, which on this occasion included Mrs. Gascoigne and Mrs. Smith, wife of Lieut.-Col. Smith, A.D.C.; then the staff, six officers in Highland costume being much admired by the spectators.

On the right of the dais were Sir Mackenzie Bowell, Hon. T. M. Daly, Sir Frank Smith, Hon. John Costigan, Hon. Donald Ferguson, and on the left were Sir Adolphe Caron, Lieut.-Governor Kirkpatrick and Lieut.-Governor Mackintosh.

His Excellency the Governor-General wore his court uniform and Their Honors the Lieut.-Governor of Ontario and the Lieut.-Governor of the North-west Territories and the members of the Cabinet their official uniforms.

Immediately after the Lieut.-Govs. were presented, the ex-Ministers entered by one of the back entrances to the chamber and made their bows to the Governor-General in their regular order, as members of the Privy Council, not members of the Cabinet. Hon. George E. Foster led the way, and he was followed by Hon. John Haggart, Hon. Dr. Montague, Sir Charles H. Tupper, Hon. W. B. Ives and Hon. John Wood. Those who wore their Privy Councillors' uniform were Sir Charles H. Tupper, Hon. George E. Foster and Hon. John Haggart. Hon. Dr. Montague, Hon. W. B. Ives and Hon. John F. Wood were in evening dress.

The scene in the chamber was a most brilliant one, and was not marred, as it used to be, by ladies appearing in semi-evening dress, short, high-necked silk frocks, linen collars and cuffs, which the wearers fancied were the orthodox thing. The awkwardness seen some years ago in courtsies and bows has now almost disappeared, and though there were some amusing and awkward attempts, the hurried nod and rush past Their Excellencies that used to be seen at drawing-rooms was on this occasion not noticed. Veils were much worn, and on some wearers in the correct manner, but some young girls wore the three feathers, only used by married women, while the matrons passed themselves as single and wore two feathers. Some veils were also worn quite on the side, with one feather, or no feather at all, but on the whole they were properly and prettily worn and added much to the general effect of the costumes.

At the conclusion of the drawing-room, which lasted for over an hour, Their Excellencies remained in the Senate Chamber for about ten minutes, then formed in procession, the A.D.C.'s leading the way, followed by Their Excellencies, the pages, ladies of the household and staff. After 20 minutes' rest in the rooms set apart for their use. Lord and Lady Aberdeen, preceded by their A.D.C., started for the rooms of the Speaker of the House of Commons and Mrs. White.

Her Excellency the Countess of Aberdeen wore an exquisite costume of brocade. The color looked like peach in some lights and in others heliotrope. The petticoat and train were of this rich material; also the bodice trimmed with claret velvet and rare point lace. Attached to the back of the gown was a court train of claret-colored velvet, beginning very narrow at the waist and getting wider as it fell in heavy folds. This train was lined with satin of the same shade as the gown, and trimmed around the edge with ermine. Her Excellency wore a tiara of magnificent diamonds, white feathers and veil, diamond necklace and pendant, and various diamond ornaments clasping the laces in her bodice.

Hon. Dudley and Archie Gordon acted as pages, and moved after Her Excellency, their brother carrying her train wherever she went, the effect being most picturesque.

Among Toronto ladies present were Lady Howland, Mrs. Harry Darling, Miss Darling, Mrs. Willoughby Cummings, Mrs. Roden Kingsmill, Miss Foy, Miss O'Hara and Miss Wright.

The many friends of Sir William and Lady Howland crowded round them after the drawing-room was over. Sir William has not been in Ottawa for a number of years and few have had an opportunity of congratulating him on his recent marriage.

Lady Howland wore a gown of rich slate colored satin, petticoat train and bodice all of the same material. The latter was trimmed with some exquisite point lace, clasped here and there with diamonds.

The Three Graces.

Rosy cheeks, laughing eyes, and teeth of pearly whiteness. Bright smiles with a background of teeth not resplendant of whiteness and purity,—impossible. Beauty may be found hidden in a bottle of foaming Ivorine, the newest, best, and most fragrant preparation. Ivorine is so nice to use—fragrant, refreshing. It purifies the breath, which it renders sweet, and to the teeth it imparts both whiteness and brilliancy.

GRATIFICATION SALE

PREPARATORY TO STOCK-TAKING !

Our gratification for the successful business which our two big stores have been favoured with during the year just closed, is oozing out of every pore.

Our bounding enthusiasm urges us—perhaps rashly—to making our January business something phenomenal—something better and greater than anything in the past ! Besides—

It's Price-Pruning Time, Previous to Taking Stock.

That usually means selling at about cost, but we mean to crowd bnsiness by crowding down prices away below anything you've ever known before.

The whole of our immense stock of Men's, Youth's and Boy's Clothing, Furnishings, Hats, Boots and Shoes, &c., have been marked down for immediate sale to prices that will make the whole Town and Country ring with the startling news !

Our Prices are Dwarfs ! Our Values are Giants !

You lucky fellows who have been waiting for the cold weather, have struck it rich ! Don't let go of that mighty dollar until you have seen what we are doing in the way of cut prices on Suits, Overcoats, Underwear, Hats and Boots.

The season is almost over with us, but it is only beginning with you. Gough Bros. don't propose to permit an accummulation of stock from season to season—even if it should take to clear the decks. We reign to-day, sure ! We are very much alive to the sacrifices we are making, and we haven't lost our heads either.

Another Dynamite Explosion

Every table abounds with Bargains—every Price has been clipped a third or more—and you can't find such Prices at other stores, because you can't gather figs off thistles.

Studying Electric Heating.

The latest news concerning the big power house at Niagara Falls is that the current has been turned into the heaters there. There are fifty heaters in the building. They will be used to heat the buildings, and, besides, experiments will be made with them to determine the utility of electricity for heating purposes. A careful study will be made of it by experts, and from time to time improvements will be made. Visitors are now admitted to the gallery of the plant during the early hours of the evening, and from this point the scene is a brilliant one. Numbers of people visit the gallery and are delighted with what they see.

A Big Trade IN GROCERIES.

Our Interest is to save you money. We are always planning for special activity and brisk sales—so that it is no wonder we have a big trade. We have to buy close, of course, in order to sell at such close prices.

While our sales of Fine Groceries, Provisions and Liquors during the Holiday season were extraordinarily heavy, we have replenished our stock and are fully prepared to meet all the demands of our patrons.

No need to tell Housekeepers and others that what we keep in stock is always fresh and pure, and the best that can be procured.

THE BOLTERS . WELL ORGANIZED

Premier Bowell Unable to Get New Hands —The Cats May Go Back—Sir Hibbert to be Replaced by His Father—Caron and Montague.

Otawa, Jan. 13.—"Who is on top to-day?" has ben the question since the morning, and the answer depended on which faction the person spoken to suported. Finally, about 4 o'clock the report was put in circulation, which gained general credence a few hours later, that a recanciliation had ben effected. Although this is generally accepted as correct, the situation to-night is still unsettled, but an understanding is said to have been reached between the rival aspirants for the leadership, Sir Mackenzie Bowell and Sir Chas. Tupper. At all events, a proposal has been made and is under consideration that the cats will come back to the cream. In other words, Sir Mackenzie Bowell is to remain Premier, Sir Charles Tupper is to enter the Cabinet, and all the rebellious Ministers are to return, except Sir Hibbert Tupper, whose place is taken by his father. This is the proposal, but its final acceptance has been postponed till to-morrow. There is some doubt about Sir Mackenzie agreeing to sit again at the Council Board with Messrs. Foster, Haggart and Montague, against whom he has declared war. He stated yesterday that he would not under any circumstances again meet these gentlemen in council. The situation this morning was critical. The two factions appeared to be irrecanciliable, but covert threats had been made that retaliatory statements would be made by the Foster faction in Parliament to-morrow, and these threats evidently had considerable influence in compelling a compromise. The Citizen this morning said: "A usually well-informed politician said last night: 'Look out for squalls next Tuesday. As sure as Sir Adolphe Caron makes the announcement in the House that Bowell has reorganized his Cabinet, there will be a counter statement from Mr. Foster.' It is said the malcontents obtained His Excellency's permission to make an aditional statement to the House to-morrow. The ex-Ministers had become restive under the lash of public criticism which has been so unsparingly applied by their adversaries in Parliament and in the press, while their enforced silence denies to their friends the material for defence. In this frame of mind, it is said, they will undertake to disabuse the popular mind of the reigning impression that they conspired suddenly and secretly to overthrow the Premier, and that the seven now out were the only active dissidents in the Cabinet, and to this end, it is said, the statement will be made on their behalf that the first to recognize the insufficiency of the Premier's leadership and the most outspoken in his advocacy of a reconstruction, was one of the very men who are now standing by Sir Mackenzie Bowell. Indeed the gossip goes that the air will be blue with mutual recriminations before the week is out, that charges will be made of extensive wire-pulling and misrepresentation to promote the success of either side. The half has never been told, and the telling of the residue will furnish political sensations enough to keep up interest in the situation for the remainder of the week, no matter which way the Cabinet difficulty may be settled."

Here was a pretty condition of things. Recriminations, charges, countercharges and new accusations all among the men who claim to be the leaders of the Conservative party and the exponents of the best sentiments of the Canadian people. To avoid further scandals the patch-up of to-day was proposed. It remains to be seen to-morrow whether it can be carried out. Some say it cannot last a week, because there must be some understanding as to the policy respecting the school bill, and upon this one section of the party distrusts the other. By the proposed arrangement the Minister most committed to the coercion and bullying policy, Sir Hibbert Tupper, is replaced by Sir Charles Tupper, who is known to condemn the Government's conduct of the school case. Can he get rid of its logical consequence With Sir Mackenzie Bowell as Premier the job will be difficult. Another reason forcing these new statesmen to try and get together was the fact that Sir Mackenzie Bowell announced that he was able to reconstruct the Cabinet. Mr. Ives was so frightened at the prospect of Hon. G. B. Baker replacing him that he induced his brother-in-law, Mr. Rufus Pope, to consent to accept the Eastern Townships portfolio. It was a case of cut-throat. Judge Skinner of St. John, N.B., was offered Mr. Foster's place in the Cabinet, and this afternoon left there for Ottawa. This frightened Mr. Foster, for he, like the others, would be small potatoes without office and patronage. Each man offered a portfolio by Premier Bowell was taken aside by the Tupper-Foster faction and intimidated into refusing. The game of cut-throat was openly played, but here were two men who were ready to come in, and there were others. When, therefore, there seemed a chance that Sir Mackenzie would form a Cabinet without them Messrs. Foster & Co. caved in. The question remains, will Sir Mackenzie stultify himself by letting them back? This question he had not decisively answered to-night. If, as the Conservatives expect, he will agree to act with them again, the public may ask who occupies the most humiliating position, the Prime Minister, who would resume business among a "nest of traitors," to use his own expression, or the rebels, who publicly declared that Sir Mackenzie was not fit to lead them, and that in his leadership they foresaw disaster to the party? The public must conclude that the whole crowd of knights and commoners are a poor lot to guide the destinies of a great people, whose numbers, though yet small, will grow rapidly under the influence of a patriotic and Liberal policy. The hope of the worst element of the Conservative party is that the Tuppers will in a short while prevail over the weak but too honest Sir Mackenzie Bowell, and that before the elections full rein will be given to the plunger.

It is satisfactory to learn to-night that the differences on the score of publication of the letters have been amicably settled. Sir Adolph Caron and Dr. Montague had an interview with the Governor-General this morning, as borne out by the following letters which were given for publication in the press this evening by Hon. Dr. Montague:

"Jan. 13, 1896.

"Dear Sir, Adolphe Caron,—Although I have already in my place in Parliament denied any complicity whatever in the matter of these anonymous letters, I wish to repeat in this personal manner my emphatic denial of having been in any way connected with their authorship. I wish at the same time to say that I entirely acquit you from the suspicion of having been the cause of communications to the press in regard to this matter.

"I remain, yours faithfully,

"(Signed) W. H. MONTAGUE."

"Dear Dr. Montague,—In reply to your leter I fully accept your repudiation of the anonymous letters, as, indeed, I have already stated in Parliament, and I regret the annoyance to which you have been subject in the publication of an allusion to the matter in the press. I wish to add that I am glad that you exonerate me from the suspicion of having been the source of any communication to the newspapers upon the subject.

"Yours truly,

"(Signed) ADOLPHE CARON."

"Government House, Jan. 13.

"Dear Dr. Montague,—It is with much pleasure I have read Sir Adolphe Caron's letter to yourself, in which he fully and honorably accepts the denial which is in the other statements you have sent to me. While thoroughly recognizing the bona fides of Sir Adolphe Caron's conduct, I should like to take this opportunity of expressing my own sincere regret that you have had so much annoyance in connection with the matter, and to assure you personally that it has in no way shaken my confidence in yourself.

"(Signed) ABERDEEN.

"To Dr. Montague."

TO MEET FEB 6.

The Day Fixed for the Meeting of the Ontario Legislature.

Toronto, Jan. 14.

Ontario's Legislative Assembly will this year be called together during the first week in the coming month

Thursday, Feb. 6, is the day fixed by Sir Oliver Mowat and his colleagues, and only the formality of securing Lieutenant-Governor Kirkpatrick's assent to that date remains to be gone through before announcement to this effect appears in the Ontario Gazette. The next issue of that official journal will contain the Governor's proclamation calling the loyal representatives of the people together.

It has been all along the desire of the Government to assemble the House early this year, and the intention at one time was to have the session opened before the end of the present month. It was, however, found impossible to have the Public Accounts ready so early, and therefore the date mentioned above was chosen.

A member of the Government in The World's authority that Feb. 6 is the choice of the Cabinet, subject to the Lieut.-Governor's approval. Should that arrangement prove inconvenient to His Honor, the opening of the House would be postponed for a day. In any event, the Legislature would not be called together earlier than the date named, and it will certainly be assembled upon that date or within a day or two thereafter.

As the Lieut.-Governor is likely to accept the advice of the Ministers in such a matter, it may be taken as granted that three weeks from the day after to-morrow the Speech from the Throne will be read in the building in the Park.

BRITISH PATRIOTISM.

A Feeling Which Has in It an Element of Danger.

SHOWS ITSELF IN ALL DIRECTIONS

The National Anthem and Patriotic Song: Greeted With an Enthusiasm That Amounts to Fury—Transvaal Quiet—British Protection for Americans.

New York, Jan. 13.—A special cable despatch to The Sun from London says: One of the great factors in the European crisis which must be reckoned with is the new born spirit among the British people. It is patriotism of that kind of intensity which makes war. It compels the respect and admiration even of England's enemies, but it is full of danger. Its manifestations are on every hand. It finds spontaneous expression wherever people congregate, in churches, theatres, at banquets, in the press, everywhere. In several London churches yesterday the national anthem was sung with more than religious fervor. It is the English custom for the orchestra to play a few bars of "God Save the Queen" as the audience is leaving the theatre. Now everybody remains and sings the whole anthem with pent-up enthusiasm. There was a wonderful scene at Daly's Theatre Saturday night, when Mr. Hayden Coffin sang a new patriotic ballad. The lines are spirited, beginning with "England, to arms, to arms, the need is high," and the chorus concludes. "England, for her own, my boys, its 'Rule Britannia' still."

There have been some surprising demonstrations of popular feeling by this undemonstrative people of late, but never anything like the mad enthusiasm of that crowded house. At the last, when the play was finished, and the orchestra sounded the familiar strains, the whole company came upon the stage to sing "God Save the Queen." Such scenes as this are more pregnant of meaning than flying squadrons or messages of presidents and emperors. I should fail to record the most significant feature of English public sentiment at the present moment if I did not add that hatred or dislike of America seems to have no part in the patriotic outburst.

Of authentic political news there is little. One grave rumor is circulating in the small diplomatic circle. According to this report Great Britain early last week demanded an apology from Germany for seeking to send troops through Portuguese territory into the Transvaal, and the German Ambassador has notified Lord Salisbury of the refusal of the German Government to comply. There is no adequate authority for this rumor, and the latest reports from Berlin are pacific in tone.

THE FLYING SQUADRON

More Likely to Go to Constantinople Than to Delagoa Bay.

London, Jan. 13.—Concerning the situation in the Transvaal, The Times says: There is far too great a disposition in some quarters to assume that the Transvaal difficulty is ended. It can only be truly said that the immediate danger of bloodshed has been averted. But all the evils and terrors which made a disturbance in the Transvaal, with or without Dr. Jameson, merely a question of time, still remain unsettled.

The Manchester Guardian says: Emperor William's message came out just the right time to give the Ministers an excuse for making preparations really intended to buck their new policy, which will end the Armenian horrors and bring the Sultan to his senses. The latest rumor points to a land invasion by the Russians and a joint naval demonstration at Constantinople by Great Britain and France. The Guardian intimates that the new flying squadron is more likely to go to Constantinople than to Delagoa Bay or any other point in South Africa.

A despatch from Portsmouth to The Pall Mall Gazette says the channel squadron is now ready for sea. The vessels comprising the squadron have provisions on board sufficient to last six months. The ships will assemble at Portland at the end of the week to receive final orders. The ships of the new flying squadron are nearly ready for sea. A large force of men worked upon them all day yesterday (Sunday), fitting them out and work is almost complete. It is not yet known when the squadron will sail or what is its destination.

THE CHANGE OF FRONT.

Salisbury's Friendliness Towards France Has Brought Forth Some Fruit.

The Westminster Gazette says: The effect of the shifting of English leanings from Germany to France and Russia is already evident in the efforts making to explain Emperor William's telegram. If our information is correct, the Marquis of Salisbury's desire to be better friends with France has already brought forth some fruit.

The Pall Mall Gazzette publishes a despatch from Cape Town, saying that advices have been received from Pretoria that the Boer authorities have refused to accept bail for the ringleaders of the disturbance at Johannesburg, but that the officers have been released on £1000 bail each. The expectation is that severe measures will be taken against the leaders, despite the efforts of Governor Robinson of the Cape Colony to obtain leniency for them, the Boers being greatly incensed against them.

A despatch to The Times denies the truth of the report that the deposition of Dr. Jameson from the office of Administrator of the South African Co. was made upon the recommendation of the company.

A FEW PERTINENT PARAGRAPHS.

From day to day the Globe peppers its columns with a few facts and we string a few of them together as an illustration of the benefits we have and are deriving from the "National Policy" and Conservative Government:—

The aggregate trade of Canada for 1895 as compared with 1894 decreased nearly $17,000,000, exports $4,000,000, and imports $13,000,000. Even last year with which this comparison is made, did not itself make a satisfactory showing. As compared with 1893 there was a reduction of $23,000,000 in the total trade, making a total reduction in the two years of nearly $40,000,000.

Government speakers would have us believe that one of the subsidiary objects of their fiscal policy was to develop our trade with Britain rather than that with the United States. The facts are that for the ten years up to 1882 our total imports from Britain were nearly $39,000,000 greater than they were in the subsequent ten years, while our imports from the United States were nearly $45,000,000 greater. During 1895 our trade with Britain decreased $14,000,000, while that with the United States increased $6,000,000.

The following are the increases in the national debt year by year since 1894:

1886	$ 14,248,841
1895	28,751,414
1867	4,155,688
1888	7,216,582
1889	2,998,683
1890	8,170
1891	575 818
1892	3,222,403
1893	649,695
1894	4,501,989

The last spike of the Canadian Pacific Railway was driven in 1885, and it would not have been unreasonable to hope that from that out the enormous revenue of $37,000,000 which high taxation gouged out of the Canadian people would have been sufficient to keep us from wading deeper into debt.

The deficits that occurred during the period of Mr. Mackenzie's premiership used to be a stock subject for Ministerial journalists and orators. We never hear of it now. And the reason is found in the following deficits which have occurred under Tory management:

1879	$1,837,899	1888	$ 810,031
1880	1,513,227	1894	1,310,332
1885	2,210,033	1895	4,000,000
1886	5,834,871
Total			$17,676,213

The total deficits during Mr. Mackenzie's term amounted to $4,488,959. Mr. Mackenzie's plan for avoiding deficits was to keep down the expenditure. Had he chosen to increase the taxes ever so little there need have been no deficits. But Sir Richard Cartwright knew that the deficits were but temporary results of the depression that existed all over the world and would pass away with returning prosperity. Expenditure was kept down and taxation remained stationary, and the people were no worse. But the deficits that have occurred under the rule of their opponents have been contemporaneous with high taxation and enormous revenues yearly exacted from the people.

SEVEN is regarded as the perfect number and canny Conservatives are too loyal to their party to break the luck of the Government by going into the Cabinet.

AFTER the Spring Hill mines affair Sir Charles Tupper, the paternal plunger, should be an adept in springing a mine at the capital.

THE Mail has an infinity of cheek. It says that "West Huron will declare that morality has fallen low in Ontario if Mr. Cameron is elected." The idea of the organ of a party, of which Sir Adolf Caron is de facto leader in the House of Commons, talking about purity in our public men. Such talk is the quintessence of cant, the pinnacle of hypocrisy.

BETWEEN 1878 and 1891, as the Globe points out, the Connollys and the McGreevys received $3,138,234 of the public moneys in connection with the Quebec harbour works, for which they did $2,000,000 of work. Of the $1,138,534 profits $170,447 was expended in bribery, as the firm's books disclose and few men know more about his personal connection with this boodling than Sir Adolphe Caron.

A British Canadian wrote the Globe on Monday, counselling Lord Aberdeen, not to be drawn into the position of seeming to abet the conspiracy revealed by the bolting members to replace Sir Mackenzie Bowell by Sir Charles Tupper. The writer points out that the sole purpose of the plunger leaving his duties in London was to be on hand to reap the fruits of the conspiracy and step into the shoes of Premier Bowell, who was expected to throw up the sponge when the bolters bolted. We have every confidence that Lord Aberdeen is altogether too shrewd and high principalled a man, even if no contrary advice were given him, to be a party to governing a great country by conspiracy. The turmoil of the past few days, during which the country has been practically without an administration has not been brought about in the interests of the country but for the sake of keeping a band of political rascals in power. The plotters and counter plotters all have a common aim, much as they may seem to disagree. They are after the spoils of office—not the legitimate spoils but the plunder, and whether one gang comes into power under Sir Mackenzie Bowell or another under Sir Charles Tupper, the circumstances in either event will be an outrage and will be resented by the country accordingly.

THE WM. FIELDS CASE.

Three Years a Suffering Victim of Bright's Disease.

He Follows the Successful Example of Others and is Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Owen Sound, Jan. 14.—(Special.)—To say that excitement prevails here is to draw it mildly. The coming to light of case after case in which Dodd's Kidney Pills have effected cures has created an under-current of talk which brings some new marvel to the surface every day.

Mr. Wm. Fields, a C. P. R. porter here, was seen by your correspondent and stated his case as follows:

"I was afflicted with Bright's Disease of the Kidneys for three years.

"None of the doctors in Owen Sound or in Toronto being able to help me.

"At last, when almost hopeless of a cure, I was advised to use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I acted on the advice, and after using six boxes the cure was effected, and to-day I am a perfectly healthy man and able to work every day, something I have been unable to do for over two years before taking Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Sold by all druggists and dealers at 50 cents per box, or by mail by addressing The Dodds Medicine Co., Toronto.

Serious Fire in Stroud.

Bramley, Jan. 13.—At 1.50 p.m. today smoke was seen issuing from the roof of Mr. John Chantler's residence. The alarm was sounded at once, and the school bell rung, which brought 100 people on the scene in a few minutes. Most of the furniture was saved, but all efforts to save the building failed. The fire next caught in the store, whence it communicated with the storehouse, stables, sheds, etc., and at the time of writing the whole premises are a heap of smouldering ruins. Much sympathy is expressed for Mr. Chantler, who has been in business in Stroud for 45 years.

Church Burned Near St. Mary's

St. Mary's, Jan. 13.—Zion Methodist Church on Mitchell-road, four miles from here, was destroyed by fire Sunday afternoon. It was a good brick structure only two years erected. The fire caught from the furnace. It was insured for a small amount in the Township Insurance Company.

Residence Burned in Thurlow.

Belleville, Jan. 13.—W. H. Ketcheson's farm house in Thurlow was burned this morning. Loss $1500 on building and $700 on contents. Insured in Liverpool, London and Globe for $700 on house and $500 on contents.

WASTING YOUR LIFE.

Failure of Physical and Mental Force—To add to Length of Life—Use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

With a pathetic sigh how often it has been said:

"Well, then, I suppose I must let go my hold on life.

To fathers and mothers of unreared children this is tragic.

But whence cometh sure and timely help? If death is preventable, how?

The timely answer is: By scientific and successful kidney treatment—by using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Hundreds write to thank us and tell of their cure, but none to say that Dodd's Kidney Pills have ever failed.

A Lady's Good Fortune.

She Uses One Bottle of Paine's Celery Compound and Banishes Inflammatory Rheumatism.

WAS A TERRIBLE SUFFERER.

Every man and woman in Canada who suffers from rheumatism, can afford at least one bottle of Paine's Celery Compound.

One bottle of this marvelous health-restoring medicine swept away the inflammatory rheumatism, which for two years, had made life miserable for Mrs. Thomas, of Perth Road, Ont.

This medicine will work wonders in your case, reader, if you are unfortunately numbered in the vast army of rheumatic martyrs. Mr. Thomas writes as follows about his wife's cure by Paine's Celery Compound:—

"This is to certify that my wife suffered severely for two years with inflammatory rheumatism, and after using one bottle of Paine's Celery Compound she is able to attend to her ordinary work, and feels completely restored to her former health."

BRITISH PATRIOTISM.

members of the Reform Union arrested upon charges of high treason are Charles Butters, T. H. King and Capt. Mein, all American citizens.

RHODES HEARD FROM.

He Tells Why the Newcomers are Restless and Claims American Sympathy.

New York, Jan. 13.—The World prints the following from Cape Town:

The position is that within the Transvaal there are 70,000 newcomers and an old population of 14,000. With the development of the gold industry to a fuller extent the newcomers will amount to 500,000 in five years; eventually to a million, probably more.

From time to time the position will be upset by the attempts of the new population to claim common civil rights, which eventually they certainly must get. Statesmanship should give them some rights now, as the present state is impossible for the newcomers, who own more than half the soil of the Transvaal and nine-tenths of the wealth of the country.

The new males outnumber the old five to one and are composed largely of Americans, including the principal mine managers.

England is the only great power in South Africa. She is now threatened with German interference, which she is bound to resent and resist. In this she should have America's sympathy. Blood is thicker than water.

Americans above all nations insist on civil rights in one's industries here at the Cape.

In the Transvaal all my managers are Americans. And yet, we have the spectacle of the two great English-speaking nations of the world almost on the verge of war, about some barren land in South America, whereas working in perfect harmony the peace of the world would be assured.

(Signed) C. J. RHODES.

WITH THE UITLANDERS.

Wealthy Americans Who are Among the Prisoners at Johannesburg.

London, Jan. 13.—An interview was had to-day with Mr. Wiltsee, a colleague of John Hays Hammond, the American mining engineer, who was a member of the Reform Committee at Johannesburg, and who is now under arrest for sedition. Mr. Wiltsee has just arrived from the Transvaal. He said that he had sent cable despatches to Gen. Harris and Major J. R. Crocker of San Francisco, friends of Mr. Hammond, and had been informed that they had apprised Senators Perkins and White of the serious position of the Americans in Johannesburg. Senator White had laid the matter before the Department of State, which had promised to pay prompt attention to the matter. Among the Americans arrested is J. S. Curtis, who has for some time been a resident of Johannesburg. He held a leading position there and is very wealthy. Charles Butters, who is also under arrest, is connected with the Rand Ore Reduction Company. Captain Mein is chief engineer of the Robinson Gold Mining Company. The property of these three Americans is threatened with confiscation. Mr. Wiltsee declared that the United States Government would never permit the Boer Government to execute the threat. There is no doubt that Mr. Hammond and the other Americans belonged to the Reform Committee which was a body formed in a time of emergency that was sufficiently serious to justify the Uitlanders in acting as they did. Mr. Wiltsee concluded by declaring that the sympathies of all the Americans in South Africa were with the Uitlanders.

British Protection for Americans.

Washington, Jan. 13.—This afternoon Secretary Olney received a cablegram from Mr. Bayard, saying that Colonial Secretary Chamberlain gave assurances that he had instructed Her Majesty's High Commissioner, Sir Hercules Robinson, to extend the same protection in behalf of John Hays Hammond, and any other American citizen involved in charges of rebellion in the Transvaal, as in the interest of British subjects under like circumstances.

The Standard is Pleased.

London, Jan. 13.—The Standard will to-morrow say it is pleased by the exchanges of diplomatic expressions of good-will between the United States and Great Britain, and again argues that a way must be found to reconcile England's view of her rights in Guiana with the sensibilities of the people of the United States. It will add: "It must be only a work of time to effect a satisfactory settlement. The simplest way would be a direct agreement with Venezuela. It is obvious that we should have the good-will of the United States in such a solution."

A Baltimore Forger in London.

London, Jan. 13.—F. C. Bell, who gave his place of residence as Druid Hill-avenue, Baltimore, was arraigned in the Bow-street Police Court to-day, charged upon his own confession with having forged the signature of Mr. Schanze, manager of the Potomac Building Association at Baltimore, of which organization he is secretary, to a cheque of $450. Bell was remanded for investigation.

Their Qualities are Perfect.

All Classes of Our Population Ask for Them and Use Them.

The wondrous Diamond Dyes are truly suited for all classes of people, and their uses are innumerable. They give perfect and lovely colours on silk, wool, cotton and mixed goods, that never fade with sun soap and washing. Old and faded garments and articles of wearing apparel are made to look like new at a trifling cost.

Diamond Dyes save thrifty housewives scores of dollars every year. Let us warn you of imitations. You must avoid these, if you wish for success in the dyeing operation. When buying dyes, see that you get the "Diamond."

Winnipeg—Premier Greenway's Patron opponent, Mr. Preston, has retired, and Mr. Greenway is elected for Mountain.

Woodville—Thieves stole $70 worth of clover seed from Joseph Nugent, and a bag of mustard seed from William Degeer.

Washington—The Pension Bill appropriates $141,325,720 for this year, which is about $50,000 less than last year.

Shanghai—The Queen of Corea, who was reported to have been assassinated on Nov. 28 last, is found to be alive yet, having hidden in an outhouse and escaped from the plotters.

New York—The World scheme for handling the new Government loan has been a success. Already the subscriptions amount o $119,000,000, of $19,000,000 more than the loan amounts to. The plans of the Morgan syndicate are thus defeated.

Detroit—The International Deep Waterways Commissioners met here yesterday, but only preliminary business was transacted. The Canadian commissioners are Messrs. Howland, Keefer and Munro. James B. Angell, president of Michigan University, John G. Russell of Boston and L. E. Cooley of Chicago are the United States representatives.

The full intensity of living is reached only by the perfectly healthy. Sickness discounts the capacity for enjoyment. If his body is all out of order and run down, he will not be able to enjoy anything, no matter how full of enjoyment it may be for other people. If he is just a little bit out of order, if he "is not sick, but doesn't feel just right" he will only be able to enjoy things in a half-hearted sort of way. The nearer he is to being perfectly well, the nearer will his capacity for enjoyment be perfect. If this condition doesn't exist, something ought to be done. That means nine cases in ten the use of Dr. Pierce's Medical Discovery. It works directly on the digestive organs, and on the blood and through these on every tissue of the body. It makes the appetite good, digestion and nutrition perfect and supplies rich, red blood to all the tissues, building up solid, healthful flesh.

your child

You note the difference in children. Some have nearly every ailment, even with the best of care. Others far more exposed pass through unharmed. Weak children will have continuous colds in winter, poor digestion in summer. They are without power to resist disease, they have no reserve strength. Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil, with hypophosphites, is cod-liver oil partly digested and adapted to the weaker digestions of children.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE OF PERIODICALS.

Mr. Peters Complains of Their Abstraction From the Public Library.

Complaints are being made by the librarian of the Mechanics' Institute, or Public Library, as it is now called, that a number of periodicals are being removed from the tables in the reading rooms. As the periodicals are sold at the end of each year, the management are put to the expense of purchasing numbers to complete the sets if any are lost. The penalty imposed on anyone discovered in removing books or periodicals without permission is severe, and it is hoped that the practice will cease before active measures are taken to detect the culprits.

Although the library is known as a "public" one, yet this term by no means signifies that it is open to the public at large. Only members who have paid their fee are privileged to use the reading rooms and the library.

The regular annual sale of the periodicals, which is always very largely attended on account of the large amount of excellent reading matter offered at a low figure, will take place on Mondey next.

THE CUSTOMS' HOUSE AFFAIR

A PROPER AUDIT URGENTLY NEEDED.

The Record of the Collector—His Incapacity Demonstrated — A Large Shortage in the Accounts Probable—Put in Office and Kept in Office by Political Influence—The Government Inspector Non-Committal — The Collector in Chicago.

As stated in The Examiner on Saturday, Provincial Inspector Boultbee and Assistant Douglass have been and are still engaged in making an investigation into the state of the accounts of the Peterborough Customs House.

It has long been known that the condition of affairs with reference to the management of the office were unsatisfactory and it is rumoured that there exists a large shortage in the accounts. And the surprise of the public, especially of the business portion of the public, has been great that there has not long before been an investigation, the feeling being that there were ample reasons for it, and that the state of affairs made known in the interests of those who have business dealings with the office. It is said by those who ought to know, and by many high in the ranks of the Conservative party, that there is a large deficit, a prominent Conservative putting it at $8,000 or $10,000, so far as known.

It is well known to everybody that for a considerable time Mr. Clementi has been unfit for the discharge of the important duties of his office, and his retention in the office has been a matter of surprise to those who did not consider the strong political "pull" possessed by the incumbent. It is known that during the time mentioned the collector to have any hand in the management of the affairs of the customs office of an important port like Peterborough, but no steps were taken by the Government to put the administration of affairs upon a safe footing or to make an investigation into the accounts which from the very nature of things should have been regularly examined into.

SHOULD NOT HAVE BEEN ALLOWED

Instead of this the Government, which could not, unless its supervision of the Peterborough Custom House was of the nature of Curran Bridge supervision—be ignorant of the bad state of affairs, actually increased the incapable collector's salary by $100.00—from $1200,00 to $1300,00—accompanying the notification of an increase with a commendation of the collector's efficient services, a commendation in the last degree ridiculous in view of facts which everybody knows.

Mr. Clementi's case is an example of the benefit—to him—of having a pull with the Government. That action was not taken by the Government until it was forced upon them, is no doubt due to the fact of the incapable, if not worse, collector, being a son-in-law of the sitting member, Mr. Stevenson. The fact is not capable of dispute that collector Clementi should, in the public interests, never have been appointed to this office. It was a matter of popular knowledge that at and before the time of his appointment his habits were such as to utterly unfit him for a position of responsibility. It was only by political influence that he gained a position which everybody agreed he was not worthy of nor entitled to, and it has been by political influence only that he has retained his place long after his incapacity has been flagrantly demonstrated, as shown by the fact that leading importers have had to appear before the inspector to make explanation in regard to entries that should have been rendered unnecessary if and the books were in a proper condition.

The customs collector, Mr. Clementi, added to other unfitting habits the opium habit, which became so firmly fixed that he could not throw it off. In order, it is said, to secure treatment he went to the Old Country in the spring of 1894 and remained till November. That he did not derive much benefit from the "treatment" has been told by himself. In March, 1895, the Collector went to the Oakville Sanitarium to take what is known as the "Gold Cure," and was released in May, and again took charge of the Customs House. In November he went again to Oakville, remaining a short time. He returned to town, and, on hearing that an inspection was to be made, in the affairs of the office, went to Chicago, about December 10th.

This morning the Examiner called upon Mr. Boultbee, who is conducting an inspection of the books, but he declined to furnish any definite information. He admitted, however, that there were "irregularities," but to what extent he declined to say.

It must be said that the so-called investigation now being conducted is not sufficiently exhaustive and that it does not go far enough back. Inspector Boultbee is said to be only going back as far as January, 1894, but the fact is, the real condition of affairs cannot be disclosed unless the whole period of Mr. Clementi's term of office is thoroughly and exhaustively examined with a determination, not to explain, but to discover the real state of affairs of the office and the condition of the books. An investigation in the public interests should be made and not in the interests of the incumbent or of his political friends. This investigation long ago. As to the probable shortage there would be, if a proper audit of the accounts were made, it is believed by those in the best position to know, a deficiency of large proportions. There has not been a proper audit of the collector's books since he took office over five years ago, and until such an audit is made the public are deprived of information which they have a right to claim and get. Until such time as Mr. Boultbee makes his report to the Government, and the information comes through the routine channel, the public will have to depend upon rumour for the important information they should have, and when the report is made, in all probability it will furnish evidence of a desire to make matters as smooth as possible.

SHOULD HAVE BEEN MADE

PRESENTATION TO P. D. LAURENT, V. G.

(Lindsay Post.)

On Sunday Vicar-General Laurent celebrated high mass in St. Luke's church, Downeyville, Father Bretherton, the pastor, taking duty at St. Mary's. A very large congregation assembled to meet the gifted administrator of the diocese during Bishop O'Connor's absence in Rome, and after mass a number of the parishioners came forward and presented him with the following address, a handsome walking stick being handed over at the proper moment :—

To Rev. P D. Laurent, V. G., Administrator of the Diocese of Peterborough :—

Rev. and Dear Father,—We welcome you, reverend and dear father, on this, the first occasion on which you have favoured us by singing high mass in our new and beautiful edifice. Nor could we let this occasion pass, although we are well aware it is not your custom to receive addresses in your own parish, without expressing to you our deep-felt gratitude at the interest you have taken and the great assistance you have been to our good pastor while this church was building. Your fame has spread far and wide amongst our priests as one of the great builders of the province. Nor need we go far for the proof of this assertion—your grand church in Lindsay will ever remain as a memorial of your zeal and great ability. We have watched with interest and pleasure during the past summer your weekly visits to our pastor—not for pleasure, but in order to give every assistance in the arduous task which he had undertaken; and, no doubt, you deservedly feel feel proud of the way in which, with your assistance, he accomplished his task. We take this occasion also of expressing to you the love and friendship which has always existed between the parishes of Lindsay and Downeyville, which has been that of love between father and son. In conclusion, dear father, and on behalf of the people of this parish, we express the hope that your visits to us will not now cease, but you will often come amongst us and you may be always sure of a "Caed Mille Failthe" from the parish of Downeyville. We ask you to accept, as a slight token of our appreciation of your kindness, this walking stick, which we hope will be to you a support in your declining years, and we pray that God may grant you many years yet to labour in the good cause of our holy religion.—Signed on behalf of the parishoners.

The stick is a very handsome one, gold mounted and suitably engraved. Vicar-Gen. Laurent was taken completely by surprise, and he expressed his thanks in a manner that must have been very pleasing to the good people of Downeyville parish.

Purified Blood

Saved an operation in the following case. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures when all others fail. It makes pure blood.

"A year ago my father, William Thompson, was taken suddenly ill with inflammation of the bladder. He suffered a great deal and was very low for some time. At last the doctor said he would not get well unless an operation was performed. At this time we read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and decided to try it. Before he used half a bottle his appetite had come back to him, whereas before he could eat but little. When he had taken three bottles of the medicine he was as well as ever." Francis J. DAILY MOTTO.

Tuesday, Jan. 14th.

I see in this world two heaps—one of human happiness and one of misery; now if I can take but the smallest bit from the second heap and add it to the first, I carry a point. If, as I go home, a child has dropped a halfpenny, and by giving it another I can wipe away its tears, I feel that I have done something.

THE ALIEN LABOUR LAW.

A New Brunswicker's Experience of It in Buffalo.

Mr. C. H. Wilson, of Amherst, New Brunswick, called on The EXAMINER yesterday and related his experience. He is a Conservative and a Protectionist, yet he left a country blessed with a high taxation system, that was to give constant employment at the highest wages, and joined the exodus which the N. P. was to prevent. He went to Buffalo and procured employment in the Erie Iron Works and thought he had a winter's job, but Inspector DeBarry, the executor of the Alien Labour Law spotted the "Canuck" and marched him from the land of freedom over the lines to Canada, and he has reached Peterborough on his way home. Mr. Wilson thinks this an odious law. It is indeed a mediæval reminiscence and all one sided. Opposite Buffalo are the Grand Trunk and Michigan Central iron works in Canada. Scores of Yankee workmen, with their dinner pails, cross the river every day, earn their money in Canada and take it to "the States" to spend it. Our Conservative friend should remember that a Conservative member introduced a measure into the House of Commons to offset the American Alien Labour Law, but our good Conservative government squelched it. Lex talonis is not always good law, but there is provocation enough in the case quoted as a sample, to almost justify it.

The several choruses by pupils of the Public Schools will give sparkling variety to the uniform excellence of Mr. Frank Yeigh's Picture Lecture on Canada, on Friday evening, January 17th.

A TAFFY PULL AT OTTAWA.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

The "World" has had two admirable cartoons of late. The disgraceful conduct of Mackenzie Bowell and his followers furnished the material.

The first cartoon shows seven political rats leaving the sinking ship, and the second cartoon in this day's issue shows six of these kittens returning to the fold with their tails up. In recent years too many of our politicians have had an unsavoury record as tricksters and boodlers, but it remained for Mackenzie Bowell and his followers to make Canada a laughing-stock among the nations. And yet after outraging all the decencies of public and private life, these great Conservative leaders will be out again in a few days for a general election, and their frantic screams will be heard all over the land about the "old policy" and the "old flag" and especially about their own transcendent loyalty. Nothing worse has ever been said of "Walpole."

HOCKEY.

On Monday evening there were nineteen hockey players on the ice—too many for a practice. Some arrangement will have to be made whereby there will not be so many come on at once. The team is in need of good practice right along and it will be too bad if they are deprived of it by the overcrowding of the ice. The first fourteen arriving should be allowed on and no more.

The Y. M. C. A. Hockey team, of Port Hope, defeated Cobourg the other night by four goals to one.

CURLING.

Skips H. LeBrun and Ed. Brown have again recommenced their annual tourneys against one another on the ice. Last evening their rinks were composed as follows:

R A Hay,	W Stocker,
R H Fottye,	G A Hatton,
R S Davidson,	R B McKee,
H LeBrun, skip.....14	E Brown, skip.....15

The match was a close and an interesting one. Skip LeBrun was two ahead once. At the twelfth end when the game was to cease both rinks had scored an equal number of points. Two more ends were played with the result that Skip Brown was victorious by one shot. The two skips now have their blood well up and the next match will probably be for a barrel of flour for the benefit of the poor.

Another scratch match was played between Skips Ray and Rutherford with the following result:

H R H Kenner,	W E Loch,
W Thompson,	C N Brown,

ANNIVERSARY EXERCISES.

THE GEORGE STREET SUNDAY SCHOOL ENTERTAINMENT.

A Most Charming Cantata by the Scholars—A Very Large Attendance—The School Increasing in Size.

The annual anniversary entertainment in connection with the George street church was held last evening and took the form of a cantata, entitled "A Chime of Silver Bells," comprising general exercises and songs, single recitations and exercises for classes and groups of scholars.

The Sunday School orchestra occupied the choir loft, under the direction of Mr. F. W. Miller, and opened with a pretty prelude, which gave a clue to the nature of the music which would follow. The entire membership of the school then sang in the opening song "With Grateful Hearts." A responsive reading was then held by Mr. S. R. Armstrong with the school, after which the school sang "Angel Voices."

Fourteen little boys from the primary departments then came filing up on the platform singing, "Marching, Marching, Hear the Little Feet." After lining up on the platform each recited a verse. The boys were Masters Cecil Fletcher, Stan. Kingden, Willie Johnson, Harry Mann, Gordon McClelland, Roy Thornton, Burton Miller, Roy Doxsee, Harold McRae, George King, Sydney McIntyre, W. Nicholl and Melville Robinson.

The school then sang,

"HAPPY, HAPPY CHRISTMAS."

Masters Bert Turner, Arthur Hetherington and Enos Maybee recited in turn, "What Should you Do?" and "What Will you Do?"

Master Eddie Fisher then recited, after which the school sang another of the choruses entitled "Christmas Bells around the World."

The banner exercise was one of the features of the evening, being an acrostic song by eleven little girls on the words "Gospel Bells." The recitation taking part were Misses May Donnel, Clara Warne, Gertie Kendry, Mabel Bradburn, Ethel Thornton, Pearl Hamilton, Ethel Turner, May Johnson, Emily Noble, Laura Hartley and Ethel Goodfellow.

Another of the prettiest parts of the cantata now took place when Misses M. McGuire, Abbey Robinson, Vina Bellegheim, Mabel Metherel, Stella Ackerman, Mabel Mason and Lillie Pascoe marched up on the platform singing "Hark! the Joyful Chiming" to an accompaniment of bells which they held in their hands and with which they kept time. Each afterwards recited a selection concerning bells of Welcome, Praise Joy, Peace, Hope, Love and Memory. Other songs were sung by this septette and as all possess charming, fresh young voices the effect was most taking.

The parts of

BELLS OF HOLINESS,

happiness, faith, humility and good-will were taken respectively by Misses Nellie Goldsmith, Elna Pratt, Ada Newton, Berla Carlton and Ruby Maine. Most effective choruses were then sung by all on the platform. On closing the echo was heard coming from an adjoining room. The effect of this echo chorus was indescribably pretty, also, the parts being taken by Misses Clara, Annie and Laura Bellegheim and Miss Eva Rutherford.

All then left the platform and marched through the aisles of the church ringing the bells and singing the choruses.

The entire school then rendered several other pretty choruses, after which a number of prizes were presented to some thirty odd scholars who had not missed a Sunday at school during the year.

Too much cannot be said in praise of the manner in which the cantata was rendered. The songs were all sung in excellent harmony, and the music being light and pretty the very large audience was more than delighted with the entertainment. Mr. F. Miller is deserving of especial praise for the skilful manner in which he conducted the music.

During the evening reports were read, showing the average attendance to be 569, an increase of 49 over the previous year. The receipts were $486 and the expenditures $404.

Chief McKinnon Speaks.

The man who achieves eminent success either as a detective, or the organizer and commander of a city police force, is of necessity a man of first class mental endowments. In both capacities Chief McKinnon, of the Hamilton Police force, has achieved a success which makes him the envy of rivals. His name is known from ocean to ocean as a man of energy and shrewdness. He pays the following compliments to merit:

"HAMILTON, Jan. 3, 1895.

"On general principals I have been opposed to the use of patent medicines, so called, and especially cure-alls. While suffering from a severe cold, well seated, a medical friend in whom I had the most implicit confidence, recommended PINEMALT, so urgently, that I was induced to try a bottle. So satisfactory was the result that we now keep a bottle of it at all times in the house, and recommend it to our friends. We feel thankful to the lucky propietors for this new remedy. I regret that I cannot reach the ears of the thousands of my friends and acquaintances, scattered over Canada and the States, in order that I might advise them, (as I could with full confidence), to use Pinemalt, when troubled with cold, cough or grippe, or such like ailments. This unsolicited letter you can use in any way you may desire. Yours gratefully, HUGH MCKINNON, Chief of Police."

THE OTTAWA SITUATION.

A despatch received as we go to press states that no announcement as to Sir Mackenzie Bowell's success or failure to reconstruct his cabinet has been made.

LATER.

As we go to press a despatch says that the announcement of the re-construction of the Cabinet was not made in the House this afternoon, but instead Sir A. P. Caron asked an adjournment of the House until to-morrow. Clarke Wallace is now making another statement regarding Sir A. Caron's letter.

PRAISES THE W.C.T.U.

The Quebec Mercury, of a recent date, paid the following compliment to the Women's Temperance Union upon the occasion of the Dominion convention meeting in that city:—"People who sympathize with suffering humanity cannot fail to appreciate the large-hearted and truly Christian spirit of kindness which prompts the members of this noble association in their efforts to benefit those whose condition in life calls in any way for their generous intervention. From every city and town and hamlet, ladies, laying aside their own domestic cares and making a truce with the urgent calls upon their attention, meet in council to devise plans to relieve those who suffer and cannot help themselves. Not content with pecuniary assistance, these warm hearted apostles of charity look ahead to the dangers which beset their wards, and the trials which lie in their path, and their powerful influence is exercised unceasingly and untiringly in the direction of removing obstacles from their way. It would be a tedious task to enumerate the long list of objects which receive their careful attention. In fact, wherever danger lurks, or morality is threatened, their assistance is forthcoming. People who do not follow these matters have no idea or the many pitfalls which are to be found, but nothing seems to escape the increasing vigilance of these deserving ladies. The amount of good they have already done is almost incalculable. Yet they are only getting down in earnest to their work, and their very earnestness is the best guarantee that in the future their usefulness will only be limited by the large field on which it will make itself felt. Christianity has reason to be proud of these workers, and this association is destined to exert an enormous influence for good and to contribute in no small degree to renew the face of the earth, in the way of improving the moral and social condition of many of its toil-worn and drooping millions, and its helpless and friendless sufferers."

No Trouble to Answer Letters

Most people when meditating the purchase of a Piano feel more or less troubled in making a decision. The structure of a Piano is a thing they know so little of.

If you feel this way just write us a line and ask for information. It is no trouble at all to us. It is our business. We are experts of a quarter of a century's standing in the trade. Our stock is large. Our variety of styles is infinite, especially when you consider that we handle many other Canadian and American Pianos than those of our own make. Our prices are moderate, quality considered. Our terms are easy. Our Pianos are exceptional.

Again we say it is no trouble to answer letters, therefore write us and get full particulars.

His Face was a mass of Blotches.

But now his skin is clear as a year old babe's.

Scott's Sarsaparilla his Salvation.

Nothing blights existence like the knowledge that our appearance is repellant to those with whom we come in contact, nor is there any relief like that of feeling that the disfiguring causes have been removed. Says Mr. William Alger: My face on one side was a mass of blotches, some of which were constantly full of matter. I run a bake shop doing my own work, but my face got so bad that customers drifted away. Then I hired a man and went to a doctor. He said my blood was in a horrible condition. I sold my business and moved to the city where Scott's Sarsaparilla was recommended to me. The first bottle did me much good, and after taking five bottles my skin is as clear as possible, and not a sign of my previous disfigurement. I say Scott's Sarsaparilla is the best blood medicine going and am speaking from experience.

Pimples, blotches, boils, ulcers and all diseases arising from vitiated exhaustion and impure blood are radically cured by Scott's Sarsaparilla, a concentrated compound of the finest medicines ever known. Your druggist has it at $1. But get Scott's. The kind that cures.

ALL ABOUT THE FARM.

Swiss Cattle Are Healthy Because They Are Exercised.

Last year a party of English gentlemen visited Switzerland on a public occasion related to the dairy interests. They were much impressed with the Swiss cow and especially the Simmenthaler breed. This fact was made known at the time by quotations from a correspondent in a letter to The Agricultural Gazette of London. Mr. Havemeyer, who has recently made a purchase of these cattle, is quoted in The Farmers' Home as saying that "I have had constantly brought to my attention the fact that owing to persistent inbreeding the stamina and health of many Jerseys were on a yearly decline. The Jersey cow is the ideal butter cow, with the exception of the matter of health. She has been pampered and petted until she is so nervous that the slightest thing puts her off her feed, but she will undoubtedly return under favorable conditions the largest amount of profit for the expense incurred." One of the reasons that the Swiss cow is so hardy, so their friends say, is due to their treatment by Swiss dairymen. They are used to work and after calving are put to drawing manure and the general farm work, not being hard pressed. This gives them exercise, appetite and out-door air. The result is a vigorous cow with good health and not liable to disease. Their milk record is high. Large herds have records of six to seven thousand pounds of milk yearly.

Feeding in Cold Weather.

One of the most interesting experiments with hogs that we have read is given by the Rural World, as having been made several years ago, in Ohio, by Joseph Sullivan. A very large number of hogs were weighed on September 10th and turned into a 40-acre corn field, the corn being in the roasting stage—perhaps in the best condition for fattening hogs—and they remained in that field till October 23d, having eaten down the field. They were again accurately weighed and found to have gained 16,000, or 10 pounds per bushel of corn eaten, estimating the yield at 40 bushels per acre. Then, as an experiment, he selected from the lot 100 hogs, averaging 100 pounds each, placed them in large covered pens with plank floors and troughs and fed them upon corn meal ground in the ear and well steamed. At the end of 10 days they were weighed and found to have gained 20 pounds to each bushel of 70 pounds of meal fed, the weather at this time being mild. They were further fed to test the effect of temperature, and ast he weather became cold the gain was reduced to six and a quarter pounds per bushel, and when the thermometer reached from 5 to 10 degrees below zero they made no gain on all the meal they would eat. The effect of temperature will naturally strike the mind of the reader at once. He will also notice the double gain arising from non-exercise in the pen together with the ground and steamed corn. Two strong points appear—shelter saves food and grinding and cooking corn, combined with ease, comfort and idleness, also saves food.

Stupendous Waste of Heat.

Suppose that all the coal seams which underlie America were made to yield up their stores. Suppose that all the coal fields of England and Scotland, Australia, China and elsewhere were compelled to contribute every combustible particle they contained. Suppose in fact, what we extracted from this earth every ton of coal it possesses. In every island and in every continent. Suppose that this vast store of fuel, which is adequate to supply the wants of this earth for centuries, were to be accumulated in one stupendous pile. Suppose that an army of stokers, arrayed in numbers which we need not now pause to calculate, were employed to throw this coal into the great solar furnace. How long, think you, would so gigantic a mass of fuel maintain the sun's expenditure at its present rate? I am but uttering a deliberate scientific fact when I say that a conflagration which destroyed every particle of coal contained in this earth would not generate so much heat as the sun lavishes abroad to ungrateful space in the tenth part of every single second. During the few minutes that the reader has been occupied over these lines a quantity of heat which is many thousands of times as great as the heat which could be produced by the ignition of all the coal in every coal pit in the globe has been dispersed and totally lost to the sun.—Sir Robert Ball in McClure's Magazine for December.

Lincoln and the Professional Athlete.

Governor Hoyt tells an excellent story illustrating Lincoln's interest in muscle and his involuntary comparison of himself with any man who showed great strength. It was in 1859, after Lincoln had delivered a speech at the State Agricultural Fair of Wisconsin at Milwaukee. The two men were making the rounds of the exhibits and went into a tent to see a "strong man" perform. He went through the ordinary exercises with huge iron balls, tossing them in the air and catching them, and rolling them on his arms and back; and Mr. Lincoln, who evidently had never before seen such a thing, watched him with intense interest, ejaculating under his breath every now and then, "By George! By George!" Whe the performance was over Governor Hoyt, seeing Mr. Lincoln's interest, asked him to go up and be introduced to the athlete. He did so, and as he stood looking down musingly on the fellow, who was very short, and evidently wondering that a man so much shorter than he could be so much stronger, he suddenly broke out with one of his quaint speeches. "Why," he said, "why, I could lick salt off the top of your hat."—McClure's Magazine for December.

LIVE STOCK NOTES.

Disease and disaster are reasonably sure to follow when foods, particularly soft stuffs, are thrown down among the dirt and filth of the floor. It soon sours, and it absorbs a portion of the surrounding filth; on general principles it is a bad practice.

The most promising indication of the future of the sheep industry of this country is to be found in the kind of men who, becoming discouraged at the present depression of prices, have gone out of the business. These are the very class of people who have weighed it down by their ignorance and have swamped the markets by dumping on them a lot of woolly meat unworthy of the name of mutton.

There is now much less grass-fed beef than formerly. Grass will fatten, but it costs less in most places to feed some corn or other grain with it. This also makes better beef, as the animal fattened rapidly is more juicy and tender than one that has taken a long time to put on its flesh and fat. The exception to this is when grain is fed with dry and constipating food to fattening animals in winter. Meat thus made is not so good as that made on grass in summer. The truth is that grain and succulent food should be fed together, as this is necessary to maintain good digestion.

Because sheep act as the scavengers on the farm, that is no reason why their diet should consist wholly of weeds and briars. These may be very good to fill in with, but are hardly sufficiently nutritious. Good pasturage is essential. When fattening a light feed of grain daily will do much for them, and when changing from fresh grass to dry hay on going into winter quarters, a supply of roots should always be provided. The succulence of the roots makes up in a great measure for the loss of moisture in the green grass and thereby avoids diseases likely to be induced by the sudden change of diet. In fact there is no better food for sheep than turnips. Wherever the conditions are favorable for this crop it will pay to grow it for sheep.

It would probably be better, both for the egg producer and the consumer, if none were ever put up for winter use. There is some deterioration of quality in eggs that are preserved by any formula. This detracts from the price of winter eggs by diminishing the demand for them. With good care and feed of fowls eggs can be produced in winter. If only fresh laid eggs were for sale then, the demand would make a price that would well pay the poulterer for this extra care. As it is the limed eggs hold the market down to prices that only pay for limed eggs. The man who tries winter egg production a few years gives it up. He can make more money by letting his hens take their natural course, and when eggs are the cheapest saving them for use in winter. But this, though temporarily profitable, is an injury to the market, and results in fewer eggs being used at any time of year.

Its Cause and Cure

Cold weather, shivering, no heat to sustain, emaciated, because ill-nourished. This is either because the starchy foods are improperly acted upon by the digestive juices or the oily constituents of the food are not assimilated. Cod Liver Oil combined with Maltine and Hypophosphites supplies this deficiency, for the oil, rendered palatable and easy of digestion, is at once assimilated and stored up in the form of adipose tissue. Besides this the maltine renders soluble the starchy foods—whose special function is to supply heat or fatty tissue—thus affording material necessary to supply the waste of the body. Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites is at once a food, body builder, and medicine, incomparably superior to any preparation for the consumptive or debilitated. Verify this by a trial.

Wool Markets in England.

London, Jan. 11.—The purchases of wool for America since the close of the last series of sales have reached 2500 bales. The prospect for the ensuing season are uncertain in view of the recent political developments but the machinery of manufacturers is almost uniformly well employed.

Cable advices from Australia say that the shearing there is finished. According to these advices it is estimated that the total yield will be 170,000 bales less than that of 1895.

Alleged Embezzler Arrested

Boston, Jan. 11.—Allen Z. Mason, president of the Globe Investment Co., was arrested this afternoon on an indictment warrant for embezzlement. The treasurer of the company, J. L. Moore, was arrested some time ago on a similar charge. The company, which dealt largely in western mortgages, has been in charge of a receiver for some time.

A TELEPHONE IN THE STOMACH

Peculiar Phenomena of Human Nature

In an age when that subtle force electricity is presenting wonders to the world almost daily, and the Wizzard of Menlo Park has become the hero of the hour, there seems to be nothing that we may not expect in this direction. But it was not left to an Edison to establish a telephone in the stomach of human beings. The Great Maker of man in the economy of human nature provided such an instrument centuries ago. It is a fact that within the stomach of of every man and woman there is a little instrument that telephones to the nerve centres in the brain as quickly as any food reaches that part. When for any reason this communication is stopped the food is undigested and physical trouble ensues. With word promptly sent from stomach to nerve centres, these supply the necessary juice that aids digestion, and nature successfully does her part, good health is enjoyed and man is able to perform with energy and pleasure his everyday duties. It will happen at times that these nerve centres will become deranged and lose their forces; then it is that a remedy must be supplied, just as the skill of the electrician is necessary when something goes wrong with the office telephone. South American Nervine is the electrician, so far as the human body is concerned. It is a medicine unique and exceptional in this particular that it works directly upon the nerve centres, and when these are out of order it quickly places them in proper repair and completeness. Nearly all diseases, especially indigestion, dyspepsia, nervousness, general debility, sick headache and disordered liver arise through trouble at the nerve centres. You can just as readily count on South American Nervine effecting a proper cure in all such cases as you can depend upon the electrician of the Bell Telephone Co., removing any derangements that has taken place in your telephone. Sold by H. S. McDonald.

R. STEVENSON,
Manager

A business man is not the most patient creature in the world. He cannot stop work every minute to bother with an irritating skin disease, or a hacking cough that insists on breaking into his bargain-making. Neither will he wait to hear any long-drawn-out story of the cause of his ailment. He doesn't care two straws about a fine spun theory of how he should treat himself. He may be predisposed to scrofula, or consumption. "That," he will tell you "has nothing to do with the case." He wants to be well. If he can be cured, write out a prescription and send in your bill. So, here's the first part of the proposition.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a medicine that permeates the whole body as water goes through a sponge. It is a microbe hunter and a microbe killer. It is a well-known fact that many persons of scrofulous blood, encourage the breaking out of unsightly sores, to prevent the disease going to the lungs. There is no need of living in this state of dread and discomfort. Purify the blood. It can be done. The "Golden Medical Discovery" will cure 98 per cent. of all consumptive cases, also of all other lingering, bronchial, throat and lung diseases. Don't allow a druggist to persuade you into taking something that he says is "just as good." Maybe it's better for him—better for his profits. Take the "Golden Medical Discovery"—the greatest discovery of the age. In addition, in order to know yourself better, send to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., 31 one-cent stamps to cover customs and mailing only, and get in return, Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. It is a book of 1008 pages, illustrated, and is full of common sense talk that any one who can read will understand.

And here is the testimony of Mrs. E. E. Endean, of Carey, Ohio, in regard to the "Golden Medical Discovery": "I had a troublesome skin disease. I suffered much from surface sores. Nothing helped me until I tried the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' A year or two later I had lung trouble. Again the 'Discovery' cured me."

MR. & MRS. BOWSER

It was dark, and Mr. Bowser was half an hour late when he reached home the other evening. Mrs. Bowser happened to be looking out of the front window, and she noticed that he had a parcel under his arm and that he left it in the hall. He entered the room with a smile on his face, and though she had considerable curiosity about the package, she did not say a word, knowing that something would surely transpire after the evening meal. After they had finished and he had sat down for his usual smoke, he said:

"Mrs. Bowser, haven't you noticed how much straighter I walk these last two or three weeks?"

"No, I hadn't," she briefly replied.

"I used to carry my head down and droop my shoulders, you know, but I don't do it any more. See what a chest I'm getting on me! Don't you notice how much stronger my voice is. Feel the muscle in my arm!"

"Mr. Bowser, what sort of a notion have you got into your head this time!" she asked.

"Notion! Come, now, don't be foolish. You don't want me to be an old and broken down man at forty, do you? Some men pay out dollars every week for cure-alls, and some save all expense by heeding the laws of health. During the last four weeks Robinson and I have been putting on the gloves over at the office two or three times a day, and the change in me is wonderful. I can expand my chest two inches more than I could six weeks ago."

"Gloves? Gloves? What sort of gloves?" she asked.

"Why, boxing gloves, my dear. Let me get that package. Here they are—two pairs. I thought I'd bring 'em home and have a little turn with Davis this evening."

"I—I don't understand."

"Easy as rolling off a log. Each man puts on a pair, and then we have a little scrap to work up the muscles of the arms, chest and legs. Best exercise in the world. Straightens up the back, braces the shoulders and gives you a new gait. I haven't touched a drop of medicine since I began this exercise."

"But I don't believe any such thing will help you," she replied.

"That's because you are a woman and don't know, you see. Doctors say it's the best thing in the world. Let the girl go over after Davis, and if he isn't at home tell her to ask Johnson to step over. We'll go upstairs and exercise a little. Don't call it a fad, dear. I've had no less than twenty-eight different doctors tell me that it would prolong my life by years. They say that over 100,000 women in the United States now put the gloves on daily."

"I don't believe it!" was Mrs. Bowser's blunt reply, but she told the girl to go over after Davis.

Davis was not at home, and Johnson had gone out for the evening. Mr. Bowser had made up his mind for a "scrap," however, and he put on his overcoat and went over to the grocery to see who he could pick up. He found no one there or at the butcher shop, and was on his way home when a man accosted him with:

"Say, boss, if I can't raise ten cents I'll have to walk the streets to-night."

"Look here," replied Mr. Bowser, as a sudden thought struck him, "have you ever had the gloves on?"

"Do you mean kin I scrap?"

"Yes."

"A little bit, sir."

"I am boxing a little for my health. Perhaps you'd like to put on the gloves with me for a few minutes? If so I wouldn't mind giving you a quarter."

"I shouldn't like to have my jaw broken, sir," said the tramp, as he surveyed Mr. Bowser.

"Oh, No! No! It's just for exercise, you know. You tap me and I tap you. Come in through the kitchen."

Mr. Bowser meant to sneak the man in and up stairs, but Mrs. Bowser caught him at it, and said:

"HE ENTERED THE ROOM WITH A SMILE ON HIS FACE."

"You ought to be ashamed of yourself to pick up a vagabond on the street! It's no wonder that people hold boxing in such disgrace."

"My dear woman," explained Mr. Bowser, "it's all for health—exercise—long life. Instead of punching a bag, I punch a tramp. I want the exercise—he wants the quarter. Any gentleman troubled with indigestion can scrap with a tramp and nothing is thought of it."

"But he may lose his temper and hurt you."

"Lose his temper? Hurt me? Say! I'll have a bit of fun out of it! He shall earn his quarter. At the wind-up I'll cross-counter on him and put him to sleep—ha! ha! ha! Just sit right down and enjoy yourself, and I'll have 15 minutes of good sport."

There were certain incidents connected with the next 20 minutes which Mrs. Bowser may never be posted on. Mr. Bowser took the tramp up into the attic, and he couldn't help but chuckle over the little plan he had in view. The tramp evidently suspected something, for as he peeled off his coat and vest he said:

"See here, boss, you'd better give me that quarter in advance. I may get knocked out, you know, and in the excitement you might forget to pay me."

"Yes, that's so," replied Mr. Bowser, as he turned away his head to hide a grin. "Here's your cash, and now we'll begin. Ah! I see you've been here before. If I bore in on you too much you must say so."

It tickled Mr. Bowser to discover that he could tap the tramp wherever and whenever he pleased, and after five minutes he began to grow aggressive. He thumped the man all about the room, and when they stopped for a breathing spell he was made very proud to hear the words:

"I've had the gloves on with a hundred different men, but you do beat 'em all, sir. You'd stand a good show with either Corbett or Fitzsimmons."

When they set to again there was a twinkle in Mr. Bowser's eye. He was figuring on a clean knock-out, and he was so deeply interested in his scheme that he didn't notice any particular change in the tramp. Perhaps there wasn't any to notice until the man had received two "roakers" on the mouth. Then as Mr. Bowser was fishing to give him a third, he swung his right, and as it landed on the jaw Mr. Bowser dropped like a log and began to snore. In 40 seconds the tramp had the gloves off, his coat and vest on and was down at the front door.

"Is it over?" asked Mrs. Bowser as she came forward.

"Yes'm—all over, except that you'd better go up to him!" replied the tramp as he opened the door and slid out.

Mrs. Bowser went up to the attic. Mr. Bowser, who didn't resemble a Roman gladiator in the least, lay in a bunch on the dusty floor, and when she spoke to him he didn't answer. It was not until she had the camphor bottle and the cook up stairs that he ceased to snore and opened his eyes. Then Mrs. Bowser as she bent over him.

"HE SWUNG HIS RIGHT."

"Where am I?" he faintly asked.

"In the attic."

"And the tramp?"

"He went away ten minutes ago. What did he do to you?"

Mr. Bowser sat up and held his jaw with both hands, and Mrs. Bowser said:

"You may wish to know some things. You brought the tramp up here one night in September. It is now November. It is still the year 1895, however, I don't know what a cross-counter is, but you evidently left yours down stairs while the tramp brought his up with him. If there was any fun he evidently had it all. From the looks of your jaw I should say you'd better call a doctor and have it twisted back into place. Shall we help you down stairs?"

Mr. Bowser slowly got up and looked around him to make sure he was not dreaming. Then he headed the procession down to the second floor. At the door of his bed-room he removed his hands from his jaw and said:

"Woman, I see how it is! You delib-erately——"

Then his jaw gave a click and his emotions overcame him and he entered the room and shut the door.

"What happened him, ma'am?" whispered the cook as they went down to the sitting-room.

"He was looking for health," replied Mrs. Bowser.

"Then he must have found it, ma'am, for there's a lump on his jaw as big as a bar of soap, and I'm sure I heard most of his teeth rattling around like buttons in a box!"

One Honest Man.

Dear Editor:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially I will mail in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell, and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. Perfect secrecy assured. Address with stamp:—Mr. Edward Lambert. P. O Box 55, Jarvis, Ont.

And so this store swings into the dull days after Xmas.

Why "dull days?"—just because merchants, as a rule, go to sleep then. We do not know of a dull or sleepy place in the store. Every department is booming with interesting things.

Owing to the unfavourable condition of the weather on and about Xmas, we are carrying a few more Fur Coats and Robes than we want to at this season of the year, and are offering SPECIAL REDUCTIONS in these particular lines of goods.

Ladies' Furs.—Our stock is pretty well broken up, but we have some choice CAPES in stock at present; and in a few days will have made up the sizes we are sold out of, and will be able to again present a full range.

The present weather is forcing you to decide whether you will buy warm furs or go shivering, shaking and sneezing—all because of improper clothing; and that, too, when we have done more than ever to buy the softest, warmest and best furs that were ever produced, so close to your pocket-books that quarters will reach where dollars used to fall short.

Never in the history of the fur trade have furs been sold so cheap. With the exception of some fur bearing animals that are becoming extinct, Good Furs are always a good investment and will bring their value in wear or in money.

"JAMESON'S RIDE."

Wrong? Is it wrong? Well, may be,
But I m going, boys, all the same;
Do they think me a Burgher's baby
To be scared by a scolding dame?
They may arrue and prate and order;
Go tell them to save their breath.
Thes over the Transvaal border,
And gallop for life or death.

Right sweet is the marksman's rattle,
And sweeter the cannon's roar,
But 'tis bitterly hard to battle,
Bamagured and one to four.
I can tell you it wasn't a trifle
To swarm over Krugerdorpglen,
As they plied us with round and rifle,
And p ughed us again and again.

I suppose we were wrong—were madmen;
Still I think at the judgment day,
When God sifts the good from the bad men,
There'll be something more to say.
We were wrong, but we aren't half sorry,
And as one of the baffled band,
I would rather have had that foray
Than the crushings of all the Rand.

ALFRED TEROUX,

THIS IS LEAP YEAR.

And Apropos of the Occasion is a Little Sermon.

Every woman who marries during the coming year will have to bear the laughter of her friends, who will insinuatingly say: "Yes, '96 is leap year." There is one respect in which no amount of up-to-date training seems to be able to affect a change in the average woman. A morbid dread of becoming an old maid seems almost uneradicable in the usual feminine breast, and the spur of this dread is responsible for much of the matrimonial unhappiness with which the world seems to be filled. Many a girl looks on marriage as a vocation, who has never thought of the duties it involves and I think for a woman to fail to make and keep a home happy is to be a "failure" in a truer sense than to have failed to catch a husband.

Many a girl has been hurried into marriage by the dread of being called an "old maid" who has repented the step to her dying day. Let mothers teach their daughters that, although a well-assorted marriage based upon mutual love and esteem, as Taffy's marriage was, may be the happiest calling for a woman, yet the marriage brings its peculiar trials as well as special joys, and that is quite possible for a woman to be both useful and happy, although youth be fled, and the crowning joys of life—wife and motherhood—have passed her by, or been voluntarily surrendered.

Of course, the most blessed position in life for any woman is that of the wife and mother, but deprived of these high privileges there is no reason why a woman should not build her single life into rare and noble structure, whose beauty may give strength and happiness to all around her.

Who does not know "old maids" who are the light and stay of homes darkened by sorrow and tottering by the strokes of affliction? "Auntie" is respected and beloved by her nephews and nieces, for she has ceased to think of her own happiness, and is always planning for the good of others. She is not soured by celibacy, but sheds upon all who come in her way the sweetness of good temper and the light of practical wisdom.

IMPORT DUTY ON LOGS.

Michigan Lumbermen Excited Over the Proposal to Impose a Tax on Canadian Logs.

Bay City, Mich., Jan. 10.—How the tariff is to be adjusted between the United States and Canada in the new bill is a matter of vast importance to Bay City. Mr. Thomas Pitts, at the head of Messrs. Pitts & Co., also heavy importers of logs, says:—"Between 200,000,000 and 300,000,000 feet of logs are annually imported from Canada. I am satisfied that, if our government puts an import duty on logs, we would have to shut down and throw our men out of employment. It would compel us to go to Canada to manufacture our lumber and, on account of the import duty here, we would have to seek other markets for our lumber than the United States. Michigan lumbermen have become largely interested in Canadian timber limits, and it would prove a serious blow to the state. Along this coast from Saginaw to Cheboygan it would turn 20,000 men out of employment that earn annually in the neighbourhood of $5,500,000. One hundred and fifty million feet of the coarse lumber is also worked up by factories along the coast annually that employ hundreds of men, all of whom would also be thrown out of work. It requires no genius to foretell what the consequences would be."

Very Hard Indeed.

There are so many things that appear unnecessary, and which for the life of us can see neither purpose nor end. It may be corns are just one of those thorns in the flesh the why and the wherefore of which we cannot see. Nevertheless they are of the kind that are easily removed. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor makes short work of them. Try it and see how nicely it coaxes them out. Use none other than Putnam's Corn Extractor. Sold by druggists.

DEATH OF MR. C. W. BUNTING

The Well-Known Managing Director of The Mail and Empire Succumbs After a Long Illness.

Toronto, Jan. 14.

Mr. Christopher W. Bunting passed away at 12.30 o'cock this morning. While his death was not unexpected, its occurrence at the present time is tinged with peculiar sadness, in that his only daughter was married on Saturday and is now on her wedding tour. Mr. Bunting's malady was Bright's disease. Three or four weeks ago it was announced that he would not recover, but he rallied after a week's struggle and was able to sit up. He continued in a hopeful condition, and his daughter's marriage was celebrated. On the day after (Sunday) he took a turn for the worse and continued to sink until his suffering was relieved by death. He was an able, popular and distinguished man, of whom no one had an ill word to say.

The late Mr. Bunting was born at Amigan, Limerick, Ireland, in September 1837. He was the son of a land owner there, but when his father died the family were left in difficulties and, as a boy, he emigrated to this country with his mother and sister. At an early age he went into The Globe office to learn his trade as a printer. The Globe was then at the height of its influence under the management of Hon. George Brown and his brother Gordon, and young Bunting became foreman of the composing room before the term of his apprenticeship had expired. At the same time he did reporting work and became familiar with the editorial end of newspaper work. About the same time he became actively identified with the Masonic order. He was a member of King Solomon Lodge. He was master of it in the years 1864-65. He acted on the committee which adjusted the finances of the order in Toronto and built the Masonic Hall in Toronto-street.

Leaving The Globe he went into the wholesale grocery business with Smith & Co., subsequently he was employed with the firm of John Boyd & Co., and made a partner. Then he formed the firm of Bailey & Bunting, sugar importers, doing business at Toronto and St. Catharines. The firm was largely interested in the West India trade, and when Sir Richard Cartwright as Finance Minister in the Mackenzie Government, proposed certain changes in the sugar duties, he went down to Ottawa and was so successful in his negotiations that the tariff on this commodity was adjusted on the basis of his suggestions.

In 1878 the late John Riordon, having purchased The Mail, asked him to become its managing director; he accepted the position, and in the same year he contested Welland in the interests of the Conservative party and was successful. He sat at Ottawa for four years and in the elections of 1882 he, at the request of Sir John A. Macdonald, contested West Durham. He was defeated by Hon. Edward Blake, the majority being small. Then Mr. Bunting retired from politics. In February, 1887, The Mail, under his management, bolted from the Conservative party and was repudiated by Sir John A. Macdonald.

Mr. Bunting was president of the Irish Protestant Benevolent Society, and a member of St. James' Cathedral. His wife was Miss Mary Elizabeth Ellis, daughter of Mr. J. E. Ellis, and he leaves five sons and one daughter.

They are Mrs. Dr. Yates, nee Miss Alice Bunting, and Messrs. George, William, Christopher, John and Sidney Bunting.

Mr. Bunting first became ill on September 21, with a heavy cold. He was ordered South and went to Nashville, Tenn., where Bright's disease developed and he came home to die on Dec 19.

Socially the deceased was one of the most popular of men, and will be very widely mourned.

GRATIFICATION SALE

PREPARATORY TO STOCK-TAKING!

Our gratification for the successful business which our two big stores have been favoured with during the year just closed, is oozing out of every pore.

Our bounding enthusiasm urges us—perhaps rashly—to making our January business something phenomenal—something better and greater than anything in the past! Besides—

It's Price-Pruning Time, Previous to Taking Stock.

That usually means selling at about cost, but we mean to crowd bnsiness by crowding down prices away below anything you've ever known before.

The whole of our immense stock of Men's, Youth's and Boy's Clothing, Furnishings, Hats, Boots and Shoes, &c., have been marked down for immediate sale to prices that will make the whole Town and Country ring with the startling news!

Our Prices are Dwarfs! Our Values are Giants!

You lucky fellows who have been waiting for the cold weather, have struck it rich! Don't let go of that mighty dollar until you have seen what we are doing in the way of cut prices on Suits, Overcoats, Underwear, Hats and Boots.

The season is almost over with us, but it is only beginning with you. Gough Bros. don't propose to permit an accummulation of stock from season to season—even if it should take to clear the decks. We reign to-day, sure! We are very much alive to the sacrifices we are making, and we haven't lost our heads either.

Every table abounds with Bargains—every Price has been clipped a third or more—and you can't find such Prices at other stores, because you can't gather figs off thistles.

A Big Trade IN GROCERIES.

Our Interest is to save you money. We are always planning for special activity and brisk sales—so that it is no wonder we have a big trade. We have to buy close, of course, in order to sell at such close prices.

While our sales of Fine Groceries, Provisions and Liquors during the Holiday season were extraordinarily heavy, we have replenished our stock and are fully prepared to meet all the demands of our patrons.

No need to tell Housekeepers and others that what we keep in stock is always fresh and pure, and the best that can be procured.

WEST HURON ALSO.

Mr. Cameron Returned by a Handsome Majority.

ANOTHER CAIN FOR THE LIBERALS

The Figures Not All Available Last Night—Liberal Rejoicing at Goderich and Clinton—The Returns as Far as They Could be Secured.

Goderich, Ont., Jan. 14.—The town is full of excitement over the victory secured by Mr. M. C. Cameron in West Huron.

As soon as the returns were in, a crowded meeting was held in the Temperance Hall. Mr. D. McGillicuddy, president of the West Huron Reform Association, occupied the chair, and addresses were delivered by Messrs. Frank Pedley and Peter Ryan of Toronto; Mayor Holmes of Clinton, and John A. Barron, ex-M.P. of Lindsay.

When Mr. Cameron appeared there was the wildest enthusiasm, and it was some time before he was allowed to proceed, so deafening were the cheers. He thanked all those who had assisted him in the contest, and also paid a tribute to the Conservatives who, in the interest of good government, had broken away from party lines.

He felt that the result of the contest was one that was not only gratifying to himself, but to the Liberals of Huron and of the Dominion at large. He thanked the noble band of outside speakers who had volunteered their services on the present occasion to endeavor to secure the victory, and who had done so in the interests of the Liberal party, because of the benefit that would accrue to the party by his assistance in the House. The Young Liberals of the town had also done yeoman service, and he hoped they would increase and prosper so that new victories for Liberalism might be won. The fight in West Huron was not a local one, but one in which the entire Dominion took a great interest, as the victory here would undoubtedly prove a heavy blow to the present staggering Government. He would be in Ottawa as soon as the returning officer gave his certificate, and would do again, as he had done in the past, all in his power to advance the cause of good government in Canada. He closed a brilliant address amidst loud and prolonged cheers.

The meeting closed with cheers for Mr. Cameron, Mr. Laurier and the Queen.

The figures are incomplete, but are given as far as received. Three subdivisions in the town of Goderich have failed to return figures owing to some hitch. It is said Mr. Cameron's majority in the town is 15. Two sub-divisions in Goderich Township cannot be heard from to-night. As far as received the following are the returns:

Majority for Cameron 215.

Clinton's Response.

Clinton, Jan 14.—Excitement runs high here to-night, and the Liberals are jubilant over the return of their "war horse," Mr. M. C. Cameron. His majority will be about 250. Returns have come in slowly, owing to some of the roads being impassable. Two polling places in the great Tory township of Goderich gave Mr. Weismiller but 9, instead of the usual majority of about 80. Clinton gave Mr. Cameron 77 of a majority, being the largest gain of any place in the riding, and also the largest Liberal majority ever given in a Dominion election by Clinton.

HARMONY RESTORED WITH A CLUB

Fear of a New Rule—A Quarrel Between Mr. Wallace and Dr. Montague—Interview With Sir Charles Tupper—The Situation at the Capital.

Ottawa, Jan. 14.—The political crisis is pretty much where it was last night—in the realm of doubt and uncertainty. It is still the intention to pach up, as indicated last night, but to say, as the party organs do, that harmony has been restored, or even order, is to travesty the glaring facts of the situation. The first harmonious chord of the reconstructed Cabinet organ was struck by Premier Bowell, who insists that Mr. George E. Foster shall be degraded and not again occupy the portfolio of finance. Whether the Premier believes Mr. Foster to be under a cloud of deficits out of all proportion to his glowing predictions of a buoyant revenue or not, it is a fact that he is holding out for Sir Charles Tupper as Minister of Finance. This would, if successful, humiliate Mr. Foster properly and also require Sir Charles to seek a constituency for the House of Commons immediately. Perhaps the best proof of harmony is found in an interview with Sir Charles Tupper, published yesterday by the Ministerial press, as follows: Sir Charles Tupper said: "At the request of Mr. Taylor, the Conservative whip, who brought me a message saying that Sir Mackenzie Bowell would like to see me, I waited upon the Premier yesterday at 3 oclock. I said I had gathered from Mr. Taylor that he (Sir Mackenzie) would be willing to take back the gentlemen who had retired from his Cabinet, together with myself, with the understanding that shortly after the address had been passed he would propose that I should be sent for to reorganize the Government. Sir Mackenzie said that Mr. Taylor was mistaken in supposing he was prepared to receive back the whole of the gentlemen who had retired from the Government, as there were three gentlemen—Messrs. Foster, Haggart and Montague—with whom he could not serve in the Government. He was quite ready, he said, however, to take in the remaining gentlemen, including my son. I told him that so far as my son was concerned, from the moment that it was proposed I should become leader of the Conservative party, he informed me that in such a contingency he could not be a member of the Cabinet, a decision in which I entirely concurred. I assured Sir Mackenzie that I had approached the consideration of the question wholly from the standpoint of altogether subordinating every personal and private consideration to the exigency of what I believed the party and the best interests of the country required; that if I were prepared under those circumstances to enter his Government, I thought he, animated by the same considerations, ought not to allow his personal feelings towards any gentleman to influence him. The only thing, I said, that could induce me to reenter Parliamentary life at all was the belief that an overwhelming proportion of the Conservative party in Canada believed that I could be of great service to the country in the present emergency by taking the leadership; that I thought he would be animated by the same feeling, that of considering alone what the interests of the party demanded, and that the only inducement I could possibly have to enter his Government, even temporarily, would be to reunite and consolidate the great body to which we belonged, and which had acomplished so much for Canada. That object would not only not be attained, but would be absolutely defeated by his refusing to receive gentlemen who were regarded throughout Canada as among the ablest members of the party, and I expressed my regret that, under the circumstances, I would not be able to submit for their consideration the proposal that he was prepared to make."

"Did you gather the impression that Sir Mackenzie's decision not to serve in the Government with these gentlemen was irrevocable?"

"The whole discussion between us," said Sir Charles, in reply, "turned upon the fact of his refusing to serve with the three gentlemen named. As I have already said, the statement made to me was that he was prepared to admit all of these men who had retired, He did not so state to me, however, but qualified it in the manner I have indicated. We separated with that difference of opinion between us."

Here is harmony, indeed! Sir Mackenzie gives in, however, but says "Mr. Foster may come back, but he shall not be Finance Minister." The statement is most useful, however. For Sir Charles Tupper to report the proceedings of a confidential interview with the Prime Minister respecting his aversion to his colleagues argues an utter absence of political sagacity or even ordinary prudence. Yet it is to this old man that the Conservative party are now asked to look for a chance of salvation in the elections. Sir Charles Tupper is in feeble health, and will probably go but seldom on the stump. He will cut a poor figure as the leader in the general elections. He is wanted for some ulterior purpose. The public must not imagine for one moment that the party in Parliament are concerned about the difference between an old man of 72 and another old man of 75. The great question is that by a change the Government might be relieved of their embarrassing coercion policy, or a great portion of it.

A coercion bill was drafted by the Government, printed and put through Council, but they are now afraid of it, and shrink from introducing even the ghost of it. It is said that the proposed reconstruction of the Cabinet to be consummated to-morrow is only temporary. One Conservative statement is that Sir Mackenzie Bowell will resign immediately after the address is adopted. Another Conservative statement is that he will resign at the close of the session.

There is one more letter in connection with the anonymous letter incident, which saw the light to-day. It reads as follows:

"Government House.
"Ottawa, Jan. 13, 1896.

"Dear Sir Adolphe Caron,—I am very glad indeed to see correspondence between yourself and Dr. Montague, which implies a mutual settlement in every way creditable to both. I trust that the unfortunate episode referred to is now finally disposed of, and I am sure that this must be a great satisfaction to yourself, in view especially of the annoyance inseparable from such an affair. I am very faithfully yours, (Signed) ABERDEEN."

THE COMMONS.

Mr. McCarthy to the Front with Several Bills—Mr. Wallace and Dr. Montague Have a Tilt.

Ottawa, Jan. 14.—The Speaker took the chair at 3 o'clock.

Mr. McCarthy introduced a bill to amend the Dominion Elections Act. The bill is the same as that introduced last session by him, and it is for the purpose of making it plain that railway companies shall not furnish passes to enable electors to attend at the polls. The bill is also intended to prevent what is commonly known as "plugging," and to give facilities for the arrest of personators. The bill was read a first time.

Mr. McCarthy introduced a bill to amend the Northwest Territories Act. Its object is to confer upon the legislative assemblies of the Northwest Territories full and complete power in the matter of education. The bill was read a first time.

Mr. McCarthy introduced a bill to amend the act respecting the House of Commons. The important provision of the bill, he said, was that when a vacancy occurred in the House of Commons the effect of the Speaker's warrant should not be delayed or intercepted by the failure of the Government to name a day for the election and to appoint a returning officer. The bill provides that if the Government does not appoint a day within a certain time after, the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery should direct his writ to the sheriff, or, if there be more than one sheriff in the county, to one of the sheriffs, and that the elections should take place within a given time. The object was to prevent the abuse which he was sorry to say had prevailed under the present law. There had been elections fixed by the Government with reference only to their own interest, or what they supposed to be their interest, and without the slightest regard to the power of this Parliament. The bill was read a first time

Mr. Rider introduced a bill to facilitate voting by employes at the elections of members of the House of Commons.

The bill was read a first time.

On the orders of the day being called, Sir Adolphe Caron rose and said: Before the orders of the day are called I desire to express my regret that I am not in a position to-day to make a final announcement in reference to the reconstruction of the Cabinet. The negotiations are almost completed, and to-morrow at 3 o'clock, when the House meets, I have no doubt I shall be in a position to announce definitely that the Cabinet is reconstructed. I move that the House do now adjourn.

Mr. Wallace before the motion could be put said: Before the House adjourns I wish to make a statement. An article in the Mail and Empire on Saturday last in which reference was made to the anonymous letters, attention to which has been called in this House. In that article it is stated that there is one man in this country who has particular reasons to feel uneasy. I have been told by several members of the House of Commons that it has been freely stated that I am the one man referred to in the article which has appeared in The Mail and Empire.

From the rumors that are industriously circulated and what has previously appeared in print, I have come to the conclusion that there is no doubt that I am the person alluded to and aimed at in the statement which I have just read, and I have, further, no doubt from what I have heard, but I make the statement subject to contradiction, that these rumors and the statement in the Government organs have originated with the Minister of Railways and Canals. I allude to the hon. member for Haldimand (Dr. Montague), who, I understand, is Minister of Railways and Canals to-day. (Laughter.) Under these circumstances I have deemed it right to add to the formal and explicit denial that I gave to the House respecting these anonymous letters on Thursday last a full statement of all the facts and circumstances in connection therewith that have come to my knowledge.

Sometime in the latter part of June or in the early part of the month of July last, as I was returning home from the House of Commons, I was accosted by Sir Adolphe Caron, then Postmaster-General. He told me that there was a conspiracy of the vilest kind against him for the purpose of driving him out of the Government and ruining his character. He went on to explain that this conspiracy had been carried out by the writing of an anonymous letter to the Prime Minister, which charged him with having received the bribe in connection with the Montreal Belt Line Railway of $15,000 or $20,000. In answer to my enquiries he stated that he suspected Haggart and Montague, to use his own words, of "being at the bottom of it." (Opposition laughter and cheers.) I asked him why Haggart or Montague should seek in this way to ruin him, to which he replied that sometime previous to the receipt of the anonymous letter he and the then Minister of Railways and Canals had

THIS WEEK

Will arrive in Peterborough direct from the Factory. Our sales during the Holiday season have been so large that our stock must be increased at once.

The new Pianos will consist of some of the very Highest Class Instruments of different styles made in our Factory, and are fully guaranteed for Five years. Prices will range from $250 to $1000.

In January, as in other months of the year, you should be just as particular in buying a Piano. Come to us and get absolutely the best Piano values in the country.

Most dealers charge too much for a Piano because they pay too much for it themselves.

SMALL STRINGED MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS and SHEET MUSIC always in stock at very moderate prices.

WORLD'S C. E. PRAYER CHAIN—SUBJECT OF PRAYER FOR JANUARY.

"That churches and young people's societies and individual Christians everywhere may receive the in-dwelling Holy Spirit, and that the week of prayer and subsequent weeks of the month may be marked by a great ingathering into the kingdom of the Lord Jesus Christ."

Four new links were added to our chain this week. Any person in town or county wishing to join can do so by sending a postage stamp, with their name, to the editor of this column, box 865.

KEENE C. L. OF C. E.

Compliant with a request from the senior society, the juniors took charge of the meeting on Tuesday evening, Dec. 24th. The president, Mabel Harrison, occupied the chair. After singing Hymn 249, Rev. Mr. Liddy led in prayer. Irene Shaw led in the reading of Matt. ii., 1.12, after which the children sang "Look up, Lift up." The story of the first Christmas morning at Bethlehem was then read by Duncan McGregor, followed by a very pretty little duet, sung by Mary Wedlock and Irene Shaw. An essay, "The Wise Men," by John Hewie, the singing of "The Manger Song," another essay, "Some of the Prophecies" and a Bible drill, by Percy Campbell, a solo from Etta Edwards, and a recitation, "The Star of Bethlehem," by Jennie McGregor, followed by a motion song from the children, filled out the first part of the programme. Susie Campbell conducted the prayer meeting.

After the "Roll Call" and the taking up of the collection, while the children sang "Dropping Pennies," a social ten minutes was allowed, and so that all might carry away with them sweet memories of the meeting, the juniors gave to each one present a bag of candies. After singing Hymn 16, we were dismissed with the "Mispah benediction.

COUNTY ENDEAVOURERS

I have received an invitation for you to attend the Endeavour day celebration to be held in St. Andrew's church on Feb. 3rd. The celebration is to be conducted by the societies of the local union. This is the only means I have of extending the invitation to you individually and hope you will accept it as readily as if a letter was addressed to you personally. Come and bring your friends and help to make this a celebration worthy of the name of Endeavour. Sincerely yours,

T. H. MARTIN,
County Sec.

ST. PAUL'S SOCIETY.

The monthly business meeting was held on Monday night. Every committee reported work done and all the reports were encouraging. The Relief Committee distributed 23 baskets as a Christmas cheer. The junior department distributed 13 baskets. The Lookout reports better attendance and more interesting meetings during the past month. The last portion of meeting was devoted to topic, Miss Finute leading. Mr. Gilchrist gave an enthusiastic address on "Points and Power of Ambition," after which a number of members took part. Next Monday the meeting will be held in the Sunday school room. A social hour will be spent after the prayer meeting service. The Sunday morning prayer meeting, held in the Sunday school room, is for both old and young and is a season of refreshing.

SMITH.

Surprise and Presentation.

From Our Own Correspondent.

It had been arranged by the Young People of Gilmour Memorial Baptist church, Smith, to present their pastor and his wife with some suitable gift at the holiday season, but as both were away at that time it was deferred until the evening of Jan. 6th. About fifty of the young people with well-filled baskets, gathered at the church in the early evening, and together made their way to the pastor's residence. They were met at the door by Mrs. McLeod, and all were cordially invited inside, where they were soon made to feel at home. A short time was spent in a social chat, and Mr. McLeod gave a select reading. Just previous to serving refreshments Miss McGregor came forward and presented Mr. and Mrs. McLeod with a study chair and a couch, together with the following:

ADDRESS.

DEAR PASTOR,—We, the members of the Y. P. S. C. E. of the Gilmour Memorial Baptist Church, do realise to some extent the deep and untiring interest which you have taken in us, both as a society and as individuals. We have, therefore, appreciated your efforts for our development in spiritual things, and feel that we have been deeply benefited by your kindly guidance and instruction. We feel also that the interest shown has not only been thoughtful and unceasing but entirely unselfish, and we know that our success as a society has been due largely to your earnestness and activity. We have felt, especially of late, that these spiritual blessings and influences have been largely the result of the power which a consecrated and praying pastor has with our Heavenly Father; and although we have often failed in doing all we might have done, yet our hearts' desire is that we may all be earnest labourers together with God.

And Mrs. McLeod:—We have also observed in you the true qualities which go to make a true pastor's wife, and the kindly influence which you have had, not only in your home, but among us as young people, that shall not soon be forgotten. Although other duties have prevented you from mingling with us, we feel that we have your sympathy and prayers.

We take, therefore, this opportunity that this glad season affords us to present to you this study chair and couch as a slight token of the esteem in which you are held by us all, hoping that as you enjoy their comfort you may be reminded of the good wishes of your young people, not only for a happy and prosperous New Year but many of them; and our earnest prayer is that God may bless and watch over you in all your future lives, which, we hope, may be long spared to help us on in this great and noble work "For Christ and the Church."

Signed on behalf of the Society.
EVA MANN,
FRED. SCOTT,
C. F. KEVILLE,
ROSABEL MCGREGOR.

Mr. McLeod replied in behalf of Mrs. McLeod and himself, in the following words:

My dear young people, I really don't know what to say, in regard to your kind words and gifts. The whole matter is a very unexpected pleasure, and I am sure entirely undeserved on my part. I wish in behalf of Mrs. Mcleod and myself, to thank you, not only for the gift, but for the kind words. The beautiful gifts, we prize very much, still far above these we prize your kind words. It is a great pleasure to know that our work and words are appreciated by you. The thoughts of this will be a great help to me in the coming year. My prayer is, that this coming together may result in much good. Again I wish to thank you. It will be our effort to do all we can to help you in any way that lies in our power. We would have you consider this home yours, as well as ours, and that it is open to you at all times, and if at any time, any of you wish to consult or ask advice of me about any thing, I will be only to glad to help you in any way that I can.

After refreshments had been served, an hour or two was spent in recitations, readings, songs etc. A very pleasant and enjoyable evening was brought to a close, by singing "God be with you till we meet again," and prayer by Rev. Mr. McLeod.

DROPSY A KIDNEY DISEASE.

Complications of the Circulation With the Kidneys.

Which Explains Why Dodd's Kidney Pills are so Effectual a Remedy for Dropsy.

In any congested or inflamed condition of the kidneys the blood passing through them is obstructed or dammed back.

This may result from a cold, a strain, a shock or an injury.

Or it may be incipient Bright's disease, which is a condition of inflammation from stage to stage of its deadly progress.

But the obstruction obstructs and the forceful heart beats put such a strain or pressure upon the arteries between the heart and the swollen kidney filters that watery particles ooze through their walls and dropsy results.

Everyone understands the fatal nature of dropsy and everyone may know by this means how it all happens.

The moment the kidneys are helped to do their work by the great kidney treatment—Dodd's Kidney Pills—the obstructions are removed.

The pressure no longer adds to the oozing through—natural absorption occurs, and the patient gets well.

It is simple. It is true. It saves the life, and it is meant for the poor as well as the rich.

and sharp differences as to the composition of the Cabinet. (Renewed Opposition cheers and laughter.) And Sir Adolphe Caron had added that he was looking 'round to try and ascertain who it was that harbored such feelings against him as would make them resort to such means to ruin him, and he could think of no others than Haggart and Montague. He said that he had obtained affidavits and papers and had cleared himself from the imputations contained in the letter to the satisfaction of both His Excellency the Governor-General and the Prime Minister. He proposed to bring the anonymous letter down and the letters and papers which had satisfied the Governor-General and Sir Mackenzie Bowell that he was innocent of the charge made in it. I had not heard anything of this matter prior to this interview, nor had I, in fact, seen Sir Adolphe Caron except casually, in connection with my departmental business. A day or two afterwards he brought me to his room in the House and showed me the anonymous letter and also the other documents, which he read to me and asked me as to whether I had any opinion as to the writer of the anonymous letter. I saw the letter then for the first time, and I was impressed with the idea that the letter was in the handwriting of Dr. Montague.

Dr. Montague, sarcastically, hear, hear.

This opinion I mentioned to Sir Adolphe Caron, saying that I thought his suspicions were correct. The next that took place in connection with the matter was Sir Adolphe Caron coming to my office with the letter and asking me to compare it with the letters which I had in my department from Dr. Montague.

This I did, and became more firmly convinced than ever the anonymous communication was in Dr. Montague's handwriting.

Dr. Montague, ironically, hear, hear.

He suggested that it would be better to have the letter submitted to an expert in handwriting, and I, with his knowledge and at his request, showed the letter to gentlemen whose names I do not feel at liberty to mention without their consent, but who are perfectly well known to Sir Adolphe Caron. They were of the opinion, without a doubt, that the anonymous letter was written by Dr. Montague, and they came to this conclusion on the comparison of Dr. Montague's letters, which were then submitted to them. Sir Adolphe Caron was not yet satisfied, and he suggested that it would be better to have the opinion of the best expert that could be procured. He ascertained that Mr. Ames of New York was an expert in the matter of handwriting, well-known and much thought of, and a man of the highest reputation in his profession. Sir Adolphe Caron caused a photographic copy of the anonymous letter and six letters which undoubtedly were written by Dr. Montague to be sent to Mr. Ames for the purpose of ascertaining from him whether, in his opinion, the writer of the six letters was the writer of the anonymous letter. These six letters I have now in my hand and they are subject to the inspection of Dr. Montague, or of any hon. member of the House who desires to see them. And if deemed proper they will be laid upon the table of the House, but, as some of them are private in their nature, I do not feel at liberty to do that without the consent of the writer.

Mr. Wallace then read extracts from a report furnished by Mr. Ames, concerning the letters, in which he gave the opinion that the six letters and the anonymous letter were written by the same hand, and recited the technical reasons upon which his conclusion was based. Continuing, he said: I heard nothing more about the matter until some time toward the end of November or beginning of December, when Sir Adolphe Caron told me that another letter similar in character and purport to the one of December, 1894, had been sent to the Prime Minister, and he said it was in the same handwriting as the first letter, and in the second page the disguise was apparently thrown off. He showed me the second anonymous letter and was clearly of the opinion that it was also in the handwriting of Dr. Montague. (Dr. Montague, ironically, hear, hear.) And Sir Adolphe Caron told me he intended to submit it to Mr. Ames.

I have only to add that when Sir Adolphe Caron told me that he had reason to suspect Messrs. Haggart and Montague of being the instigators or writers of the anonymous letters, it recalled to my recollection that somewhere about the time Sir Mackenzie Bowell's Government was formed, Mr. Haggart came to my office—quite an unusual thing for him to do, for there had been nothing more than official intercourse between us prior to that time—and expressed the greatest hostility toward Sir Adolphe Caron, using very violent language in regard to him, and saying he ought to be driven out of the Government.

I may conclude by saying that I felt bound under all the circumstances and the evident attempt that has been made by Dr. Montague and his friends to shift the odium of these anonymous communications to me to make this statement, and I must positively assert that there is not a pretext for charging or insinuating that I had anything to do, directly or indirectly, with the writing of either of these communications.

Dr. Montague: I exceedingly regret that under present circumstances and at this particular juncture, Parliament should be troubled by the Hon. member for West York (Mr. Wallace) dealing with this matter as he has thought fit to deal with it this afternoon, and more particularly do I regret it since it appears to me that the attitude the hon. member for West York has assumed this afternoon can be taken as nothing more nor less than an insult to His Excellency the Governor-General—(Liberal "Oh, oh's")—before whom this matter has been placed in its entirety, and who has absolved me and who has expressed his most perfect confidence in me, and no Governor-General, much less Lord Aberdeen, would express confidence in any Privy Councillor against whom a taint of suspicion such as this could be found to exist. (Ministerial cheers.) For my part I stood before Parliament the moment this charge was made as confident that when the facts were known I would be shown to be entirely absolved as I am that I stand here to-day. I knew, sir, from almost the very first, the hostility that had prompted the conspiracy to ruin me in the eyes of the citizens of the country. I knew that the attack upon me was not instigated by Sir Adolphe Caron, with whom I am glad to say I have always been on the most friendly terms, and did I possess the meanness within me to do such an act, there was not within me, nor within sight, the motive to say a word against Sir Adophe Caron in his connection with the Government or his place in this House. (Conservative cheers.) Sir, it is a serious thing to charge any man with a conspiracy in this regard until you have the absolute facts under your finger to make the charge. I do not think now that there is any necessity whatever of my making that charge. Am I the uncomfortable man to-day in this Parliament with regard to this anonymous letter? I think Parliament will say I am not. Am I the gentleman asking the privilege of raising this question for the purpose of casting off any insinuation? No, but another member of this House seeks the ear of the House. What for? For the purpose of attacking me without making a direct attack, or for the purpose of throwing off against himself the insinuations which seemed to hurt him, which seemed to cut to the quick. Sir, what is the statement that has been made here to-day by the member for West York? Is it not this: That when Sir Adolphe Caron went to the member for West York he called his attention to the fact that it was my handwriting. What motive did the member for West York have for this? Is it not the same motive which prompted the man who wrote that anonymous letter and endeavored to fasten the charge upon me, the motive of desiring to ruin a man who, whatever his faults may have been, has done his best upon the platform of the country for the party to which he belongs and for the principles which he has held? (Cheers.) I appeal to my hon. friends opposite. I have hit them as hard as my poor ability would admit, but there is not a man of them in this House to-day who will say that I have ever hit below the belt, either in this House or upon the platform; that I have ever yet done an act which should bring a blush of shame to the face of any man who is proud of his position as a Canadian in the public life of his country. After this matter had gone to His Excellency, after His Excellency had looked into the matter as between Sir Adolphe Caron and myself, I think, in obedience to the rules of decency, in obedience to the rules of respect in which we should hold the representative of Her Majesty, and in obedience to the rules of respect which should guide one member of this House towards another, it might well have been let rest until the courts may deal with it, until the courts will deal with it. And men are afraid that the courts will deal with it, for when I came to engage a counsel in Toronto to deal with it, the best criminal counsel in the province of Ontario, I found that the member for West York had engaged him in advance. (Laughter and cheers.) I have only to say this, that this subject will be dealt with in the courts and I have to say that, when the photographs of these letters are distributed to members of this House and are printed in the press of this country, there is not a man in Canada, expert or not expert, who will say that there is a trace of resemblance between my handwriting and the writing of those anonymous letters, and to wish to God, for the honor of this House and for the honor of Canadian public life, that another man in this House could say the same thing. (Cheers.)

Sir Adolphe Caron expressed regret that the matter had again been brought up.

Mr. Laurier said he had no intention of alluding to the episode. All he wanted was information as to the reconstruction of the Cabinet.

Sir Adolphe Caron promised positively that the information would be given to-morrow at 3 o'clock and the House adjourned.

In the Senate Sir Mackenzie Bowell asked the indulgence of the members for another 24 hours, and the Senate rose.

A REMARKABLE CASE.

Rheumatism of 20 years' standing radically cured by Scott's Sarsaparilla.

Mrs. Sarah Browning, an estimable resident of the Ambitious City, was for twenty years a sufferer from acute rheumatism, and her restoration to health is so remarkable that we present the case for the benefit of our readers, many of whom are doubtless sufferers from this painful complaint which arises from blood poison. Mrs. Browning says: "I used only one bottle of Scott's Sarsaparilla and received such benefit that I continued taking only at intervals for two months. That is seven months ago, and the pain has not returned. I had spent a fortune in various "treatments" and was told by one medical man that a cure was impossible as I had suffered so long."

Scott's Sarsaparilla cures by making and keeping the blood pure. It increases flesh by digesting flesh-forming foods. It is the most successful medicine in the world to-day, for dyspepsia, nervous troubles, rheumatism, sciatica, syphilitic afflictions, pimples and all diseases originating in a foul condition of the blood. Dose from one half to one teaspoonful.

JANUARY WEDDING BELLS.

Celebration of the Nuptials of Mr. John Morrow of Boissevain, Manitoba, and Miss Florence White, of Town.

An event of unusual interest in social circles occurred to-day, in the wedding of Miss Florence White, eldest daughter of the late Samuel White, to Mr. John Morrow, barrister, of Boissevain, Southern Manitoba.

The ceremony took place in St. John's church, and was performed by the rector, Rev. J. C. Davidson. The bride was handsomely costumed in a brown cloth travelling suit trimmed with fur. Her sister, Miss Hattie White, was bridesmaid for the occasion, and was prettily attired in brown and blue frieze. The groomsman was Mr. Thomas Morrow of Cobourg, brother of the groom.

The church was crowded with the scores of friends of the bride, who was one of Peterborough's most popular young ladies in social circles, as well as being a most prominent church worker. The South Ward Mission field will be one in which Miss White will be especially missed.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, this afternoon, the wedding party repaired to the family residence on Charlotte street, where a wedding breakfast was served prior to Mr. and Mrs. Morrow taking their departure for the west on the afternoon C. P. R. Express.

The many presents received are an indication of the fact that Miss White held a very warm place, indeed, in the esteem of her numerous friends. Few of Peterborough's young ladies have been sufficiently fortunate to receive such exquisitely beautiful presents as were presented on this occasion.

—Ella Cameron, supported by J. L. Clarke, and an excellent company, will play a return engagement at the Opera House here all next week, opening with the beautiful military drama, "In Bondage." This company have made a few changes in their cast, and now they have not one weak actor or actress. This company gives better satisfaction than any company that has visited Peterborough in years. Prices, 15, 25 and 35c.

THE PATCHWORK COMPLETED.

The Cats Come Back to the Cream.

(Special to the Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 15th, 1895.—The six Cabinet Ministers who went out on strike were sworn into office again to-day. Sir Charles Tupper was also sworn in as was Senator Desjardins and Lieut. Col. Prior. This makes the Cabinet complete except the Solicitor Generalship. This is likely to be the announcement in the House this afternoon.

INVESTIGATION DEMANDED.

A thorough, exhaustive and searching investigation into the books of the Peterborough Customs' House is urgently demanded. There are so many rumours, some contradictory, but all involving the assertion of a substantial shortage in the books of the Collector, that a searching audit of the accounts should be made. In the first place it is demanded in the name of the large public interests involved. If the public funds, as is generally agreed, have been misdirected or have not been accounted for, it is due to the public that the amount should be ascertained, so that if possible it may be recovered. The name of the Collector has been associated very freely with a shortage and with generally inefficient discharge of his duties. It is to his interest, therefore, if he is free from responsibility in respect of these charges, that a thorough examination should be made. If he is cleared so much the better for himself; and if he is not cleared, the public have a right to know to what extent a public servant has been unfaithful to his trust. Mr. Stevenson, according to a contemporary, has made a statement that "if there is a shortage, it occurred during Mr. Clementi's absence." This is a reflection upon Mr. Snider, the deputy, and it is due to him also that an investigation should be made to either exculpate him, or fix the responsibility upon him if Mr. Stevenson's insinuation is supported by facts. In any event an investigation is demanded so that the true state of affairs be made known. If, as there seems to be no doubt, the scandalous and notorious neglect of the Dominion Government in allowing a state of affairs resulting in actual financial loss, is revealed by investigation, it should be brought home to them. The people have a right to know just how the Peterborough Custom House, an institution created and maintained for the benefit and convenience of the public, has been exploited in the interest of a combination having paramount political influence. The political friends of the Collector—good Conservatives—insist that, from the improper and culpably careless manner in which the affairs of the office have been conducted, there is a large deficit. We demand to know what the full and exact amount of that deficit, if any, is. The present inspection will not satisfy the public. In the first place it does not cover enough ground. It begins with January, 1894, whereas it should go back to the time of the Collector's appointment, more than five years ago. In the second place, whatever grounds may exist, there is a feeling that there is more of a disposition to cover, than to discover, ugly facts. In view of the many influences at work, and of the natural desire of the parties concerned—the Collector and his friends, and the Government—to conceal as much that is wrong as possible, it is imperative that an investigation of the most thorough and searching character should be conducted by experts who are thoroughly disinterested as to the result of the investigation. We want the truth and the whole truth. If there is a shortage we wish to know its full amount, and that restitution to the full may be made; we wish to know just how badly—as it appears they have been—the affairs of the office have been managed. It should be made plain to public employees that no political influence can shield wrong doing, nor relieve the perpetrator of the consequences.

Crockery, China, etc., is our especial business, and to undersell all competitors is our set policy. China Hall, 389 George street.

The Regular Swing

Of our Annual Special Stock-Taking Sale keeps going on evenly and successfully and grows increasingly lively as the momentum keeps up.

There's nothing can stop the Reductions. The swing of the movement began in January, and just as shoppers realize that it is getting nearer its end, just in proportion are sales increased. But remember we don't have to keep a clearing sale going perpetually.

NATURAL SCIENCE ASSOCIATION.

Mr. Fife's Interesting and Instructive Address on "Buds"—A Practical discussion.

The N. S. A. held its first regular meeting this year yesterday evening in the physical labratory of the Collegiate Building.

Mr. Fife, President, gave an interesting and instructive address on "Buds."

Some microscopic examinations were made and a short time spent in practical discussion, led by Rev. Mr. Symonds and Mr. Elcombe.

The members of the Association were very much disappointed on account of Inspector Wherry's unavoidable absence. They hope to have his paper on "The Glacial Period" at their next meeting, Feb. 4th.

A cordial invitation is extended to all interested in science.

Mr. Jacob Wilcox of St. Thomas, Ontario, is one of the best known men in that vicinity. He is now, he says, an old man, but Hood's Sarsaparilla has made him feel young again.

"About a year ago I had a very severe attack of the grip, which resulted in my not having a well day for several months afterwards. I was completely run down and my system was in a Terrible Condition.

I lost flesh and became depressed in spirits. Finally a friend who had been benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla advised me to try it and I did so. I continued taking it until I used twelve bottles and today I can honestly say Hood's Sarsaparilla has restored me to my former health." JACOB WILCOX, St. Thomas, Ontario.

L. O. L. DISTRICT MEETING.

Annual Meeting Held—Election of Officers.

Peterborough District L. O. L. held their annual session last night. The meeting was the largest that has been been held for years; every lodge in the district but one was represented. The reports of the District Officers and Masters were very encouraging. The society throughout the district is increasing rapidly in membership, this result being brought about by a desire on the part of the people to assist in preventing the forcing of Separate Schools on the people of Manitoba.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Bro. John Watt, which was partaken of with zest.

The next meeting will be held in Jubilee Hall, Smith, on Tuesday, 29th June next, at 9 o'clock p. m.

The following are the officers elected for the ensuing year:

Bro. H S Armstrong.....District W M
" S B Weir.....D M
" Jos Batten.....District Chaplain
" Capt W J Green.....District R S
" Alex T Duggan.....F S
" W H G Armstrong.....District Treasurer
" Jno Hetherington.....D of C
" Robt Mahood.....Lecturer
Bros D H Moore, Capt J W Miller....Auditors

The installation was conducted by Bro. S. D. Swan, District Master of Kingston.—Com.

THE CONSOLIDATED MILLING COMPANY.

Important New Flour Milling Enterprise.

An important new milling enterprise has been inaugurated in Peterborough, by the consolidation, under one management, of the Otonabee Flouring Mills, formerly operated by Messrs. Davidson, Munro & Co., (Mr. W. Davidson retiring on account of ill health), and the Peterborough Mills on Dickson's Race, formerly operated by Meldrum, Davidson & Co., and the "Consolidated Milling Co." will carry on the milling business in all its branches. Those who know the sites are aware that the company has control of two of the finest water powers in the Dominion to operate two thoroughly equipped mills, with machinery and appliances of the most modern type, at a minimum of cost, and consequently at a maximum of advantage to their customers. Both mills have the sidings of the two trunk railways of Canada at their doors. Thus the Consolidated Company is equipped at all points for catering to the wants of the public in a manner unsurpassed anywhere.

Flour being an article of whose quality the trade generally is not in a position to judge critically, the Consolidated Company proposes using the utmost care, both in the selection of their wheats and in the details of their conversion into flour. Therefore dealers entrusting their trade to them can do so with every confidence that they will get an article suited to their trade and just as represented. To this end the company have associated with them, as general manager, Mr. P. M. Clark, late superintendent of the Ogilvie Mills at Montreal. Mr. Clark, it is safe to assert, has no superior as a miller in the Dominion. His quarter of a century's experience in the milling business should be a guarantee of fitness for the position he occupies in relation to the Consolidated Milling Company.

The company has also associated with them Mr. S. N. Munro and Mr. Jas. Eakins. Mr. Munro takes the position of secretary to the company and Mr. Eakins will have general supervision of work around the mills and storehouse, and farmers and the public generally may count on courteous attention in these respects.

In addition to the manufacture of flour the company will purchase and handle all sorts of coarse grains, so that farmers will find at these mills a steady market for all their produce, at highest prices. The Company also intend to pay particular attention to their gristing and exchange department and are in a position to guarantee to farmers entire satisfaction at all times and in all respects.

If you would have an abundance of dark, glossy hair, if you would have a clean scalp, free from dandruff and irritating humours, or if your hair is faded and gray, and you would have its natural colour restored, use Ayer's Hair Vigor. It is unquestionably the best dressing.

GALWAY.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mr. H. Coben went to Peterborough last Saturday, where he will remain for a few days.

Now that the sleighing is good farmers can been seen hauling their wheat to Bobcaygeon to be ground. If some person with a little capital and enterprise would build a roller mill in the village of Kinmount, a profitable business could be done. A excellent water power is procurable convenient to the railway and Kinmount station. During the last few years since the old grist mill was burnt, flour has to be shipped from Fenelon Falls, or Lindsay to supply Kinmount, Minden, Haliburton and other outlying stations, as well as the Monk Road, east and west. Of course the farmers here do not pretend to grow large quantities of wheat, as this section of the country is not adapted to wheat growing, but having good railway facilities the wheat could be shipped in here as well as the flour is at present, and the bran and shorts would find a ready market here. We trust that before long some energetic person will add this enterprise to the village of Kinmount for the benefit of themselves and the accommodation of the community at large.

Many of the settlers are engaged in hauling tanbark, wood, etc., to market.

Several of the young men of this neighbourhood having good teams, have started for Dorset, to the lumber camps, to engage in hauling.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE ANNUAL MEETINGS.

SESSIONS HELD IN PETERBOROUGH AND NORTH MONAGHAN.

Addresses Delivered by Professor Shuttleworth, of the Guelph Agricultural College, and Mr. A. H. Pettit, of Grimsby.

The first of the annual meetings for this year in connection with the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute, was held Tuesday afternoon in the County Council Chamber, with the President, Mr. J. Fred Davidson, in the chair.

In opening the meeting Mr. Davidson stated that under Mr. Hodgson's superintendency a large number of Farmers' Institutes had sprung into existence, and the excellency of the speakers who had been chosen to address the meetings, had done much to foster and enlarge the membership rolls of the Institutes. He deprecated the low prices current during the past year, and stated that notwithstanding the statements made of the increase in the exports the farmers had not benefitted by it as farm values had decreased thirty percent. He advocated the farmers taking in the government of Canada in order that the expenses might be curtailed at Ottawa. Mr. Davidson then spoke of the high place which Canadian cheese and fruit held in the British market, and the desirability of making Canadian butter as well and favourably known.

Prof. Suttleworth, chief chemist of the Guelph Agricultural College, was then called upon to speak upon the ventilation of stables. Very few farmers, he said, had other ventilation for their stables than the windows and doors. Animals which were closed in poorly ventilated stables become weakened and more subject to brieg diseases. The spread of tuberculosis could be greatly curtailed by better ventilation. To get the best results an animal should be warmly housed and not allowed to stand in a draft, as caused by the opening of doors or windows. The temperature should be kept at 55 or 60 degrees. The air should be warmed before entering the stable and by means of bringing it into the stable by an underground passage this could easily be done.

The speaker then dwelt to considerable extent on the exaled from the lungs. The presence of so much moisture in such air was bad in its effect if not carried out of a stable, as in it disease germs flourished. Foul air ventilators should be in the ceiling, therefore, but they would be of no use unless fresh air was brought in from the bottom, when, being heavier than the impure air, the latter would be forced up and out. The air should be introduced by means of a pipe of concrete running under the stable. From this smaller pipes would run to different parts of the barn to distribute it.

The ventilators to remove the foul air should be on each end of the barn and be made of planed matched lumber, capped with a comb about four inches over the top of the ventilator, through this four inches of space the wind blew and exercised a lifting power on the foul air within.

At the mouth of the drain through which the fresh air is introduced, and which should be about 100 feet long, is a shaft topped by a veering with the wind and thus catching any breeze blowing. This drain should slope slightly upwards, if possible, but never downwards into the stable. The cost of such ventilation would not exceed $50 if a farmer did his own work.

A large number of questions were asked and satisfactorily answered by the Professor.

Mr. A. H. Pettit, of Grimsby, who was in charge of the Canadian fruit exhibit at the World's Fair, was then called upon to speak on "Fruit Growing in connection with the farm." He advised strongly against the farmer making a business of fruit growing in connection with the farm. When strawberries were ripe, the clover was ready to harvest and one or the other had to be neglected, and so on What he did wish to impress upon the farmer, however, was the desirability of entering more fully into the culture of the apple. Five acres of an apple orchard could be looked after without any of the regular farm work suffering in consequence. Ontario was the best apple country in the world if the right variety was planted. Trees should be planted at the age of two years. The hole in which they were placed should be dug than the roots. The pruning should be started early and kept up all the time. If a low growing tree it should be trimmed up, and if growing upright it should be trimmed out and in such a manner as to admit lots of sunlight. Pruning could be done at any part of the year without any damage resulting. The cultivation of the orchard, he thought, was too much neglected. Cultivation was just as necessary as it is for corn. In order not to deprive the rest of the farm of the stable manure, Mr. Pettit advocates the sowing of crimson clover in the orchard in August and plowing it under in the following May. At present this method was an experiment, as the winter was apt to kill out the clover, but Mr. Pettit was trying it on his own farm and with the clover was sowing buckwheat and rye to shelter the clover in the early spring.

LARGER AND DEEPER

Concerning the splitting of trees in the winter, the speaker stated that this was caused by the tree freezing up and thawing out on the south side when the sun came out.

REGARDING THE VARITIES

to plant, Mr. Pettit stated that he himself grew Greenings, Baldwins, Northern Spy and the Russet. Although these were old fashioned varieties, yet they paid the best in the long run.

The cold storage system was just beginning to be utilized by the fruit growers and soon many of them would be erected and the apples placed in them when picked so that Northern Spies could be placed on the English market as late in the season as July. When this state of affairs came to pass the price of the Canadian apple in England would be raised to twice the present figure.

He deprecated the piling of apples in the field when picked and advocated the placing of the fruit directly in barrels and bringing into the barn. The apples could be emptied out afterwards and packed. He advised the fruit being packed properly by the grower and then sold to the buyers who canvassed the country. If the buyers were allowed to barrel the apples themselves they would do it carlessly and consequently a proper price could not be commanded in England.

Prof. Shuttleworth then delivered his paper on the "Maintaining of Soil Fertility." Speaking of a piece of land in good shape for crops, he stated, that if cultivated and yet for several years it would rapidly become impaired in its fertility and soon become of no use. The cultivation of the soil loosened up the pores, allowed the air to get in and put in operation, the forces of nature, and the soil was then kept fertile, but if no crops were sown this fertility would be washed out by reason of the looseness of the soil. The extensive growing of grain crops was also hard on the land, tending to diminish, rather than increase, humus in the soil, if this grain was all sold, and the fertility extracted without being returned through the medium of manure. It was the same with root crops and hay. If sold off the farm the soil would show the effect. One ton of clover hay returned eight dollars worth of fertility.

A farmer asked the speaker if the farmer could sell neither hay, grain or roots, what he could sell to make money.

Prof. Shuttleworth answered—Sell it in the shape of meat, and milk or fruit.

He was told that there was no money in feeding a steer hay or grain for the market to sell at two cents a pound.

But, the Professor pointed out, that though there might be no apparent gain at present, as prices ware low, in preserving the fertility of the soil for a day when prices advanced somewhat there would be a gain.

YET IN REALITY

The ploughing under of clover was a good thing to keep up the fertility of the soil. This preserved the nitrogen, which was most essential.

The drawing of manure direct from the stable to the fields was advocated, though if it was spread on frozen soil on hilly ground the rain was apt to wash out a great deal of the fertility. The speaker advised the mixing of horse and cattle manure, as the former was inclined to ferment, but if mixed this tendency was removed to a great degree.

The Professor advised against growing the same crop two successive years on land unless it was specially manured for the purpose.

After a discussion, in which a number of farmers took part, the speaker thought that, considering the condition of the climate of the County of Peterborough, that manure could be spread in the winter to advantage if it was placed in piles, two to a sleighload. The ploughing under of red clover in July, however, was advocated as the best possible manure. The ground could then be surface cultivated until just previous to the planting of the wheat, by which time the clover would be well rotted.

Mr. Pettit resumed his address on fruits and in speaking of strawberries

RECOMMENDED FOR THE FARMERS

the planting of Wilson's Albany, Beubeck, Crescent Seedling, Haverland, Miami, Sharpless, Wolverton and McWilliams, planted probably in alternate rows for cross fertilization.

In speaking of spraying Mr. Pettit stated that the farmers could never sufficiently appreciate the Experimental Farm and the work it was doing for the farmers. The Bordeaux mixture had been tried by the Experimental Farm scientists on his own place and the result was wonderful. One orchard was sprayed row about. Fine healthy fruit and good foliage resulted on the sprayed trees, and on the trees not sprayed the fruit turned out scabby. He even went so far as to spray on half a tree and leave the other half unsprayed, and the fruit growers came from miles around in the fall to note the difference. The mixture was applied just as stated in the bulletins. The pump should be a strong one, and the nozzle one to send a fine spray over the tree. A first-class agitator was needed in the pump to keep the ingredients properly mixed. A copper pump would be the best.

Potatoes should be sprayed as well as fruit trees. The rot was simply a which grew on the leaves, and when the spores dropped they penetrated the ground, got into the roots and caused the rot. Spraying also killed off the bugs. Tomatoes and turnips were also benefitted by the spraying.

The afternoon meeting was then closed. In the evening the speakers were in North Monaghan and on Wednesday addresses were delivered in Lakefield on the followinff subjects:

Discussion.

The Evening Meeting.

In the evening a session of the Institute was held in the North Monaghan town hall, with the same speakers in attendance. In opening the meeting Mr. J. Fred Davidson made a passing reference to his pleasure at seeing so many ladies in attendance, and spoke of the necessity of the housewife in connection with dairying and farming in general.

Miss Tully then sang in a very sweet voice, which was greatly appreciated.

Prof. Shuttleworth, on being introduced by the chairman, stated that his address would be on "The Farmer as a Member of Society," and stated that his greatest pleasure was in speaking of the farmer.

The farmer of the present day did not have the advantages in his younger days which his sons now had in the way of education pertaining to advanced agriculture.

The farmer, the speaker stated, was the first to advance into and till the soil, He was in advance of all others. Well educated, happy, successful farmers were a necessity all the world over, thus showing that he was indeed an important member of society. All members of society were needed, but amongst them all the farmer was preeminently one without whom it would be impossible to get along.

The farmer who did not acknowledge the advancements of the methods of agriculture with every year was a clog on the wheels of progress. The young farmer who did not now possess the advantages of an education along the lines of advanced agricultural thought, was working against great odds in competing against his neighbors, who had possessed themselves le their youth of all the knowledge obtainable covering their future occupation.

As farmers, he urged his audience to do the best they possibly could to master the principles of their occupation and to do their utmost to advance the interests of agriculture, and to live in order to leave the world more enlightened on this subject when they left it than

WHEN THEY ENTERED.

A man who trifled away his time might do no harm, but did no any good—in sharp contrast, he who had a fixed object in view made life a success and had just as pleasant a time. Our young men should strive to be honest, to have due consideration for the feelings of another—a nice descrimination—to be readers, thinkers and workers, and thus lend an additional dignity to their chosen occupation.

Mr. Halligan was then called upon for a recitation, which he rendered in capital style.

Mr. Pettit followed in a paper along the line of fruit growing, in which was embodied a number of the principal points of his afternoon address. The study of just what the market required in the way of fruit was, he stated, one of the principal keys to success in the growing of apples.

Far too many summer apples were now grown, he thought. Growing should be conducted systematically, portions being planted in summer, autumn and winter apples. When there was a demand for anything on the market in being able to supply that article, and apples should be handled in just this manner.

When speaking on the question of spraying the speaker stated that the rot, which so frequently attacked the Lombard plum was but a form of fungus, and the damage to the fruit could be easily prevented by a liberal application of the Bordeaux mixture. Regarding the black knot which had wrought such havoc, Mr. Pettit stated that at present the only way of destroying it was to cut it out and burn it, but had hopes that before long its attacks could be warded off by this same Bordeaux mixture.

Mr. W. Buchanan being called upon made a brief address on general topics, after which a local paper on "Good Roads" was read by Mr. G. Y. Payne, in which he advocated the abolishment of the Statute Labour system, and advanced some cogent reasons in support of his contention.

Mr. W. C. Taylor who as well as Mr. Payne is a graduate of the Guelph Agricultural College, outlined in a few words the class of work which was taken up at the College and gave the audience a clear idea of the knowledge which was obtainable at this institution.

Miss Payne was called upon at the conclusion of the programme for a reading. Her selection entitled "Poetry on the farm" was given most effectively.

In closing votes of thanks were tendered to the ladies, who had taken part in the entertainment as well as to the press for reporting the proceedings of the meeting.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR:—Please inform your readers that if written so confidentially, I will mail in a sealed letter, the plan pursued by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suff rlng from Nervous Weakness, night losses and weak, shrunken parts.

I have no scheme to extort money from any one whomsoever. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank Heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and anxious to make this certain means of cure known to all.

Having nothing to sell or send C.O.D., I want no money. Address JAS. A. HARRIS, Box 239. Delray, Mich.

"Several years ago, I caught a severe cold, attended with a terrible cough that allowed me no rest, either day or night. The doctors, after working over me to the best of their ability, pronounced my case hopeless, and said they could do no more for me. A friend, learning of my trouble, sent me a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which I began to take, and very soon I was greatly relieved. THEIR HARDEST CAMPAIGN.

The British Army's Worst Experience Was in the Crimea.

In the early part of the winter the battalions in the front were generally on duty two nights out of three, and later every alternate night. The life of the rank and file was thus spent: The men were mustered carrying great coat and blanket, just before dusk, and marched through a sea of mud into the trenches. These were cut up by deep holes from which bolders and stones had been taken, and into these holes on dark nights the men often fell. When the soldier reached his position he had to sit with his back to the parapet and his feet drawn close up under his body to allow others to pass along the 4-foot wide trench. If he was not detailed for a working party, nor for a picket in the trenches or in advance of them, he might lie down, resting as best he could in a wet ditch. * * * The relief of the sentries could snatch a dog's sleep four hours out of six, hoping their comrades would, by remaining on the alert, give them time to jump up ere the enemy was on them; but for the two hours that each man was out near the enemy, the strain on the nervous system would have been great even to a robust, well-fed man. The sentries had necessarily to stand absolutely still, silent and watchful, and as the severity of the winter became more and more marked, numbers of men whose frames were weakened by want of adequate nutritious food were found in the morning frost-bitten and unable to move.

"One battalion which landed nearly 900 strong early in November was actually in the trenches six nights out of seven, and then became so reduced, not only in numbers, but also in the men's bodily strength, that it was unable for some time to go there again. * * * When the soldier got back to camp, he used to lie often in a puddle which chilled his bones, under a worn-out tent, through which the rain beat. The less robust would fall asleep completely worn out, to awake shivering, and in many cases to be carried to a hospital tent, scarcely more comfortable than the tent which they had left, and thence to a grave in two or three days. Those who were stronger went out to collect roots of brushwood, or vines, and roasted the green coffee ration in the tin of the canteen, afterward, as already described, pounding it in a fragment of shell with a stone, ere they oiled it for use. Others unequal to this laborious process, would drink their rum, and, eating a piece of biscuit, lie down again in the greatcoat and blanket which they had brought, often wet through, from the trenches.

"In the afternoon the soldier was sent on 'fatigue' duty from five to seven miles, according to the position of his camp, usually to Balaklava, to bring up rations. On his return he had again to gather fuel, in order to boil the salt beef or salt pork in his mess tin, which did not hold water enough to abstract the salt. A portion of the meat, therefore, only was consumed, and it was necessary from time to time to tell off men to bury the quantities thrown away. Salt pork, which was issued two days out of seven, was frequently eaten by the men in its raw state from the difficulties of finding fuel to cook it.

"Shortly before dark the soldier either marched back to the trenches or lay down to sleep if he was not on picket in front of the camp. Many men, disliking to report themselves sick, were carried back from the trenches i the morning, and died a few hours afterward. Those who reported sick were taken to the hospital, in many cases merely a bell tent; here the men lay, often in mud, on the ground, and in many instances their diet was only salt meat and biscuit. They were, moreover, so crowded together that the doctor could scarcely pass between the 'patients.' As we had no ambulances, and the French could not lend us mule-litter transport, many were necessarily carried on cavalry horses, which, slipping on the hill outside of Balaklava, often caused further injury or the death of the patient.

"On more than one occasion, as I was returning from Balaklava, I met a party of sick, mainly frost-bitten, riding cavalry horses, the troopers leading them and holding the men on; but the ground was often covered with snow and very slippery, and on the hill above Kadikoi I once saw every man dashed to the ground from the horses slipping and falling on the hillside. Later the sick who were unable to hold on were fastened into the saddles, and some died on the journey."—Sir Evelyn Wood's Recollections.

Illuminating Gas From Wood.

A successful method of making illuminating gas from sawdust is now being employed. In Canada several large lumber mills are being lighted by gas made by this process. The sawdust is charged in retorts which are heated by a wood fire, the gas from the retorts passing into a series of coils and thence into the purifiers, which are similar to those used for coal gas. Lime is the principal purifying agent employed. When the gas passes out of the retorts it has an odor much less disagreeable than that of ordinary lighting gas, and resembling somewhat that of the smoke from a fire of green wood or leaves. For a small plant turning out, say, 540 cubic meters of gas daily about two tons of sawdust will be used in twenty-four hours, and a man and a boy furnish all the labor needed. The gas in an ordinary burner gives an illumination of about 18 candle power. The best quality comes from resinous woods. A quantity of 100 kilograms of sawdust leaves a residue of 20 kilograms of charcoal.

Queer Wills.

Those who never cease to regret what they call the good old times may usefully reflect on the condition of society in days when a portion of a subject's goods was obliged to be given to the Crown or to some royal favorite, in order to preserve to the testator's family the secure possession of the remainder. Thus, Sir Edward Haward, 1512, bequeathed to the King his great whistle, the insignia of office as Admiral in the King's fleet, "for the strengthening of this my last will."

A Presbyterian divine left a legacy to a church at St. Ives to provide six Bibles yearly, for which six men and six women were to throw with dice every Whit Tuesday in the church, while the minister prayed that the toss might be directed to the glory of God.

Lady Frances Wilson, daughter of Lord Aylesbury, was one day informed that a man who had recently died in a Pimlico lodging, had left her a valuable estate in Hants. Incredulous, she went up to town and recognized the remains of a man who had frequently annoyed her by staring at her at the opera. The same man had also bequeathed £4,000 to the Speaker of the House of Commons and £1,000 to the Chancellor of the Exchequer, neither of whom had been aware of his existence.

John of Gaunt directed that his body should be kept above ground for forty days, and that on the day of burial ten great tapers should be burnt around his body in the name of the Ten Commandments which he had so wickedly transgressed, and, "besides these ten, seven in memory of the seven works of charity which I have neglected, and besides the seven, five others for the five senses which I have negligently wasted, and over and above all the aforesaid tapers I will that there be three lit honor of the Blessed Trinity."

The Earl of Stafford married at St. Germain, 1691, the oldest daughter of the Count de Grammont; in his will he thus expresses himself: "I leave to the very worst of women, who is guilty of everything that is bad, the daughter of M. Grammont, a Frenchman, whom I have unfortunately married, forty-five brass half-pence with which to buy a pullet for supper, a greater sum than her father can often give her, he being the worst of men and his wife the worst of women. Had I only known their characters I had never married their daughter nor made myself so unhappy."

An old proverb says that every man is either a fool or a physician at forty. Sir H. Halford happening one day to quote the saying to a circle of friends, Canning humorously inquired: "Sir Henry, mayn't he be both?" At any rate, experience teaches that lawyers who draw their own wills sometimes make great mistakes. Sir Samuel Romilly's will was improperly worded, Chief Baron Thompson's will became the subject of chancery proceedings, while the will of Bradley, the eminent conveyancer, was actually set aside by Lord Thurlow.

Many wills have been written in verse, and a will chalked upon a corn bin and another inscribed by a sick man upon his pillow, have, it is said, been filed in the days of doctors' Commons. One of the briefest wills—that of Kenneth Macaulay 1805—is thus worded: "One thousand pounds to my brother Tom; all the rest to my dearest wife absolutely.—Temple Bar.

Its Cause and Cure

Cold weather, shivering, no heat to sustain, emaciated, because ill-nourished. This is either because the starchy foods are improperly acted upon by the digestive juices or the oily constituents of the food are not assimilated. Cod Liver Oil combined with Maltine and Hypophosphites supplies this deficiency, for the oil, rendered palatable and easy of digestion, is at once assimilated and stored up in the form of adipose tissue. Besides this the maltine renders soluble the starchy foods—whose special function is to supply heat or fatty tissue—thus affording material necessary to supply the waste of the body. Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites is at once a food, body builder, and medicine, incomparably superior to any preparation for the consumptive or debilitated. Verify this by a trial.

A TELEPHONE IN THE STOMACH

Peculiar Phenomena of Human Nature

In an age when that subtle force electricity is presenting wonders to the world almost daily, and the Wizzard of Menlo Park has become the hero of the hour, there seems to be nothing that we may not expect in this direction. But it was not left to an Edison to establish a telephone in the stomach of human beings. The Great Maker of man in the economy of human nature provided such an instrument centuries ago. It is a fact that within the stomach of every man and woman there is a little instrument that telephones to the nerve centres in the brain as quickly as any food reaches that part. When for any reason this communication is stopped the food is undigested and physical trouble ensues. With word promptly sent from stomach to nerve centres, these supply the necessary juice that aids digestion, and nature successfully does her part, good health is enjoyed and man is able to perform with energy and pleasure his everyday duties. It will happen at times that these nerve centres will become deranged and lose their forces; then it is that a remedy must be supplied, just as the skill of the electrician is necessary when something goes wrong with the office telephone. South American Nervine is the electrician, so far as the human body is concerned. It is a medicine unique and exceptional in this particular that it works directly upon the nerve centres, and when these are out of order it quickly places them in proper repair and completeness. Nearly all diseases, especially indigestion, dyspepsia, nervousness, general debility, sick headache and disordered liver arise through trouble at the nerve centres. You can just as readily count on South American Nervine effecting a proper cure in all such cases as you can depend on the electrician of the Bell Telephone removing any derangements that may have taken place in your telephone. What a great quantity of work a "good housekeeper" finds to do! There are so many little time-and-strength-taking chores that have no names. And it must all be done whether the housekeeper feels like it or not. This is true of men's work too, but men's manual labor is never so complicated as housekeeping. In some way or other "the world's work must be done." This iron-clad rule is harder on women than it is on men. A man can't be as sick as a woman.

As a man's organization is simpler and stronger, it follows that his ailments are less complicated. He is not subject to the chances and changes, physiologically, that come to the average woman.

If a woman is in good health there is no more healthful employment than housework. Generally speaking, there is no happier woman in the world than the one who is well and busy all day long "making home" for dear ones who depend upon her. But how different when every breath is pain, every step torture! This state of health, in nine cases out of ten comes from derangements of the delicate, feminine organs of generation. The family doctor inquires first concerning these. He most usually insists upon an "examination." From this the modest woman naturally shrinks. She is right. Excepting in very unusual cases of "female weakness" examinations are unnecessary. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a simple, natural remedy for these ills. It cures gradually, safely, permanently. Here is one testimonial out of thousands:

"I was ill four years with 'female weakness.' I took two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I do my house work now without pain or faintness." Yours truly,

(Mrs.) Lilla M. Fox

OVER THE NEW ROAD

Officials and Newspaper Men Travel to Buffalo.

THERE THEY EAT AND SPEECHIFY

First Official Trip Over the Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo Railroad—A Pleasant Journey and a Time of Enjoyment—Good Time Made Over the Line.

Hamilton, Jan. 13.—What might really be termed the first official trip over the line of the T., H. & B. Railway was had to-day, and it proved to be a grand success. The officials of the road had invited as their guests for the occasion representatives of the various newspapers of Western Ontario, and when the handsome train of three coaches pulled out from the main depot at 9.20 this morning it carried away General Passenger and Freight Agent Warburton and C. L. Montgomery, representatives of the company and the following members of the press: W. Carrique, Hamilton Herald; C. A. Mitchell, Hamilton Spectator; C. T. Reid, Hamilton Times; J. H. Mattice, Toronto Globe; A. F. Pirie, Dundas Banner; J. H. Lynch-Staunton, Dundas Star; P. J. Pearce, aWterford Star; C. D. Kreenleyside, Brantford Expositor; A. D. Caswell, Brantford Courier; and a member of The World staff. J. G. Laven, Canadian passenger agent of the Michigan Central Railway also accompanied the party, which at Welland was further augmented by the presence of S. G. Sidey, the well-known publisher of The Tribune of that place.

The trip along the new road from this point to Welland, wher the amalgamating point with the Michigan Central is reached, was particularly pleasant. Handsome day coaches, just turned out of the shops of the Barney & Smith Co., Dayton, Ohio, rolled over the new roadbed as though it had been in operation for years. The scenery, particularly that which is afforded of the lake from the summit of Mount Warburton, hitherto known as Mount Hamilton, about eight miles out from the local station is decidedly attractive and in the summer season cannot fail to command the attention of those who travel in and out of Canada as a means of recreation, and invariably in search of something new and appropriate to gaze upon and ever after talk about.

The road is made up of ties of Georgian pine, is already well ballasted with rock and gravel, and laid with 90-pound rails, and though absolutely new, will already compare favorably for speed purposes and comfort with many of the older roads on this continent.

The locomotives used by the T., H. & B. Company are from the Philadelphia shops of the Baldwins, and are so constructed as to combine immense strength and speed. They are pronounced by practical railroad men to be among the best machines of their nature yet turned out for railroading purposes in this country. At all events they whisked the special party of to-day over the new road at the rate of 25 miles an hour as nicely and comfortably as would a director's private car on the Toronto trolley system.

Arriving at Buffalo, the party was driven to the Tifft House, where it was joined by the following representatives of the Buffalo press: E. W. Mills, H. K. Silversmith and Frits Thayer of The Times; F. W. Hinkley of The Courier; Charles N. Pierson of The Commercial; R. D. Bolt of The Courier; Mr. Leman of The Press, and J. T. Eddy of The Express.

At the banquet which followed A. F. Pirie, the newspaper man of Dundas, was the principal speaker. He referred to the great trade at present being carried on between this country and that lying immediately to the south of us, and believed that the advent of the T., H. and B. would tend materially to augment that trade, as it would tend to bring about a much-needed reduction in the rates of freight. Drifting on to the war scare which grew out of the sensational message of President Cleveland, Mr Pirie said he believed it to be the outcome of political manoeuvering in the United States. He was satisfied that the American people had too great a regard for the Mother Country, which had really given them all they possessed, to think seriously of going to war with her people on a matter so trivial in its importance. He recognized the United States as a great and powerful nation, and had every confidence that it would never decline to hold out the hand of brotherhood and fellowship to assist its little neighbor in the north in its march towards progress and prosperity. The speaker was inclined to believe that all the war talk on the Venezuelan question, which has lately served to keep the people of this continent at sixes and sevens, was merely a ruse to catch the Irish vote for one of the great political parties of the United States. He pointed out the many acts which such Canadians as Edward Blake had performed in the direction of Home Rule for Ireland, and trusted that whatever may be the outcome between the two great nations, the Americans would recognize the shame which would follow in their efforts to make war on Canada merely because of her connection with England. Mr. Pirie concluded his address with a glowing tribute to Mr. J. N. Young, general manager of the Dominion Construction Company; W. R. Woodward, general manager of the T., H. and B.; S. Peabody, president of the T., H. and B., and Vice-President S. F. Upton, for their magnificent achievement in completing the new railroad from Waterford to Welland, a distance of about 120 miles, in spite of the opposition which had been encountered at the hands of rival corporations interested in the transportation of Canada's products and people.

Mr. Warburton, in behalf of the company, spoke feelingly of the assistance which had been accorded that corporation by the people of Hamilton in the completion of its work, and expressed the belief that the line would soon be extended to Toronto, thus completing an absolute connection between the Canadian Pacific and the Vanderbilt system, the two greatest systems of railway in existence on the American continent.

The other speakers were Mr. R. D. Bolt of The Buffalo Courier, who expressed the kindly feeling which he assured existed among all Buffalonians for their Canadian cousins; Mr. J. G. Laven, who was certain that the T., H. and B. was destined to become an important factor in American railroad circles, and many of the gentlemen of the press of both countries, who had availed themselves of the opportunity to dine with the officials of the new road.

Saved Himself.

"What did you mean, sir" asked the potentate, "by alluding to me in the royal kitchen yesterday as His Nobs?"

"I merely meant," murmured the court jester into the depths of the real tiger-skin rug at the foot of the throne, "that your Royal Highness was something to adore."

And the potentate, who had never read an almanac in his life, let it go at that.—Indianapolis Journal.

WASTING YOUR LIFE.

Failure of Physical and Mental Force—To add to Length of Life—Use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

With a pathetic sigh how often it has been said:

"Well, then, I suppose I must let go my hold on life.

To fathers and mothers of unreared children this is tragic.

But where cometh sure and timely help? If death is preventable, how?

The timely answer is: By scientific and successful kidney treatment—by using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Hundreds write to thank us and tell of their cure, but none to say that Dodd's Kidney Pills have ever failed.

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga, Tenn., says, "Shiloh's Vitalizer 'saved my life.' I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used. For dyspepsia, liver or kidney trouble it excells. Price 75 cts. Sold by John Nugent, 389 George street.

Liquid Cement Recipe.

The following is said to make an excellent liquid cement: To a solution of chloral hydrate in water dissolve gelatine to the required consistency. The cement thus made is said to dry quickly, to have great adhesiveness and to remain indefinitely unchanged. Ordinary glue may be used instead of the more expensive gelative; it is equally strong.

One Honest Man.

Dear Editor:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially I will mail in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell, and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. Perfect secrecy assured. Address with stamp:—L. A. Edwards, Jarvis, Ont.

Wood's Phosphodine.—The Great English Remedy.

Is the result of over 35 years treating thousands of cases with all known drugs, until at last we have discovered the true remedy and treatment—a combination that will effect a prompt and permanent cure in all stages of Sexual Debility, Abuse or Excesses, Nervous Weakness, Emissions, Mental Worry, Excessive Use of Opium, Tobacco, or Alcoholic Stimulants, all of which soon lead to Insanity, Consumption and an early grave. Wood's Phosphodine has been used successfully by hundreds of cases that seemed almost hopeless—cases that had been treated by the most talented physicians—cases that were on the verge of despair and insanity—cases that were tottering over the grave—but with the continued and persevering use of Wood's Phosphodine, these cases that had been given up to die, were restored to manly vigor and health—Reader you need not despair—no matter who has given you up as incurable—the remedy is now within your reach, by its use you can be restored to a life of usefulness and happiness.

Price, one package, $1; six packages, $5; by mail free of postage.

One will please, six guaranteed to cure. Pamphlet free to any address.

THE YOUNG WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.

THE ANNUAL MEETING HELD LAST EVENING.

The Work Will be Carried on With Renewed Zeal During the Coming Year — Enthusiasm Manifested—Election of a New Board of Directors.

The enthusiasm which was manifested and the large attendance at the annual meeting of the Young Women's Christian Association last night was most encouraging to the Board of Directors.

During the year the interest evidenced in the advancement of the Association was not as active as in former years and as the funds in the treasury were low, it was thought by some of the directors that the wisest course to pursue would be to close the rooms. An animated discussion took place regarding this project, at the conclusion of which it was unanimously decided not to close the rooms, but to enter into the work with fresh zeal. The enthusiasm which marked the proceedings of the evening was such as to lead the directorate to believe that this year will be the banner one of Association work.

In the absence of the president the chair was occupied by Mrs. Dr. Scott. The first report was that of Mrs. John McKee,

THE RECORDING SECRETARY :

During the past year the Board of Management has held nine regular and five special meetings, the average attendance being five.

A vote of thanks was tendered the press for their kindness to the association, the Rathbun Company for one ton of coal, to those who have provided literature for our reading tables, and to the rector of St. John's church for his sermon, also to the various committees. We feel that the Invitation Committee, especially, should be thanked, it being one of the most important and most difficult of the committees.

We cannot close our report without expressing our appreciation of the work done by our secretary. We sincerely hope that the way may be opened up and the means be forthcoming for an extended work this year.

MRS. MCKEE,
Recording Secretary.

Mrs.(Dr.) Bell then presented the following

Miss Barker presented her report as general secretary, as follows :

GENERAL SECRETARY'S REPORT.

In making our usual report for the past year, we regret that we are not able to make quite so favourable a statement as formerly.

For the last three months there has evidently been a falling off in the attendance at the rooms in the evenings. Our regular Bible class teacher, not having been able for some time, past to assist us, may in some measure account for this. Then again 19 of our old members have left the town, and it has been hard to find new ones to take their places. Added to this, the number of meetings that are held during the week in connection with the work of the different churches, lessens the desire for meetings in the rooms. Many of our most earnest members find it impossible to give their attention and interest to both our Association and the Christian Endeavour for instance.

We have 260 subscribers to our work, 56 of these are young women members of our Association, milliners, dressmakers, office girls and domestics, majority of these are not in homes of their own.

Some of these have been with us three years. Those who have left our town have written us grateful letters, telling us how much they miss the Association and its friendly helpfulness. 13 letters of introduction have been written, and we have heard these have been useful to them.

NOON HOUR.

Nearly every day a few have made the rooms convenient for lunch and rest, some making themselves a cup of tea. At other hours strangers passing through town have availed themselves of our cosy rooms while waiting.

READING TABLES.

15 papers and journals have been coming regularly, nearly all kindly donated by friends and editors. Our tables have been well frequented and have proved a source of profit and pleasure to many.

SOCIAL ELEMENT.

This has been well sustained, and most encouraging. We have been glad to see the spirit of good fellowship which has prevailed amongst the girls. 4 socials have been held, 1 excursion in aid of Association work.

CLASSES.

Only two classes were formed during the year, physical culture and writing. Beneficial results were realized from these.

EMPLOYMENT BUREAU.

160 girls have applied for domestic work and we have been able to secure situations for many of these. 25 girls have asked for board and lodging and we have been sorry to refuse them, but have directed them to respectable boarding houses.

CALLS.

220 calls have been made on young women in the interest of the work. By this means we have found the interest deepened and practical help in various ways have been obtained.

SPIRITUAL WORK.

This we ever feel to be our chief work. Notwithstanding the discouragements and failure to reach as many as we would like, still we are thankful for the opportunity these rooms give us for private and earnest conversations with individual members. We have reason to believe that ten young women have given their hearts to Christ during the year and are trusting in a personal Saviour. Many others have told us that they have received comfort and encouragement in their Christian lives.

The attendance at our Saturday evening gatherings has fallen off of late, many young women dropping in for music and conversation but leaving before the regular meeting for Bible addresses commences.

We think it would be advisable to offer some greater variety, which would attract many, and induce the present members to remain. Might we suggest the trial of a cooking class, or any other occupation which would be useful to them in after life. Perhaps an elementary nursing class, such simple nursing as is required in every household. How many girls would be only too glad to find that they can be of use in an emergency.

The funds are in a low state, subscriptions do not come in readily, but we would hope and reasonably expect that the community at large would more liberally respond to our need if they were convinced that more useful work were offered to the young women, and that our aim is to enable them to fulfil their duties well and faithfully in the station in which God has placed them, whether in their present callings or in future homes of their own.

To this end we would take for our motto, "Looking Unto Jesus," that he may guide us in all our work, and grant us His blessing thereon. "Hitherto, the Lord hath helped us, guiding all the way ; Henceforth, let us trust him fully. Trust, and show forth his praise."

The reports of committees were then received and proved so encouraging as to awake great enthusiasm, that of the reception committee, presented by Miss Hughes, especially so. The committee reports were submitted in the following order :

Reception Committee—Miss Hughes.
Entertainment Committee—Miss Perry.
Invitation Committee—Miss Pascoe.
Nominating Committee—Mrs. Walsh.

It was decided that hereafter Associational meetings would be held every three months for the discussion of general business, and to keep up the interest in the work, as well as to keep alive the sympathy between the directorate and the other members. Reports of committees, etc., will be submitted at these meetings.

Before the election of a new Board, votes of thanks were extended to Mrs. John McKee and Mrs. (Dr.) Bell for the very faithful manner in which they have for the past four years discharged their duties as officers of the Association. Miss Code was also thanked for the able manner in which she has conducted the Bible class exercises.

An election by ballot resulted in the selection of a new Board, composed of Mrs. Fairbairn, Mrs. Walsh, Mrs. C. Trotter, Mrs. Beck, Mrs. (Dr.) Burnham, Mrs. McIntyre, Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. (Dr.) Scott, Mrs. Brooks, Mrs. A. L. Davis, Miss Moore, Miss Code, Miss Beck, Miss Chamberlen, Miss Davis, Miss Smith, Miss Forsythe and Miss Nicholls.

The full intensity of living is reached only by the perfectly healthy. Sickness discounts the capacity for enjoyment. If his body is all out of order and run down, he will not be able to enjoy anything, no matter how full of enjoyment it may be for other people. If he is just a little bit out of order, if he "is not sick, but doesn't feel just right" he will only be able to enjoy things in a half-hearted sort of way. The nearer he is to being perfectly well, the nearer will his capacity for enjoyment be perfect. If this condition doesn't exist, something ought to be done. That means nine cases in ten the use of Dr. Pierce's Medical Discovery. It works directly on the digestive organs, and on the blood and through these on every tissue of the body. It makes the appetite good, digestion and nutrition perfect and supplies rich, red blood to all the tissues, building up solid, healthful flesh.

Send 31 cents in one cent stamps to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

GRATIFICATION SALE

PREPARATORY TO STOCK-TAKING !

Our gratification for the successful business which our two big stores have been favoured with during the year just closed, is oozing out of every pore.

Our bounding enthusiasm urges us—perhaps rashly—to making our January business something phenomenal—something better and greater than anything in the past ! Besides—

It's Price-Pruning Time, Previous to Taking Stock.

That usually means selling at about cost, but we mean to crowd bnsiness by crowding down prices away below anything you've ever known before.

The whole of our immense stock of Men's, Youth's and Boy's Clothing, Furnishings, Hats, Boots and Shoes, &c., have been marked down for immediate sale to prices that will make the whole Town and Country ring with the startling news !

Our Prices are Dwarfs ! Our Values are Giants !

You lucky fellows who have been waiting for the cold weather, have struck it rich ! Don't let go of that mighty dollar until you have seen what we are doing in the way of cut prices on Suits, Overcoats, Underwear, Hats and Boots.

The season is almost over with us, but it is only beginning with you. Gough Bros. don't propose to permit an accummulation of stock from season to season—even if it should take to clear the decks. We reign to-day, sure ! We are very much alive to the sacrifices we are making, and we haven't lost our heads either.

Another Dynamite Explosion

Every table abounds with Bargains—every Price has been clipped a third or more---and you can't find such Prices at other stores, because you can't gather figs off thistles.

TRUE BRITISH RING.

Speech by Mr. A. J. Balfour at Manchester.

THE EMPIRE'S FOREIGN RELATIONS

There Will be No War Over Venezuela—But if There Must be War the Old Land Will Not Come Out With Diminished Prestige.

London, Jan. 15.—At a meeting in Manchester this evening over which he presided, Right Hon. Arthur J. Balfour, First Lord of the Treasury, in the course of an address made incidental mention of Emperor William of Germany, which was greeted by his hearers with groans and hoots. Mr. Balfour admitted, with sorrow and reluctance that the concert of action of the European powers had failed to introduce reforms in the Government of Turkey, without which he feared it would be impossible to hope for an early settlement of the Eastern question.

Referring to the Transvaal difficulty, Mr. Balfour declared that he could not discuss the gravity of the offence of those who would be arraigned for their operations in the South African Republic, but he would say he was sure that those who were responsible for the movement there were not guided by mean, sordid motives. The Government, he said, was of the opinion that it was impossible for affairs in the Transvaal to reach a satisfactory condition while its government was founded upon so artificial and inequitable a basis as it is at present, the Uitlanders, who are vastly in the majority, paying the greater proportion of the taxes and having not the smallest share in the Government. President Kruger, Mr. Balfour admitted, had displayed great generosity and political wisdom, and he hoped, therefore, that the promised reforms would not be delayed longer than was necessary. It was beyond question that the Transvaal Republic was free in the administration of its internal affairs, but its external affairs were subject to the control of Great Britain, and foreign interference would not be permitted.

At this point the speaker was interrupted by prolonged cheers.

Nevertheless, Mr. Balfour said, he was not aware that any foreign country was prepared to dispute the doctrine. The statement was greeted with renewed cheers.

Touching upon the Venezuela dispute Mr. Balfour said the people of the United States of America appeared to suspect Great Britain of running counter to the Monroe doctrine. He dilated upon this doctrine, construing it to the effect that the American continent must not be regarded as a field for European colonisation, and that European nations were not entitled to interfere in the domestic affairs of the new world, and said that the United States and Great Britain concurred in this construction. He was not aware, he continued, that there had been any change of mind, and did not believe it would be possible to find an individual in the country who was desirous of what is known as a forward policy in America. Great Britain was content, and always had been content, to do the best for the colonies she possessed there, and did not wish to interfere with other states or to acquire more territory. He believed that if the Venezuelan Government had requested British protection the honor would have been declined by every statesman nameable. He referred to the long duration of the boundary dispute, to Lord Salisbury's despatch, to the progress of compiling documents relating to the matters here, and to the appointment of a United States commission to determine the boundary, and added, that it would be hard, indeed, of the common sense of the Anglo-Saxon race was unable to settle any dispute without war. (Cheers.)

Mr. Balfour said he had been deeply and painfully impressed with the different manner in which war is regarded in England as compared with the view apparently taken of it by some sections of the American population. War with the United States of America appeared to himself and doubtless to his hearers also, to be enveloped with the natural horror of a civil war, which with any nation is a teror to ebe avoided at all costs except dishonor. Beyond their common ancestry, language and civilization, he believed, he said, that the British people had a pride of race which embraced every English-speaking community in the world, and an Anglo-Saxon patriotism.

He admitted with sorrow that such feelings, judging from the newspaper articles on the subject, were not shared by a large section of the American people who cared to regard a war with England as a thing to be lightly indulged in, an exhilarating exercise, a gentle stimulus. This distressing and horrible view, he declared, he could not believe, was the permanent adoption of any large section of the people of the United States.

Mr. Balfour dwelt at length upon the sentimental aspect of the question, and said he trusted and believed the day would come when the better statesmen in authority, and more fortunate than even Monroe, would assert a doctrine between English-speaking people under which war would be impossible. (Cheers.)

He deprecated the pessimistic view taken of the future by some, and asserted his unbelief that public opinion on either side of the Atlantic or in Europe would permit the outbreak of war. Meanwhile, he could not see that England had cause for a quarrel with any nation on the face of the world. England, Mr. Balfour said, did not desire anybody's territory, and had no wish to interfere with any existing interest, but if war must come, he did not think she had any reason to be afraid. He did not believe there had been a moment in the recent history of the Empire when it was a better fighting machine than at present.

In concluding his speech Mr. Balfour alluded to the increase in the navy, and said he believed that it would not be called into action, but if by any mischance the peope of England should be called upon to fight for their country he did not believe that the issue of the conflict would be diminished glory or diminished power of the British Empire.

Upon the conclusion of his speech, Mr. Balfour was enthusiastically and repeatedly cheered.

GREATEST ON RECORD.

Nothing Like the Mobilization of the British Fleet Ever Seen Before.

NewYork, Jan. 15.—A special cable to The Sun from London says: Great Britain has successfully accomplished the greatest naval feat on record. She has mobilized a powerful fleet from her naval reserve and manned and equipped it ready for instant service, all within five days of unexpected orders, being issued at the most unfavorable season of the year. Nor is this all. She has at the same time prepared and commissioned large reinforcements of the regular channel squadron and sent out relief crews and ships to other stations. This great achievement is in marked contrast with what happened in a similar emergency in 1885, when war with Russia seemed imminent. It then required two months to accomplish what has now been done in five days.

There were scenes of high enthusiasm at Plymouth, Davenport and Chatham. Twenty-one ships in all went into commission at the same moment.

The scene at Portsmouth was the most imposing. Just before 9 o'clock Rear Admiral Dale, who had been appointed to command the flying squadron, first hoisted his flag on board the old man-of-war Victory, the proud old ship which flew Nelson's flag as far back as 1806. Admiral Dale saluted the commander-in-chief, Admiral Nowell Salmon, who was on board the Inflexible, another historic craft, which was in the thick of the bombardment of Alexandria. For half an hour cannon thundered from ship to ship in the broad harbor as the flags were unfurled. Several bands contributed to the enthusiasm as the crews were transferred to their respective vessels. More than 2000 men, clad most of them in pure white, went on board the ships without the slightest confusion.

Admiral Dale transferred his flag to the Revenge, which will be the flagship of the flying squadron. The ships of this squadron will rendezvous at Spithead on Thursday, and are expected to join the channel fleet at Portland next day, but this is not certain.

Nearly the entire Mediterranean fleet has arrived at Malta from Salonica, and there is all manner of speculation about the naval movements now contemplated. The whole European situation is, for the moment, one of complete calm, and this is everywhere greeted as a hopeful augury.

Massacre Feared at Ashantee.

Cape Coast Castle, British West Africa, Jan. 15.—It is announced that the British expeditionary force operating against Comassie, capital of Ashanti, will reach that town on Saturday.

It is believed that the Ashantees will desert the capital until after the departure of the expedition and that they will then return and massacre the occupying force.

A despatch from Mansua, dated today, says that Prince Henry of Battenburg passed a restless night. He is not in a critical condition, however.

Britain and France.

Paris, Jan. 15.—The belief obtains here that by the terms of the settlement of the Mekong dispute the Government of Great Britain agrees upon the Mekong River as the boundary of British and French territory from the north of Siam to the frontier of China, and that there shall no longer be any question as to a buffer state, the upper Meekong in Siam becoming the sole buffer between the territory of Great Britain and France. This settlement is regarded as proof of the friendly relations between France and England.

BREAD AND BUTTER.

The Important Topic Discussed by Prof. Robertson at Cornwall.

Cornwall, Ont., Jan. 15.—The Creameries Convention was well attended to-day. Addresses were delivered by D. M. MacPherson on "Economic Production of Milk"; Prof. Brooks, on "The Construction of Stables."

In the afternoon Prof. Robertson gave a capital address on "Butter for the English market." Prof Fletcher spoke on "Insects injurious to Vegetation," and Prof. Shutt on "Organic Forms of Dairy Products."

The Music Hall was crowded at the evening meeting. The speech of the evening was by Prof. Robertson on "Bread and Butter."

Prof. Brooks talked entertainingly on "Education of Farmers."

Prof. C. C. Jamese gave a very interesting resume of agriculture in Ontario, and the causes that made the improvement in the condition of the farmers.

Prof. Fletcher spoke of the cultivation of house plants, and a local quartette furnished a choice musical program.

"RE-UNITED."

They Do Not Speak as They Pass By.

SIX OF THE BOLTERS TAKEN BACK

Sir Charles Tupper Goes to Cape Breton to Get a Seat—Mr. Laurier and Sir Richard Cartwright Read the Government Richly—A Very Lively Day.

Ottawa, Jan. 15.—At noon to-day the Cabinet were re-united and six of the seven rebellious members were assigned their old portfolios, with the exception of Mr. Dickey, and sworn. Mr. Dickey was appointed Minister of Justice, the new Quebec Ministr Senator Desjardins, was made Minister of Militia, and Sir Charles Tupper was made Secretary of State. Col. Prior was sworn in as a Privy Councillor and as Controller of Inland Revenue. Sir Mackenzie Bowell refused to speak to either Messrs. Foster, Haggart, or Montague. He gave in on the question of who should be Finance Minister, and Mr. Foster got back his old portfolio. But the Premier refused to appoint Mr. Foster leader of the House of Commons, and Sir Adolphe Caron will fill that position until Sir Chas. Tupper gets a seat, when the Secretary of State will lead. Sir Charles left to-night, en route for Nova Scotia, Mr. McKeen, member for Cape Breton, will to-morrow resign his seat, and Sir Charles will run there. Sir Mackenzie Bowell officially and publicly denies that he is to be a warming pan for Sir Charles in the Premiership. He declaares there is no bargain or agreement to that effect. There is a Conservative majority of over 700 in Cape Breton, so that Sir Charles Tupper is not taking any chances by running for that county. The nomination will be fixed for about Feb. 3. The result of the Manitoba elections created intense interest around the House tonight, and the effect on the Ontario men was noticeable. They fail to see how they can attempt to coerce a province so united as Manitoba is in defence of her autonomy. The crisis is not over, but it has been suspended for a few weeks.

IN THE COMMONS.

Sir Adolphe Caron Makes the Much Expected Announcement—A Pretty Lively Sitting.

Ottawa, Jan. 15.—The Speaker took the chair at 3 o'clock.

Sir Adolphe Caron, rising, said: Before the orders of the day are called I desire to make a statement to the House. And I wish to say that the statement I am about to make has been submitted to the Governor-General by the Prime Minister, and I am authorized to say that in its bearings on the position of the Crown in matters of this nature it has His Excellency's approval. Since reference was made in this House to the retirement from office of certain members of the Government, the Prime Minister has had an opportunity of carefully reviewing the circumstances connected with these resignations, and has satisfied himself that the best interests of the country would be served, notwithstanding any difference of opinion that exists respecting the importance of filling the portfolio made vacant by the resignation of Mr. Angers, by the return to their former positions in the Cabinet of the House, who deemed it their duty to retire on account of that vacancy. While it is true that this point was freely discussed between the Prime Minister and his colleagues, it is equally true that the Prime Minister did not regard that vacancy, the importance of filling which cannot be questioned, as a sufficient reason for the resignation of any member of the Government. (Sir Richard Cartwright: "Hear, hear.") This view, however, was not concurred in by some of his colleagues, who urged that a meeting of Parliament with a Quebec portfolio vacant might seriously imperil certain important measures to be presented during the session. He had reasonable hopes of being able to fill that position up to the very day when Parliament met, and was disappointed that his efforts failed. After the opening of Parliament certain members of the Government sent in their resignations to the Prime Minister, giving among other reasons the fact that, having failed to fill the portfolio—and he evidently intending to go on with the transaction of public business with an incomplete Cabinet—they thought that this course was too great a departure from sound constitutional practice — (Opposition laughter)—and so weak—(Opposition: "Hear, hear")—as a matter of policy that they were unwilling any longer to remain as members of an incomplete Government. (Opposition laughter.)

Mr. Mulock: And, therefore, to make it more incomplete.

Sir Adolphe Caron: I think the hon. gentlemen will permit me to continue the statement. (Cries of "Oh, certainly.") Since the receipt of the resignations referred to, the objections put forward by the Ministers who resigned have been removed by the acceptance of a seat in the Cabinet by the Hon. Mr. Desjardins, a gentleman well known and highly esteemed in the Province of Quebec for his ability and integrity of character, and by the accession to the Ministry of Sir Charles Tupper, Bart. (Ministerial cheers.) Under these circumstances, and with these objections removed, the Ministers who resigned have deemed it consistent with their duty to their country to resume the posts they respectively held in the Government. (Ironical Opposition laughter.) It is gratifying, therefore, to be able to inform the House and the country that a Ministry has been formed which will command the support of the majority in Parliament, and enables us to proceed with the measures foreshadowed in the Speech from the Throne. The Government as reconstructed is as follows:

NORWOOD NEWS NOTES.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

On Wednesday evening, January 8th, the opening of our new rink took place. It was a great success. The place was prettily dressed with flags, and the ice in first-class condition. At eight o'clock A. R. Anderson took his stand on the temporary platform, in the middle of the ice, and called upon Thos. Blezard, M.P.P. Mr. Blezzard gave a short speech extolling the merits of the building, and complimenting Norwood upon having such an enterprising citizen as Mr. Buck. After Mr. Blezzard the reeve, Mr. Finlay, spoke a few words. Then ex-Warden Pearce was called upon, and after saying a few words of praise he called for three cheers for Mr. Buck, and then declared the rink open. There was a rush for the ice and the band struck up a lively waltz. In about twenty minutes the ice was cleared and two picked teams came on to give an exhibition of hockey for about half an hour. The sides were pretty evenly matched but showed the want of practice. About ten o'clock the band played God Save the Queen and in about half an hour the rink was closed for the night.

On Saturday night the Norwood boys played their first match in the league series against the Volts of Peterborough. The game resulted in favour of the home team by a score of 6 to 2. Great was the excitement of the Norwood hockey enthusiasts and the citizens of our village are as proud of their hockey team as they are of their football boys. Hockey will be the popular game in Norwood and the boys may expect many good backers when they play. The match was fairly well contested, but the Norwood boys had the best of it all through. Both teams showed a lack of combination, but the Norwood boys remained together better and with a little more practice ought to develop a strong combination. The Volts showed great lack of combination, and did not seem to hang together at the proper time. Their defence was weak. The forward line showed up pretty well except in shooting.

The teams lined up as follows to referee, H. S. McGachen's (of Peterborough) whistle.

Captain Ash of the Norwood team was the star of the game, his swift rushes up the ice being the cause of four of Norwood's goals. For the Volts Wilgar and Barclay did good work.

W. A. F. Campbell has returned from Toronto.

The jubilee services in connection with the Methodist church here, held last Sunday and Monday, were a grand success. Dr. Hannon spoke in the morning and Rev. Mr. Sanderson in the afternoon. There was no service held in the Presbyterian church in the evening and this crowded the Methodist church. On Monday evening a jubilee meeting was held. J. B. Pearce occupied the chair. Rev. Dr. Hannon, Rev. Mr. Sanderson and Rev. J. F. Sommerville addressed the meeting. Dr. Ford read a history of the circuit since its foundation. Mrs. Perney sang two solos, and the choir also discoursed sweet music. Rev. J. Gibson pronounced the benediction. The thank offering called for so far has amounted to $217 and some odd cents.

ANNUAL MEETING.

On Wednesday afternoon of last week, the annual m .ing of the Smith, Ennismore and Village of Lakefield Agricultural Society was held in the town hall, a good attendance being present.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The treasurer's statement for the year was read and adopted. The finances of the society are in a fair condition.

The election of officers was then held and resulted as follows, all the old officers being returned:

President—R. H. Braden.
Vice-President—H. C. Garbutt.
Sec-Treas.—W. Sherin.
Directors Messrs W. Abbot, Ed. Elliott, Levi Payne, R. Q. Dench, J. H. McWilliams, Ed. Fitzgerald, Dr. J. R. Fraser, G. J. Galvin, G. W. Fitzgerald.

ORANGE BLOSSOMS.

A very pleasant event took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Doidge on Wednesday evening of last week, when their eldest daughter Miss Mary Evelyn, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Albert V. W. Hill, one of our popular young clerks. The Rev. W. Limbert performed the ceremony. The bride, who was very tastefully attired, was assisted by Miss Myrtle Hendren. The groom was assisted by Mr. A. Doidge of Toronto, brother of the bride. After the ceremony, the guests sat down to a sumptuous wedding supper, after which the evening was spent in a social manner. The bride was the recipient of a large number of handsome and valuable presents, testifying to the esteem in which she was held. The happy couple will reside in the village, and will begin their married life followed by the best wishes of their hosts of friends for their happiness and prosperity.

Now is the time, during this cold snap, to secure all wool white blankets, different weights, at very low prices, from R. Graham & Son.

COUNCIL MEETING.

A regular meeting of the Village Council was held in the town hall on Monday evening, January 13th, 1896. Present,—W. H. Casement, reeve, in the chair, and Councillors Lillicrap and Hilliard. Minutes of last meeting read and adopted. A communication from John Burnham, re the river road, was read and received.

On motion the following accounts were paid:—Jas. Jackman, sawdust for Bishop street, $2.35; John Edwards, cleaning snow, $5.00; Mrs. Hunter, meals for vagrants, 75c; J. W. Ridpath, printing, $12.

Moved by Councillor Lillicrap, seconded by Councillor Hilliard, that the treasurer be and is hereby authorized to accept from B. Robinson north part Block A, south Catharine street, and Isaac Snelgrove, lot 14 south Maria street, the amount of taxes up to time of sale to Government.—Carried.

Council adjourned.

DISTRICT L. O. L.

The Lakefield District L. O. L. met in the Orange Hall on Tuesday, at which there was a good attendance, and the following officers elected:

The following resolution was carried unanimously:

"That whereas a certain resolution, recently published, applauded the outcome of the election in North Ontario, and purportep to come from the Orangemen of the County of Peterborough, therefore, we, the members of the Lakefield District L. O. L., here assembled do repudiate such resolution as unseemly and unbecoming of Orangemen, and that the censure of the County L. O. L. should be passed on the brethren from whom it emanated."

The semi-annual meeting will be held at the lodge room of North Smith Lodge, No. 419, on Monday, June 15th, at 2 p. m.

A large number of the Sons of England from Peterborough paid a fraternal visit to the local lodge, bringing their band with them which discoursed excellent music on our main street.

The full intensity of living is reached only by the perfectly healthy. Sickness discounts the capacity for enjoyment. If his body is all out of order and run-down, he will not be able to enjoy anything, no matter how full of enjoyment it may be for other people. If he is just a little bit out of order, if he "is not sick, but doesn't feel just right" he will only be able to enjoy things in a half-hearted sort of way. The nearer he is to being perfectly well, the nearer will his capacity for enjoyment be perfect. If this condition doesn't exist, something ought to be done. That means nine cases in ten the use of Dr. Pierce's Medical Discovery. It works directly on the digestive organs, and on the blood and through these on every tissue of the body. THE WM. S. BULL CASE.

Owen Sound Again Heard from—And Another Case.

After Years of Torment and Months Abroad He Finds the Needed Remedy in the Great Canadian Kidney Treatment Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Owen Sound, Jan. 16th.—(Special.)—The interest here in the Shipman case has abated a little, but one effect of its publicity has been to set other people to talking freely of what the same remedy has done for them. An instance in point is to be found in the case of Mr. Wm. S. Bull, of the C. P. R. fleet, who in telling his experience said:

"For fully three years I suffered from lumbago, and was frequently in such a condition that I could hardly walk.

"I spent nine months at Hot Springs, Arkansas, but the treatment helped me only for the time being, for as soon as I returned home to Owen Sound I was as badly affected as ever.

"But Dodd's Kidney Pills being recommended by a friend, I resolved to try them and after using eight boxes I was completely cured.

"I have been on the C. P. R. and lake steamers for the past year, exposed to all kinds of weather, but have had no return of the disease, as every one of my acquaintances in Owen Sound can testify."

Shiloh's Cure, the great Cough and Croup Cure, is in great demand. Pocket size contains twenty-five doses only 25c. Children love it. Sold by John Nugent 269 George Street.

"RE-UNITED."

Secretary of State—Sir Charles Tupper, Bart.

Postmaster-General — Sir Adolphe Caron.

Minister of Marine and Fisheries—Hon. John Costigan.

Minister of Finance—Hon. George E. Foster.

Minister of Railways and Canals — Hon. John Haggart.

Minister of Public Works—Hon. J. A. Ouimet.

Minister of the Interior—Hon. T. Mayne Daly.

Minister of Trade and Commerce — Hon. W. B. Ives.

Minister of Justice—Hon. A. R. Dickey.

Minister of Agriculture—Hon. W. H. Montague.

Minister of Militia and Defence — Hon. Alphonse Desjardins.

Without portfolio — Hon. Frank Smith, Hon. Donald Ferguson.

Controller of Customs—Hon. John Wood.

Controller of Inland Revenue—Hon. E. G. Prior.

Cries of "And Solicitor-General?"

Sir Adolphe Caron: There is no Solicitor-General at present. This is the statement I have the honor to lay before the House. I move that this House do now adjourn.

Mr. Laurier was cheered by his followers upon rising. "So, at last, Mr. Speaker, after these long days of waiting," he said, straightening himself, "after the public business of the country has been blocked for almost two weeks, after the House has been subjected to the ignominy of dancing attendance upon the pleasure of weak and vacillating men—vacillating by their own admission, as stated here to-day—at last the comedy is at an end; and the end is what might have been expected from the experience we have had in the past under similar circumstances, just what everybody might have foretold. The stray sheep have gone back to the fold; the bolters have eaten their words, and they are expected to sit again under the man who just a week ago yesterday they declared was too small to be their leader. (Opposition cheers.)

Sir Adolphe Caron said he could well realize the great disappointment which the Opposition must have felt at the recent turn of events and at the formation of a Government which would command the confidence of the country. The Opposition must have felt there was a small chance now of their reaching the Treasury benches. The Conservative party was solidly and firmly united. The reasons which had been given in the statement read to the House would commend themselves to the judgment of the country. The differences which had existed had disappeared, and to-day the Government was stronger than ever before. (Cheers.) He regretted the disappointment which Mr. Laurier had to be put to once more. (Laughter.)

Sir Richard Cartwright said he thought Mr. Laurier had taken Sir Adolphe Caron too seriously. He had assumed that he was dealing with responsible statesmen—(laughter)—but in that he was mistaken. The Opposition were face to face to-day with the Royal Ottawa Low Comedy Troupe. (Laughter.) This troupe had been giving a number of rehearsals since July last, but the best performance of all had been last. The next performance would be when the whole troupe would go out and none come back. (Opposition cheers.) He congratulated the members of the Government on the charming spectacular effect which they had produced, entirely regardless of expense. (Laughter.) He regarded the action of the six Ministers in returning as most farcical. The whole business had been transacted for the purpose of making room for his ancient acquaintance, Sir Charles, Baronet of the United Kingdom. (Laughter.) Not even their fronts of brass could allow the Ministers to sit in council very long under Sir Mackenzie Bowell. He was sorry for the position in which the Premier was placed. The fame of Sir Charles Tupper, sr., though not precisely in all the churches, was well known in all the provinces of Canada. (Laughter.) Nova Scotia had been the wet nurse and dry nurse—(Oh, oh)—of the most pronounced type of boodlers this country had ever known. The other day the Premier had described himself within hearing of gentlemen as "living in a nest of traitors."

Proceeding, Sir Richard Cartwright referred to what he called the amatory correspondence of Sir A. P. Caron and Dr. Montague, and once more turned his attention to Sir Charles Tupper, sr. He wound up by giving an old story of Mr. McMullen's to the effect that four Canadian Cabinet Ministers who happened to visit the United States were pointed out to an old Yankee, who remarked that if those were Privy Councillors and advisers of Her Majesty he would for one fervently pray God save the Queen. (Laughter.)

Mr. Davin said it was evident from Sir Richard Cartwright's speech that he was greatly disturbed by the spectre of Sir Charles Tupper rising before him. The chicken heart quivered beneath his frock coat when he thought of the prospect of the old war horse of Cumberland shortly reappearing in the House. (Cheers and laughter.) Both Mr. Laurier and Sir Richard Cartwright had wholly failed to avail themselves of the opportunity which had been presented to them. Mr. Laurier was a charming man but no leader. A good leader would have grasped the situation and used it to the fullest advantage. By revamping Mr. McMullen's story Sir Richard Cartwright had shown himself the political rag picker in the McMullen heap. He trusted that that man of genius, Mr. Hunter of The Toronto World, would not fail to utilize this incident in his pictures of political thought.

Mr. Davies chaffed Mr. Davin with being equally with Sir Richard Cartwright an author of studied impromptus, and reminded him of an incident which occurred some years ago when a report of a lecture by Mr. Davin got into The Ottawa Citizen, when, as a matter of fact, the lecture was never delivered. (Laughter.) He believed that the action of some of the Ministers in resigning was dictated by a desire to get rid of the Manitoba school question. (Oh, oh.)

Mr. Foster, who was loudly cheered, said he did not intend to follow the Opposition speakers in their wanderings of the afternoon. They had been guilty of exaggerations and misrepresentations with regard to documents which had been placed before them and were to-day part of the public records. He (Mr. Foster) was prepared to be judged as every public man should be judged, by his own statement made from his heart and uttered by his lips. He was not to be judged by any suspicion, or by any misrepresentations that an opponent might make. (Cheers.) (When gentlemen in a representative assembly got away from that solid ground, that moment they deescend outside the plane of Parliamentary discussion. Gentlemen opposite talked about kaleidoscopic changes. They could see them on the Opposition side of the House. Their countenances were not very bright; evidently there had been a funeral somewhere. (Laughter.) There had been a great disappointment to Grit hopes to-day. (Cheers.)

He could well understand why Sir Richard Cartwright should have felt it necessary to have denounced Sir Charles Tupper when he was not here. But Sir Charles would be here in a few days sitting in that seat as leader of the House—(loud cheers)—and when he was in his place Sir Richard Cartwright would find that he would neither cower nor blanch before him. (Prolonged cheers.)

Mr. Mills (Bothwell) ridiculed the reasons given for the return of the six Ministers. The Conservative party now talked about being united, but the country was not with them, as the bye-elections showed.

Mr. Hazen delivered a slashing reply to Sir Richard Cartwright, and said his characterization of Nova Scotia as a hotbed of boodlers would tell against the Liberal party. (Hear, hear.) Mr. Mulock followed, speaking up to recess. Continuing his speech, Mr. Mulock condemned the Ministerial reconstruction.

Sir Charles H. Tupper, who was loudly cheered, said the Opposition leaders had been most unfair in their criticisms. They well knew the disadvantage under which the seven gentlemen labored, and they made the most of it. Every Privy Councillor opposite knew how difficult it was for any Minister, either in Canada or in England, to put himself fully and freely before his countrymen in regard to particulars that might concern an action which had induced him to retire from the councils of the nation. He thought he was justified in referring to two features which prominently stand out in this discussion. These features concerned first the character of the gentlemen who left the Cabinet and their action as regards the Governor-General. In regard to the last feature, and perhaps the most important one, it ought to be sufficient to fair minded men to know that after explanations had been exchanged between these gentlemen and the present Prime Minister, and submitted to the Governor-General, there had been found nothing inconsistent with and nothing derogatory to the dignity of the Crown for the Queen's representative to take back to the councils of the country six of these gentlemen. As regards other facts which immediately concerned the action taken, he was justified in saying that it clearly appeared that whether the point was put before the Prime Minister at the proper time, or whether or not wise judgment was used by the seven as to the mode in which they took that important step, they were actuated by two strong reasons and two good reasons. First, the interest of the country, as they conceived—(ironical Opposition cheers)—the interests of the country, in their opinion, demanded that Remedial Legislation, if necessary, should be put upon the Dominion statute book this session. (Hear, hear.) In their opinion it was impossible to rely upon hon. gentlemen opposite to do this. In their opinion the Conservative party alone could be expected to enact that legislation, and in order to do that the Conservative party must be strong in the Government, and the Government, in their opinion, never required greater strength than on the present occasion. (Hear, hear.) The proposed legislation was admittedly unique, and it had evoked all kinds of opinions in the two parties. The Conservative party it was known was not united, and did not speak as a whole upon that subject. He believed the Liberal-Conservative party was safe. (Renewed cheers.) The hopes of the Opposition of accession to power had vanished, and Sir Richard Cartwright, who last session had assumed a general role—(laughter)—so lost control of himself as to abuse an old opponent. (Hear, hear.) Continuing, Sir Charles took up the arguments of previous Opposition speakers and effectively disposed of them. He emphatically denied that he had resigned from the Cabinet last spring. He had had a difference of opinion with his colleagues, but waived his view and remained a member of the Cabinet. He chaffed Mr. Davies with having run away from the House last session when remedial legislation was under consideration, at which Mr. Davies got mad, and said the story was false.

After speeches from Mr. Paterson (Brant) and Mr. Casey, the House adjourned at 10.25 p.m.

Nervous Prostration.

Cured effectually by Scott's Sarsaparilla.

His heart was affected.

"Overwork as a student at college brought on an attack of nervous prostration," says Mr. Gilbert, a railway missionary. "I was exceedingly nervous and if I exerted myself my heart commenced to flutter violently, and I was warned that even ordinary exercise endangered my life. But thanks to Scott's Sarsaparilla I feel better than I ever expected to feel, for I can now address a meeting without effort, can walk a brisk pace for two hours or more without exhaustion and am free from that distressing palpitation. In my work I have oftentime recommended Scott's Sarsaparilla, and have seen many cases where its effects have been most marked."

Scott's Sarsaparilla acts like magic in restoring shattered nerves because it rebuilds the nerve centres. Nervous headache, nervous dyspepsia and all nerve derangements wear on the system. Scott's Sarsaparilla makes new blood and muscles and strong nerves. Of all druggists, $1 per bottle. Dose from half to one teaspoonful.

The Militia and South Africa.

Speaking with the Brigader General on the subject of the Canadian Militia being called to South Africa to fight for their Country and their Queen, the gallant General gave it as his opinion that the volanteers of Peterborough with their sweethearts, can with safety prepare a masquerade for the Sons of Canada's Grand Carnival, January 31st. Prizes on exhibition after the 17th in P. Connal & Co. window, George street.

Fell Into an Oil Vat.

Mr. Lennie Hall has just recovered from the effects of the "oil bath" which he received some days ago at the Bridge Works. Mr. Hall was engaged in dumping black oil out of a bucket into a huge tank at the works when he slipped and taking a header, landed in the vat. Mr. Hall states that as oil is thicker then water, it made things most interesting to him in navigating to the side, he being up to the neck in the liquid. His many friends are pleased to see him about again as usual.

Danger to Boathouses.

The ice in the river and various raceways is breaking up in large sheets, consequently backing the water and causing many boathouses in and about the river, as well as those on the lake shore, to become inundated. Lyman Terrill, the Hunter street gunsmith, who has a boat house near the Gas Works, on going in found everything afloat. Many other boathouses are in the same predicament and the owners should see to their houses lest their contents are destroyed, not only by the ice but by water also.

Return of the Favorites.

Miss Ella Cameron, assisted by the John L. Clarke Company, will make a return engagement at the Opera House for one week, commencing Monday next. Miss Cameron, is undoubtedly a favorite with her audiences, showing herself to be an artist of splendid ability. Mr. John L. Clarke is an exceedingly clever actor, whose interpretations of humourous characters is highly amusing and entertaining. On their appearance here last fall the company scored a great success, being greeted nightly by crowed houses. The prices for this engagement are 10, 20 and 30 cents. Seats now on sale.

RUFUS STEVENSON APPOINTED.

The Vacancy in the Local Custom House Said to be Filled.

Mr. Rufus Stevenson was to-day receiving the congratulutions of his friends on being appointed to the position of Collector of Customs for the port of Peterborough. On being approached by a reporter, Mr. Stevenson stated that there was ground for the rumour to that effect, that he had received the appointment, and that the intimation which he received of it from Ottawa might be regarded as official.

A MARKET GARDENERS' CASE.

Two of Them Charged with Peddling Without a License.

Alfred Pearson and Stanley Rightmeyer, market gardeners, were before the magistrate this morning charged with an infringement of the by-law effecting hawkers and pedlars. The following written decision was rendered by Mr. Dumble :—

"In these cases the defendants, who are market gardeners, are charged with a violation of By-law No. 709 of the town of Peterborough, entitled 'A By-law for Licensing and Regulating Hawkers and Pedlars.'

"It appears that the defendants are market gardeners, who bring around the stuff raised by them, in wagons, to other people's houses, and there sell them. In order to meet the wants of their customers they purchased some appies, which they sold with the stuff of their own raising, and the complaint is that they violate the by-law in that they sell goods, wares and merchandise without the proper license. Inasmuch as they admit selling these appies, not their own growth and not selling as agents for the producer, they appear to be guilty of an offence against the by-law.

"The cost of a license to sell stuff not of their own growing from a wagon is $30.00 a year. The smallest fine I can impose for breach of the by-law is $10.00.

"Now the defendants' entire sale of apples was trifling and would not pay them to give $30.00 each for licenses, and as they appear to have been ignorant of the effect of the by-law, and express an intention not again to violate it, I am reluctant to impose so heavy a fine as $10.00 for what is after all a technical offence.

"The result of these informations will be instructive to the parties, and will probably secure a discontinuance of the offence—the object intended. I therefore dismiss the complaints, the defendants to pay the costs."

THE CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY'S MEETING.

THE ANNUAL REPORTS FOR THE YEAR SUBMITTED.

A Large and Influential Representation of the Citizens in Attendance—Lack of Funds Prevents the Carrying Forward of the Work on a More Extended Scale.

The annual meeting of the Children's Aid Society of the town and county of Peterborough, was held yesterday afternoon in the Council Chamber, with Sheriff Hall, the president in the chair. Among those present were Mayor Yelland, A. C. Dunlop, General Haultain, Rev. H. Symonds, Rev. Father Scolland, W. B. Bamford, Rev. J. J. Rae, Rev. J. C. Trotter, Councillor J. L. Hughes, H. S. Macdonald, Peter Campbell, Mrs. Haultain, Mrs. Birdsall, Mrs. Wm. Walsh, Mrs. Mulholland, Mrs. Gilchrist, Mrs. O'Donovan, Mrs. Beck, Miss Code, Miss Martha Dixon, Miss Beck, Miss Nicholls, E. B. Edwards and the secretary and the agent.

Rev. Dr. Torrance and Mrs. Chas. McGill sent their regrets at their unavoidable absence.

Expressions of opinion in favour of a temporary shelter were again brought forward, the plan of boarding out being considered merely a makeshift until some permanent quarters are secured.

The election of officers was next taken up and resulted as follows :

President—Sheriff Hall (re elected.)

Vice-Presidents—Mrs. Kendry and A. C. Dunlop (re-elected).

Secretary-Treasurer — Hampden Burnham (re-elected).

Solicitor—E. B. Edwards (re-elected.)

Agent—Mr. Finch Miller (re-appointed).

Five old members of the Board of Management were re-elected with the substitution of Mayor Yelland for a member who has left the town.

Mr. J. W. Bennett was again appointed auditor.

It was decided to elect a sub committee to represent the Board of Management, consisting of the Mayor, Rev. Father Scollard, Rev. H. Symonds, Mrs. Beck, Mrs. O'Donovan, Miss Dickson, Miss Beck, and Mr. Campbell.

It was moved by Rev. J. J. Rae, seconded by Councillor Hughes, that a vote of thanks be tendered the press.—Carried.

The treasurer's showed, briefly, that the receipts were $260 and the expenditure $255. The work of the Society could be greatly enlarged and extended if funds were forthcoming for that purpose, however, it has been enabled to be of considerable benefit to the town and country.

Third Annual Report of the Children's Aid Society of the Town and County of Peterborough for the year ending January 15th, 1896 :

Rapid development of the work ; total No. of complaints investigated, 44 ; No. of cases of cruelty and ill-treatment, 11 ; No. of cases brought into the police court by the Society, 12 ; No. of cases where warning were sufficient, 13 ; Children given temporary shelter, 12 ; No. who have become wards of the society, 10 ; No. placed in foster homes, 10 ; Chief causes of offences : (1) natural viciousness, (2) moral degeneracy, (3) drink, (4) ill-advised charity ; No. of children whose welfare was directly and indirectly affected, about 75. The large number of applications for children in excellent homes shows to what extent neglected children can be provided for.

The affairs of the Society are on a good working basis. Experience has enabled the executive to make improvements from time to time in the method of conducting the work. As soon as a case is reported it can be dealt with. First of all I ask your attention to the rescue branch of the work. In five years from now this will have become by far the most important part. The incorporation of the society gives it the necessary legal standing for wardship, adoption, etc. The Ontario Government has provided an act, of which the real meaning and advantage have been, as yet, by no means realized by the general public. With respect to the circumstances under which many young girls go astray your officers are able to say that without doubt it is possible to rescue a large portion through the society's privilege of protection and guardianship. The latest case will furnish an illustration. For a multitude of conflicting and sufficient reasons a girl 14 years of age found it impossible to live at her own house, which has since been broken up altogether. She found herself in a house of which the reputation is at least doubtful. Persistent attempts were made to assault her. Prosecution cannot be conducted without corroboration. The evidence of those surrounding her could not be relied upon for the prosecution. The story of her trials and destitution is extremely sad. The agent took her at once under the society's protection. She was given shelter till a home was found. A most enviable home has been found for her in the country. It was a wonder to your officers that she had found means to protect herself till help came. Then take the case of the Smith family, consisting of a mother and six children. Their condition was considered a public nuisance. Private and public assistance was given them from day to day and year to year. There seemed to be no prospect for them but a life of squalor, and finally of crime. The Town Society took the four youngest children in charge, and paid their board in a shelter. At last, and with the mother's consent, homes were found for three of them in a village in the county, where they are near each other and contented. The baby was left with the mother, who is now able to provide for herself and child. These instances could be multiplied but space will not permit in a general report. The little baby, the youngest of your wards, without a friend outside the Nicholls Hospital and this Society, which has been in that hospital for more than a year, under surgical treatment, has quite recovered from its spinal curvature, bronchitis and eczema, and is bright and healthy. Too much praise cannot be given the Nicholls and St. Joseph hospitals.

There have been, also, cases of heartless ill treatment and neglect. They have been duly attended to.

The grant from the Town Council has been of the most material assistance. The police and county constables have been kindness itself. We understand that the magistrates still accord the society and its work their hearty approval. The donations in money from churches, Sunday schools and individuals have been, with the town's grant, the means by which the work has been carried on. There have been also some very useful contributions of clothing. To the medical gentlemen of the town who have given their services to the society's wards the Society's thanks are due. There is every reason for encouragement. With regard to the financial report it will necessary, as usual, to appoint an auditor. Briefly the receipts were $260.00, and the expenditure $255.00. Money is needed for extending the work.

To Mr. Finch Miller, the agent of the Society, especial acknowledgements are made. The Press, as usual, have given invaluable assistance.

HAMPDEN BURNHAM.

Several of those present were of the opinion that in deference to the wishes of the secretary, it would be better to appoint a small sub-committee of management.

On motion of Mayor Yelland and Rev. J. J. Rae the report was adopted, after which the meeting adjourned.

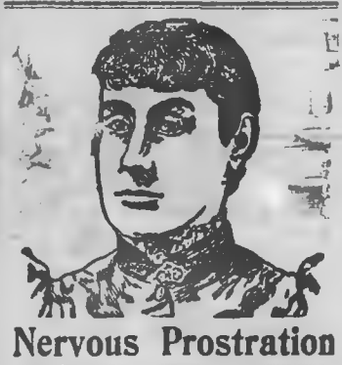
"FARES, PLEASE."

Novel Method of Increasing the Proceeds of Church Collections.

A Guelph paper says :—"The force of habit was beautifully illustrated in a church here. A street railway conductor was taking up the collection, and reaching a row of young men who were rather dilatory in making the response, he shook the plate quite sharply in front of them and said, "Fares, please !" There was an audible titter in that section of the sacred edifice that only subsided when the musical voice of the energetic street car man sang out in a grand old hymn."

A resident of Peterborough, upon whom falls the task of passing the plate in one of the largest of the churches, threatens to pass around a handful of big, fat, Canadian cents among a number of young men, who attend the church because of the "after-meeting," and who, he says, must feel awfully sad at seeing the plate leave them, Sabbath after Sabbath, as empty as it came.

"There would be no money in it for me," he very sagely remarks, "but then, you know, it would relieve the monotony of the thing to see them putting on something once in a while."



Nervous Prostration

It is now a well established fact in medical science that nervousness is due to impure blood. Therefore the true way to cure nervousness is by purifying and enriching the blood. The great blood purifier is Hood's Sarsaparilla. Read this letter:

"For the last two years I have been a great sufferer with nervous prostration and palpitation of the heart. I was weak in my limbs and had smothered sensations. At last my physician advised me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla which I did, and I am happy to say that I am now strong and well. I am still using Hood's Sarsaparilla and would not be without it. I recommend it to all who are suffering with nervous prostration and palpitation of the heart." MRS. DALTON, 56 Alice St., Toronto, Ontario. Get Hood's, because

DAILY MOTTO.

Thursday Jan. 16th.

Honour the soul. Truth is the beginning of all good, and the greatest of all evils is self-love; and the worst penalty of evil doing is to grow into likeness with the bad; for each man's soul changes according to the nature of his deeds; for better or for worse.

Man is his own star, and the soul that can Render an honest and perfect man
Command, all light, all influence, all fate,
Nothing to him falls early or too late.
Our acts our angels are; or good or ill,
Our fatal shadows that walk by us still.

Skip Rutherford downed Skip Kells by one point in a Kendry Cup match. Skip Kells led by four points at the fourteenth end. In the fifteenth, Skip Rutherford, by skilful guardianship, got a four end, being a tie with the score of his opponents. The last end gave Skip Rutherford another point and thus landed him a winner by an eyebrow. The rinks were composed as follows:—

There is every probability that the Toronto Granites will be down for their annual twelve rink match on Tuesday next.

HOCKEY.

The hockey match on Saturday evening next promises to be one of the most close and interesting contests which will take place on the Peterborough rink this season. Norwood has a very strong team this year, and they come to Peterborough strong in the belief that they can give a good account of themselves against the local team. Flushed with the pride of their victory over the Volts, they will make a strong effort to down the Peterboroughs, and no lover of hockey can afford to miss seeing the match.

Saturday will be a good day for hockey enthusiasts, as in the afternoon the Lindsay Collegiate Institute team comes over to battle with the local Collegiate team. The puck will be faced off at half past two o'clock, and as the Lindsay Collegiate Institute boys boast that they are stronger than the town team of that place, they will keep the Peterborough boys hustling.

A rumour is current to the effect that Lionel King is to be protested on the ground that he is residing in Toronto. This is all bosh, as it is well known that he is merely there going to school, and similar cases existed in the Senior League last year.

The Victoria hockey team, of Kingston, composed chiefly of the players Peterborough defeated there last year, lost to Morrisburg early in the week by nine goals to nothing.

ICE RACES.

Port Perry winter races will be held on Wednesday and Thursday, Jan. 22nd and 23rd, over a mile course mapped out on Lake Scugog. The programme is as follows:—First day, three minute race, purse, $100: 2:27 race, purse, $75. Second day, green race, purse, $50; 2:35 race, purse, $75; 2:20 race, purse, $100. No arrangements have yet been made for the local ice races.

A NATIONAL DISGRACE

It is to the enduring disgrace of Canada, that Premier Bowell has effected a reconstruction of his shattered cabinet, by taking back the piratical section of his mutinous crew—the traitors, who basely conspired against him and knifed from behind. For the past fortnight the two cabinet factions have been fighting with, and villifying each other, like Billingsgate drabs and the whole country has stood aghast at the extraordinary spectacle that the Capital presented—public men occupying the highest places in the country, quarelling in vulgar terms, like a gang of roystering navvies. The cowardly and cold-blooded cruelty of Hon. Mr. Foster's explanation of the reasons of the revolt, on behalf of the revolting members, was felt to be of a nature to created—irreconcilable enmity between himself and the venerable premier who, in addition to base betrayal, had to suffer the insulting and heartless "explanation" of the mouth-piece of the rebels; and when the stinging rejoinder of the badgered premier denounced his perfidious colleagues in language of unmistakable plainness, it was thought by everybody that the breach was too wide to be bridged by any sort of honourable compromise. But a compromise has been effected and the bolting ministers and the premier and colleagues they deserted, who were only but yesterday flying at each other's throats—"the nest of traitors"—are a happy family once more and are celebrating the occasion by a war-dance around the public chest which was the talisman that wrought the pacification of the mutineers. The seven conspirators put a pistol at the head of the premier and demanded his resignation; but when the plucky old gentleman met force with force they slunk out of the cabinet and have since been conspiring with Sir Charles Tupper for the overthrow of their chief and his fragment of a cabinet. Now all are reconciled. The cohesive power of plunder has united the warring camps of Kilkenny cats and made them a nest of sucking doves. In all this shuffling and cut and deal, one thought of the public interest has not been entertained. It has been a straight fight, crookedly as it has been conducted, for office and the spoils of office; and, while many at first sympathised with Mackenzie Bowell, the conclusion is forced that all this squabble, this bolting and betrayal, are only the working out of a well understood game between the apparently warring factions of the cabinet. This is the feeling of staunch Conservatives who have kept themselves au courant with the situation. That two elements, that appeared a day or two ago to be utterly irreconcilable, have lain down together like the millennial lion and lamb, lends colour to such a conclusion. We all know that ever since the present Cabinet has been in existence the interests of the country have been neglected. All over the country Government offices that should have had and would have had efficient supervision, if the administrators of our affairs were not too busy plotting and counter-plotting to gain personal advantage, were neglected with results that we have a flagrant example of in a Peterborough Government office. And now we have a scheme worked out with the object of inflicting another period of misrule upon the country. But the plot will fail. The people will have a voice in the matter and the verdict will be no uncertain one. All over the country the mass of honourable Conservatives, and for the good of the country it is a pleasure to think that they are the mass of that party, have no confidence in the present combination of alleged ministers. We have personal knowledge that many strong Conservatives in Peterborough, who are loyal to their party and have always supported it, have "no use" for the crazy patch-work quilt that has been spread over the seething rottenness of the situation at the Capital. The situation cannot last; a Government founded on faction, governed by greed and cemented only by the lust of gain cannot be expected to win the endorsation of the people of Canada who, whatever their intensity of party loyalty, must draw the line at being governed by conspiracy.

GREENWAY'S GREAT VICTORY.

The Greenway Government has made a great sweep in Manitoba. Out of 40 seats the Greenway Government has captured 32 seats with one election to be held yet—leaving the Opposition 7 at most. Of these only five at most will be straight Opposition, two being independents. The strength of the Opposition in the last Legislature was 17, so it will be seen that the elections have greatly strengthened the Greenway Government, a circumstance which tends to discredit the rumour that Greenway has any idea of compromise on the school question.

CAN there be any stronger condemnation of the new Ministry than the expressed reasons of the bolters for going out? We still have an "incompetent" Premier, and "the nest of traitors" is back again.

HOW will those numerous Conservative journals that have been denouncing the bolting Ministers in round terms, take the sharp curve and begin singing their praises? We believe many of them have too much self respect and too much patriot to make the attempt.

WHILE Australia, and the colonies in that part of the world, are offering help to Britain in her threatened danger, the factions at Ottawa are strengthening the Empire by a rebellion as mischievously ridiculous as a revolution in a South American republic.

PERSONAL.

Mr. John Bertram, of Toronto, was in town to-day.

Mr. R. Fair has just returned from a ten days' business trip to New York.

Mr. H. P. Kennedy leaves for New York York to-morrow to visit his friend, Mr. H. Sherin.

Mrs. Poole and Miss Beatty, of Beamsville, are the guests of Mrs. J. Jaffries, Aylmer street.

Supt. Webster, of the G.T.R., who has been in town for the last few days, left for Barrie yesterday.

The Port Hope Guide says—Mr. Wm. Truscott and wife, of Souris, Manitoba, are visiting friends in Peterborough.

The Scottish American, of January 8th, makes reference to the recent death of Mr. Andrew Douglas, of Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Gough, of Lindsay, are in town for a few days, at the residence of their brothers on Hunter street.

Mr. Joseph Bradburn, of Belleville, has taken up his residence in town, being employed by the Peterborough Canoe Co.

Miss Jule Murphy, who has been the guest of her friend, Miss Kate Ryan, Dalhousie street, has returned to her home in London.

Miss Annie Sproule left this morning for New York, where she will reside in future with her uncle, Mr. Thistle. Miss Sproule intends completing her musical education at the Boston Conservatory.

A telephone received at noon to day gave the first real hope of a favourable issue of the illness of Miss Jessie Fairweather. To-day she took, and retained, the first nourishment by way of the mouth she has taken since her attack of hæmorrhage of the stomach. If nothing unforseen sets in she is likely to recover.

Taking Cold

Is the cause of half our diseases.

The worst of taking cold is not always a cough.

It is often our nerves.

Our nerves become weakened and we become debilitated and sick.

The nerves keep us well when they are well.

When they fall sick, we do.

Exposure, worry, overwork, excesses, etc., will make the nerves play out.

MADILL'S EMULSION

No Trouble to Answer Letters

Most people when meditating the purchase of a Piano feel more or less troubled in making a decision. The structure of a Piano is a thing they know so little of.

If you feel this way just write us a line and ask for information. It is no trouble at all to us. It is our business. We are experts of a quarter of a century's standing in the trade. Our stock is large. Our variety of styles is infinite, especially when you consider that we handle many other Canadian and American Pianos than those of our own make. Our prices are moderate, quality considered. Our terms are easy. Our Pianos are exceptional.

Again we say it is no trouble to answer letters, therefore write us and get full particulars.

A LIFE SAVED

BY TAKING

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

"Several years ago, I caught a severe cold, attended with a terrible cough that allowed me no rest, either day or night. The doctors, after working over me to the best of their ability, pronounced my case hopeless, and said they could do no more for me. A friend, learning of my trouble, sent me a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which I began to take, and very soon I was greatly relieved. By the time I had used the whole bottle, I was completely cured. I have never had much of a cough since that time, and I firmly believe that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved my life."—W. H. DRUGS AND DRINK.

Stimulants That Cause Far More Harm Than Alcohol.

With our civilization has come a great and continual decrease in drunkenness. The "national drink bill," concerning which so much is said, is less, man for man, than it was a century ago, or at least represents a less consumption. We hear more about drunkenness, but that is because we have ceased to regard it as a matter of course, a regular part of daily life. Therefore, it may be surmised that our blue-ribbon and other armies in fighting the "drink fiend," are striking at what is after all a dying monster, though dangerous even in the death-grips.

Meanwhile another and subtler demon arises. The vices of civilization are with us, and those who would scorn to "drink," as they call it—differentiating the consumption of alcohol from that of all other liquids—indulge in drugs of various kinds. Opium, either in the form of laudanum-drinking or in the subtler form of the hypodermic injection of morphia, is, though not common, less rare than it is guessed to be. Insomnia or pain which to our sensitive nerves seem intolerable is the excuse for beginning the habit, and the end is worse than drunkenness. The "cocaine habit" is a recognized fact in America, where our Teutonic race, subjected to an intenser climate and an intenser life than in Europe, has developed a quicker sensibility and more irritable nerves. The inhalation of chloroform has proved an irresistible temptation to many, and women who would scorn any indulgence in wine, sip eau de Cologne and other perfumes.

Infinitely more dangerous than alcohol are these forms of inebriety in that no revolting associations surround them. Their victims do not regard themselves as drunkards—at least not until the habit is fully formed. They cannot identify their nervousness, their faintness, their sleeplessness with the cravings of the staggering loafer of the street, nor the rest they obtain after the dose with the stupor of vulgar drunkenness. Therefore, to an extent which is not generally realized, women are subject to this temptation. Their imagination is not offended, and they can usually obtain the drug they want without suspicion and carry it about in convenient forms. It takes a long time for even intimates to realize that the depression, the irritability, the varying moods of a rigid abstainer arise from drunkenness; we generally conceive that condition as being due to only one source. And drug habits of various sorts become incurable just because no one realizes that they are simply a form of inebriety.

The general habit of drugging is to be condemned. No healthy person needs continual medicating with either digestives, purgatives, tonics or sedatives. If a doctor prescribes these things, good and well; he knows, presumably, when to give and when to stop, but the irresponsible way in which people pour substances far stronger than alcohol into their systems would awaken one's admiration of their courage, if it did not arouse one's indignation at their folly. Cases have been known of ginger drunkenness. Extracts of ginger, popular among women as relieving functional disturbances, contain strong alcohol disguised by the pungent spice. Arsenic eating is not confined to Styria, but is popular as an improvement to the complexion among the society dames of Australia, while innocent people take strychnine in their tonics without knowing it until they feel "jumpy." The danger is two-fold—first the directly injurious effects of the chosen drug, and secondly the risk of constantly clasping to one's breast a viper more malignant than the "drink fiend." Alcohol we know and dread, but these things, as dangerous as alcohol—we take without any fear. And while for men and women of a different race, dwelling in a hot and malarious climate, quinine, opium and other drugs may be not only harmless, but even wholesome, they are for us Anglo-Saxons, except in rare instances, subtle and pernicious foes.

Hall Caine's First Novel.

Though Rossetti had always urged him to become a dramatist, he had also encouraged him to write novels, advising him to become the novelist of Manxland. "There is a career there," he used to say, "for nothing is known about this land." The two friends had discussed Hall Caine's plot of "The Shadow of a Crime," which Rossetti had found "immensely powerful but unsympathetic," and it was with this novel that Hall Caine began his career as a writer of fiction. He had married in the meanwhile, and with forty pounds (two hundred dollars) in the bank and an assured income of a hundred (five hundred dollars) a year from The Liverpool Mercury, he went with his wife to live in a small house in the Isle of Wight, to write his book. "I labored over it fearfully," he says, "but not so much as I do now over my books. At that time I only wanted to write a thrilling tale. Now what I want in my novels is a spiritual intent, a problem of life."

"The Shadow of a Crime" appeared first in serial form in the Liverpool Mercury, and was published in book form by Chatto & Windus in 1885. For the book rights Hall Caine received seventy-five pounds (three hundred and seventy-five dollars), which with the one hundred pounds (five hundred dollars) from The Liverpool Mercury, is all that he has ever received from a book which is now in its seventeenth edition.—R. H. Sherard, in McClure's Magazine for December.

The Size of the Sun.

The earth on which we stand, says Sir Robert Ball, is no doubt a mighty globe, measuring as it does 8000 miles in diameter; yet if the earth be represented by a grain of mustard seed, then on the same scale the sun should be represented by a cocoanut. Perhaps, however, a more impressive conception of the dimensions of the great orb of the day may be obtained in this way. Think of the moon, the queen of the night, which circles monthly around our heavens, pursuing as she does, a majestic track at a distance of 240,000 miles from the earth. Yet the sun is so vast that if it were a hollow ball, and if the earth were placed at the centre of that ball, the moon could revolve in the orbit, which it now follows, and still be entirely enclosed within the sun's interior.

Partly Successful.

"I want to get some information," said the brisk, business-like man who had dropped in, "and I don't know any better place to hunt it in than a newspaper office."

"What is it you want to know?" asked the man temporarily at the city editor's desk.

"Why, it's like this," rejoined the caller, sitting down and drawing his chair up for a confidential interview. "In our town over in Iowa, we're trying to knock the gas company's price down from $1.25 to $1. We claim there's a big profit in it at 90 cents. The company contends it would lose money at a dollar. My business here—I'm the attorney of our town—is to hunt up an expert that knows exactly what it costs to make gas and get him to come over and testify, or send his deposition. There's to be a conference between the gas company and the city authorities next week, and the question's going to be settled. The gas company has an attorney that will swear to anything. If the company wants him to swear that it costs $40 a thousand feet to make gas he'll do it. He hasn't any more conscience than an old setting hen. The man I want must be able to prove him a liar and"—

"Yes, yes," interrupted the man at the desk. "I may be able to put you on the track of an expert. What's the name of your town?"

"Skokertyville. Acquainted there?"

"Yes. What's the name of that attorney for the gas company?"

"Skanklinberg. Know him?"

"Yes. He's my brother."

"Good afternoon."—Chicago Tribune.

A TELEPHONE IN THE STOMACH

Peculiar Phenomena of Human Nature

In an age when that subtle force electricity is presenting wonders to the world almost daily, and the Wizzard of Menlo Park has become the hero of the hour, there seems to be nothing that we may not expect in this direction. But it was not left to an Edison to establish a telephone in the stomach of human beings. The Great Maker of man in the economy of human nature provided such an instrument centuries ago. It is a fact that within the stomach of every man and woman there is a little instrument that telephones to the nerve centres in the brain as quickly as any food reaches that part. When for any reason this communication is stopped the food is undigested and physical trouble ensues. With word promptly sent from stomach to nerve centres, these supply the necessary juice that aids digestion, and nature successfully does her part, good health is enjoyed and man is able to perform with energy and pleasure his everyday duties. It will happen at times that these nerve centres will become deranged and lose their forces; then it is that a remedy must be supplied, just as the skill of the electrician is necessary when something goes wrong with the office telephone. South American Nervine is the electrician, so far as the human body is concerned. It is a medicine unique and exceptional in this particular that it works directly upon the nerve centres, and when these are out of order it quickly places them in proper repair and completeness. Nearly all diseases, especially indigestion, dyspepsia, nervousness, general debility, sick headache and disordered liver arise through trouble at the nerve centres. You can just as readily count on South American Nervine effecting a proper cure in all such cases as you can depend upon the electrician of the Bell Telephone Co., removing any derangements that has taken place in your telephone. Sold by H. S. McDonald.

HYAMSES AGAIN REMANDED.

An Important Crown Witness Who Continues to Elude the Officers—Other Cases Before the Colonel.

Toronto, Jan. 15.

When the case against the Hyams twins was called yesterday His Worship asked the Crown Attorney if he was ready to go on with the conspiracy to murder charge. Mr. Curry replied that the Crown had so far been unable to locate Ste. Marie, the Montreal man, whose evidence it is expected will have a most important bearing on the case. Continuing, Mr. Curry explained that the Montreal police had written him to the effect that Ste. Marie was in hiding.

"What can Ste. Marie prove?" asked the magistrate.

"He can prove," replied Mr. Curry, "enough to satisfy Your Worship, in my humble opinion, that these two men should be committed to stand their trial on this charge."

Mr. Johnston, the prisoners counsel, then said: "If we had any idea what Ste. Marie would say, if the Crown did manage to get him here, we would be willing to grant a reasonable adjournment. But, can he show any conspiracy to murder?"

"Of course," interposed the Colonel, "if Ste. Marie will swear that Harry Hyams told him in the streets of Montreal that he was effecting this insurance with the intention of killing his wife after everything was arranged, there might be some evidence." (Laughter.)

"Montreal is a large place," said Mr. Curry, "and it takes some time to search the city with a fine tooth comb for this man Ste. Marie. We ought to have a week at least."

After some further discussion the case was laid over till next Monday.

Knight is Still Alive.

Brantford, Jan. 14.—The report circulated last night that William Knight, the young man shot at a chartvari near Newport, was dead is not correct. Knight is still alive, but his condition is very low.

Its Cause and Cure

Cold weather, shivering, no heat to sustain, emaciated, because ill-nourished. This is either because the starchy foods are improperly acted upon by the digestive juices or the oily constituents of the food are not assimilated. Cod Liver Oil combined with Maltine and Hypophosphites supplies this deficiency, for the oil, rendered palatable and easy of digestion, is at once assimilated and stored up in the form of adipose tissue. Besides this the maltine renders soluble the starchy foods—whose special function is to supply heat or fatty tissue—thus affording material necessary to supply the waste of the body. Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites is at once a food, body builder, and medicine, incomparably superior to any preparation for the consumptive or debilitated. Verify this by a trial.

Repairing and patching promptly attended to Corner Bethune and Sherbrooke street

The big, hearty, healthy man is a continual irritation to his dyspeptic friend. One man in a hundred is perfectly healthy. The other 99 have some digestive trouble, and perhaps more than 50 per cent. of these could trace their trouble to that most prevalent evil—constipation. It's a simple thing of itself, but like many simple things, it may grow and become complicated. Constipation is the root of nine-tenths of the sickness of men, and of a large proportion of the sickness of women. It can be cured. It can be cured easily, naturally and quickly. There is no reason save that of carelessness why it should cause the trouble that it does. Nature is continually working as hard as she can to throw off impurities, and to force out poisonous refuse matter. Nature is not a dray-horse and should not be overworked. Nature is systematic. Some little thing may interfere with the system, and cause serious derangement. The removal of this little impediment sets the wheels working again without any trouble.

This is exactly what Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets do. They assist nature in a gentle, healthful, efficient way. There is nothing violent about their action, and yet it is just as certain as if it were twice as violent. The use of the "Pellets" doesn't derange the system in any way, and once it is in order, you can stop taking them. There are unscrupulous druggists, who will tell you that something else is "just as good." They are mistaken—or worse. Whether they are ignorant or untruthful matters little to you if you do not get the "Pellets." Insist on getting what you ask for.

READY FOR BATTLE.

The Flying Squadron Put In Commission.

ITS DESTINATION IS NOT KNOWN

Some Patriotic Sentences Delivered by the Right Hon. A. J. Balfour at Glasgow—Lord Salisbury Thanks the Antipodeans—Latest News From the Transvaal.

London, Jan. 14.—The vessels composing the new flying squadron, the duties of which are still problematical, were put in commission to-day, with all the ceremonies that attend that naval function. The fleet is composed of the first-class battleship Revenge (flag ship) and Royal Oak, the first cruisers Theseus and Gibraltar, and the second-class cruisers Charybdis and Hermoine and six torpedo boat destroyers. The fleet, exclusive of the torpedo boat destroyers, mounts 72 guns and has a total tonnage of 72,070. The officers and crew number over 4000 men. Rear-Admiral Fred. T. Dale commands the squadron. The destination of the squadron is still unknown. But little reliance is placed on the statement that it is to proceed to Turkish waters.

The Kaiser Has Not Apologized.

Berlin, Jan. 14.—The North German Gazette publishes an official denial of the statements made in the press that excuses in any form have been made by Germany for her action in the Transvaal.

Official List of the Prisoners

The British South Africa Company has issued an official list of the prisoners, rank and file, of the force which Dr. Jameson led into the Transvaal. The list includes the name of Clement, presumably Victor B. Clement, who had been appointed assistant consulting engineer to the Consolidated Gold Fields. The list bears with it a note stating that all the rank and file of the prisoners were put on board a train at Pretoria on Jan. 11, en route for Natal, under an escort, to be turned over to the British Government. They were all in good health and excellent spirits.

The British South Africa Association announces that President Kruger of the Transvaal republic has prohibited the transmission of all telegrams from Transvaal territory to the British South Africa Company.

BALFOUR IS RIGHT.

He Thinks Britain Would be a United Empire in Case of War

Glasgow, Jan. 14.—The Right Hon. Arthur J. Balfour, First Lord of the Treasury, was the recipient of the freedom of the City of Glasgow to-day. Mr. Balfour, in a speech replying to the address conferring this honor upon him, congratulated the country upon the harmony and unity which prevailed among the political parties at this time—a time fraught with national danger. "If, which heaven forbid," he said, "the time should come when Great Britain should again find herself fighting for her very life the forces arrayed against her, I venture the prophecy that there would be no such bitter divisions in the British ranks as there were during the French revolution, but that Scotchmen, Englishmen and Irishmen of all parties, whether they were inhabitants of these islands, Great Britain and Ireland, or were a part of the great colonial empire, which is the pride of the nation, would forget their party differences and join the undivided host to resist any attacks by which the Empire could be threatened."

SALISBURY'S THANKS.

The Premier Expresses Appreciation of the Feeling Shown by the Antipodeans.

London, Jan. 14.—Lord Salisbury has sent cablegrams to the Governments of Australia and the Government of Tasmania, expressing thanks for their patriotic sympathy and support. "Nothing," the Premier said in his telegrams, "can give us greater confidence in maintaining the interests of the country than the knowledge of the good will of the colonies."

Mr. Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, has sent a telegram to Sir H. Robinson, Governor of the colonies, in reference to the arrest in Johannesburg of members of the Reform Union and others. Mr. Chamberlain expressed fears that a large number of such arrests would have the effect to disorganize the industries carried on in the Rand, and asked a number of questions as to what the men arrested were accused of, when these would be tried, whether bail would be allowed, what the penalties were in the event of their conviction of the offences of which they were charged, etc. In conclusion Mr. Chamberlain directed Governor Robinson, in addition to guarding the interests of British subjects under arrest, to give equal attention to the American and Belgian prisoners in accordance with requests of the respective Governments.

ITALY'S WAR.

Britain Said to Have Ceded Zeila—Abyssinians Again Whipped

Rome, Jan. 14.—Several papers here announce that Great Britain has agreed to cede to Italy the town of Zeila, on the Somali coast. The possession of this town would enable Italy to throw troops into the southern and central parts of Abyssinia without their having to make the long march from Massowah, the capital of the Italian colony of Erythrea.

A despatch to The Capitale from Massowah says that the Abyssinians yesterday attacked Makali for the fifth time. The Italian garrison withheld their fire until the Abyssinians were in close quarters, and then poured volley after volley into them with terrible effect. Just about the time the attack was made four thousand troops under Col. Albertone arrived at Makalle. They surprised the Abyssinians by attacking them on the flank and completely routed them.

A column of 12,000 men under Gen. Baratieri, the commander of the Italian forces in Erythrea, and another column 4200 strong, under Col. Arimonde, are nearing Makalle, and it is expected that they will raise the siege of that place.

MANITOBA SCHOOL QUESTION.

The London Globe Considers it a Most Serious Matter for Canada.

London, Jan. 14.—Several newspapers discuss the Canadian crisis. The Globe says it considers the school question the most serious which has arisen since the Federation, adding, "If the Manitobans remain obstinate they must either be compelled to yield to federal force or the Government will connive at an assertion of states rights which will threaten the integrity of the Dominion."

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

Beaverton.—The Patrons of Industry held a convention here yesterday and unanimously chose Mr. R. C. Brandon, who was defeated lately by Mr. McGillivray, to be the independent candidate at the general elections.

Columbus, Ohio.—Ex-Governor Foraker has been elected United States Senator to succeed Mr. Brice.

Buffalo.—The warehouse of the Jewett Stove Works was burned yesterday. Loss $250,000; origin of fire unknown.

New York.—The Morgan Bond Syndicate has, it is said, been dissolved. They were after the whole $100,000,000, but were foiled by a public move.

Washington.—The gold reserve at the close of business yesterday amounted to $54,312,271.

Shot His Mother and Himself.

Ogdensburg, N.Y., Jan. 14.—William Oswell, aged 33 years, to-day shot his mother, Mrs. Virginia T. Oswell, aged 64 years, three times, killing her, and then shot himself. He recently lost his position. He was doubtless insane.

Poultry Show at Cobourg.

Cobourg, Ont., Jan. 14.—The Cobourg Poultry Association show is now in full running order. The number and class of birds surpass any previous exhibition held here. There are over 300 birds on exhibition and they comprise some of the finest fowl in Canada. The show lasts four days.

ONTARIO CREAMERIES ASSOCIATION.

The Eleventh Annual Convention Opened at Cornwall

Cornwall, Ont., Jan. 14.—The 11th annual convention of the Ontario Creameries' Association opened here this morning, Mayor Mulhern occupied the chair. The first business was the presentation of an address by President Derbyshire, who alluded to the improved conditions of the butter industry in Ontario, due largely to the generous aid given by the Ontario and Dominion Governments and the efforts of the Creameries' Association. While Canada exported more than half the cheese used in Britain, we sent only 2 per cent. of the butter, and a small proportion of the pork. To increase this was a chief mission of the association.

T. S. Pearce, London; J. H. Croil, Aultsville; Mr. Morger, Toronto, and A. A. Wright, Renfrew, took part in the discussion which followed. The directors were driven about the town and shown points of interest and in the afternoon addresses were delivered by A. A. Wright, Renfrew, on the management of a creamery; by Prof. Shutt of Ottawa, on the water supply of farmers, and by Prof. Brooks of Amherst, Mass., on how to preserve the fertility of the soil.

In the evening a banquet was tendered by the citizens to the association, which was largely attended.

If you would have an abundance of dark, glossy hair, if you would have a clean scalp, free from dandruff and irritating humours, or if your hair is faded and gray, and you would have its natural colour restored, use Ayer's Hair Vigor. It is unquestionably the best dressing.

science

Science is "knowing how." The only secret about Scott's Emulsion is years of science. When made in large quantities and by improving methods, an emulsion must be more perfect than when made in the old-time way with mortar and pestle a few ounces at a time. This is why Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil never separates, keeps sweet for years, and why every spoonful is equal to every other spoonful. An even product throughout.

In other emulsions you are liable to get an uneven benefit—either an over or under dose. Get Scott's. Genuine has a salmon-colored wrapper.

The report was adopted on motion of Messrs. Fitzgerald and Hall.

Mr. George Elliott, president, submitted, as appended, the

DIRECTORS REPORT.

To the Members of the Peterborough Agricultural Society :

GENTLEMEN,—Your directors beg leave to present their annual report for the year 1895, and in doing so may remark that the society has reason to congratulate itself on the success of last year's exhibition, but at the same time we must remind you that there are conditions present which suggest that some changes will have to be made, either in the way of receiving increased assistance or in curtailing the expenditure. The former is the way we would like to take out of the difficulty, as any curtailment of the expenditure, we feel, must affect the success of our exhibition as an agricultural show. In commencing operations in 1895 we had a deficit which was carried over from the previous year, and, when we came to settle with the prize winners, we found that our departments had been filled up in all classes, and the prizes had been taken in every case where offered, so that we were called upon to pay out $250 more for prizes than in the former year. Added to this, which, we may say, was an expense which we should not regret, as it is an evidence of the success of our show, our outside attractions cost us more this year than before. In the face of these conditions our exhibition has just been self-sustaining in 1895, the excess of the expenditure over the receipts being about the amount of the deficit carried over from the previous year, a deficit which it will be remembered was caused by the improvements to the building and grounds which were made in 1894.

Our object has been to make the Peterborough Central Exhibition a success, to make it the best exhibition outside of the largest cities, and in these endeavours we believe we have been fairly successful. As in other years we must ask the sympathy and support of the citizens of the town and country, and if we have these we believe the society may go forward into another year with hopefulness.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

GEO ELLIOTT,
President.

Mr. Thos. Hunter inquired as to whether the evening entertainment in connection with the exhibition paid for itself.

Mr. Elliott answered that this year the night show receipts were almost $200 behind the expenditures. The year before it paid its own way.

Mr. Hunter thought that unless the Street Railway Company was inclined to shoulder more of the expense, the evening entertainment should be dropped.

The matter was left over for future discussion.

Prior to the election of officers for the year Mr. Elliott stated that he had occupied the chair for five years and now he desired to allow the honour to pass on to some one else.

Mr. George Fitzgerald stated that five years ago the exhibition was almost bankrupt, but had under Mr. Elliott's able management, reached an era of prosperity which was a great credit to him. He moved that Mr. Elliott be re-elected by acclamation, which resolution was unanimously carried.

Mr. Elliott did not wish to assume all the credit for the success attending the show of late years. All the Board had worked equally hard, and all were deserving of the same meed of praise.

The following will compose the officers for the year :

President—George Elliott.
1st Vice-President—Wm. Rutherford.
2nd Vice-President—Jas. Davidson.
Directors,—Thos. Hall, J. H. Garbutt, T. M. Hunter, J. Stothart, D. Kennedy, H. H. Braden, A. P. Morgan, R. Vance and H. C. Winch.

The honorary Directors were declared re-elected.

Auditors — W. G. Hall and J. Fred. Davidson.

The new-elected officials in thanking the members for the honour conferred upon them, all took occasion to severely criticize the County Council for not making the usual grant to the Exhibition.

Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., expressed himself as believing that if the township of Smith sent a larger deputation to the County Council he had no doubt but that the grant could be again obtained. He hoped that some time in the future the town and county would unite in purchasing buildings and land worthy of each for exhibition purposes. The town, he was sure, would be always willing to enter into such an arrangement on any reasonable basis.

WASTING YOUR LIFE.

Failure of Physical and Mental Force—To add to Length of Life—Use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

With a pathetic sigh how often it has been said :

"Well, then, I suppose I must let go my hold on life."

To fathers and mothers of unreared children this is tragic.

But whence cometh sure and timely help? If death is preventable, how?

The timely answer is : By scientific and successful kidney treatment—by using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Hundreds write to thank us and tell of their cure, but none to say that Dodd's Kidney Pills have ever failed.

HAULTAIN ITEMS.

From our own Correspondent.

The festival held by the Methodist church on Christmas eve was a great success.

A large audience filled the school house, although the weather was very disagreeable. The tree, the attraction of the evening, was hung with a variety of gifts for old and young.

Mr. Charles Hales was chosen chairman and short programme was given by the young people :—

Recitation	Ella Hales
Song	Maude and Maggie Northy
Recitation	Gertie McAuley
Dialogue	Ella Hales and I McAuley
Song	Joe and Maggie Northy
Reading	Miss Church
Hymn	Mrs J McAuley and Rev J Barnes
Recitation	Rollie Stone
Solo	Rev J Barnes
Recitation	Arthur Stone

Recitation	Jessie Reid

At the conclusion of the programme Santa Claus made his appearance and soon emptied the tree. Amongst the gifts were a pair of driving gloves, a silk pocket handkerchief and a neck handkerchief for the Rev. J. Barnes.

Mrs. Clarke Stone dislocated her ankle last week and it has given her a great deal of pain and inconvenience. We hope soon to see her around among us again.

Mr. John Myers, from Inkaterre, Dakota, a former resident in this neighbourhood, was here last week for a short visit.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE, LAKEFIELD MEETING.

A VERY LARGE ATTENDANCE OF THE PUBLIC.

Several Timely Topics Profitably Discussed—An Excellent and Profitable Session—A Delightful Evening Session.

The Farmers' Institute of West Peterborough opened here on Tuesday morning with the energetic president, Mr. J. Fred. Davidson, in the chair.

The attendance at the sessions here are larger than usual, showing that the farmers of our county are awakening to the fact that there is yet a great deal to learn regarding our present-day farming, owing to the keen competition that is brought to bear from all parts of the world.

Owing to the absence of Prof. Shuttleworth, who was unable to be present owing to the opening of the College, the programme was changed to "Ventilation and Floors of the Stable and Barns," which elicited discussion.

In the afternoon Mr. Payne read a very good and well prepared paper on "Science in Connection With Agriculture."

Mr. A. H. Pettit gave an exhaustive address on "Fruit Growing in Connection wit the Farm." He thought there was a great deal to be made out of fruit, if well cultivated on the farm. He stated that arrangements were being made for cold storage, so that we could ship our fruit to England and have it arrive there in good salable order. The Englishmen want a good apple. He stated that the best varieties for the part of the country from where he came was the Rhode Island, Greenings, Baldwins, Northern Spies and Golden Russets. He thought that it would pay the farmer to devote more attention to their fruit, also in the way it was put up for market, as the better it is packed the higher price it will command.

Mr. J. C. Brown thought that the Northern Spies and Russets were our best varieties for this locality, also the Duchess of Oldenburgh, which might be grafted and yield fruit that would not decay so rapidly.

Mr. Pettit thought that as soon as the cold storage system would be perfected that the Duchess would be an apple that would please the English market, if got there in proper time.

SHEEP RAISING.

Mr. Thomas Brown, of Millbrook, delivered a paper on "Sheep Raising." In his paper he showed that sheep raising in this country might be a very profitable industry, and is one that is very much neglected. Some farmers say they require too much pasture, but what will you raise on ten acres that will pay as well as sheep?

As a remedy for ticks he would recommend arsenic and soft soap with a little coal oil and water sprinkled over the sheep with a watering can.

They should be well cared for in the winter and not allowed to get wet, as the wool held the wet and made it uncomfortable for the sheep. In shearing he considered the best time of the year to be April, as they then had all the wool they would have and even if they were not washed and and sold their wool unwashed, they would still make money.

In the summer, sheep should have shelter from the heat of the sun, where they could go and rest in the middle of the day, even if it was only a roof, as they would feed in the morning and evening.

The best feed for sheep he considered to be turnips and clover for winter feeding. They should be given salt regularly, with a little sulphur mixed in it. A plentiful supply of water should be given each day.

By careful attention to the sheep good monetary results would follow.

Mr. McEwing then spoke on the

ESSENTIALS TO SUCCESSFUL FARMING.

He started out by saying that you would naturally think the farmer one who is able to acquire the most land and stock, and have the largest amount of money in the bank, but such very often was not the case, for in grabbing and working to make money he neglected his family, and kept them down with barely the necessaries. When he died they would very soon squander his money.

A successful farmer is a man who is well-to-do, who is able to keep his family together, able to live, and at the proper time able to settle his family off in a fair way.

He considered that to make farming successful it was necessary that the Government should provide better shipping and storing facilities for the farmers, so that their produce could reach the British markets earlier and in good condition.

Cheese occupied a very enviable position in this country, but some unprincipled people were not careful enough regarding it, sending it over as summer cheese when made in the fall of the year; the Americans sending cheese through Canada to Britain, and selling it there as Canadian cheese, thus destroying the reputation of our Canadian cheese. He thought that all factories should brand their cheese with name of factory, location and date of making, and by doing so remedy this evil.

The price now is very low, owing to the competition over the world and the margin of profit so small that it requires close looking after in the smallest detail.

If a farmer wants to be successful, don't get hold of more land than you are able to handle. A great many men are land poor with grasping too much.

A successful farmer must attend to his business closely, and more carefully than it used to be done. It will not do for him to be running to auction sales, and because a little time is given, buying something he does not need; and when agents come along, don't buy what you do not want. Be sure you need the article before you buy it, and be sure it is the article you want.

A great many of our young men leave the farms: why? One reason is the surroundings of our homes might be improved on.

The surroundings of the dwellings on the farm do not compare with those in the towns and villages, and this should not be so, for a little extra work and trouble would make them nicer than in town and village and would make our boys and girls more contented with farm life.

It is not always profitable to go into grain raising. If you wish to attain success go into something for which your farm is adapted, such as sheep, stockraising, dairying, etc.

It is better to devote your attention along one line. If you divide your energies you will not attain such results as you would if they were devoted to one particular branch.

The successful farmer should make himself thoroughly posted in his business, if it is stock raising the best breeds, feeding, etc. If dairying, the best kinds for milk, kinds of feed, etc.

Mr. McEwing then devoted some time to the best and most practical methods of handling barn yard manure.

At the evening meeting there were present between 400 and 500, every seat being filled and every available space of standing room taken up.

MR. JOHN McKEE,
Druggist, Peterboro :

Dear Sir—I have been troubled with Neuralgia more or less for 25 years. For the past 10 years my sufferings have been intense, until last winter, when you advised me to try a box of "Templeton's Pink Powders." After taking three or four powders all pain left. I continued them, however, until three boxes were taken, and have had no recurrence of the pain for about nine or ten months, and would strongly advise anyone suffering from that most painful of troubles to try "Templeton's Pink Powders." Yours truly,

GRATIFICATION SALE

PREPARATORY TO STOCK-TAKING !

Our gratification for the successful business which our two big stores have been favoured with during the year just closed, is oozing out of every pore.

Our bounding enthusiasm urges us—perhaps rashly—to making our January business something phenomenal—something better and greater than anything in the past! Besides—

It's Price-Pruning Time, Previous to Taking Stock.

That usually means selling at about cost, but we mean to crowd bnsiness by crowding down prices away below anything you've ever known before.

The whole of our immense stock of Men's, Youth's and Boy's Clothing, Furnishings, Hats, Boots and Shoes, &c., have been marked down for immediate sale to prices that will make the whole Town and Country ring with the startling news!

Our Prices are Dwarfs! Our Values are Giants!

You lucky fellows who have been waiting for the cold weather, have struck it rich! Don't let go of that mighty dollar until you have seen what we are doing in the way of cut prices on Suits, Overcoats, Underwear, Hats and Boots.

The season is almost over with us, but it is only beginning with you. Gough Bros. don't propose to permit an accummulation of stock from season to season—even if it should take

THE ADDRESS.

Beginning of the Debate in Parliament.

HON. MR. LAURIER'S ABLE SPEECH

Sir Richard Cartwright Follows Mr. Foster Mr. Powell of Westmoreland Moves and Mr. McGillivray Seconds the Address—The Arms for the Volunteers.

Ottawa, Jan. 16.—The House of Commons took up the regular business of the session this afternoon as though there has been no crisis and no interruption threatening to pitch over the whole Parliamentary program. There were full galleries, although the slump in popular curiosity was observable in the diminished attendance. For the first day this session the silk-upholstered chair placed beside Mr. Speaker's dais was unoccupied. The floor, however, was not entirely without distinguished visitors, because at the left of Mr. Speaker sat Hon. A. G. Blair, Premier of New Brunswick. There was a briskness of manner noticeable about the Hon. Mr. Foster from the calling to order of the House, which indicated his resumption of the leadership. When an occasion for a formal motion arose during the preliminaries he rose and made a fairly successful attempt to look unconcerned, while just the flicker of a smile passed over the countenance of the Liberal leader at this last evidence of the rehabilitation of the Finance Minister.

Mr. Powell, the youthful-looking member for Westmoreland, rose to move the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne. He was warmly cheered and made a splendid impression on the House, his sentiments often evoking cheers from both sides. It is generally admitted that he will prove a decided acquisition to the Ministerial forces. Without delay he plunged into a discussion of the school question. He gave a brief survey of the history of the question, and drew attention to the pacific tone of the first order-in-council sent by the Dominion to the Manitoba Government. He claimed that under the Canadian constitution no such thing as provincial autonomy existed, and in support of this view referred to the circumstances under which confederation was brought about. The constitution provided for maintenance of the central power, all provincial legislation being subject to disallowance. Without doubt the Parliament of Canada had power to interfere in educational matters, as it had in matters of criminal law or promissory notes. As respects the allegation that there was no occasion for interference, he said that if the sweeping away of Separate schools did not provide the occasion, no such occasion could ever arise.

After referring briefly to other paragraphs in the speech Mr. Powell resumed his seat amid great applause.

Major McGillivray, the farmer-lawyer-military member for North Ontario, seconded the address in a very able speech. He said this Parliament was remarkable for many things. It had seen three Premiers come and go and, notwithstanding these reversals, the Conservative party was as strong as ever in the House and in the country. (Cheers.) Little wonder that it could come through a political crisis unscathed. (Cheers.) He paid a tribute to the life of Frank Madill, the previous representative of North Ontario in Parliament, and then passed on to congratulate the country on having Lord Aberdeen, a man of judgment and ability, as representative of Her Majesty. His Excellency had shown his faith in the country by investing in its broad acres. (Cheers.) Taking up the different clauses in the Speech from the Throne he dwelt on the development of Manitoba and the Northwest, paying a tribute to the efficiency of the Northwest mounted police. He spoke of the exodus cry of the Opposition and said if Canadians living in Michigan, Dakota or Kansas were canvassed, it would be found that they had left this country before the National Policy went into force—(ironical Opposition cheers)—and that was to the Government. many of these Canadians were now returning to their native land. (Cheers.) The farmers of Canada were indebted to the Conservative party for the attention which their industry was now receiving. To Sir John Carling the country owed a debt of gratitude for the establishment of the experimental farms. (Cheers.) The Minister of Agriculture (Mr. Montague) gave promise of being a stalwart agriculturist. (Hear, hear.) He was evidently in favor of an aggressive policy. He advised Mr. Montague to devote some attention to the question of sheep breeding. He was glad to know that a sheep expert was to be appointed to the Central Farm. Dealing with the paragraph in the Speech referring to the militia, he said in the past the volunteers of Canada had been starved, and he trusted that Parliament would make a liberal appropriation to give them good arms and equipment. (Cheers.) He had great pleasure in seconding the address, believing Parliament would do its best in the interests of this Canada of ours. (Loud cheers.)

Mr. Laurier, who was received with Liberal cheers, said the session was both unprecedented and extraordinary, for the reason that Parliament was summoned to consider the gravest question, perhaps, that ever came before it, a question which might permanently affect this Canadian confederation. He congratulated the mover and seconder on their speeches. Mr. Powell's reputation as an orator had preceded him and it was quite evident that he would be an honor to the party to which he belonged. He (Laurier), however, could not accept him as a guide in constitutional matters. (Laughter.) Mr. McGillivray had also done very well. His stretches of imagination had, however, been beyond the ordinary. (Laughter.) His views on the exodus, for instance, were not in accordance with the facts. He (Laurier) was anxious to listen to Mr. McGillivray. He was desirous of hearing his views on the Manitoba school question. Mr. McGillivray's speech, however, threw no light upon his views on the school policy of the Government. Montreal Centre, Jacques Cartier, Cardwell and Victoria had uttered no uncertain sound on that point. (Opposition cheers.) The Speech from the Throne gave thanks to the Almighty for the bountiful harvest of the past season. This was a new departure. In previous years good harvests had been attributed to the National Policy. (Laughter.) Personally, he approved the expressions in the speech respecting the efficiency of the mounted police and the good work done in the Indian industrial schools. After visiting the Northwest, he came to the conclusion that the police force was worth all the money spent on it, and that that body was requisite to the good government and peace of that country. (Conservative cheers.) He was curious to know what motive inspired the paragraph relative to strengthening of the Canadian defence. If our young men were ever to meet an enemy, which, God forbid, it would be sending them to butchery if they were not properly equipped. (Hear, hear.) He trusted, however, that the Government's proposition did not involve any jingo policy; since there had lately been a little ripple over the Venezuelan affair; but he was glad to say that the best of feeling prevailed between Canada and the United States to-day. In his judgment, a war between England and the States would be as fratricidal as the war of union. It was said there was a deep feeling in the States against England. He denied proposition altogether, and asserted that among the educated classes of the States there was nothing but feelings of love towards the old land. (Cheers.) This feeling found expression in Whittier's lines:

"We bow the heart, if not the knee,
To England's Queen, God bless her."
(Cheers.)

Those words did not fall on dull ears. He trusted the Government, therefore, would do nothing to suggest even the possibility of war with our neighbors. Referring to the proposed increase in representation of the Northwest Territories, he said it was not for a moribund Parliament to deal with an important matter of that kind.

Taking up the question of Manitoba schools, he said the elections of yesterday had indicated what the feeling of the province was. The Manitoba Government was in favor of considering the claims of the Catholic minority, and if grievances were found to exist, to give them the measure of relief which they asked. Both parties in Manitoba were agreed on this point. Under these circumstances the Parliament of Canada should be careful in the course it pursued. He made no hesitation in indicating what his views were. He deeply sympathized with his compatriots in Manitoba. He would wish to see them have their educational privileges restored, but he held that it was for the Legislative Assembly to restore them. There was an invincible repugnance in the minds of many to substitute the will of the Federal body for the will of the Local Legislature. He prophesied, that the Government would eventually have to assume the position which his party was now taking on this question. It could not be otherwise. The Government were great sticklers for standing by the constitution, and yet by their conduct in the matter of issuing writs for the bye-elections, they had violated the statutes systematically, wickedly and designedly, and had trampled on the sacred rights of the people. (Opposition cheers.)

Mr. Foster rose amid loud Ministerial applause and delivered a slashing reply. First of all he joined with Mr. Laurier in complimenting the mover and seconder. Mr. Laurier had referred to the recent bye-elections, but there was small comfort for his party in some of them. Take, for instance, North Ontario, where the Liberal became the third party, and was within 80 votes of losing his deposit. (Cheers.) In Cardwell, moreover, the Liberals were completely wiped out and had to contribute $200 to the revenue of the country. (Cheers and laughter.) Continuing, Mr. Foster said Mr. Laurier also drew attention to the section in the address which refers to strengthening of the militia and defences of Canada. He spoke words none too hearty, none too approving, of the militia of this country, and he voiced what is the general sentiment of this House and country, that its militia deserves well at its hands, and that it is the duty of the country to put the best and newest arms in the hands of the militia, and see that they are well taken care of and equiped in this respect. (Cheers.) But he had to say another thing, that it flavors somewhat of the jingo policy. Well, sir, I leave it to all reasonable men if, tying up that paragraph in the Speech, he can see anything in it which flavors of defiance or in the least approaches to a jingo policy. It is a modest and straightforward expression, and was never meant to be anything else. No person can in the present juncture or circumstances, whatever may be said at other times, no person in Canada who loves his country and desires its peace and its prosperity, can think of breathing a spirit of defiance or jingoism.

But he would read signs of times not aright in these somewhat troublesome days, when the great Mother Empire stands splendidly isolated in Europe, with interests stretching over the wide world, with a commerce the greatest any nation of the world has ever possessed, and invulnerable in every quarter of the sea, who did not feel as Britain feels to-day and is showing it, that the country's weal, the country's progress, the country's stability, all the country's pride and glory, must base itself upon the strong arms and willing, loyal hearts of the citizenship of that Empire, from one end of it to the other. (Loud cheers.) It is the right and the duty of Britain herself, and of every dependency that belongs to her, to be ready, aye ready, as well as steady, in its sentiments of loyalty and admiration for the Empire as a whole. (Loud cheers.) It is in that spirit, and not in any spirit that asks for war or trouble, that that modest reference was placed in the Queen's Speech.

After recess the discussion was resumed by Sir Richard Cartwright, who denounced the Government for their course on the school question. It was first their policy to bully and then to cringe. The Liberal policy was to investigate, to negotiate and not to cringe. Dealing with Mr. Foster's observations on the arming of the militia, instead of England being splendidly isolated, she was dangerously isolated The best work Canada could do for England was to provide her with an ally worthy of herr in the people of the United States. (Derisive cheers.) He defended the Opposition policy on the school question. The hour and the man had come for the settlement of the question, and that man was Mr. Laurier. (Cheers and counter-cheers.)

Mr. Dickey was loudly cheered on rising to reply. He spoke first on the militia question, repudiating Mr. Laurier's and Sir Richard Cartwright's insinuations that jingoism was at the base of the Government policy. When Congress voted a large sum of money to improve United States defences, no one took offence on this side. Why, then, should Canada fear or hesitate to do that which the needs of the country required. (Cheers.) As Minister of Militia at the time of the recent excitement, he realized the importance of taking action and pressed for improvement of Canadian defences. He was glad to find his colleagues acceding to his views, and to know that an adequate increase of defence would be adopted. (Cheers.)

Adverting to the school question, he said it was clear the Liberals wanted to turn it to their party advantage.

A FRIEND'S OPINION.

The Ottawa Journal, Conservative, has the following apropos of the claims of the hide-bound partizans that the present patched-up Cabinet represents the Conservative party:

Party good! A fine thing when it means public good. If a stout suspicion arises that to those who use the shibboleth party good means chiefly office and salaries and patronage and swelled heads, the people need to consider whether the time is ripe to give that party a trial in the fire and burn out some of the dross. Is the time ripe now? The answer is, of course, partly dependent on how the country's general interests may be affected—the national ideal and the business welfare. As to business welfare the Liberals argue very strenuously, that their advent to power will not cause any violent upsetting of trade or manufacturing, and it is a matter for the people to think over. As to the national ideal, there is some reason to think that a change in office would accomplish national good. Since Confederation, now nearly thirty years ago, the Liberals have had four years of power. For eighteen years successively up till now they have been in Opposition. They are Canadians, but they have had no Canadian responsibility. Possibly a term of responsibility would promote their virility as Canadians, their pride in the Canadian heritage, their broadmindedness and patriotism. If this be so, if the Dominion can be thus better solidified, the people would be well repaid indeed by chancing something as regards their business interests in an effort to purify the atmosphere of government and point the attention of parliamentarians to higher purposes and standards than seem to be fashionable among the Conservative leaders just now.

THE Mail and Empire says "it is a most gratifying tribute to Sir Charles Tupper's popularity that no less than eleven constituencies were placed at his disposal." Since the bye-elections Conservative constituencies are not considered safe investments. The recklessly indecent depletion of constituencies, caused by the appointments made by the rump Cabinet after the bolters got out, showed a remarkable alacrity in Conservative members to forego the honour of a seat in Parliament.

AT one time the Protestionists, says the Montreal Witness, used to parade their victories in bye-elections after the following fashion:—

Vercheres,
Antigonish,
Cardwell,
Montreal Centre,
Jacques Cartier,
West Huron.

Now it is the Tariff Reformers who are in a position to do so, and the Protectionists are thankful for having been able to hold their own by a plurality or greatly reduced majority in one or two counties, such as Westmoreland and North Ontario.

The Government politicians at Ottawa, are living in a fool's paradise. They seem to think, that because "the cats came back," that, as they say, the Conservative party again present a solid front against the machinations of their enemies. The clique of squabbling ministers, by no means represent the Conservative party, as an appeal to the country will show, as the bye-elections have shown. Self respecting Conservatives, in thousands, resent this tone of patronage as a gratuitous insult to their common sense, and sense of political decency. The dullest wit cannot avoid realizing the fact, that the present combination of political adventurers and political confidence men, have but one aim and that "spoil." They ignore the interests of their country altogether. Spoil is their watchword.

The Three Graces.

Rosy cheeks, laughing eyes, and teeth of pearly whiteness. Bright smiles with a background of teeth not resplendant of whiteness and purity,—impossible. Beauty may be found hidden in a bottle of foaming Ivorine, the newest, best, and most fragrant preparation. Ivorine is so nice to use—fragrant, refreshing. It purifies the breath, which it renders sweet, and to the teeth it imparts both whiteness and brilliancy.

"COWARDLY POLTROONS."

The Catholic Register So Describes the Bolters.

AMAZING CHAPTER IN POLITICS

They Have Lost All the Instincts of Statesmen, Even of Average Politicians—Equal to Any Species of Political Villainy—Men Unworthy of Confidence.

Toronto, Jan. 17.—The Catholic Register, which of late has been strongly supporting the Government, in its last issue, under the heading "A Conscienceless Clique," says:

Government in Canada has been brought to a state that baffles description. The situation at Ottawa can no longer be spoken of in a tone of reserve. Criticism now falls short and condemnation must take its place.

The events of one short week form the most amazing chapter of history ever known under constitutional government. Parliament was called together in order that legislation to which the Government stood solemnly pledged should be passed. The Government was not pledged upon an obscure issue or one contrary to public interest. The policy of remedial legislation was dictated by right and necessitated by the terms of the constitution. Such was the ground taken by the responsible leaders in the Cabinet—the Premier, Mr. Foster, Sir C. H. Tupper. Parliament met and the speech from the throne announced the expected legislation. Then was perpetrated an extraordinary outrage upon the Crown and the people. Seven Ministers deserted the Government before the Queen's speech was taken up, because, so their leader said, they considered the Premier an incompetent politician. Had the scheme of the deserters succeeded, the most disastrous blow that could possibly have been struck against the policy declared in the Queen's speech would have been inflicted. The dignity of the Crown would have been trampled under foot, upon the pretext that a Premier whose mental condition was declared by his own confreres no up to the standard, was attempting to force through a dying Parliament a bill obnoxious to the people.

Had the plot succeeded the policy at stake would have been utterly discredited. Every effort was put forth to make the blow tell, and under the stress of a treacherous combination between some of the leading Conservatives Sir Mackenzie Bowell was forced to offer his resignation to the Governor-General. The one fact which the conspirators neglected to take into account from the outset, or which, perhaps, they vainly imagined they could afford to ignore, was the dignity of the Crown. But they reckoned without their host. The Governor-General brought them to their senses momentarily at least. He was not going to permit an odious precedent to go upon the records of the Parliament of Canada directly insulting to his office, and contrary to all constitutional usage. Thus the bolters found themselves at bay, and, with the instincts of cowardly poltroons, they made hasty preparations to shirk responsibility for the monstrous wrong they had done.

The Mail and Empire on Monday told how their chief, Sir Charles Tupper, had been endeavoring to get them back to the positions they had deserted. All but his son; and the exception is susceptible of an explanation that seems to show that desertion of principles is still the watchword of the gang. Sir Mackenzie Bowell, we are told, would not consent to take back Mr. Foster, Mr. Haggart and Dr. Montague. He had mental acumen sufficient, it would appear, to recognize the ringleaders and make them feel their responsibility. Up to that hour Sir Mackenzie had acted the part of an honest statesman, with a single purpose to do right and look to the true sentiment of the country for his reward. He had made a speech in the Senate which was an honor to his position and to himself. But, alas! he was bound to go down before the corrupt clique who should themselves have gone down, and who will yet go down, to posterity branded as the traitors they are.

On Wednesday morning The World announced Sir Mackenzie Bowell's terms of capitulation. The legal time had not expired, and six of the cats might still come back. By cancelling the resignations the deserters would be saved the ordeal of facing their constituents, and their salaries would go on as if nothing had happened. Foster, Haggart, Ives, Dickey, Montague and Wood would come back, and Sir Charles Tupper, the stage manager of the drama, would come in. Sir Chas. Tupper, jr., would stay out, for good and sufficient reasons no doubt, which indeed are not hard to conjecture. If was Sir Charles, jr., who drafted the Remedial Order, and in the next scene he in all likelihood will be the scapegoat of the piece. A neat arrangement, isn't it? Sir Mackenzie Bowell will continue to lead probably until the address is put out of the way, but it would be assuming too much at this moment to think the present Premier will remain where he is very many days.

Here, of course, arises the question, will Sir Charles Tupper, for he is now virtually Premier of Canada, attempt to pass a Remedial Bill? Will he stake his success upon that issue after what has taken place within the Government? With the intentions of the Government henceforward honest men can have little concern. They are in a discredited, in a ridiculous, position before the country. It would be absurd to expect anything definite from them. This is the view we expressed last week, and all that has occurred since has helped to confirm us in our opinion. They have lost every claim to confidence, every right to public trust. They have lost all the instincts of statesmen, even of average politicians; the only characteristic that still clings to them is their dogged pertinacity to retain the fruits of office. We do not apply these remarks to all the members of the Government, for we know not how long or how short it may be until another crisis arises as important as the one now announced over.

The Honey Producers.

Brantford, Jan. 16.—The annual convention of the Ontario Beekeepers' Association opened here yesterday evening. Mr. J. B. Hall, of Woodstock, president, occupied the chair. The convention was well attended. A discussion arose on the question of beginners, which brought out the important decision that apiaries should not be established near one another. A discussion also arose as to what was the best time to hold the annual meeting, when it was decided to change from the beginning of January to the 15th of December. A discussion arose as to the association becoming to a great degree localized. From this it was decided to make the association thoroughly representative of the province, and have a representative from each district.

Paupers Eloped From Stratford.

Windsor, Jan. 16.—An odd-looking couple were seen in Windsor a few days ago on their way to spend their honeymoon in Michigan. They were Thmoas Gorman, aged 60, and his bride, formerly Mary Ann Brooks, aged 40. They were inmates of the poorhouse at Stratford, and had eloped. The authorities of the poorhouse showed that the couple were desirable inmates by telegraphing in all directions to have them apprehended. Gorman is a veteran of the British army and has a military bearing. His bride is a rather handsome brunette.

Dickenson to be Opposed.

Hamilton, Jan. 16.—An enthusiastic meeting of temperance men was held in the city to-night, and it was decided to bring out W. W. Buchanan to oppose John Dickenson, the Reform candidate in South Wentworth. The nomination takes place to-morrow. Mr. Buchanan is a city man, is editor of the Royal Templar and has a provincial reputation as a temperance worker.

Crushed to Death by a Rail.

Burford, Ont., Jan. 16.—Yesterday forenoon, near here, Alex. Bell, aged 19, received injuries by falling under an iron rail, which he was attempting to lift from which he died to-night.

The full intensity of living is reached only by the perfectly healthy. Sickness discounts the capacity for enjoyment. If his body is all out of order and run-down, he will not be able to enjoy anything, no matter how full of enjoyment it may be for other people. If he is just a little bit out of order, if he "is not sick, but doesn't feel just right" he will only be able to enjoy things in a half-hearted sort of way. The nearer he is to being perfectly well, the nearer will his capacity for enjoyment be perfect. If this condition doesn't exist, something ought to be done. That means nine cases in ten the use of Dr. Pierce's Medical Discovery. It works directly on the digestive organs, and on the blood and through these on every tissue of the body. STURDY SALISBURY.

Not Likely to Concede Much on the Venezuela Dispute.

SO LONDON NEWSPAPERS INDICATE

Vague Talk About a Permanent Tribunal of Arbitration Only Tends to Obstruct or Obscure More Practical Methods —The Ashantee King Accepts Britain's Terms.

London, Jan. 16.—The St. James' Gazette, commenting upon the speech which Mr. Balfour made at Manchester last night, says this afternoon: "Mr. Balfour does not give encouragement to the diplomatic amateurs who are trying to get the Americans to believe that we are wrong and will end by knuckling down.

"Those who have been led to believe that the Marquis of Salisbury intends to apply to Washington, asking it to be good enough to arbitrate or conciliate, are much mistaken, and we sincerely hope they have not been able to lead American opinion to share their error.

"There is an increasing disposition both in London and in Washington, to believe that the dispute can be arranged by negotiations between the only genuine parties thereto, Great Britain and Venezuela.

"We have no quarrel with the old Monroeism, but if the Senate insists upon setting up a new Monroeism which will render the United States absolute arbitrator of the affairs of the continent, of which one-third belongs to Great Britain, we certainly cannot avert the consequences by yielding. The issue, peace or war, lies with the Americans."

The Globe takes the same view of the arbitration proposition and asks how a court could be constituted whose decisions would be sure to command respect on both sides.

"To this day," adds The Globe, "the Americans have not carried out the Behring Sea award, and the arbitrators have no means of enforcing it."

THE THUNDERER IS EMPHATIC.

One Point on Which Great Britain Will Make No Concession.

New York, Jan. 16.—Mr. Ballard Smith cables from London to The World:

It would not seem from The Times' leader on Venezuela this morning that recent efforts toward arbitration have found much favor in Downing-street. If there exists any indication in the English press of Lord Salisbury's disposition in this matter, it is to be found in the columns of The Times. That paper has, from the beginning of the controversy, seemed inspired by the Premier.

If, therefore, it speaks by authority this morning, any material results from arbitration seem as remote as possible.

"We may emphatically repeat," says The Times, "That the only point on which the British Government can make no concessions is the retention under British sovereignty of bona-fide settled districts. If this can be secured, there is no reason for standing by the Schomburgk line.

"Meanwhile, vague talk about a permanent tribunal of arbitration, to which we are surprised to see Sir John Lubbock lends his countenance, can only tend to obstruct or obscure more practical efforts for solving the difficulty."

It is now settled that the territory really in dispute is that containing the gold-producing districts, which have attracted the immigration of English adventurers. Those districts conceded, it may be easily assumed that Venezuela may have the rest without further controversy.

Lord Salisbury has not only the largest party majority behind him in the history of Great Britain, but he has just now been assured of the unanimous and enthusiastic backing of the whole country in overt preparations for war against Germany. That danger now seems to have passed, for some time to come at least, and the Premier's policy towards us is not likely to be less dictatorial than it was before this assertion of practically unlimited support.

I point this out again because there seems danger that if he hereafter maintains the tone of his instructions to Sir Julian Pauncefote, it may surprise the people of the United States possibly to a dangerous repetition of the popular outburst of a few weeks ago.

WHIPPED THEM AGAIN.

The Beleaguered Italians at Makalle Secure a Supply of Water

Rome, Jan. 16.—The Government has received advices from Abyssinia that another attack was made by the Abyssinians upon the Italian stronghold at Makalle on Jan. 13, with the result that the natives were repulsed with greater loss than that which they sustained in their assault on Jan. 11. When the enemy fell back the Italians pursued them, and, taking advantage of this, the troops remaining within the fortifications were enabled to obtain for the fortress a new supply of water, of which the Italians were greatly in need.

TRANSVAAL MATTERS.

Mr. Chamberlain Looking After the Interests of the Prisoners.

London, Jan. 16.—On Jan. 14, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, sent a cablegram to Sir Hercules Robinson, Governor of the Cape Colony, asking for certain specific information in regard to the members of the Reform Committee and other persons lately arrested at Johannesburg by the Boer Government and taken to Pretoria for confinement, pending their trial. In this message Mr. Chamberlain expressed fears that wholesale arrests would disorganize the industries which are carried on in the Rand territory, and asked Governor Robinson to ascertain and report what the persons arrested were accused of; when they would be tried for the offences of which they were charged; whether bail would be allowed in their cases, pending trial; what were the penalties prescribed by the laws of the Transvaal Government for the acts of which the prisoners were accused, etc. To this despatch Governor Robinson replied by wire to-day that the arrested men were accused of treason, also of seeking to subvert the Government of the Transvaal, and that they would be tried by the High Court of the South African Republic, but that the date of their trial had not yet been fixed.

Governor Robinson said that the Government of the Transvaal Republic seems to be acting within their regal rights, and added that upon leaving Pretoria to return to Cape Town, he urged President Kruger to observe moderation towards the accused men, in order that he and his Government might not alienate the sympathy which they now enjoy.

SOME TORONTO ITEMS.

Sudden Death of a Well-Known Merchant —Agriculture and Arts Association

A few minutes after 6 o'clock last evening Mr. William Mara left his store, 79 Yonge-street, and walked towards King-street to take a Yonge and College car. He had not proceeded many yards when he fell prone on the sidewalk. This occasioned a great sensation, as the street was thronged with people hurrying to their homes. Among those who were close to Mr. Mara when he fell was Mr. Alfred Clarke of The World office. That gentleman, and Mr. Alexander Stratton, who has been Mr. Mara's book-keeper for 20 years, assisted a policeman and two young men in carrying Mr. Mara into his own store.

On being placed in the inner office of the store there was a rapid change. The head was cold, the lips rigid, and the pallor of death was on the face, though the pulse for some minutes continued to beat.

Dr. Cuthbertson was immediately summoned. He promptly arrived and pronounced Mr. Mara dead. Coroner Dr. Aikens was at once informed of the occurrence and he was early down at the store. The doctors examined the body, and were of opinion that heart disease was the cause of death. No inquest will consequently be held.

The Executive Committee of the Agriculture and Arts Association met at the Parliament buildings yesterday afternoon to wind up the affairs of the now defunct organization. An evening session was also held at the Walker House. Those present were Messrs. J. Sissons, president, Barrie; J. C. Snell, Edmonton; A. Rawlings, Forest; J. Legge, Gananoque; R. McEwen, Byron, and Henry Wade, secretary, Toronto. Mr. Nicholas Awrey, ex-M.L.A., was also present.

The treasurer's report for 1895 showed that the cash on hand at the first of the year, together with the receipts from all sources, totalled $39,507.38, and that the expenditure for all purposes amounted to $39,248.69.

A report made up from the record of the association during the half-century of its existence showed that the society at its death bequeated the province herd books and office furniture, worth $3000, a small cash balance and property yielding an annual rental of $4000.

John Cain, who hails from Lucan, was arrested yesterday by Detective Davis on two charges of petty theft, preferred by George Terry and Alice Porter.

Cain went to board at the American recently and several small articles have since been missed, some of which were found in his possession.

THE SECRET OF SUCCESS.

The Bedrock of Achievement Is Integrity.

The Phenomenal Sales of Dodd's Kidney Pills Accounted for.

The bed-rock of human character is integrity.

Integrity in a medicine, as in men, is the secret of success, if it ever be achieved at all.

When it is remembered that nineteen cases out of every twenty cases of illness are due to some form of kidney disorder, and taking the uniform success of Dodd's Kidney Pills into account, their phenomenal sale is explained.

Here is the history in brief of every testimonial published by the proprietors of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

A member of a family is taken ill. The doctor comes. He correctly diagnoses the disease, and he prescribes on the lines laid down in his books.

It may be Bright's Disease, or, perhaps Diabetes.

Both these diseases are set down as incurable in the Doctor's text book, and the only thing he can do is to let them run their fatal course.

Then some member of the family reads, or hears, of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and of their wonderful cures.

The first box is procured. It shows the good effects, perhaps, before the first box is all used.

A little while later and a grateful letter or message comes to us, and if the saved person is willing to have his case published we give the world the benefit of this particular experience.

Rand District Quiet.

New York, Jan. 15.—A cable despatch from Cape Town to The World, says: "The Rand district is quiet now. The mines are working and shops in Johannesburg have been re-opened.

"The bank balances of the 'Reform' prisoners have been impounded and their property will probably be confiscated. Exchange is high, but steady.

The Burghers are petitioning for the removal of the English suzerainty. The Orange Free State sympathizes with President Kruger.

Ex-Premier Rhodes is at Kimberley, where he was given a hearty reception by the people.

Nervous Prostration.

Cured effectually by Scott's Sarsaparilla.

His heart was affected.

"Overwork as a student at college brought on an attack of nervous prostration," says Mr. Gilbert, a railway missionary, "I was exceedingly nervous and if I exerted myself my heart commenced to flutter violently, and I was warned that even ordinary exercise endangered my life. But thanks to Scott's Sarsaparilla I feel better than I ever expected to feel, for I can now address a meeting without effort, can walk a brisk pace for two hours or more without exhaustion and am free from that distressing palpitation. In my work I have oftentime recommended Scott's Sarsaparilla, and have seen many cases where its effects have been most marked."

Scott's Sarsaparilla acts like magic in restoring shattered nerves because it rebuilds the nerve centres. Nervous headache, nervous dyspepsia and all nerve derangements wear on the system. Scott's Sarsaparilla makes new blood and muscles and strong nerves. Of all druggists, $1 per bottle. Dose from half to one teaspoonful.

PETERBOROUGH'S CUSTOMS COLLECTORSHIP IN PARLIAMENT.

Dr. Landerkin Will Question the Ministry.

Yesterday, in the House of Commons Dr. Landerkin, of South Grey, asked the Ministry the following questions :—

1. Has the collector of customs at Peterborough resigned or has he been removed from office?

2. Is there a deficit in his accounts? If so, what is the amount of such deficit? Is the Government secured by bondsmen? If so, what are their names, and are they responsible persons for the amount of their respective bonds? When was the last audit made of the accounts of the collector of customs at the port of Peterborough?

3. Did the collector receive permission from the Government or Department before leaving for Chicago, where he is now said to be domesticated?

4. If there is a vacancy, has an appointment been made, and if so, who is the present incumbent?

5. Has the late collector been paid the full amount of his salary each month during his term of office?

6. When does the Government or Department expect a report of the investigation at present being made?

7. How long has the Government or Department known that the affairs of the Customs House at Peterborough have been conducted practically without a responsible head?

THE MURRAY STREET CHURCH.

Its Annual Business Meeting Held Last Evening.

The members of the Murray street Baptist Church, held their annual business meeting, last evening, with Rev. J. E. Trotter, the pastor, in the chair.

The Clerk's report showed a membership of 205.

Mr. T. F. Mathews submitted the Treasurer's report, by which it was shown that the condition of the finances was greatly improved over last year.

Mr. Louis Croly's report for the finance committee was a most favorable one, and evidenced careful management on his part.

Dr. Scott submitted the most satisfactory report from the Poor Fund committee.

After all the reports had been duly received and adopted; the following officers were elected for the ensueing year:

Clerk—T. M. D. Croly.

Treasurer—T. F. Matthews.

Superintendent of Sunday School—E. A. Stanley.

Deacons—Dr. Scott, Wm. Aldridge, B. R. Matthews, E. Elcome, L. Croly and E. A. Stanley.

Finance Committee—George Cochrane, Thos. Mims, Wm. Aldridge, E. A. Stanley and Vincent Eastwood.

Ladies' Visiting Committee—Miss Nicholls, Miss Aldridge, Miss Hutchinson, Mrs. B. R. Matthews and Mrs. V. C. Eastwood.

At the close of the business meeting Mr. E. B. Edwards spoke to considerable length on the advisability of giving as freely to Foreign as to Home missions. His address was an interesting and instructive one.

THE CUSTOMS COLLECTORSHIP.

While, as a rule, one cannot greatly blame a person for getting hold of a good thing if possible, yet in the matter of the Customs House collectorship it seems to be practically a case of "My Father's at the Helm." Mr. Rufus Stevenson, son of Mr. James Stevenson, M. P., succeeds Mr. C. H. Clementi, son-in-law of Mr. James Stevenson, M.P., as Collector of Customs at a salary of $1,200 per year, and perquisites enough to swell the emoluments of the position to about $1,500. One cannot dispute the right of Mr. Stevenson to the patronage of his riding; but while, as is the general rule, party appointments are made on the basis of party services and in consultation with the party, it would seem that in the present case this consultation has been omitted and the claims of many zealous and hard-working Conservatives who have wrought energetically for the party and are fully as well, if not better qualified for the efficient discharge of the duties of the position, have been cavalierly overlooked. Though it is generally agreed that "Ruf." is a good fellow and will make an obliging and genial Customs officer, yet there is a feeling among the prominent members of the Conservative party that the country has not so much reason to be proud of the past record of the family in connection with the Customs House, as to be anxious to continue the experiment.

This appointment emphasizes a fact in connection with Dominion Government appointments in this county, which is worthy of attention at the present time. We all know that in the East Riding, two family appointments have been made—one to a local office and one to a Northwest office. It will be remembered that a brother of the late member for West Peterborough, who preceded Mr. Stevenson, was appointed to a position in the Northwest and removed from London, and his nephew was appointed to the position of deputy to the son-in-law of Mr. Stevenson, who has placed his son in a snug berth. These appointments are not mentioned for the purpose of claiming, except in one flagrant instance, that the duties of the several positions have not been fairly well performed, but to point the apparent existence of a belief on the part of Peterborough's parliamentary representatives, that all fat positions should be kept in the family, and that working members of the party, who sacrifice time and means and energy in the promotion of its interests, should be satisfied with the great moral reward of a consciousness of having done their duty; a very nice thing in sentiment, but not a very sharp spur to continued exertion in promoting the interest of the party, and, as they doubtless believe, of the country. The late appointment is a reflection of a practice that has prevailed at Ottawa of seeking shelter before the coming storm robs the present administration and its supporters of this means of exploiting the public service for the benefit of their friends.

While we do not pretend to say that a relative of a member should not be appointed to a position, still, if such an appointment is made it should be with the co-operation of the party, and if its approval is secured, there can be no very serious objection to the appointment of a relative, always avoiding, of course, the danger of repeating in the person of an appointee the slip-shod discharge of the duties of an office, by which the public interests have suffered.

In connection with this Customs appointment it may be pointed out that the incumbent immediately preceding Mr. Clementi, received a salary of $1,000 per year, but after the present Premier came into office as Minister of Customs, he performed the magnanimous act of reducing the salary of $1,000 to $800, with the object doubtless of starving the Customs collector into resignation; but the subterfuge failed to work as desired, and subsequently, by the intervention of personal friends, the salary was restored to $1,000. At that figure the whole work of the office was done by the Collector himself. Then it became necessary to provide a place for Mr. Stevenson's son-in-law and he was pitchforked into the position of deputy, and on the death of the Collector was promoted to the office and in a short time the salary was advanced to $1,200, with the appointment of a deputy in the person of a nephew of an ex-member. Nor was this all. After the affairs of the office had been mismanaged into a muddle the salary of the Collector was advanced to $1,300. Of course there was no family influence exercised to protect the Collector in the neglect of his official duties and to reward him for such neglect—to give it no harsher name—by a substantial increase of salary. The public can judge how their interests have been subserved by the course pursued in connection with the Peterborough Customs' Collectorship.

Weak, Tired, Nervous

Women, who seem to be all worn out, will find in purified blood, made rich and healthy by Hood's Sarsaparilla, permanent relief and strength. The following is from a well known nurse:

"I have suffered for years with female complaints and kidney troubles and I have had a great deal of medical advice during that time, but have received little or no benefit. A friend advised me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and I began to use it, together with Hood's Pills. I have realized more benefit from these medicines than from anything else I have ever taken. From my personal experience I believe Hood's Sarsaparilla to be a most complete blood purifier." MRS. C. CROMPTON, 71 Cumberland St., Toronto, Ontario.

JANUARY WEDDING BELLS.

Celebration of the Nuptial of Mr. Richard P. Gough and Miss Alphonsine LeMay in Watertown on Wednesday.

An event occurred in Watertown social circles on Wednesday last, in which a great many of the citizens of Peterborough were warmly interested.

The event referred to was the celebration of the nuptials of Mr. Richard P. Gough, one of Peterborough's most enterprising young merchants, and Miss M. J. Alphonsine LeMay, daughter of Mr. David LeMay, of Watertown, a former well-known merchant of Peterborough.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Descarries in the French Church of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart, at six o'clock in the morning, in the presence of the relatives and most intimate friends of the bride, who looked most charming in a travelling suit of fashionable grey tweed, with large buttons of pearl. Her sister, Miss Stella, was the bridesmaid and was prettily costumed in blue friese.

The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. A. J. Gough, of town.

A most sumptuous wedding dejeuner was served at the residence of the bride's father, with numerous guests participating, after which Mr. and Mrs. Gough left for New York and other eastern points on their wedding tour.

The bride has a large circle of friends in Peterborough, being a sister of Mrs. H. LeBrun, whom she has visited at different times. In fact Peterborough is her birthplace. Mr. Gough is widely known throughout the Midland District, on account of his large business connection, and wherever he is known he has made himself a prime favourite through his geniality.

Mrs. Gough will be at home, at No. 379 Hunter street, on and after January 29th.

Very Hard Indeed.

There are so many things that appear unnecessary, and which for the life of us can see neither purpose nor end. It may be corns are just one of those thorns in the flesh the why and the wherefore of which we cannot see. Nevertheless they are of the kind that are easily removed. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor makes short work of them. Try it and see how nicely it coaxes them out. Use none other than Putnam's Corn Extractor. Sold by druggists.

The annual report of the Secretary was adopted as appended:—

I beg to submit herewith the annual report for the year 1895. The year 1895 shows a continued and marked advancement in the growth of the school. The total number of scholars on the roll is 352, with an average attendance of 253. The largest attendance on any one Sunday was 307 and the smallest 96. There were two new officers added to the staff, making the number of teachers and officers 34, with an average attendance of 31, which is better than last year's average.

The number of verses recited during the year was 19,373, or an average of 208. The ordinary collections for the year were $151.99, with an average of $3.10, the largest on any one Sunday being $5.08, and the smallest $1.25. The total amount of money raised for missions was $31.02, an average over last year of $2 25. Mr. Tovey's class is deserving of special mention, for of this sum they contributed $9.00.

Miss Robinson's class is entitled to the first place for having recited the greatest number of verses the greatest number of times.

The classes having the highest collection the greatest number of times was as follows:—

Girls—Mrs. Brooks' Class, now united with Mr. Tovey's Class, 24 Sundays.

Boys—Mrs. Rae's Class, now united with Miss Thomas' Class, 27 times.

During the year we have gone to considerable expense in altering the platform and the Infant Class room of the school, and we have now a well arranged school room, with seating capacity for 400 scholars, which number we hope to reach before the close of 1896. We have also a thoroughly organized committee, with one of the best systems in the Province for looking up absentees.

During the year that is passed it has pleased God to remove from our midst, by death, one of our most faithful scholars, Herbie Sanderson.

I submit herewith the statement and expenditure for the year.

The election of officers resulted as follows:—

Supt.—R. J. Kidd.
Asst.-Supt.—A. M. Morrison.
Sec.-Treas.—Percy Hamilton.
Asst. Sec.—W. Davidson.
Librarian—W. H. Hamilton.
Asst.-Librarians—Thos. Barrie, W. J. Squires and W. Adamson.

OUR YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.

OUT OF DEBT AND WITH A CLEAR SHEET ONCE MORE.

Reports Submitted of the Most Encouraging Character—The New Board of Directors Will Take Hold of the Building Project at Once.

The annual meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association was held last evening and the attendance was so large that the hall had to be used instead of the parlour, as was at first intended. The chair was occupied by Mr. J. W. Bennett, the president, and after the usual devotional exercises the new general secretary, Mr. H. V. Smith, submitted the following comprehensive and most encouraging report:—

GENERAL SECRETARY'S REPORT.

To the Officers and Members of the Peterborough Young Men's Christian Association:

It will be at once obvious to all present that my report on this occasion must not be regarded as an annual report, seeing that my term of office dates back no farther than 1st Oct., '95. A review of the work from that date, however, will not be without interesting and encouraging features.

MEMBERSHIP.

We have come in contact with young men to the extent that seventy-eight new names have been added to the roll. The gratifying result is largely due to the earnest co-operation of a number of young men, who have interested themselves in the work.

Introductions to other Associations have been given to several of our members who have removed to the United States and other parts of Canada. In turn we have received a number of members by transfer Members of other Associations have used the privileges we offer during their stay in town. This has also been the privilege of several of our members when abroad on a holiday. A membership in the Young Men's Christian Association is of inestimable value to a man who travels.

SOCIAL

To meet the needs of those seeking recreation, several new games have been added to the list, all of which have been in almost constant use since their introduction.

On Thanksgiving and New Year's days receptions were held at the rooms, both of which were well attended. Many young men spent their holiday with us, and gave the Secretary and workers an opportunity of forming new acquaintances.

Early in November, a Reception Committee was organized, members of which have usually been on duty each night to welcome strangers and introduce them to the privileges and to one another.

PHYSICAL.

The activities of this department, for lack of proper equipment, have been limited to two classes in Calisthenics and light gymnastics each week. At these the attendance has not been large, but has been very steady. Several young men showing a very marked development. The number of baths taken has been steadily increasing each week and usually the facilities for supplying hot water have been taxed to and beyond their utmost capacity. We prophesy, with the greatest confidence, that with a complete outfit this department will take a bound that will delight and astonish all who measure results by figures.

EDUCATIONAL.

The work of this department has been confined entirely to the reading room, the daily attendance at which has been about 50. The best home and foreign newspapers and magazines are on file, including the leading literary, scientific, illustrated and religious papers. Our small library has been used somewhat and there is an urgent demand for readable books.

SPIRITUAL DEPARTMENT.

Is it a department? We believe it should so be. Spiritual results are the object of all departments of the work. All departments should minister to this one end. Do they? Have they done so? We believe they have. We have tried to make them do so. Eleven young men and three boys have made decisions at the rooms, two of whom have already united with the church.

The meetings of the association have been maintained regularly, with a fair attendance. Much remains to be done to improve them, both in point of attendance and in the systematic securing of the results. It is encouraging to note that they are steadily improving and men are developing.

Among the most fruitful sources of encouragement to be mentioned, is the Worker's Training Class, which meets Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock. Members of that class are watching for men's souls.

REGARDING FINANCES.

I had not intended to intrude upon the Treasurer's ground, but in case he may not refer to it in his statement, I may say that on the 17th Dec., 1895, the liabilities of the Association amounted to $800. A guarantee list was signed by some members of the Board, covering the entire amount, which, it is most gratifying to state, has all been secured, one member of the Board contributing $60 out of his own pocket, another $50, and one lady friend $30, while the others contributed liberally, in addition to collecting their respective quota from the citizens.

We would not forget the material assistance of the Ladies' Auxiliary in this connection.

We are exceedingly obliged to those who have received our canvassers so kindly and given of their means towards these our necessities.

BOYS' WORK.

A Junior Branch was organized early in November, which progressed and prospered to a certain point, but which is languishing for want of the attention which had to be diverted to matters vital to our work. Let prayer be made to the Most High to raise up a consecrated worker to cultivate the most fruitful, but neglected, corner of the vineyard.

IN GENERAL.

Much has been done that cannot be reported. Influences have gone out that cannot be estimated. The securing of a good boarding house for, or kindness shown a stranger, while not worth reporting, may and often are of the things that turn life's currents.

THE NEW YEAR.

In entering upon it let us take for our watchword the keynote of Paul's Epistle to the Hebrews: "Better things." We look forward and we see in the near future better things—Better meetings; better singing at them; better attendance; better work and more of it; better workers and more of them.

We look forward to better organization, to better quarters, to better equipment and to better support.

C. H. Yatman says in his "suggestions to workers," "Aim for good meetings rather than great meetings. For converts rather than crowds. For daring leaders rather than dazzling ones. For results rather than reports." We want the other too, but the first most.

Turning to Josh. 1:9 we read: "Have not I commanded thee? Be strong and of a good courage; be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed; for the Lord thy God is with thee whithersoever thou goest."

Respectfully submitted,
H. V. Smith,
General Secretary.

The president thought that the report was deserving of commendation, as the excellency of it must be apparent to all. From a membership of 110, the attendance had now risen to 188. Eleven men and three boys had been brought to their Saviour. This was another point which should be remembered with thanksgiving. The paragraph on the finances was another which was worthy of remark. On the seventeenth of December a floating debt of $800.00 was in existence, which had been accumulating since Mr. Colville's resignation. In one month this entire indebtedness had been wiped out without again appealing to previous subscribers. He thought the report was indeed a most admirable one.

On motion of Messrs. Green and Dixon, the report was received and adopted.

A lively interest was exhibited and many questions were asked when Mr. Madill submitted the Treasurer's statement, showing a balance of one dollar on hand instead of the discouraging deficiency which, for the last few years, has been so disheartening to the working members.

After the report had been received and adopted, Mr. G. M. Roger spoke on the necessity of the members speaking to other young men of the privileges which they enjoyed in the Association rooms and in this way gathering in new members. In his opinion there was plenty of room for aggressive work on the part of the Association right here in Peterborough.

Mr. Smith then read, as appended, the REPORT OF THE LADIES' AUXILIARY.

The Ladies' Auxiliary, in reporting, feel that they must of necessity be brief, seeing that their work has been of so limited a character.

During the year three socials have been held, and assistance rendered at two receptions.

Paid for renovation of the rooms, draped the windows in junior room and carpeted the platform in the hall.

The receipts have been	$12.29
Disbursements	17.85
On hand	4.44

In addition this is the contribution of $40.00, raised towards liquidating the debt. It is the expectation that a representation of the auxiliary will be sent to the Ladies' Convention, at St Catharines, and that this will result in increased usefulness, the coming year.

Faithfully,
Mrs. Routley,
Secretary.

Adopted on motion of Messrs Dayman and Anderson.

Mr. G. M. Roger expressed the Association's appreciation of the great help which the ladies had been at the various receptions which had been held in the rooms, and other complimentary remarks were made concerning their valued assistance. He moved that a vote of thanks to the ladies be included in the resolution adopting the report.—Carried.

Mr. J. W. Bennett spoke of the great zeal, diligence and tact already shown by the new secretary, Mr. H. V. Smith, and it was decided that the new Board of Directors be advised to increase his salary for the year by fifty dollars.

The report of the nominating committee was brought in by Mr. A. L. Grover, who explained that great care had been exercised in making up the slate, the committee even going so far as to consult the different pastors of the churches regarding those whom they thought should be on the directorate. The slate was submitted as follows and adopted unanimously:

President—Alfred Parker.
1st Vice-President—E. A. Stanley.
2nd Vice-President—Harry Martin.
Treasurer—W. Madill.
Directors—Messrs. W. J. Green, J. Moffatt, B. F. Ackerman, F. Mason, E. A. Dixon, J. S. Knapman, R. J. Kidd, H. P. Kennedy, Thos. Moore, Wm. Pringle, Jas. Connal, J. W. Bennet, V. Best, Jas. Denney, Jas. Garrow, Hugh Waddel, E. B. Edwards, Louis Croly, A. L. Grover Herbert Beer, Frank Adams, Rev. E. V. Stephenson and Wm. Stock.

The new President took the chair amid round after round of applause and in the most earnest terms thanked the meeting for the honour conferred upon him. He called upon all present, as well as those not present, to stand shoulder to shoulder in the work the coming year.

In the retiring President, Mr. Bennet, the membership felt they were losing one of the best Y. M. C. A. officers on the continent and they expressed it by a vote of thanks that brought out all the enthusiasm in the meeting. Mr. Bennet can truly be characterized as untiring in his efforts to maintain and advance the work, and is loved and admired by every man connected with the work.

In taking the chair Mr. Parker has the heartiest support of the membership, as shown by the unanimity of their choice, and men connected with the work for a number of years expressed pleasure at the brightness of the prospects as the New Year is entered upon.

The hope was expressed that the next annual meeting would be held under the roof of the new building and the meeting closed with the feeling that a new era in the history of the work had been entered upon.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

HOCKEY.

The interest in the match with Norwood to-morrow evening is becoming intensified as the day of the eventful game draws nigh. The Norwood men have been practising hard all week and are showing up so well that many of their admirers are confident of seeing them figure in the finals. Since the Lindsay match the Peterboroughs have not practised as regularly as they should have done, showing a disposition to rest on their laurels and on their fame of not having suffered a defeat in three years.

Whichever way victory goes the match is bound to be a close and hardly fought one and the spectators can safely be promised one of the best games of the season.

The local team will be composed as follows to-morrow evening: Wasson, goal; Adams, point; Parsons, cover point King, Montgomery, Lefevre, Phelan, forwards.

The Lindsay Collegiate Team comes over for a game to-morrow afernoon with the local Collegiate boys. There are a few of the old players on the P. C. I. team this winter, and although there is nothing like giving the young players a show, still it would have been as well if Belleghem, Poussette, Crossley and Lewis, of last year's team could have been played. The match, however, promises to be an interesting one, and should be well patronized. The puck will be faced off at 2.30 o'clock.

CURLIANA.

A meeting of the Thistles will be held this evening after play to select the skips who will play against the Toronto Granites on Tuesday next.

Port Perry, Lakefield, Campbellford, Keene, Fenelon Falls and Bobcaygeon play off here on Wednesday next in the Tankard series.

The Tankard rinks of the Thistles play their first game in Toronto on Wednesday next and the Granites have their try at it the next day.

No Trouble to Answer Letters

Most people when meditatng the purchase of a Piano feel more or less troubled in making a decision. The structure of a Piano is a thing they know so little of.

If you feel this way just write us a line and ask for information. It is no trouble at all to us. It is our business. We are experts of a quarter of a century's standing in the trade. Our stock is large. Our variety of styles is infinite, especially when you consider that we handle many other Canadian and American Pianos than those of our own make. Our prices are moderate, quality considered. Our terms are easy. Our Pianos are exceptional.

Again we say it is no tronble to answer letters, therefore write us and get full particulars.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

"Several years ago, I caught a severe cold, attended with a terrible cough that allowed me no rest, either day or night. The doctors, after working over me to the best of their ability, pronounced my case hopeless, and said they could do no more for me. A friend, learning of my trouble, sent me a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which I began to take, and very soon I was greatly relieved. By the time I had used the whole bottle, I was completely cured. I have never had much of a cough since that time, and I firmly believe that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved my life."—W. H. NO COERCION.

A Sweeping Majority for the Greenway Government.

OPPOSITION LESS THAN BEFORE

Two Patrons Elected and Only Six Straight Conservatives—Excitement in Winnipeg Over the Result—The Figures as Far as They Could be Secured.

Winnipeg, Jan. 15.—"No coercion" was the verdict at the polls in Manitoba to-day, when Premier Greenway's Liberal Government was returned to power by a sweeping majority. Frantic endeavors were made by the Opposition to sidetrack the school issue, but the people would not have it, and to-day Manitoba vigorously declared against interference by the Dominion with her educational privileges and rights. In constituencies where a close fight was expected Opposition candidates dare not oppose the Government on its school policy, but declared themselves in favor of the national system, the exceptions being in some Catholic constituencies where the Government expected defeat. In this city the only contest was between Mr. T. C. McIntyre, Government, and Mr. T. W. Taylor, Opposition. Although Mr. Taylor was a strong candidate personally he was defeated by 240 majority. There is great rejoicing in the Government ranks to-night, and during the evening the greatest excitement prevailed. Although the early news indicated the return of Premier Greenway's Government to power, crowds surrounded the halls up to a late hour, and speeches were made at the Lyceum by members of the Government and the successful candidates. Returns received up to the writing of this despatch indicate that the members of the next House will be as follows:

Avondale—Dickie, Government, elected by 86 majority over Hartney, Opposition, and Hughes, Independent.
Beautiful Plains—W. F. Scott, Patron, majority 22.
Birtle—C. J. Mickle, acc.
Brandon City—Charles Adams, Government, majority 99.
Carillon—R. Marion, Opposition, majority 33.
Cypress—A. Doig, Government, plurality 97.

In the last Legislature Premier Greenway had 27 supporters against a combined Conservative, Patron and Independent Opposition of 13. To-night's returns indicate that in the next House Mr. Greenway will have a following of 29, with others parties divided into Opposition 7, Patrons and Independents 4. Up to a late hour the regular stock of various arrests for personation were in the air, but none of the unfortunates got as far as the Police Court. Opposition candidates in both North and South Brandon lose their deposits.

A JOLLY SORT OF ROGUE.

Ticket Agent Kavanagh Leaves His Employers Only His Best Wishes—The Shortage About $800.

That Joe Kavanagh, lately ticket agent for the G.T.R. at Berlin, was a gay and festive customer, may be guessed from the following note, which was about all he left behind when he decamped some three weeks ago.:

"I wish you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. I am leaving the country. It is not for the country's welfare, however, but for my own."

Kavanagh was suspected of crooked dealings, and that his books might be examined by the auditors he was transferred to Trenton. He got wind of the company's intention, however, and left Dutchtown "between two days," with the contents of the till, leaving a considerable shortage, the aggregate of which will be hard to determine.

The defaulter's methods were most ingenious. He would sell commutation tickets and pocket the proceeds. When the tickets were nearly used he would call them in, issuing others in their place, but again neglecting to account for the money received. Special tickets at reduced rates are given to inmates of convents by the G.T.R. and Kavanagh took advantage of this fact to issue a large number of these tickets to ordinary passengers, charging them full price and pocketing the difference.

The company's experts are working on the absconder's books. The shortage is said to be some $800.

FIRES YESTERDAY.

Winchester Again Visited by the Destructive Element—Blaze at Newmarket.

Winchester, Ont., Jan. 15.—Last night about 10.30 o'clock our town was again aroused by the cry of fire. This time it was the furniture factory of Washburn & Brownell that was on fire. The building was soon in flames and is a complete loss. The factory was owned by Jacob Erratt, Ottawa; insurance, if any, unknown. Washburn & Brownell, manufacturers of furniture, loss $2500 to $3500, no insurance; J. S. Ross, loss $2000, no insurance. This fire occurring so soon after the one last night causes the suspicion that a firebug has broken loose in the community.

A TELEPHONE IN THE STOMACH

Peculiar Phenomena of Human Nature

In an age when that subtle force electricity is presenting wonders to the world almost daily, and the Wizzard of Menlo Park has become the hero of the hour, there seems to be nothing that we may not expect in this direction. But it was not left to an Edison to establish a telephone in the stomach of human beings. The Great Maker of man in the economy of human nature provided such an instrument centuries ago. It is a fact that within the stomach of every man and woman there is a little instrument that telephones to the nerve centres in the brain as quickly as any food reaches that part. When for any reason this communication is stopped the food is undigested and physical trouble ensues. With word promptly sent from stomach to nerve centres, these supply the necessary juice that aids digestion, and nature successfully does her part, good health is enjoyed and man is able to perform with energy and pleasure his everyday duties. It will happen at times that these nerve centres will become deranged and lose their forces; then it is that a remedy must be supplied, just as the skill of the electrician is necessary when something goes wrong with the office telephone. South American Nervine is the electrician, so far as the human body is concerned. It is a medicine unique and exceptional in this particular that it works directly upon the nerve centres, and when these are out of order it quickly places them in proper repair and completeness. Nearly all diseases, especially indigestion, dyspepsia, nervousness, general debility, sick headache and disordered liver arise through trouble at the nerve centres. You can just as readily count on South American Nervine effecting a proper cure in all such cases as you can depend upon the electrician of the Bell Telephone Co., removing any derangements that has taken place in your telephone. One Honest Man.

Dear Editor:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially I will mail in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in all kind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell, and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. Perfect secrecy assured. Address with stamp:—L. A. Edwards, Jarvis, Ont.

IT has been held that consumption is hereditary, and the fact that one person of a family had died with consumption was considered a sure sign that others of that family could not escape it. This is partly true and partly untrue. A man with weak lungs is likely to transmit that weakness to his children. But there is no reason in the world why the weakness should be allowed to develop. There is no reason why the lungs should remain weak. Weak lungs predispose a child to consumption. They provide a place for germs to settle. That is all that is necessary. Once let the germs of disease gain a foot-hold, and they increase with a deadly rapidity. Pretty soon the blood is full of them, and so loses its healthfulness and its strength-giving qualities. If the weakness is in some other organ, the disease will show itself in that organ. The germs will get into the blood, just the same, and the body will begin to lose strength. We speak particularly of consumption because it is most common—because it causes more than one-sixth of all deaths in the world.

If there is a weak and crumbly spot in the foundation of a house, the owner clears out the decaying material, supplants it with new, strong stuff. That's all there is to do. That's all that's necessary.

That is exactly the thing to do with the lungs. Keep them full of rich, red, wholesome blood, and the weakness will disappear. Decaying tissues will be thrown off, and new material will be added until the lungs are well and perfectly strong again. This is the thing that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery does. This is what makes it cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption where it is taken according to directions. It searches out disease germs wherever they may be in the body. It exterminates them completely and forces them out of the system. It supplies the blood with rich, life-giving properties. It makes the appetite good, digestion perfect. It supplies the needed nutriment to all the tissues and makes sound, healthy flesh.

There are some interesting facts about it told in one chapter of Dr. Pierce's great work, "Common Sense Medical Adviser." This book of 1008 pages will be sent free on receipt of thirty-one (31) one-cent stamps to cover cost of customs and mailing only. Address World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main Street, Buffalo N. Y.

HEN LITERATURE.

FIGURES EXTENSIVELY IN THE WRITINGS OF AUTHORS.

Charles Dudley Warner in His "My Summer In a Garden" Speaks in Uncomplimentary Terms of the Female Fowl—The Different Ways in Which a Man and a Woman Chase a Hen.

Benjamin F. Taylor once wrote an interesting article on "Hens," from which I quote some points. He says: "A hen is a foolish thing—has not a grain of sense, for that is a grain not found in gizzards. Her head is too small for any grain of sense to lodge therein. Her eyes must be excellent optical instrumouts, for though they have only the expression of a brace of brass buttons at a shilling a gross, they can discover a hawk at a great distance off. There is not much poetry about hens, nor much romance in hendom. Hens are speckled, grizzled and gray; white, copper-colored and blue; there are the old-fashioned hens and the bantams, the celestial hons, the Shanghais and Cochin Chinas, hens with no tails, short tails, and pretty much all tails; hens in feathered pantaloons; hens in camwood colored pantaloons; hens with hussar caps; hens with huge black combs, like our grandmothers; hens with over delicate side combs, like our sweethearts. Strong minded hens there are who quarrel and crow and act as near as possible like veritable chanticleers; and I shouldn't be surprised any day to see a bantam out in bloomers. Some of them wear spurs already. Hens are like some folk; fussy little bodies who mind everybody's business but their own. If a favored sister hon leads off a brood of chickens, the meddling hen spreads her tail feathers, puts on an extra frill and lays claim to half the chickens. The hen is quite a Malte Brun in her way, for she knows all about the geography of cornfields, cherry trees and melon patches."

The politeness of Sir Chanticleer to the females of his harem is as marked as though he were the pupil of Lord Chesterfield. When occasion requires he becomes their defender, dropping the role of agreeable dangler. The hen has ever been noted for her domestic qualities. She is diligent in laying her eggs, patient in hatching them, industrious in feeding her chickens, courageous in defending them. What various dangers the hen meets and tries to avoid; what perils from clubs and stones; what trouble from hungry hawks; what escapes from fowls and from four-footed beasts like the civet and the fox! What motherliness she displays in brooding her chickens, in leading them to green pastures, and in inciting them to wallow in the newly upturned soil of the garden! Warner, in his "My Summer in a Garden," does not speak encouragingly of hens in such an inclosure. He even thinks they are an annoyance, for "if they do not scratch up the corn, peck the strawberries, and eat the tomatoes, it is not pleasant to see them straddling about in their jerky, high-stepping, speculative manner, picking inquisitively here and there. Your neighbor heeds you not if you tell him that his hens eat your tomatoes They are not his tomatoes. The only thing for you to do is to tell him that his chickens are well-grown and that you like spring chickens broiled. In the fall it is right pleasant, however, to see your neighbor's chickens roaming over your garden, gossiping in the hot September sun, picking up any odd trifle that might be left.

Hawthorne, in the "House of the Seven Gables," tells of a breed of hens which were an immemorial heir loom in the Pyncheon family. He tells of their turning up their heads and smacking their bills in taking a drink of water, with the air of winebibbers round a probationary cask. Then of their brisk, and constantly diversified talk to one another or of one in soliloquy, as they scratched for worms; this talk, which has such a domestic tone that it was almost a wonder why you could not establish a regular interchange of ideas about household matters, human and gallinaceous These hens were well woth studying for the piquancy and rich variety of their ancestors through an unbroken succession of eggs. Clifford had one little chicken, small enough to be still in the egg, but old, withered and wizened. Its mother evidently regarded it (as most mothers do their favorite child) as the one chicken of the world necessary, in fact, to the world's continuance and to the equilibrium of the present system of affairs, whether in church or state. She watched over its safety, clucking nervously when it was out of sight; croaking with satisfaction when it was under her wing; or uttering a note of defiance when she saw a neighbor's cat on the top of a high fence. This wizened chicken was a feathered riddle, a mystery hatched out of an egg. One day the mother hen by her self-important gait, the sideway turn of her head and the cock of her eye made evident to the world that she carried something about her person the worth of which was not to be estimated either in gold or precious stones.

Some one has told of the way in which people drive a hen. "A woman when she has a hen to drive into a coop takes hold of her skirts with both hands, shakes them quietly at her and says, "Shoo, there!" The hen takes one look at the woman and stalks into the coop. A man does not do it that way. He goes outdoors and says: "It is singular nobody can drive a hen but me,' and picking up a stick of wood he hurls it at the biped and says, 'Get in there, you thief.' The hen dashes to the other end of the yard. The man dashes after her. She comes back with her head down, wings spread, followed by stove wood, tin cans and clinkers, and a very mad man in the rear. Then she skims under the barn and over a fence or two and around the house, talking as only an excited hen can talk as the other hens come out to take a hand in the debate and help dodge the missiles, till at last the man, whose coat is on the sawbuck and his hat on the ground, declares that every hen on the place shall be sold in the morning and goes off down street, leaving his wife to keep up the hen fight, But in two minutes she has them all counted and housed without trouble."

Josh Billings thinks that "hens are a suckcess. There is a grate deal of originality about the hen. Sum say Knower had hens with him in the ark and sum say not." Billings starts the oft-mooted question, which was born first, the hen or the egg. He thinks a hen is "a born phool, for she will set just as long on a nest full of stones as she will on a nest full of eggs. There is one thing about a hen that shows wisdom; she does not cackle much until after she lays an egg. Some folks, on the contrary, are always a-bragging and a-cackling what they are going tew do beforehand There are few things that surpass cooked hen as an artikle of diet if eaten in the days of their innocence, but after they git old and kross, they kontrakt a habit of eating tuff."

The children of hens, commonly called chickens are often mentioned in literature. Shakespeare speaks o pretty chickens and their dam; Butler tells of people "who swallow gudgeons ere they're catched, and count their chickens ere they're hatched" Cervantes has the same idea when he says: "Many count their chickens before they are hatched, and where they expect bacon meet with broken bones." Swift tells of a woman "who was no chicken, being on the wrong side of thirty, if she be a day." Lady Wortley Montagu wrote: "And we meet with champagne and a chicken at last." Bulwer Lyston quotes from an Arab proverb: "Curses are like young chickens and still come home to roost." Lowell in the Biglow Papers speaks of small potatoes and few in the hill being scratched up by the hens:

An' you may see the taters grow in one poor feller's patch
So small, no self-respectin' hen that valued me would scratch.

Hood's "Morning Meditations" speaks of the "early rising hen."

Claudius, a German writer, writes of a famous hen wh ch
—was never known to tire
Of laying eggs, but then she'd scream
So loud o'er every egg 't would seem
The house must be on fire.

The turkey reproved her for making such a noise about the laying of an egg, but the hen replied that he was an uneducated fowl who knew nothing of

The noble privilege and praise
Of authorship in modern days—
I'll tell you why I do it;
First, you perceive, I lay the egg,
And then—review it.

Every one remembers the household lyric set to "Auld Lang Syne," and which runs:

Somebody killed old Grimes's hen;
They'd better let her be,
For every day she laid two eggs,
And Sundays she laid three.

And everybody knows Mother Goose's classic rhymes:

One, two, buckle my shoe,

and so on down to

Nine, ten, a good fat hen, to say nothing of the fable of La Fontaine in which it is told that a hen

Laid golden eggs, each egg a treasure;
Its owner—stupidest of men—
Was miserly beyond all measure.
He thought a mine of wealth to find
Within the hen and so he slew it.
He found a bird of common kind
And lost a pretty fortune through it.

We often hear people speak of the foolishness of those that kill the hen or goose that laid the golden egg. In weeping over Jernaslem, our Saviour used the beautiful metaphor, "O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, how often would I have gathered you as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings, and ye would not." A Greek epigram taken from the Anthologia is said to afford a fine illustration of this text. T. Green has given us a translation of this epigram, which reads:

Beneath her fostering wing the hen defends
Her darling offspring, while the snow descends!

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR:—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail in a sealed letter, the plan pursued by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from Nervous Weakness, night losses and weak, shrunken parts.

I have no scheme to extort money from anyone whomsoever. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank Heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and anxious to make this certain means of cure known to all.

Having nothing to sell or send C.O.D., I want no money. Address JAS. A. HARRIS, Box 293, Delray, Mich.

Throughout the winter's day unmoved defies
The chilling fleeces and inclement skies,
Till vanquished by the cold and piercing blast,
True to her charge, she perishes at last!
O Fame! to hell this fowl's affection bear;
Tell it to Progne and Medea there.
To mothers such as those, the tale unfold!
And let them blush to hear the story told.

If you would have an abundance of dark, glossy hair, if you would have a clean scalp, free from dandruff and irritating humours, or if your hair is faded and gray, and you would have its natural colour restored, use Ayer's Hair Vigor. It is unquestionably the best dressing.

THAT HACKING COUGH can be quickly cured by Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam. Price 25 cents.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

A Merchant Testifies.

GENTLEMEN,—I write to tell you how good I have found Hagyard's Yellow Oil for sore throat. In one family alone the Yellow Oil cured several bad cases, and my customers now recognize its great value. They seem to prefer it to all others.

THE RED-MAN'S SACRIFICE

BY JEAN CAMERON.

[The following interesting story was written by Miss Jean Cameron, youngest daughter of Mr. John Cameron. The Edinburg weekly Scotsman offered a series of six substantial prizes for the best story, and Miss Jean's story, which is uncommonly clever for a girl 14 years of age, was awarded third prize. The subjoined story appeared in the Scotsman of Dec. 14th.

It was during one of the many petty quarrels which occurred between the Indians and the white man that Kwassind, a fearless young Indian of the Ojibwa tribe, took his first step in following the life of his warlike ancestors. A raid was to be made on the ranch of a white settler living within a few miles of the red man's encampment, but the Englishman through some treachery on the part of an Indian heard of the proposed attack, and had ready for instant action a small band of followers.

It was a great disappointment to the tribe, for they had counted much on the plunder they expected to have carried off, and, in the hasty retreat from the field, did not notice that one of their number was missing. Kwassind had been badly shot in the shoulder during the latter part of the fight, and had fallen unconscious into a clump of bushes. All night he lay there, only half conscious, but with the morning help came. Helen Carr, the settler's daughter, happened to come that direction, and, while passing by the scene of the outrage, heard low moans proceeding from the shrubs. Hers was a tender, pitiful, as well as a brave heart, and these sounds of distress appealed to it, so gathering up her courage she pushed aside the bushes and there discovered our young hero.

She soon summoned assistance and had him carried to her father's house. He was pretty far spent, and for many days his life hung in the balance, but by constant care and attention, and by the united efforts of both mother and daughter, he was nursed back to health and strength.

After his recovery he returned to his own people, not forgetful, however, of the bravery and and kindness of the beautiful white squaw; while Helen, in her turn, little thought what fruit her benevolent act was to reap.

Years went by, and Kwassind was now a full grown youth of twenty-two, highly esteemed by his chief and companions on account of his daring spirit and bravery; but during all this time he had never for one moment forgotten his fair benefactress, who had removed with her parents farther west.

And now came a time, when the young brave was again to engage in an encounter with his white brethren. The attack this time was to fall upon one of the western settlements, but Kwassind never for one moment dreamed that it was in the vicinity of Helen's home, till one day when he happened to overhear the warrior chiefs arranging their plans of destruction, he learned that the house of the "white squaw" would be one of the first to suffer. Then was he thrown into deep consternation, but the fiery spirit of gratitude which so marks our red brethren became aroused within him, and he kept saying to himself, "No, no Kwassind no do it, Kwassind die first. Thus he went on, and prayed to the Great Spirit to take care of the young white squaw; but at last gratitude conquered, and after much wavering he made his decision; for it must be remembered that to him it meant death as a traitor if his intentions were discovered, and then there were the dangers of the forest through which he would have to pass.

His plan was to slip away the night before the specified day, and make his way to the settlers, there to make known his errand, and return again before dawn. Before doing this he must have all his preparations made for the coming battle—his arrow-heads touched with the deadly poison and his battle-axe sharpened until it seemed to cut the air, while his sundry feathers and war-fixings, in which the Indians delight, must be freshly painted, and, above all, his face tatooed after the hideous fashion of the braves. Finally everything is arranged, and the night draws nigh.

About ten o'clock Kwassinn appears at the door of his wigwam.; there he stands, a lithe, young Indian, tall and well-built, his brown sinewy legs encased in leather gaiters, his long course black hair falling over his shoulders and down on his copper-coloured forehead, which is surmounted by a head-dress of many coloured feathers, while his fierce black eyes gaze with a determined light on the black December night, on the wretched wigwams, and on the giant oaks with their gaunt bare arms outstretched seeming to beckon to him. Then taking one long last look on the place which has been "home" to him since his childhood, he closes the door, to all outward appearance, preparatory to going to rest. But there is no sleep for him tonight, so he draws his blanket more closely about him and throws himself down before his miserable fire to wait and listen.

Time passes on, and the whole camp is now wrapped in profound slumber; then he steals out. All is quiet, no sound breaks the calm, frosty stillness of the night, no light shines through the weird darkness except the clear cold beams of the moon as she ploughs her way through the dense black clouds, sometimes casting grim, ghostly shadows athwart the forest glades. On Kwassind speeds, his feet scarcely touching the ground, till he reaches a small opening in the woods. Here he pauses and listens carefully. All is still, safe so far, but now begins the perilous part of his journey.

He turns into the forest again, where it ghostly enough to try the courage of any man, but Kwassind, undaunted, goes on. The wind has now risen slightly, making the leafless branches sway to and fro, moaning softly; the snow is heaped in high banks, covering the dense brushwoods of twigs and branches, so that oftentimes as he plods through them his feet catch, and he is thrown headlong to the ground, but he soon regains his feet and is once more flying along. But, hark! Kwassind, what is that? He has only heard a faint sound, but his pulses beat faster, his breath comes in short hard gasps, and he locks his hands so tightly that his nails seem to tear his flesh. Is it, is it a pursuer? He strains his eyes into the darkness, sees nothing, but hears away in the distance the weird howl of the wolves; but this seems nothing to him, for he soon recovers himself and quickens his pace.

It is now about half-past one; surely he is almost there? Yes, for in a few minutes he comes to a broad clearing which divides the settlement from the forest; the wind has increased to a dismal howl, making his surroundings more dreary and lonesome, but Kwassind heeds it not. When he reaches the top of a certain hill, he sees before him a number of small farmhouses resting peacefully in the valley, and conspicuous amongst them is the home of the "white squaw," his destination. It is somewhat larger than the rest, and is situated a little farther out, but Kwassind as he looks at it thinks of what it will be this time to-morrow—nothing but a heap of smouldering ashes.

A few steps brought him to the rude gate, which led up to the farmhouse, but as he crept softly along, keeping under the passing shadows of the moon, he tripped over something and was thrown with considerable force to the ground, but up he jumped and was preparing to knock when a window was thrown open and a man's voice called out,

"Who is there?"

But Kwassind boldly replied in his broken English, "Me—Kwassind—want to speak—white man—come—door—me no kill."

In a few minutes Mr. Carr was standing in the doorway armed with a pistol and club, for in those days it was very dangerous to have an Indian prowling around. Immediately Kwassina exitedly began his story, imploring him to "make haste—fly—save white squaw—big chief come soon—kill white man.

The settler did not at once fully comprehend his meaning, but when Kwassind begged him to save the "beautiful white squaw," his thoughts went back to the day when his daughter had brought home a young Indian, evidently dying, and how she would hear no refusal from him, but must put him in her own room until he recovered. It seemed such a trifling incident that he had almost forgotten the circumstances, but now looking keenly at the young man before, he discerned a faint likeness to the wounded youth, and gradually, bit by bit, he drew the story from him, after which he pleaded with to remain until morning. But Kwassind was firm. He must be at home before daylight, or his treacherous mission would be discovered, and in all probability the result would be a death of torture.

The Englishman, understanding the case, allowed him to have his way, and with many thanks and a promise of future reward he sent him on his journey. The wind had risen considerably, and Kwassind shivered slightly as he went out into the cold, bleak night. He quickly crossed the dreary moor, and was once more in the gloomy depths of the forest.

He had not gone far before he was startled by the sight of large flakes of snow falling quickly to the ground. They continued to fall faster and faster, whirled round by the angry blast and beaten against his face. He was cold and exhausted, and could hardly drag his feet after him as the storm increased in fury; however, he struggled along through the blinding drifts, sometimes falling, but never repenting that he had gone.

He had completed about one half of his journey, when suddenly away in the distance he heard a strange dull sound. Surely that is not the wind? Again he listens, and hears away in the distance the weird howling of the wolves. Nearer, yet nearer, it comes. It is evident that a pack have got the scent and are close on his track. He now hears them quite distinctly, and braces himself up for a fight for life. In a few minutes he discerns their shadowy forms moving among the trees as they fast approach. When one of them has come within shooting distance he lets fly one of the arrows, and knows by the howl of distress which follows that it was not in vain. But it only seems to infuriate the rest, for their deep bay comes closer and closer, until he feels himself surrounded by these fierce animals eager for prey. Another arrow flies through the air, and he strikes right and left with his club, soon succeeding in making a circle of dead bodies; and while the others are eagerly devouring their fallen comrades, Kwassind once more pursues his way through the storm.

But it is of no avail; the hungry animals now that they have once tasted blood are eager for more. They are again on his path, howling fiercely, and once more our hero rouses himself for a desperate struggle. But he is now faint and almost numb with the cold; he fears he cannot hold out much longer, which is true, for as he vainly strives to poise his arrow his senses fail him, he falls backward, and becomes a prey to the famished wolves, whose merciless teeth soon tear him limb from limb.

Thus in doing his duty he sacrificed his own life, and the fate of Kwassind, the heroic young Ojibwa, becomes numbered among the secrets of the forest. The absence of their companion could not be accounted for by the chiefs until the attack was made on the white man's ranch, and then, when they saw the company of soldiers awaiting their arrival, they knew that their secret had been disclosed, and Kwassind was looked upon as a traitor.

From Our Own Correspondent.

A large number of people attended the meeting of the Y. P. S. C. E. on Sunday night. The topic, "The Perils and Power of Ambition," was taken by Mr. John Borland, Jr., who did his part extremely well. He spoke very forcibly of the perils we were liable to encounter by being too anxious for ambition, and also of the power it would give us if used in the proper way.

WASTING YOUR LIFE.

Failure of Physical and Mental Force—To add to Length of Life—Use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

With a pathetic sigh how often it has been said:

"Well, then, I suppose I must let go my hold on life."

To fathers and mothers of unreared children this is tragic.

But whence cometh sure and timely help? If death is preventable, how?

The timely answer is: By scientific and successful kidney treatment—by using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Hundreds write to thank us and tell of their cure, but none to say that Dodd's Kidney Pills have ever failed.

GRATIFICATION SALE

PREPARATORY TO STOCK-TAKING!

Our gratification for the successful business which our two big stores have been favoured with during the year just closed, is oozing out of every pore.

Our bounding enthusiasm urges us—perhaps rashly—to making our January business something phenomenal—something better and greater than anything in the past! Besides—

It's Price-Pruning Time, Previous to Taking Stock.

That usually means selling at about cost, but we mean to crowd bnsiness by crowding down prices away below anything you've ever known before.

The whole of our immense stock of Men's, Youth's and Boy's Clothing, Furnishings, Hats, Boots and Shoes, &c., have been marked down for immediate sale to prices that will make the whole Town and Country ring with the startling news!

Our Prices are Dwarfs! Our Values are Giants!

You lucky fellows who have been waiting for the cold weather, have struck it rich! Don't let go of that mighty dollar until you have seen what we are doing in the way of cut prices on Suits, Overcoats, Underwear, Hats and Boots.

The season is almost over with us, but it is only beginning with you. Gough Bros. don't propose to permit an accummulation of stock from season to season—even if it should take to clear the decks. We reign to-day, sure! We are very much alive to the sacrifices we are making, and we haven't lost our heads either.

Another Dynamite Explosion

Every table abounds with Bargains—every Price has been clipped a third or more—and you can't find such Prices at other stores, because you can't gather figs off thistles.

A BITTER DEBATE.

Mr. Kenny's Attack on the Liberal Leader.

HE WAS COMPELLED TO RETRACT

Called to Order by Mr. Speaker—Sir Richard Cartwright Stands Fire From Dr. Weldon and Sir Chas. Hibbert Tupper—An Exciting Time.

Ottawa, Jan. 17.—On the resumption of the debate upon the address in reply to the speech from the throne, Mr. McMullen arose in the House to-day, amid Liberal applause, and continued his arraignment of the Government. He took up the address paragraph by paragraph and commented upon each. The return of thanks for the bountiful harvest which was the subject of one paragraph led Mr. McMullen to remark that, while the farmers of the country had been blessed with a plentiful yield, they had no reason to be thankful to the Government for anything. The prices of their products were unprecedently low, and their interests had been shamefully neglected. Canada, he said, had magnificent mineral resources, but there was no industry, the development of which had been so retarded by the Government's policy as the mining industry. A treaty with the United States, which would have contributed greatly to the development of this industry, could have been negotiated had the Government been favorable to it. Discussing Indian affairs, he said that there was no objection to the system of educating and caring for the Indians so as to bring them to a condition in which they could earn their own livelihood, but there was no justification for the mismanagement and extravagance that the records showed to exist. At the present time more than half of the money voted for the benefit of the Indians never reached them, but went into the pockets of officials who were paid excessive sums for their services. He did not desire to underestimate the value of the mounted police in the Northwest Territories, but he questioned the expediency of maintaining a corps of such strength as was there at present. While the Ministers on one hand were expressing great anxiety that the Government should be strengthened so as to insure the success of the remedial order, on the other hand they had weakened their vote in the House by putting into the Senate men who would naturally support remedial legislation. Mr. McMullen saw in the refernce in the speech to the extension of commerce an infallible pre-election sign. While condemning the Government for its failure to do anything to aid the farmers of the country up to the present time, he promised that if the proposed measure would assist the agricultural industry he would support it, he cared not whence it came. The speech had promised that the equilibrium between revenue and expenditure would be reached at last. In the face of deficits and the hampered condition of the people the expenditures had increased. He was glad that at last an equilibrium was promised.

There was a very pretty passage at arms between Mr. McMullen and the bard of Regina, in which the latter was worsted. Mr. McMullen prefaced a quotation of Mr. Davin's past utterance in regard to the Cabinet by asserting that Mr. Davin had received many favors from the Government, saying that he had lived comfortably in its shadow.

Mr. Davin sprang to his feet, and in indignant tones, demanded a retraction, adding that he had never received any political or pecuniary favor from the Government.

Mr. McMullen said that there was a discrepancy between the Auditor-General's report and Mr. Davin's statement, but he would accept his denial and exonerate him from any accusation of having ben gought.

At this the member for Assiniboia grew more choleric, and retorted that Mr. McMullen had disgraced the House.

There were Liberal cries of "Take it back," whereat, in obedience to the Speaker's command, Mr. Davin took it back. The Speaker, then, coming to deal with Mr. McMullen's alleged violation of the rules, said that after the time his attention had been called to Mr. McMullen's observations he had said nothing contrary to the rules of Parliament, but if prior to that time he had said that Mr. Davin had received favors from the Government for which he in return had supported them, it would be out of order.

"I would not make an insinuation of that kind," replied Mr. McMullen; "but I am sure with all their wealth the Government has not means enough to buy Mr. Davin."

Mr. Davin did not respond, and there was a laugh at his expense.

Mr. McMullen, proceeding with his speech, reminded the House that upon one occasion Mr. Davin had described the Ministers as a "Cabinet of antiques." In pronouncing the last word of the phrase he put the emphasis on the first syllable, and converted it into antics. The appropriateness of the revised rendition, appealed to the House and more laughter followed. Mr. McMullen also reminded Mr. Davin of the declaratio nhe had once made on the floor of the House of his inability to "peddle brains for the Government." The member for Wellington concluded an excellent speech by quoting from The Globe Principal Grant's condemnation of the bolters.

Dr. Weldon followed, dealing briefly at the outset with the trade question. It was necessary, he thought, to utter a plain word or two. Sir Richard Cartwright had used an expression which caused unspeakable pain to him (Weldon), when he had referred to the character of Nova Scotia's public men. He called them a rascally pack of boodlers. Dr. Weldon proceeded to refer to the Nujackes, the Stewarts, Lawrence O'Connor Doyle, the Youngs, J. W. Johnston, Joe Howe and Sir John Thompson. Sir Richard Cartwright, by his unfortunate remark, had deeply wounded the hearts of the maritime province men. Last night Mr. Dickey had referred to a debate of four or five years ago, when the idea was advanced that the empire should strive to develop and perfect trade relations with our own colonies and make herself independent of food by the German Kaiser and the attitude of defiance to England he assumed in face of all the possible complications that might follow accentuated the danger of the Mother Country depending upon foreign nations for her food supply. (Cheers.) He hoped that hereafter English statesmen would see what colonial statesmen saw long ago what must come from this fruitful English race that breeds so fast in the British Islands and overflows into the Empire's own colonies, in Australia, in Canada, in South Africa. If Canada could hold that overflow, which has gone to other countries in the past, how soon would the prairies of Canada, the fertile lands of South Africa and the plains of Australia be filled with a teeming people. (Cheers.) Therefore, he hoped—if the Government be reconstructed, as he was sure it must be if it were to go to the country with any hope of success—that the most capable man would be placed at the head of the Department of the Interior, in order to develop a policy, to join hands with the Imperial authorities, with the C.P.R. and G.T.R., with all the steamship lines, the Allan line, the Dominion line, and the Beaver line, and all the other lines carrying people to this country, to make a heroic and magnificent effort to direct the overflow of the people of the British Islands to this Canada of ours. (Cheers.)

Sir Richard Cartwright having first moved the adjournment of the House, said he would like to say a word in reference to wounding the susceptibilities of Nova Scotians by his observations when he had spoken of Nova Scotia as being the nurse of lions. (Opposition "Oh, oh." and a voice, "You are changing your tune.") He was not ashamed of anything that he had said in Washington, Boston and New York, and would repeat it anywhere. (Derisive cheers.) He had never impugned the honor of the people of Nova Scotia, nor the honor of the public men of Nova Scotia. It was the late Mr. McLelan who spoke of the boodlers of Nova Scotia. He (Sir Richard Cartwright) said that Nova Scotia had produced many honored men, but at the same time a type of boodlers the worst the country had ever known. (Derisive cheers.)

Sir Chas. H. Tupper said he thought he ought to put any feelings of delicacy on one side for the purpose of making a few observations. Sir Richard had referred to a speech made by Mr. McLelan, but it was significant that he had never mentioned the apology which Mr. McLelan subsequently made in Parliament.

Sir Richard Cartwright—He made none. (Cries of 'order.")

Sir Charles H. Tupper, continuing, said that all the prominent public men to whom eloquent reference had been made by Dr. Weldon died the personal and political friends of Sir Charles Tupper, although they had previously opposed him. (Cheers.)

Mr. Kenny said the insulting reference which Sir Richard Cartwright made to Nova Scotia was his excuse for taking part in the debate. It was within the recollection of the House that Sir Richard Cartwright on every possible occasion sought to pour insult and contumely on the representatives of the Province of Nova Scotia. Indeed, the insidious insults which he had heaped on the representative sof the Maritime Provinces were a matter of notoriety in the House. Sir Richard Cartwright had stated that Nova Scotia was the dry nurse and wet nurse of boodlers. These were the words, as reported in The Toronto Globe, and they would live in the recollection of people of Nova Scotia and be remembered against the man who uttered them. ("Hear, hear.") The House well remembered another occasion when he stated that Nova Scotians were so corrupt that they were willing to sell themselves to Mr. Blake but Mr. Blake would not have them. Then at another time, in the quiet of his study, he had put himself on record that the Conservative majority was made up of only shreds and patches. It ill became that hon. gentleman to make these charges against Conservatives when the House remembered the company which he and Laurier had kept in Boston, New York and elsewhere. In Boston Mr. Laurier had advocated the commercial union of Canada and the United States, a measure which was calculated, if not intended, to destroy the independence of Canada, which Mr Blake told his Liberal friends was a disloyal policy, the only logical conclusion of which was the annexation of Canada to the United States. Mr. Laurier had gone to Boston and said things there of which he ought to be ashamed.

Mr. Laurier said if Mr. Kenny had anything to say to him, let him say it now. (Opposition cheers.)

Mr. Kenny said he would have pleasure in complying with the hon. gentleman's request. Mr. Laurier occupied a position of responsibility in Canada, he was representative of a party in whose ranks there were many loyal hearts, but he, on the occasion referred to in Boston, made a speech in which he stated that Canada and England must separate.

Mr. Laurier (on rising) said, I deny the accusation in toto. I ask the hon. gentleman to give the ipsissima verba of my speech. It is shameful on his part to repeat an accusation which I denied last year. By every word in that speech I abide.

(Opposition cheers and shouts of "Take it back.")

Mr. Kenny said Mr. Laurier might be in a difficulty, but his friends behind him would not help him by preventing him (Kenny) from continuing his speech. It was well known that the report of Mr. Laurier's Boston speech had appeared in a revised form in The Toronto Globe. They all knew the facilities which Mr. Laurier had for protecting himself with such subterfuges. Opposition cries of "odrer.") Continuing, Mr. Kenny said that Mr. Laurier's speech was so offensive that the loyal men of his party told him it was bad policy and consequently a rehash of his speech appeared in The Globe. (Opposition cries of "shame.") Sir Richard Cartwright had also been to Boston. (Laughter.) He wondered if his speech had been revised. (Renewed laughter.)

Sir Richard Cartwright, who had meanwhile been industriously searching in old volumes of Hansard,, rose, when the member for Albert had done, to make a personal explanation. He first noticed that Dr. Weldon had omitted from the galaxy of Nova Scotians the name of the man (Sir Charles Tupper) who had been the subject of his remark. He did not deny that Nova Scotia had produced many eminent men, some of whom he admired. He had often said this. But he had also said that it had produced the most pronounced type of boodlers. He then read from The Hansard the historic description which the Hon. A. W. McLellan gave of Sir Charles Tupper in connection with the old Nova Scotia Railway, that he was the 'high priest of jobbery and corruption." So that, added Sir Richard, if the charge of boodling had been made against a prominent Nova Scotian it was first made by a Nova Scotian, who afterwards occupied a place in the same Cabinet with Sir Charles Tupper and died Lieutenant-Governor of Nova Scotia. He repeated that he had never impugned the honor of the people of Nova Scotia. (Cheers.)

Mr. Kenny said that on that occasion Sir Richard Cartwright said if only the American people would do what he wanted the result would be the establishment in Canada of a northern tier of states, of which Boston would be the entrepot of their trade, and if once secured to Boston no man living could take it from it. (Opposition cries of dissent.) Well, he (Mr. Kenny) had not a report of the speech by him, but he thought he was correct in his recollection of it. (Cries of "quote it.")

After recess Mr. Martin defended Sir Richard Cartwright and then spoke on the school question, denying that Mr. Greenway had entered into a compact with Mr. Laurier to restore Separate schools should he come into power. He said Manitoba would never submit to a restoration of the old educational system unless forced upon them.

Mr. Davies deprecated the disgraceful exhibition of personal rancour on the floor of the House witnessed this afternoon. He lashed the Conservatives for their vulgar assumption of a monopoly of loyalty. This parade created a suspicion that some other motive than loyalty animated them. (Opposition cheers.)

Whip Sutherland does not often take vocal part in the debates, but when he speaks it is with effectiveness which is seldom exceeded in the House. He looked upon the disgraceful proceedings of the afternoon as a part of the plan of an election campaign. The plan was that in certain portions of Canada Mr. Laurier was being attacked day in and day out as an annexationist. Throughout Ontario it was impossible to pick up a Conservative paper that was not declaring that the leader of the Opposition was unfit to lead the Liberal party, and unfit to occupy the foremost place in this country because he was a Roman Catholic. In Quebec it was another story, and because of the popularity with which he was received in Protestant provinces he was accused of being a traitor to his own province. With regard to the story with which his name had been associated, he denied that there was a scintilla of truth in it. He knew that Mr. Laurier had had no communication, directly or indirectly, with Mr. Greenway, except on one occasion. Then he had urged upon him with that eloquence which he could command, to settle the school question, and thus remove it from the Federal arena. In conclusion, Mr. Sutherland said he did not think the plan of campaign would deceive the people of Canada. He was sure the Liberal party would support a leader who was honest, high-minded and the advocate of a sound policy, irrespective of his race or religion. (Loud Opposition cheering.)

Mr. McNeill said the loyalty of the rank and file of the Liberal party was fully acknowledged, but it could not be forgotten and the present leaders had advocated a policy which Hon. Edward Blake had described as annexation in disguise, and annexation under most disadvantageous conditions for Canada. Dealing with the school question, he said he did not think Mr. Laurier had pursued a straightforward course on this question; though he approved of the position now assumed by the leader of the Opposition. He was in favor of conciliation and compromise, and against coercion and compulsion. The attempt to coerce Manitoba was sure to bring about difficulties, the result of which no man could foretell. Ten descendants of the men who repelled the Spanish Armada would to-day be found within the lines of the constitution peacefully, quietly, but with steady determination, fighting for what they believed to be their rights. Parliament had no mandate to carry such legislation. Indeed, he was convinced the mandate of the Province of Ontario would be in the opposite direction. He then gave the Government notice that he would oppose Remedial legislation with all his energy, and using every means within the rules of the House.

Dr. Borden attacked Mr. Kenny for

FORTNIGHTLY CLUB COLUMN.

No. XLVII.

The Church and the Industrial Classes No. 2.

We started out last week to shew by the testimony of those who were in a position to give a disinterested opinion and who are admittedly the greatest writers of our age, that the spiritual interests of men are of supreme importance in their lives.

The churches represent that spiritual interest. They profess to exist for the purpose of converting men from sin, which is the greatest of all life's ills, unto righteousness, which is its greatest blessing. And yet during the past twenty or more years, the almost universal cry has been we are losing our hold upon the working man. For this state of things we pointed out the possible causes which may be reduced to two.

1. The working-man is so engrossed in the work of supporting himself and his family, that he thinks he has neither time nor energy to cultivate the spiritual side of his nature.

2. Or from a variety of causes he has come to distrust the message of the Church and the sincerity of its spokesmen.

We believe there is truth in both of these causes and that there is some ground of complaint on both sides. But we do not propose to dwell upon this now, but rather to turn to the treatment of this question by the learned English writer to whom reference was made last week.

In regard to the fact of the alienation of the industrial classes he says that it is general in the sense that "It is a state which all churches know and have cause to lament." He thinks that the causes are not to be sought solely on one of the two sides, and so far as his own side is concerned he makes this frank and noble acknowledgement. "When our churches stand face to face with the alienated classes of our great cities and industries, the only mood that becomes any and is incumbent upon all, is one of humiliation and confession of sin with a view to amendment of life."

What are the causes of this alienation? It is reassuring to be told that "amongst these causes I do not reckon as primary, either in time or in importance, what is popularly known as infidelity or unbelief." But, speaking of course for his own country, he asserts that the primary cause is to be found "in a moral conviction, the belief that the churches are not religious realities, not bodies organized for the teaching and doings of righteousness, but for the maintenance of vested interests and conventional respectabilities." "There is," he asserts, "disbelief in the churches rather than in religion." [We were informed last week by a young man who is in a position to know that the Fortnightly Club column is read by the industrial classes. It gave us unfeigned pleasure to know it, and we should very heartily appreciate any expression of opinion from working men, as to the extent to which this disbelief or distrust, in churches, prevails in Peterborough. Address box 194.]

But we have not yet touched the deeper question,—why does the working man distrust the Church? The answer which the writer gives is this, "Because the Church has failed to adapt itself to its environment." Circumstances are continually changing, because humanity is a living organism. Therefore the institutions which are created to express either the political, the social or the religious life of humanity must change, must grow, in order to be adapted to their surroundings. There are again in humanity, certain unchanging elements, what we call human nature. So in churches, or societies, or governments, there will be some unchanging and some changing elements. But it is not always easy to say off-hand, what ought to be changed, or when it ought, or how it ought to be changed. Only experience and discussion can finally settle these points. But we very cordially accept this statement; the social development has outrun the religious, and it will only be by the religious development overtaking the social that the Church will be able to reclaim the masses.

BELMONT.

From our own Correspondent.

The first municipal Council of the year will meet next Monday, the 20th inst., at the Town Hall. Two new members will take their seats. Mr. Robert Anderson, the newly-elected deputy-reeve, no doubt, will help to infuse new life into the Council, as he has had considerable experience in municipal business in past years. He will be enabled to judge between right and wrong and when he attends the County Council he will be able to judge as to what is to the best interests of the municipality and the County also. He will undoubtedly vote without prejudice on all questions which will come before the County Council, and will be willing to give as well as receive.

Mr. Charles Wilde is a new member of the Council and has his municipal career before him, but we have no doubt but that if he conducts himself in as satisfactory a manner as he done in other business under his control, he will be a successful member of the Council.

As to the other two Councillors, Mr. Sexsmith and Mr. Wilson, they have had one year's experience, and will very probably make good Councillors, as they have proved satisfactory during the past year.

As to Mr. Peoples, the present reeve, we will not make much comment, as the Havelock Standard—which we understand is an independent paper—has given him credit for what he has done and what he will do. We did not see any reference made to the ability of the other two members of the Council.

Mr. John Rupert, of Rockdale, intends to engage in lumbering in the northern part of the township. We wish him success.

A shed will probably be built for the accommodation of teams across the road from the Rockdale school house, a convenience which has been long looked for. We hope that the undertaking will be successful.

Miss Gunter of Trenton, has been re-engaged as teacher of the Warminster school for another year.

Mr. George Ellis of Rockdale, has sold his farm to Mr. Seeney of Rush Point. Mr. Ellis has not yet decided where he will take up his residence. We will be sorry to lose him as one of our neighbours. He has been an old resident of this locality.

Mr. Quackenbush of Victoria is lumbering on Otter Creek for Mr. Plant of Hastings.

We are glad to hear that Mr. William Yeomans, of Blairton, is recovering from his illness. He has had a hard siege.

We are pleased to see Mrs. W. H. Murchison around again. She has just recovered from a severe illness.

Mr. Wm. Ellis of Rockdale has returned home from the American limits.

Mr. Porter Preston has purchased a car load of corn for feed from Toronto.

Mr. William Young has just returned home from a trip to Adolphustown, where he was visiting friends.

Messrs. Daniel and Melton Ellis of Rockdale have a sub-contract to get out saw logs in Methuen for Mr. Joseph Chase of Victoria.

Mr. James Covert is busily engaged with his grain cracker. He is getting more custom every week which speaks well for the efficiency of his work.

NOTE—The report of the Belmont council meeting, though in type is held over with a great deal of other matter till next issue.

The full intensity of living is reached only by the perfectly healthy. Sickness discounts the capacity for enjoyment. If his body is all out of order and run-down, he will not be able to enjoy anything, no matter how full of enjoyment it may be for other people. If he is just a little bit out of order, if he "is not sick, but doesn't feel just right" he will only be able to enjoy things in a half-hearted sort of way. The nearer he is to being perfectly well, the nearer will his capacity for enjoyment be perfect. If this condition doesn't exist, something ought to be done. That means nine cases in ten the use of Dr. Pierce's Medical Discovery. It works directly on the digestive organs, and on the blood and through these on every tissue of the body. SOUTH WENTWORTH.

Three Candidates Nominated. But One Takes Time to Consider—The Nominations.

Hamilton, Jan. 17.—Nominations in the bye-election of a representative in the Ontario Legislature for the South Riding of Wentworth took place today at John Eustice's Hall, Barton township, at 11 o'clock. There was a gathering of over 100 electors, and among those present were: N. Awrey, M.L.A.; J. T. Middleton, M.L.A.; John Edmunds, John H. Land, W. Tweedle, Ed. Williams, John Dickenson, J. W. Jones, W. W. Buchanan and many others. The nominations took place in the open air, and after they were concluded the electors adjourned to the hall, where, with J. T. Middleton as chairman, the speaking was gone on with. The nominations were as follows:

W. W. Buchanan, nominated by John Edmonds, Woodburn, and seconded by Edward Haley, Ancaster.

John Dickenson, nominated by Major Walker, Ancaster, and seconded by A. B. Foran, Saltfleet.

S. P. Stipe, nominated by John Eustice, and seconded by James Theobald.

N. Awrey, nominated by J. T. Middleton, seconded by S. P. Stipe.

J. M. Gibson, nominated by N. Awrey, seconded by A. T. Walker.

J. H. Land, nominated by Joseph Tweedle, Saltfleet, seconded by Cecil Pettit, Saltfleet.

A. J. Binkley, nominated by S. B. Smith, Glandford; seconded by Horace Shaver, Ancaster.

Speeches followed by the movers and seconders and the candidates and the proceedings were lively. All the candidates withdrew except Messrs. Buchanan, Dickenson and Binkley. The latter took time to consider.

To improve the appetite, restore healthy action to the bowels, promote digestion and regulate all the bodily functions, Ayer's Pills are the best. As a mild but effective aperient, no pill is in greater demand or more highly recommended by the medical profession.

THE HARRISON CASE.

Bladder-Stone of Wonderful Dimensions Got Rid of.

An Easy Escape From Grave Danger—Great Recovery by Using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Fredericton, N.B., Jan. 18th—(Special)—The people of St. Mary's, a usually quiet suburb of this city, are excited over a stone of unusual dimensions, now in the possession of a physician here. This stone passed from the bladder of Mr. Thos. Harrison after taking one box of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The facts as told by the sufferer himself are as follows:

"About a year ago I began to suffer with severe pains in my back, accompanied by lethargy impossible to overcome.

"Continuing for some time and gradually getting worse, I employed a physician who gave my ailment a high-sounding name, and I was greatly alarmed when, in spite of the treatment, I began to urinate blood.

"It was at this juncture that a friend advised me to use Dodd's Kidney Pills, and it was after using about one box that I got rid of the stone mentioned.

"You may judge of my gratitude for an escape at such small expense from the terrible suffering caused by the passage of such a stone.

"The third box of Dodd's Kidney Pills effected a complete and radical cure, and for the past six months I have felt no return of any suffering.

"As I used no other remedy whatever since commencing the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, I am positive that I owe my recovery entirely to their virtue."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are sold everywhere at 50 cents a box, or by mail from the Dodd's Medicine Company, Toronto, Ont.

A Commissioner in B. R.

GENTLEMEN,—Having used Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam in our family for years I have no hesitation in saying that it beats everything else we ever tried for coughs and colds in children as well as grown up people. It relieves that tight binding sensation in the chest. We would not be without it for anything. WILLIAM ANDREW, Commissioner in B.R., Balmoral, Man.

A YOUNG LADY'S SUCCESS.

Miss McBrine's Experience Given for the Benefit of All Weak and Nervous Men and Women.

She Specially Recommends Paine's Celery Compound.

Miss Minnie McBrine, of Bethany, Ont., positively declares that Paine's Celery Compound is worth its weight in gold for sick people. This statement, coming from one who was raised up to health and vigor, commands the closest attention. Past failures with worthless medicines and perfect success with Paine's Celery Compound, is a strong and clear demonstration that the popular compound can be trusted in every case.

Read the following letter written by Miss McBrine, and then honestly decide whether Paine's Celery Compound is worthy of a trial as far as your case is concerned:

"It is with the greatest pleasure that I add my testimony to the volumes you have already on fyle in favour of Paine's Celery Compound. After suffering for a length of time, and having met with many disappointments in the use of medicines in general, I commenced to use Paine's Celery Compound which proved a complete success in my case. Your medicine cured me completely, and I feel as well as ever before in my life.

"Paine's Celery Compound is worth its weight in gold for sick people; I would specially recommend it to all weak and nervous people.

A BITTER DEBATE.

his speech and was charged by him with misrepresenting what Mr. Laurier said.

At this point Mr. Laurier intervened and said what he complained of was Mr. Kenny's insinuation that after coming back to Canada he made a "re-hash" of his speech for The Toronto Globe. "This," said Mr. Laurier, "is the basest insinuation that ever was made upon the honor of a public man, and that is what I called the hon. gentleman to account for when he insinuated that after I had delivered my speech in Boston I had deliberately gone over and made a re-hash of it for the Canadian people. This is an insinuation which I resent as an insult which is intolerable in Parliamentary life."

Mr. Kenny: The hon. gentleman has put in my mouth a word never used since I entered Parliament.

Mr. Laurier: "Re-hash" is there.

Mr. Kenny: "Re-hash" is not there.

Mr. Laurier: It is, I heard it.

Mr. Kenny: I said "the revised copy of the speech."

Mr. Laurier: No, sir.

Mr. Kenny: Well, we are in the hands of Hansard, but I know I did not use the word "re-hash."

After Mr. Casey had spoken—

Mr. Kenny rose and stated that if he had used the word "re-hash" in referring to the revised copy of Mr. Laurier's speech, which appeared in The Toronto Globe, he desired to withdraw it.

The motion to adjourn was declared lost.

Mr. Masson moved the adjournment of the debate, and the House adjourned at 10.35 o'clock.

OPPOSITION TO TUPPER.

Liberals of Cape Breton Will Probably Nominate Hon. George H. Murray.

Halifax, Jan. 17.—If Sir Charles Tupper, sr., fondly imagined, as he stated in Montreal, that he was to have a walk-over in Cape Breton, he is greatly mistaken. A Liberal convention has been called to nominate a candidate, and Hon. George H. Murray, Government leader in the Nova Scotia Legislative Council, will be tendered the nomination, and it is understood he will accept. Then will follow one of the greatest political fights in the history of this province. The Liberals are not at all discouraged by the big adverse majority against them at the last election. They had it in Antigonish and overcame it. As many meetings as possible in the short time at their disposal, will be held in the constituency, and Conservative heelers and boodlers will be closely watched and their misdemeanors exposed. Liberals are determined there shall be no more seats won by default in Nova Scotia.

Krahn is a Free Man.

London, Jan. 15.—The trial of Herbert Krahn, who was accused of luring Lady Gordon into an empty house and robbing her of money, jewels, bonds and other property, alleged to have been in her possession, came to a sudden termination in the Central Criminal Court, Old Bailey, to-day, resulting in Krahn's acquittal and discharge. The case of the prosecution collapsed utterly and the court could find no justification in Krahn's further detention. Krahn was arrested in New York about two months ago, and brought here for trial for the robbery, which was said to have occurred last March.

Its Cause and Cure

Cold weather, shivering, no heat to sustain, emaciated, because ill-nourished. This is either because the starchy foods are improperly acted upon by the digestive juices or the oily constituents of the food are not assimilated. Cod Liver Oil combined with Maltine and Hypophosphites supplies this deficiency, for the oil, rendered palatable and easy of digestion, is at once assimilated and stored up in the form of adipose tissue. Besides this the maltine renders soluble the starchy foods—whose special function is to supply heat or fatty tissue—thus affording material necessary to supply the waste of the body. Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites is at once a food, body builder, and medicine, incomparably superior to any preparation for the consumptive or debilitated. Verify this by a trial.

MANUFACTURES IN JAPAN.

An Adventurous American Scares the Merchants of San Francisco.

New York, Jan. 17.—The Herald's Tokio correspondent says: A few months ago an American with commercial instincts arrived at Yokohama with a collection of samples of American knick-knacks, sufficient to stock a country fair. He announced that he had come to Japan to build up American trade. He did not remain long and now it is advertised that he has turned up in San Francisco with a stock of samples of manufactured Japanese goods prepared to knock the American market silly. He is able, he says, to lay down all sorts of goods in California, duty paid, at from 30 to 50 per cent. less than the same class of articles can be manufactured in America. He threatens to wipe out the button industry in the United States and smash the friction match makers in a jiffy. He proclaimed that he could place in San Francisco a Japan-made bicycle, as good as a Columbia, for $12. He talked of skilled labor in Japan at $3 a month and common labor at $2 per month.

Of course, the proclamation of this adventurous merchant created a mercantile earthquake in California. It is certainly true that within a short period Japan will disturb the markets of the world with her cheap manufacture, but she is not prepared to do it yet. The talk of skilled labor at $3 a month is nonsense. An intelligent Japanese workman can command five times as much in his native currency. Wages are going up in Japan, and labor organizations are springing up.

The American watch plant is in operation in Osaka, under Japanese auspices, but with the best of machinery it has not been demonstrated that a cheap watch can be made by Japanese labor. The cheap Japan-made bicycle is not durable, it is not new and is not comfortable. It cannot be sold in the United States. As for matches, the Japanese are doing wonders in that line, but their matches will not compare with the American article. But the commercial invasion of the United States by Japan is imminent. Her manufacturers are indomintable, and it seems that the Japanese are not disposed to buy anything abroad which they can make at home. The balance of trade between Japan and the United States seems fixedly against us.

HIS BRAINS SHOT OUT.

John Muir, Formerly of Burford, Was Mistaken for a Deer and Killed.

Brantford, Jan. 17.—The Expositor says: John Muir, who has many friends living in Burford, was shot dead in the mountains forty miles from Neepawa, Man. A man named Bell was out in the Riding mountains shooting. He heard a crackling in the bush ahead and saw what he supposed to be a deer's head about forty yards away. He took deliberate aim and fired, and running forward found Muir lying on his face. He had shot him through the top of the head, making a deep furrow, exposing the brain matter, and some of which was oozing out.

Bell was frantic at the sight, and being an elderly man was not able to carry Muir alone. He finally found help, and between them carried him out of the mountain to such a place as they could bring in a team.

After they got to the house, which was five miles away, they then had to send forty miles for a doctor at Neepawa. The doctor arrived at 4 o'clock in the morning, but could do but little except to dress the wound. Mr. Muir was conscious for about six hours and died about forty-two hours after the accident.

John Muir had several relatives in Burford, and was well-known. He was a cousin of the Burtches of Woodstock.

RHEUMATISM

Its Cause and Cure.

A poisonous Acid in the Blood, which needs removal.

Only one means for a radical cure.

Rheumatism is a blood disease, due to the presence of uric acid—a poison—in the system, and it is only by the removal of this pain-producing poison, that a radical cure can be effected. Acute rheumatism is hereditary, and thus it is that young children are often victims to this torture. The use of liniments, embrocations and outward applications, may give temporary relief, but can never cure, for the poison is in the blood, and until it is expelled, rheumatism, sciatica and neuralgic pains will continue. Scotts' Sarsaparilla cures rheumatism by removing the cause—by neutralizing and expelling this poisonous acid. In chronic cases, this medicine reaches the source of the disease as no other medicine can. It gives renewed energy to the organs that sustain life, the forces that make the blood. For the nervous troubles of youth, for the debility that precedes old age, for ladies in their severe ordeals, it is without a compeer.

Scott's Sarsaparilla is a concentrated compound of the finest medicines known to modern medical science—The dose is from one half to one teaspoonful and during its use the ordinary vocations are not interfered with.

GRATIFICATION SALE

PREPARATORY TO STOCK-TAKING!

Our gratification for the successful business which our two big stores have been favoured with during the year just closed, is oozing out of every pore.

Our bounding enthusiasm urges us—perhaps rashly—to making our January business something phenomenal—something better and greater than anything in the past! Besides—

It's Price-Pruning Time, Previous to Taking Stock.

That usually means selling at about cost, but we mean to crowd business by crowding down prices away below anything you've ever known before.

The whole of our immense stock of Men's, Youth's and Boy's Clothing, Furnishings, Hats, Boots and Shoes, &c., have been marked down for immediate sale to prices that will make the whole Town and Country ring with the startling news!

Our Prices are Dwarfs! Our Values are Giants!

You lucky fellows who have been waiting for the cold weather, have struck it rich! Don't let go of that mighty dollar until you have seen what we are doing in the way of cut prices on Suits, Overcoats, Underwear, Hats and Boots.

The season is almost over with us, but it is only beginning with you. Gough Bros. don't propose to permit an accummulation of stock from season to season—even if it should take
